MADOC JUNCTION — Mrs. H. Ashley was hostess for the June meeting of the Eggleton United Church Women on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Harlow opened the meeting with call to worship.

The treasurer, Mrs. McMullen, gave a gratifying report of cemetery bee dinner held at the church.

Mrs. Harlow was appointed to attend the Stirling Film Council meeting to be held on June 13th.

Discussion centred on having a gathering early in July for the children of the community.

Devotional period was conducted by Mrs. K. Johnson and Mrs. Murney Kirkey. Readings were given by Mrs. F. Smith and Mrs. Bruce Stapley. A paper "Hands," prepared by Mrs. C. Lanning, was read by Mrs. F. Stapley.

SAMBO TO STAY

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—The Seattle library board protected Tuesday a request by a Negro group to ban the children's book "Little Black Sambo. The Central Area Action Committee asked the board to remove the book from the city's libraries on the grounds it is derogatory to Negroes. Little Black Sambo tells how a native boy in India outwits a pack of hungry tigers.

Marmora OES Sponsors Tea

An afternoon tea and bake sale sponsored by Marmora Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star on Friday, was well patronized by guests from Marmora and members from the districts of Brighton, Havelock, Madoc, Wellington and Bellecille.

Held in the Masonic Hall, the event was conveyed by Mrs. Tom Bateman, secretary of Marmora Chapter. Welcoming guests were Mrs. Elmer Cotton, Worthy Matron, and Mrs. Stan Kerr, Associate Matron. In charge of sections were Past Matrons Mrs. Harold Naylor and Mrs. Wellington McInroy.

Mrs. Ralph Neal was in charge of the bake table and the touch and take gift booth was looked after by Mrs. Annie Bateman and Mrs. Susan Thompson, both of Springbrook.

Supervising refreshments was Mrs. Evelyn Murphy, and pouring tea were Mrs. Alice Glover, Marmora; Mrs. Don Heath, Past District Deputy Grand Matron, Marmora; Mrs. Lawrence Grow, Havelock; Mrs. Beulice Johnston, Havelock; Past District Deputy Grand Matron; Mrs. Harold Morgan, Past Matron, Brighton; and Mrs. Doris McFaul, District Deputy Grand Matron, Wellington.

Miss Judith Ann Wilson, 83 East Moira Street, Bellecille, Ontario, youngest daughter of Mrs. Stanley Wilson and the late Mr. Stanley Wilson, graduated from St. Joseph's School of Nursing, Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, on Saturday, June 4th, 1966. She attended King George Public School and Quinte Secondary School, both in Bellecille. She will be on staff in Hotel Dieu Hospital in Kingston.

City Girl Given Woodrow Wilson Award

Helen Frances Voombula of Bellecille, a graduate of Quinte Secondary School has been awarded a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship on completion of her honors arts course at the University of Ottawa. Miss Voombula will use the fellowship in conducting post graduate work at Harvard University in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

An honors graduate of Quinte Secondary School Miss Voombula entered St. Michael's College, University of Toronto, in 1958 and this spring received her B.A. in modern languages and literature.

The fellowships awarded by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation in Princeton, New Jersey are awarded to young men and women who are considered to represent the highest standards of scholarship and who are looking forward to careers in university teaching. The fellowship provides for an award of $2,000 plus full tuition costs at any graduate school in Canada or the United States.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Like thousands of other mothers, you have no doubt wondered at times why it is that babies are at their wiggliest best when you're getting them dressed? One mother's solution for slowing down her squirming six-monther: she has her baby hold one sock while she slips on the other. Ditto with shoes. Afterthought: the high chair is a good place for performing the sock-and-shoe operation, P.S. You can cut down wiggles when dressing baby if you give him a favourite toy to hold.

Growing ideas. Wiggly or no, babies must grow! And protein is one of the big nutritional factors in growth. Good to know that Gerber Strained and Junior Meat Dinners have three times as much meat per regular vegetable and meat combinations. Selected vegetables are deftly blended with the meat for flavour supreme and additional nutritional benefits. Beef, Ham, Lamb, Chicken, Turkey and Veal.

Feeding footnote. It's easy enough to fall into the belief that the more food you put into your baby, the better off he (or she) will be. Not so. As an old friend once put it: "Forcing never made a baby a bigger eater...it just takes the enjoyment out of eating. Little appetites surprisingly smart when it comes to knowing their food needs, and will eat enough to satisfy real hunger."

Smile cookie. Cute galore are usually in store for you when you top off Baby's main course with a Gerber Strained Custard occasionally. Delicately flavoured and nicely smooth, any one will make a happy ending for a baby meal. Made with egg yolks and other good ingredients, they're wholesome as can be: Vanilla, Banana, Butterscotch, Cherry Vanilla, Arrowroot, Orange, Pineapple and Fruit Custards. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Joyce Davidson Plans To Move Into New Home

By ROD CURRIE

NEW YORK (CP) — Joyce Davidson, one - time controversial interviewer on CBC's Tabloid, and now the new Mrs. David Susskind, is up to her ears in plans for decorating and moving into their new apartment—a sort of palace in the sky overlooking the East River.

"It must be one of the best apartments in Manhattan," she said enthusiastically, pointing out on the floor plans such features as the 40-foot master bedroom, bathroom with stereo music and refrigerator, and the elevator connecting the two levels — one on the 32rd and 34th floors, of United Nations Plaza.

As for her career in television and as movie publicist, she says that is all behind her, that she'll never return to it and that she has no regrets.

"I really don't believe it is possible to do a daily TV show and be a satisfactory wife," she said in an interview in the soon-to-be-abandoned apartment where she has been living with her two seven-year daughters. "When you are doing a daily show you are married to it. And being married to David is a full-time job in itself."

CAME A LONG WAY

It's a long way up for the girl who as a teen-ager left home and mother once worked as a waiter in a Hamilton factory to help make ends meet. But Joyce Davidson Susskind, now 35, has worked hard all her life, has rubbed shoulders with the mighty and the celebrated, and isn't likely to become light-headed or giddy at any altitude.

"The big difference now is that all the people I come up in a sort of servile way, as an interviewer, I now meet socially. I must admit I enjoy it much more this way."

For all the famous people she interviewed, none brought her more publicity than a remark she made while being interviewed herself on a U.S. television program in 1959. Her suggestion that Canadians were somehow less than enthusiastic about the approaching royal tour set off an explosion in Canada and led to charges — which she still denies—that she was criticizing the Queen.

Susskind, the "boy wonder" of television a few years back, now at 45 is a power in U.S. TV., a highly successful producer in New York and Hollywood and another man of his own weekly show Open End.

He and Miss Davidson were married April 25—both for the second time—in Arlington, Va., then returned here for a star-studded party in their vacant new apartment, temporarily done out in Spanish decor, and complete with caterers, orchestra, palmist and handwriting expert.

FIRST PARTY TOUGH

"I decided to make our first party tough, a real challenge," said Mrs. Susskind. "After that anything would seem simple."

The guest list was enough to give a veteran hostess the jitters. To name a few: Senator Robert F. Kennedy, a neighbor in United Nations Plaza, Talkish Bankhead, actor Sidney Poitier, actor-writer-director Hume Cronyn, a native of London, Ont., and his wife actress Jessica Tandy, writer Paddy Chayefsky, TV personality Johnny Carson, producer Mark Goodson and restaurateur Vincent Sardi.

Mrs. Susskind — that's the name she prefers—was born Joyce Brock in Saskatoon and moved with her family to Hamilton when she was 11. At 17 she married businessman F. D. Davidson.

As for the wedding job, "I found I could make more money in the factory than in an office. I had to pay the babysitter, so I took it and stuck with it for eight months."

It was then that she went around to CHCH - TV, just about to open, hoping for an office job. Instead she ended up as assistant to the woman doing the TV cookery show.

"It was hard work," she mused reflectively. "I often was there from 9 a.m. to late in the evening. If we were demonstrating a cake or whatever, I had to bake it so she could show the finished product to the viewers. I had to prepare everything else and after the show I had to clean up and wash all the dishes."

But it all paid off when the cook quit and Joyce got the "star" assigned of being a sort of walk-on carry-all. Her no-concern voice and her blonde good looks—she still has the complexion of a 16-year-old—soon attracted the attention of producers and before long she was doing M live commercials.

This took her to Toronto to do commercials and, later to the job as interviewer on Tabloid.

That was in 1956, the same year she and Davidson separated. They were divorced three years later.

She hit the headlines in 1959 when, during the TV interview here, she said she was indifferent about the approaching royal visit to Canada and that most Canadians felt the same.

"The headlines said such things as 'Davidson raps Queen,' which was completely wrong. I hadn't said a word of criticism of the Queen, it was the royal tour and the CBC-TV was organized that I was critical of.

"The whole thing was blown up out of all proportion. It was a casual remark simply made in the course of conversation. And I still think I was correct."

Did the resulting storm help her career?

"If you mean did I make more money, get offers to appear on other shows or get more fan mail, the answer is definitely no.

"In the first place I was off Tabloid for a time. Then I lost my commercial contracts — the sponsors didn't want the girl who 'criticized' the Queen associated with their products."

She came to the U.S. in 1962 and worked for 16 months as fellow interviewer with the bombastic Mike Wallace, notorious for grilling his subjects mercilessly, on the nightly TV show PM, then did interviews, appeared as guest of PM, did Talk, and numerous other programs, did commercials, and occasionally produced shows for such programs as Susskind's Open End.

Eventually she got into the movie business, worknh as a publicist.

She first "met" Susskind nine years ago in a TV lounge show for Close Up. She was in Toronto and Susskind in New York.

Susskind has three children, Andrew, 21, and two girls in their early 20s. Mrs. Susskind has two daughters, Connie, 15, and Shelley, 16, who will be going away to school in the fall.

HER NEW CAREER IS WIFE — TV producer David Susskind and his wife, former Canadian television personality Joyce Davidson, sit near the window of their new and not-yet-furnished Manhattan apartment. Mrs. Susskind, as she prefers to be known, was a one-time controversial interviewer on the CBC's Tabloid who later moved to U.S. television. Being Mrs. Susskind is the only job she now wants. ## Duplicate Bridge Session

In the game of Duplicate Bridge the Dummy has certain rights and duties: (a) he may give or obtain information as to fact or law, (b) question players regarding revokes, (c) draw attention to an irregularity such as a warning given against leading out of the wrong hand, (d) keep count of the tricks won and lost by each side, and draw attention to the fact when a card is placed pointing to the wrong direction, (e) play the cards of the dummy hand as the declarer directs but Dummy forfeits this rights in (a) and (b) if he exchanges hands with Declarer, leaves his seat to watch Declarer play, or, on his own initiative looks at a card in either Defender's hand. After forfeiting his rights, should Dummy be the first to call attention to a Defender's irregularity no penalty can be enforced, and should he warn Declarer against leading from the wrong hand, either Defender may choose the hand from which Declarer may lead.

At the Canadian National Bridge Championships in Toronto in April, there were in attendance 1,328 tables of bridge.

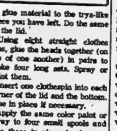
Opening lead: Heart Ace.

How did South make Spades?

At the last Belleville Duplicate Bridge session ten tables were cut. Everyone is welcome again this Tuesday night, June 14th, at 7:30 at the Golf Club House.



A answer now (better perhaps.)

West led heart ace, continued with heart 10; East took his Queen, and returned a heart which Declarer ruffed with spade Queen, he then led a low club taken by West with the King, and the diamond return was taken by Declarer's South then led a club to the Queen, led back a small spade taken by the Jack and followed with a small spade which he ducked in dummy to East's Ace. With the King of spades still in dummy East was powerless to promote another trick and South made the contract.

Susanna's Family Fare

RAINY DAY FUN

Hello Susanna: One day this week you may be confronted with a particularly boring day of rain, rain and more rain.

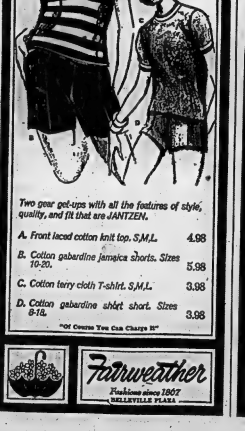
With small types under foot, wondering what to do, my suggestion for making a small doll's elegant entry bed could be the very thing to bring out the smallies inside the house on cottage.

Directions: Cut down a shoe box to about ¾ of its depth. Sew or glue material to the trys-like piece you have left. Do the same to the lid.

Using eight straight clothes pins, glue the heads together (on top of one another) in pairs to make four long sets. Spray or paint them.

Insert one clothespin into each corner of the lid and the bottom. Glue in place if necessary.

Apply the same color paint or spray to four small spools and glue these in place for legs.



Make tiny sheet and pillows to fit. — Mrs. M. Dankert

SLICK TRICK

Dear Susanna: Smear a bit of vegetable oil on either side of the sliding opening on the top of the tin of pepper or other spices.

Once you have slid this contrary metal lid back and forth several times, it will open easily from then on. — B. Y.

Bride Can't Dictate Form During Prayer

DEAR DORIS: My sister is marrying a Catholic, in a Catholic church. Many Protestant relatives will be there, including our mother and me.

This is my problem: She has asked mother and me to kneel when prayers are said, so that the rest of her relatives will follow us (she thinks) because she wants everything to look right.

I feel that the relatives will be uncomfortable if they must kneel. — UNEASY.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR UNEASY: Uncomfortable is more ways than one! The rightest-looking thing is doing what comes naturally! Unless a person kneels easily through custom — as in the case of Anglicans — doing so may be a real hardship. A bowed head is enough.

No one wants anyone to make a farce of their religion by imitating another's symbolism (as in crossing oneself, or genuflecting). On the other hand, if a Protestant is comfortable in kneeling, this is a gracious courtesy to extend. The bride cannot dictate it, nor should she. ☆

DEAR DORIS: I am an 18-year-old girl that weighs 84 pounds and my height is four feet nine inches. A lot of people compliment me on my slim figure and the way I dress. I am satisfied with my weight and so is my doctor, but my mother thinks I should weigh a lot more.

What do you think? I sure wouldn't want to look like a small barrel. I am small boned. — TINY.

DEAR TINY: Age and weight tables vary; but when I balance out the tiny frame with the height and take an average of the averages I come up with the thought that you are probably five or ten pounds underweight.

It's nice to have a few curves. And my medical consultant feels that a few pounds is the good are insurance against the possible wastage which might be caused by an illness.

I don't go for the barrel idea either. But in case you will take a leaflet out of my book I am sending you my "Chart for Curves." (Available to readers for ten cents, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

DEAR DORIS: My husband and I were trying to get through a bunch of young teen-agers and one of the boys used profane language to me. Would you stand for anything like that, Doris?

Then he started to fight with my husband when my husband told him that it was his wife that he was talking to. He hit my husband and broke his glasses. He was charged at the police station with fighting in a public place.

We have to go to court as witnesses about this. Is there anything that can be done about these young boys that use such language to older people like us?—SHOCKED AND INSULTED.

DEAR SHOCKED: Wouldn't you call taking him to court doing something?

But the smart-alecks needed help a long way back. They needed love and solid family life they didn't get. Now they seek a perverted sort of satisfaction in shocking and abusing folk who are just going along minding their own business.

We have dedicated group workers of our larger centres making friends of such fellows just to prove that Somebody Cares about them. This is the one reliable way to help them back to good citizenship.

DEAR DORIS:

1. How soon before a wedding should the invitations be sent out?
2. How soon before the wedding should the couple go to see the minister? — CLOUD NINE.

DEAR CLOUD NINE:

1. Between three and four weeks is about right.
2. Just as soon as you set the date. Otherwise you might not get him without some rearrangement. Ministers are busy people and love to plan ahead.

DEAR DORIS: Thank you very much for getting the poem "Mother's Apron" for me. It was lovely, and I read it many times. Now I shall put it in my scrapbook for safekeeping along with many other poems.

It reminded me of my own mother who always wore an apron. She too was always busy with a large family. I'm sure the ones who did not get this poem don't know what they missed. — GRATEFUL.

DEAR GRATEFUL: Many did get it; about 300 wrote in. And we have more copies, for anyone sending ten cents and a stamped envelope.

It gives you a catch in your throat, doesn't it?

(Do you wonder why the people you care about act as they do? Let Doris shed light on your particular human problem. And remember that stamped envelope!)

HAMBURG RECIPE FROM GERMANY

Koenigsberger Klops call for ground beef so bare is another recipe to add to your bulging hamburg file.

This dish is distinguished by a popular sweet-sour sauce in which the meat balls are cooked. I liked it a lot and hope my friends give it an honest try.

KOENIGSBERGER KLOPS

1¼ pounds ground beef, 1/2 cup milk, 2 slices bread crumbled (1½ cups soft crumbs), ½ cup chopped onion, 1¼ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1¼ cups raw long grain rice, 3¼ cups boiling water, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 beef bouillon cube (optional), 2 eggs.

¼ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1½ to 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 3 cups buttermilk, 1 egg, beaten, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley.

Make Sauce first: In top of double boiler measure butter, flour, sugar, mustard, salt and pepper. Stir over direct heat until butter or margarine is melted and mixture is blended. Place over boiling water and add buttermilk all stirring constantly, until thickened. Beat egg, blend in a little hot sauce then return to remaining sauce. Add parsley and cook, stirring, two or three minutes.

To make Meat Balls, in a large bowl pour milk over breadcrumbs and let them soak while you add meat, onion and seasonings. Mix well. Form into 18 balls. Place in large shallow baking dish and bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes. At this stage cook rice in large pot with light-fitting lid by adding the boiling water, ½ teaspoon salt and bouillon cube to it. Cover, bring to boiling point, turn off heat for 3 minutes. Turn on heat as low as possible for 25 minutes longer until rice is tender and all grains are separated.

WEDNESDAY (Gaeta) Dinner Menu

Broiled Lamb Chops; Mint Relish; New Garden Spinach; Potato Logs; Cole Slaw with Pineapple; Applesauce; Chocolate Layer Cake; Tea.

Remove Meat Balls from oven, carefully spoon off excess fat and pour prepared sauce over all. Reduce oven heat to 300 deg. Fahr. and bake 30 minutes longer.

Serve over bed of hot fluffy rice.

Appelation 'Mother' Will Be Dropped

MONTREAL (CP)—Most nuns of the order of la Congregation Notre-Dame will revert to their own first and family names after July 2. Only a few will continue to be known by saints' names.

The appelation "mother" will also be dropped and be replaced by "sister."

Children who attend schools run by the Roman Catholic order will have the summer vacation to get used to the idea that a teacher they might have known as Mother Mary of the Angels now will be Sister Jean Black.

The change in names, adopted by the order's council here, appears to have been accepted by most members. Exceptions are a few older nuns who are reluctant to abandon the traditional practice.

Some 3,200 nuns in 185 houses in Canada, the United States, Latin America and Japan will be affected by the change, the second made by the order this year. Previously the nuns' style of dress was altered.

- MARRIAGES DECLINE

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNICS

BRIDGE STREET UNITED

Bridge Street United Church held its annual "Family Picnic" last Saturday afternoon at the Vandecreter Conservation Park.

A full schedule of sporting events was run throughout the day. Along with the various races under the supervision of Mr. Dave Thompson, two softball games were played. In the senior game Lesley's team defeated Cam's team by a score of 9 to 1 and in the junior game March's team defeated Wilkins' team by a score of 8 to 8.

The first place winners for each of the 25 scheduled races are follows: 18 yard race, all 8 and under, Gwen Sherman; 30 yard race, girls, 8 and 9, Elizabeth McCoy; 30 yard race boys 8 and 9, Tony Thompson; 45 yard race, girls, 8 and 9, Jane Rota; 45 yard race, boys, 8 and 9, Paul Randall; 60 yard race, girls, 10 and 11, Sidney Richards; 60 yard race, boys, 10 and 11, Bobbie Cronk; 70 yard race, girls, 13, Pam Durant; 75 yard race, boys, 13, Benny Buchanan; 100 yard race, girls, 13 and over, Marilee Jones; 100 yard race, boys, Jamie Case.

Campbellford Council Hears Reports on Dogs, Ambulance and Welfare

CAMPBELLFORD — The regular meeting of Campbellford Municipal Council was held on Monday evening. In the absence of Mayor Tanner because of an accident, Reeve Free conducted the meeting.

The first person to address Council was A. C. Newman, who requested steps be taken to control the water system on Isabella St. Since recent residential additions had been made Mr. Newman has felt the present service inadequate. The matter was left to the consideration of the Road and Bridge committee.

The tenders for a new large truck for the Road and Bridge committee were opened. Only two tenders were offered, one from C. H. Davidson Motors and the other from Trent Motor Sales. The Davidson Motor Sales offer was accepted at $8988. Trent Motor Sales quoted $7050.

WELFARE CONFERENCE

Clerk E. M. Ibey gave a report of the Ontario Welfare conference held recently in Ottawa. He said the name would be changed in the near future to Social Services and would probably be organized on a county basis. The county organization would have better equipment and more highly trained staff than is now available. Clerk Ibey said he thought to organize the town of Campbellford on a county basis would be of questionable benefit. No reference was made to reducing the cost of welfare.

BRIDGE REPORT

Reeve Free gave a report of the delegation which met with the Department of Transport in Ottawa recently regarding the Campbellford bridge. He said the Counties Council are planning to replace the bridge as soon as possible as it is not considered safe.

Restrictions have been placed on heavy loads and the Road Commission has been asked to see that the restrictions are enforced.

The County Engineer said the town officials should negotiate with the Department of Transport for the use of a railway bridge not now in use. Council officials feel some immediate action should be taken because of certain failures in the bridge construction recently.

In the interview in Ottawa the Hon. J. Pickersgill asked that direct plans be submitted to him of the type of bridge planned, whether high or low level. In a recent meeting of municipal officials in Campbellford it was thought a higher, wider, low level bridge would be practical. The delegation was assured by the minister that a grant would be made regardless of what type of bridge was built.

DOG CONTROL

The question of dog control arose once up for discussion. This matter was thought to have been resolved some months ago when Mr. A. Tucker of Stirling was employed to take care of this service. Two obstacles were encountered. First, the Department of Municipal Affairs says no dog may be transported outside the corporation. Secondly, dog pounds must meet Humane Society standards, which require a separate kennel and exercise space for each dog impounded, and the kennel must be cleaned and sterilized each day.

Dr. Smith of the Peterborough Humane Society, at the invitation of Mayor Tanner, addressed Council with a proposal from the Peterborough Humane Society. He said that if Campbellford wanted the Peterborough Humane Society to take charge it would mean a cost to Campbellford of $1,500 to add 30 individual kennels to Peterborough pound. In addition, the town of Campbellford would have to supply a dog catcher and a suitable vehicle, van or station wagon to transport the animals. When questioned about the government ruling which forbids dogs to be transported from the corporation, Dr. Smith admitted he was not familiar with the ruling. Councillor Dunk, chairman of the Police Committee, had a letter from the Department of Municipal Affairs setting the section and the ruling. Dr. Smith said no other municipality has joined with Peterborough on a similar basis.

At the end of two years the $1,500 charged with the Peterborough Society offered, would terminate and if desired a new contract would be negotiated.

To acquire permission from the government to transport dogs out of town would require the passing of a private bill introduced by the local M.P.

The matter was left with the clerk for further investigation.

NURSING HOME RATES

A request from the local nursing homes to increase the daily rate was discussed. Reeve Free said that since the welfare budget had been established for the year it would not be practical to permit the increase at the present time.

Clerk E. M. Ibey, told council the increase, if allowed, would go beyond the government subsidization and would be a direct cost to the corporation of about $100 per year per local patient.

Councillor Kennedy asked that the correspondence be referred to the welfare committee and the committee obtain a knowledge of established rates of nursing homes in other municipalities.

Council Briefs

AMBULANCE SERVICE

CAMPBELLFORD — Robert Sanson who has been operating the ambulance service for the town of Campbellford has terminated his contract as of June 30th. Councillor Kennedy said the service should be the responsibility of the hospital. It appears by new legislation that the government now will pay 50 percent of the cost of operating an ambulance. Clerk E. M. Ibey was authorized to investigate.

L.O.L. TAG DAY

Duke and Duchess of Clarence L.O.L. in Peterborough requested permission for a tag day, June 25th. This is an annual request and funds are used for the welfare work of the lodge. The request was granted.

FIELD DAY APPRECIATED

A letter of appreciation was received from principals of both elementary schools and of St. Mary's Roman Catholic School for the arrangements for field day for children in the schools. About 500 pupils enjoyed the nature study. Police officials looked after the safety of the children, providing snow fence protection along dangerous portions of the river bank.

NEW RECREATION DIRECTOR

The new recreational director, Mr. Gerald Ferguson, will begin his duties in Campbellford on June 15th. An office is being secured for his convenience.

REQUESTS SEWER SERVICE

Mr. Floyd White of Irwin Street requested sewer connection. He said that when he bought his property he was not informed that there was no sewer connection. Council decided nothing could be done at present because of the ban on sewer construction imposed by the Ontario Water Resources Commission until such time as a sewage disposal plant is constructed. The letter was placed on file.

Butter, Cheese Production Up in May

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian production of creamery butter, cheddar cheese and skim milk powder increased in May over the same month a year ago, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today.

Output of ice cream mix and evaporated milk was down for the month.

Creamery butter 36,628,000 pounds (35,027,000), cheddar cheese 10,818,000 pounds (12,559,000), ice cream mix 2,466,000 gallons (2,354,000), evaporated milk 30,289,000 pounds (34,318,000), skim milk powder 29,414,000 pounds (24,454,000).

Strike

Dispatchers Association, the Canadian Air Line Pilots Association and the Transportation Communication Employees Union.

Meanwhile, Gordon R. McGregor, president of Air Canada, said the pilots will not support the proposed strike and ground services will be maintained by supervisory personnel.

Mr. McGregor said representatives of the pilots' association "have given me their assurance that they will continue to fly throughout the strike."

Talks between management and the company's sales employees continued into Tuesday night with the assistance of mediator Bernard Wilson, assistant deputy minister of labor.

An Air Canada spokesman said the talks probably will continue today and possibly past the midnight strike deadline.

No announcement was made about the progress of the talks.

The union, which represents passenger agents, switchboard and communications operators, is asking for a two-year contract providing for yearly 10-per-cent pay increases and a 37½ hour work week.

The airline has offered a 15-per-cent increase over a 30-month period.

Air Canada sales clerks currently are paid $84.70 a week, increasing to $103.40 after 5½ years of service.

Fund

doctors who crossed the border to the United States last year will amount to $500,000, said Dr. P. B Ryoard (PC—Simcoe East). They went south because training and research facilities were inadequate at home.

Most provinces can use up their share of the fund within a few years, Dr. Howe said.

The assistance plan, to cost the federal treasury $55,000,000 this year, would have no ceiling on future benefits.

The federal government now shares with the provinces in four assistance progams — to the aged, the blind, the disabled, and the unemployed.

OPENS FIVE AREAS

The new plan opens up five new areas of federal spending:

—To 300,000 needy mothers and children, integrating mothers' allowance programs into comprehensive assistance measures.

—For health care to persons in need, covering "any range of medical and associated health services, including drugs and dental and optical care, that the provinces choose to offer."

—For welfare services aimed at removing or preventing poverty, child neglect or dependence on public assistance.

—For maintenance costs of child welfare activities.

—For work activity projects, to provide "social and medical activity to help persons in need move towards self-support."

Winters' Plan For Trade Body Pleases British

HALIFAX (CP) — Sir Henry Lintot, British high commissioner to Canada, today welcomed a proposal by Trade Minister Winters for a joint Anglo-Canadian cabinet committee to deal with trade and other economic problems between the two countries.

Sir Henry told a press conference there might be problems in establishing such a committee but there would be a "great deal of advantage in a constant interchange of ministers."

Mr. Winters, now in London, is believed to have suggested the joint cabinet committee in talks with Douglas Jay, president of the British Board of Trade. The committee, made up of ministers of external affairs, trade, finance, agriculture and perhaps other cabinet members, would function like one which now exists between Canada and the United States.

rioted today in the streets of Saigon for the third consecutive day after a two-week political truce. The riots were on a small scale, and riot police and army rangers quickly broke up the demonstrations with tear gas and clubs.

The junta's statement also said the number of seats in the Assembly had been reduced to 128 fro...a the commission's recommendation of 138.

The junta also decided the vote will be for slates of candidates, as in the French system of list balloting, rather than for individuals, in an attempt to force the country's many political parties to seek alliances on common objectives and to minimize personalities in the voting.

WHO SAID IT?

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" is variously attributed to Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Henry, Thomas Paine, Wendell Phillips, John Philpot Curran, and Voltaire.

Air Raids Now Closer To Haiphong

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. military headquarters today announced the closest air raids of the war to the North Vietnamese port city of Haiphong.

Navy bombers from aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf struck a missile radar site eight miles southeast of Haiphong Tuesday and a spokesman said the radar went off the air.

The spokesman said another navy raid hit a radar site 10 miles northeast of Haiphong and that this radar also went off the air. Both raiders were need for guidance of Soviet-made surface-to-air missiles which are clustered around Hanoi and Haiphong for defence of the country's two major cities against American air raids.

Guy Favreau Making Progress In Federal Politics Comeback

OTTAWA (CP)—Less than a year after the Rivard affair nearly wrecked his political career, Guy Favreau is making a steady comeback.

Mr. Favreau is consolidating his position as the Liberals' Quebec leader, preparing to take over a new department in a few days and making arrangements for the crucial federal - provincial conference on tax sharing in September.

With the defeat of the Jean Lesage administration in Quebec, he hopes to become the main Liberal spokesman for French Canada and Quebec's quiet revolution.

Mr. Favreau, 46, will be sworn in shortly as registrar-general of Canada, a new portfolio created by the government reorganization bill which has cleared the Commons and is before the Senate.

His department will regulate many business activities and include a branch to protect consumers, a spokesman said. The department will group the combines investigation branch, the companies branch, administrators of copyrights, trade marks and patents and the bankruptcy branch. These agencies now are scattered in various departments.

Mr. Favreau also will retain his present title of president of the Privy Council and special responsibility for federal - provincial relations.

RESIGNED UNDER FIRE

All this is a far cry from June last year, when he resigned as justice minister under fire for his judgment in deciding against prosecutions in the Lucien Rivard affair.

Mr. Favreau, a lawyer and former civil servant who did not enter politics until 1953, was reported on the way out. Rumors flew last winter that he would be appointed to the bench.

A spokesman now says that the minister has decided with Prime Minister Pearson's blessing to remain in politics.

Mr. Favreau presided last March at the founding convention of the Quebec Federal Liberal Federation. The federation's 40-member council held its first meeting in Montreal Saturday to plan recruiting and policy-making drives.

Mr. Favreau urged the directors to aim for an active membership of 100,000 — triple the present figure — and to draft resolutions and policy papers for the national Liberal convention here Oct. 10-12.

Workmen's Compensation Act To Be Examined by Commission

TORONTO (CP) — The province's Workmen's Compensation Act is to be examined by a royal commission, Labor Minister Leslie Rowntree told the legislature Tuesday.

He said Mr. Justice George A. McGillivray of the Ontario Court of Appeal has been appointed a one-man royal commission to make the third investigation into the act in its more than 30 years of existence.

In other legislature business:

—Stanley Randall, minister of economics and development, said the Niagara Peninsula has the province's greatest shortage of skilled workers so workers laid off by McKinnon Industries Ltd. in St. Catharines should have no trouble finding new jobs. Production changes in McKinnon will eliminate 360 jobs.

—W. Spooner, municipal affairs minister, introduced a bill which would provide for appointment of a five-member development board as a new form of municipal government for the Muskoka area of Northern Ontario.

—Lands and Forests Minister Kelso Roberts said he doubts if fish buyers from outside Ontario are taking advantage of markets in the province "to the detriment of the Ontario fish-processing plants."

—Mr. Roberts said the provincial and federal governments have talked about but taken no firm steps about the establishment of a national park in Northern Ontario.

Mr. Rowntree said the government feels it necessary to obtain an independent assessment of the compensation act "in the light of today's economy and society."

Tractor Parade Is Postponed Due to Rain

The farmers who drove their 12 miles from Rannoch to Uniondale Monday to protest low milk prices are expected to continue today reinforced by farmers from other areas.

BIR Langdon, president of Local 342 of the Ontario Farmers Union, said in an interview Tuesday he expects the original group of 20 farmers to be doubled for today's demonstration.

The farmers are demanding negotiations with the provincial government to discuss the recently-established $4 a hundredweight price for their milk and why they aren't getting it.

SET UP COMMITTEE

The Ontario Farmers Union has set up a four-man committee in preparation for possible negotiations with the provincial government, Mr. Langdon said. On the committee are Mr. Langdon, Stan Down of Woodstock, John Dolmedi OFU president and Walter Miller, OFU second vice-president.

Mr. Langdon said the union has asked for a meeting with William Stewart, provincial agriculture minister.

The figure includes a 75-cent federal subsidy, but Mr. Langdon said farmers are still waiting for that. In addition, 30 cents is deducted for trucking charges and farmers receive 10 cents less for lower grades of milk.

In Bognor, eight miles southeast of Owen Sound, about 27 members of local 12 of the OFU indicated they would stage a tractor blockade in their area if no action is taken by the provincial government to back their demands for improved prices for their produce.

A meeting is to be held tonight to decide what action the Grey County area of the OFU will take.

BARRED FROM ROYAL ENCLOSURE—A young man attired in morning coat and gray topper and his girl friend, wearing a short, short skirt, listen to gatekeeper tell them they can't enter the Royal Enclosure at the opening of four days of Royal Ascot racing in London. The reason wasn't the short skirt; they didn't have proper tickets. There were some miniskirts in the Enclosure. Queen Elizabeth's hemline was just below the knee.

Maybe it's because they discovered Jane Parker Pies...thousands have.

We agree...they're great."

But would you believe it if we told you our Jane Parker Pies taste home-baked? Probably not...until you've tried one.

Then you'd discover the crust is short and flaky like your own.

You'd discover the fruit is the kind you'd use... the best...juicy, not stiff with starch.

And if you popped a Jane Parker Pie into the oven and warmed it before serving, you'd discover a pie you'd be proud to call your own.

Are Jane Parker Pies a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

Minto

MINTO — Mr. and Mrs. Herb Brady of Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brady were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Brady.

Rev. Mrs. I. Munro and family of Frankford were tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. and Lorne Hagerman on Wednesday.

The District Orange Service held at St. Thomas Church Sunday afternoon was well attended by members and visitors. Rev. R. Stewart preached the sermon. Following the service a memorial and decoration service was held in the cemetery at which the Salvation Army Band of Tweed assisted.

St. Thomas W. A. held a dinner and quilting at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Jenkins on Tuesday.

During the morning service at Salem Church Sunday morning Rev. I. Munro administered the Sacrament of Baptism to Cheryl Burley, Barbara Jackson, Susan Sine and Dale Davidson and to the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morton of Oakville, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cooney and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith and the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Vilneff of Oakhurst.

Mr. Chris Cornett of Toronto is spending the summer months with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sine.

BRIDAL SHOWER

On Thursday evening, a miscellaneous shower was held in honor of Miss Mary Ray, bride-to-be, at the home of Mrs. Albert Twiddy, Harold, with Mrs. Cecil Carter and Mrs. Dennis Armstrong as co-hostesses. Fifty guests were in attendance.

The guest of honor was seated in a decorated chair while contests and a sing-song were enjoyed by all. Miss Jane Clements accompanied at the piano. Miss Barbara Twiddy read an address on behalf of those present and Mary opened the various gifts. Flash pictures were taken of Mary in her bonnet of bows.

Poles Disdain Red Trappings, Tend to Look Down on Russia

A Canadian Press reporter travelling in Poland found evidence of disdain for some of the trappings of communism and a tendency to look down at the Russians. The mingled attitudes are described in this story.

By JOHN REST

WARSAW (CP) — A young Polish artist threw open his jacket to reveal a red turtle-neck sweater, obviously foreign-made.

"The color is because I'm a Communist," he said sarcastically.

The remark seemed an apt commentary on the attitude of a good many Poles to the political system under which they have lived for 20 years.

It's difficult to tell whether they're fed up, vaguely discontented or just plain bored with it all. At any rate, the people of Poland display an ostentatious disdain for what are generally considered Communist values.

In the case of the artist, it wasn't just the abstract color compositions in his little outdoor display gallery that suggested he was being ironic in calling himself a Communist.

After all, Polish authorities tend to be quite broad-minded about artistic expression.

Rather, it was his calculated way of saying things to please Western tourists. It was also his boast of having staged 10 private exhibitions in Western countries.

The secret, he implied, is to get somebody to invite you; then the police will let you go. And for that, Western tourists make good bait.

They tell the story in Warsaw of one artist who wangled an exhibition in Miami and came back driving a new car bought with the proceeds.

Such self-serving attitudes are part of a pattern that raises doubt about the loyalty to communism.

There appears to be a great deal of cynicism. For instance, a waiter at a leading Warsaw hotel handed me my dinner bill one night and it came to the Polish equivalent of about $6. He hovered around a few moments, then startled us by saying "Give me $3 and call it square."

Since foreigners are not supposed to change their convertible currency in such unauthorized ways, we didn't comply. But it came as a jolt to realize that such an illegal transaction could take place in a leading dining room.

Some of the cynicism may be justified in terms of examples set by higher-ups. The gossip grapevine tells of a high government official who drives a Jaguar said to have cost the equivalent of $20,000.

The currency black market operates here as in most Communist countries although on a wider scale. I remember making a 10 - minute walk from my hotel one day and being accosted by two youths in turn wanting to change my dollars at a favorable rate.

Poles say there is no law against possessing foreign money because that would tend to stop the sizable flow of convertible currency sent to relatives by Poles abroad.

Therefore nobody asks questions if you have foreign currency. But you're not supposed to buy or sell it except through authorized channels.

LITTLE HOSTILITY

All in all, there is little visible evidence of hostility to the regime—the people you meet just don't seem to take it seriously.

Some of the things a visitor notices:

...The high hemlines on women's dresses, perhaps not quite up to those in London but certainly the highest in the Communist world. Somehow they don't seem to square with the puritan stand of Communist teaching.

...The craze for dance music of Western countries, both on radio and in dance halls; for Western records, Ella Fitzgerald, to name one popular performer, and the weakness of some Poles for provocative girlie shows.

...The tendency of Poles to look down their noses at other peoples of the Soviet bloc, especially the Soviets.

"We haven't any state religion here such as Marxism in the U.S.S.R.," said a prominent Polish literary critic, discussing the conflict between the Roman Catholic Church and Poland's Communist government.

"We don't have to worry about criticism (of the government) as much as writers do in the Soviet Union," said another writer. Actually, resident Western observers say, the Polish government tolerates no more printed criticism than any other Communist regime, which means none at all.

TIED TO WEST

A young industrial design artist says with relish that the Russians can't understand the Poles. Explaining the enormous Western cultural influence and the paucity of Russian influence, he said with a grand display of oversimplification:

"Poland was tied to the West for many centuries. It's been tied to the East for 20 years. We and the Russians have completely different outlooks. The Russians can't understand the Poles any more than they can understand the West."

Even important officials and other key people feel fidgety in the Soviet bloc's close embrace and dream of travelling west.

The most popular choice of Polish tourists, if they could travel freely, would be France and Italy. But they can't because of currency restrictions and so they go to Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Romania instead, says a government official.

Among Polish schoolchildren, English is said to be the most popular foreign language, followed by French and Spanish. These are not taught until seventh grade, and then are optional, however, while Russian is compulsory from Grade 5.

Economically, Poland represents a cross between a Communist and capitalist society. Its agriculture is 80 per cent privately owned by volume of production. But it remains a chronically ailing sector of the economy and a neglected one, just as in other Communist states.

FARMS TOO SMALL

Even a diehard capitalist could find grounds for some kind of collectivization, or at least farm consolidation, if he took a trip through the Polish countryside.

In many regions, the farms are tiny, too small for mechanization, and therefore unproductive. The government is trying to encourage formation of agrarian "societies" embracing three to five farms that could use a tractor and other modern equipment to advantage.

But it has to move cautiously since the Polish farmer is more jealously attached than most to his own private plot of land.

Partly as a result of a shortfall in agricultural output, national income failed to achieve the target set for it in the five-year plan ended last Dec. 31. Industrially, the consumer goods sector also failed to reach its target but heavy industry did, continuing its rapid post - war growth.

It's not just in agriculture that private enterprise retains its hold. Small private shops and even small private manufacturing firms are permitted, even encouraged. However, there is a limit to the number of people one man can employ.

Private enterprise is also dominant in the field of small repairs, everything from shoes and clothing to kitchen sinks and TV sets. Seventy per cent of such repairs are performed by private operators.

Clearly the Communist regime recognizes that at least in some areas private enterprise is best.

Tomorrow: Memories of wartime terror begin to fade.

Separate Twin Girls Look Forward to Normal Life

GARDONE, Italy (AP)—Two seven-year-old girls who never talk about their past look forward happily to their future in an amazing new world of normal life.

They are Santina and Giuseppina Foglia, Siamese twin sisters born joined at the spine. They were separated in a five-hour operation May 10, 1965.

Since then they have learned to walk separately, even ride bicycles. And they have learned to forget their six years in a Turin clinic.

"They are extraordinarily vital and lively. There is no visible difference to be noticed when they play with their schoolmates," says Mrs. Maria Tumminelli. She is owner and director of the Tumminelli boarding school in this Lake Garda resort, where the twins now stay.

After the operation by a team of 25 specialists headed by Professor Luigi Solcrio, the two girls were kept under close medical observation during months of physical and psychological readjustment. They had to re-educate their limbs and acquire a new sense of balance.

They still perform corrective calisthenics at the school here.

"They look normal, just a little frail perhaps, as many other children are," says Mrs. Tumminelli.

LIVE NORMALLY

"Psychologically, they had to become accustomed to living in a normal environment. In this respect their re-education has been remarkable. . . .

"Santina is livelier and quicker of mind. She also is more offusive. Her sister is deeper and wiser and less communicative."

After the period of readjustment at the clinic the two girls settled in the house of their parents at Grazzano Badoglio.

Their father runs a butcher shop there. Their mother, Mrs. Elide Foglia, gave birth to a normal baby boy, Fulvio, in January.

A few months ago Santina and Giuseppina came to the Tumminelli school here. They sleep in separate beds in the same room. They run and play with the other girls, and they also can ride two little bicycles with side-balance wheels. But they are given their first-grade schooling in a class of their own.

"The only reason for this is that they started five months late and their schoolmates now are more advanced," says Mrs. Tumminelli. "Next year I think they will be able to attend a normal municipal school."

Incomes of Teenagers in U.S. Average $695 Apiece Annually

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Doting parents and well - paying jobs are showering money on millions of American teen-agers.

The country's 36,000,000 teenagers have an estimated $15,000,000,000 a year to spend that works out to $635 apiece—$30 more than the per-capita national income in 1946.

Not all teen-agers, though, share in this mountain of money from jobs and allowances. The federal government's last report showed 720,000 teen-agers —many of them uneducated and unskilled—without jobs.

For 13-year-olds, allowances and snow - shoveling money from their parents. For 15-year-olds, babysitting and mowing lawns. For 18-year-olds, full-time, part-time or summer jobs paying much more than their parents used to make.

A country - wide Associated Press survey of teen-agers' income found allowances ranging from $1 to $20 a week.

Girls' allowances and jobs are estimated to provide an average of $11 a week.

BOYS HAVE MORE

Boys have more to spend, padding their allowances with jobs after school and on weekends.

Marty Flynn, 16, of Kansas City, Mo., gets out of school one hour early and works 27 hours a week in a grocery store, sacking and delivering groceries. He makes about $30 a week.

"I got the job because I wanted to buy a guitar and amplifier," he said. "I have about $800 in it."

Marty makes a $5 payment each week on his amplifier and reserves $40 for going out. He tries to save $35, and spends the rest for gasoline and incidentals.

Don Rose, 17, of Encino, Calif., earns $6.50 a week as a part-time salesman for a cooking ware firm, and saves about $300 a year. He says he wants to put it in stocks—or maybe an automobile.

Pam Tipton, 17, a senior at Coral Gables high school in Florida, is a model. Pam earns $1.25 an hour modeling at a department store and receives $3 a week allowance from her parents to spend on clothes, cosmetics and school supplies.

Most girls in their mid-teens babysit.

Romonelle Witzke, 16, a junior at McClure high school near St. Louis, earns money by occasional babysitting, and puts it into savings for college "and perhaps extra clothes that I really don't need but I want."

"I earn quite a bit babysitting, but it all goes for clothes and skiing," said Lynn Serafini, 17, of Denver, Col.

Among the boys, the most common jobs include caddying and mowing lawns.

Bob Stalder, 16, an honor student at Shawnee Mission West high in Overland Park, Kan., has earned more than $1,000 caddying the last two summers and put it in the bank for college.

In Coral Gables, Tom Thacker, 17, a high school senior, earns all of his spending money by mowing lawns on weekends. He banks $25 to $30 a week for college.

William Tuzzy, an 18-year-old senior at Westport high school in Kansas City, earns about $50 a week, working from 2 to 11 p.m. as a cook.

"I put about $10 in the bank every two weeks for junior college," he said. "I give my aunt $15. That leaves me $25 to $30 to spend."

Carol Miller, 17, of Coral Gables, estimates she spends $15-$20 a week. Her parents give her money "when I need it."

Coula Campbell, 12, of Atlanta, Ga., receives about $1 a week for magazines, candy and school supplies.

"My parents buy whatever else I need," Coula said.

Phyla Barashkiel, 15, also of Atlanta, reports her allowance is about $2.50—"but I usually need more and daddy just gives me money when I need it."

Russell Gibbs, 17, a senior at Maine South high school in Park Ridge, Ill., a Chicago suburb, receives $3 a week from his parents. "I spend it all on dates," he says.

In an affluent society, money is easy come-easy go for many teen-agers.

"I don't think money means much to teen-agers," said Norm Lancaster, 17, a junior at Lowell high school in San Francisco.

"Teen - agers are not impressed with money as much as adults are," said Tanis Amochaser, 16, a senior at San Francisco's Washington high school.

"We just want enough to spend," she said.

Many do not worry about spending money—or saving it.

"You either have money or you don't," Tanis said. "You can't raise your future standard of living by saving $200 a year."

South African Game Warden Sees Elephant Mercy-Killing

By BRIAN BARROW

Canadian Press Correspondent

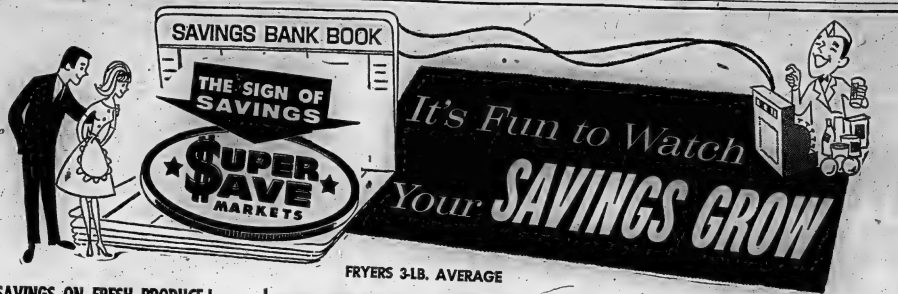
CAPE TOWN (CP)—A game warden in Addo National Park near Port Elizabeth, Cape Province, says he has discovered that the African elephant, the world's biggest land animal, practises a form of euthanasia on sick or aging members of the herd.

For years one of the big mysteries in Africa has been how elephants die and where they go to die. Although great herds roam the forests in central and southern Africa, hardly anyone has ever seen an elephant die a natural death. Now part of this mystery has been solved.

Early in April game warden Sep le Roux in Addo Park noticed that the oldest female in the herd had a growth on her abdomen and was growing weaker daily. He decided to keep a watch on her. His vigil was rewarded with an example of elephants' "humanity" to elephants.

The old cow became so weak that she could only get on her feet with difficulty. Then three young bulls in the herd took over. Two of them walked on either side of the ailing animal to steady her and the third pushed her from behind towards a water hole. The young bulls nursed her in this way on three or four occasions.

Finally the time came when the cow was too weak to get on her feet and was obviously in great pain.



The leader of the herd, a giant bull with tusks five feet long, approached her gently and slowly. After standing over her for a few minutes he lowered his head and killed her by driving one of his tusks into her brain.

The game warden said the incredible thing was that the bull's tusk penetrated at a vulnerable spot between the eye and the ear—the same spot at which experienced big - game hunters aim to shoot the giant pachyderms.

After the killing the bull held his trunk high and signalled to the rest of the herd which slowly approached and formed a circle around the dead cow as if paying a last tribute. Then they slowly filed off, leaving one of the young bulls as a sentinel.

Veterinary surgeons held an autopsy on the carcass and that the swelling on the abdomen was a malignant tumor. They also found that the tusk of the herd leader had penetrated the brain.

A report of the incident was made to the national parks board.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Someone once wrote or said "Time changes everything" and that applies to this wonderful citizen wacky world of sport.

And here's how the most of it started-

David invented the shot-put—also the one-hitter. Monks rolling stones at sticks in cloistered halls were responsible for the origin of bowling; two thirsty Scots with a flagon of "dew" started dropping stones in holes with sticks to invest golf. Doubleday stole baseball from Abner and Abner and James Naismith throwing a ball in a peach basket started basketball.

Halifax and Kingston claim British soldiers hitting a stone with a stick or ice got hockey away. The Greeks started the Olympics and the Romans claimed the origin of water polo. A monk (again) started the manly art of self defence and the Japanese were the originators of grunt-and-groan.

Adam was the first man to be thrown out of a park — and set the first 100-yards dash record on his way. Mary Queen of Scots was the first woman golfer and lost her head after a mixed tournament. William the Conqueror was the first European archery title at Hastings. Henry the Eighth inaugurated the first "fowl" ball and the cut-off in women's court play.

A Frenchman named Maurice Cugot invented the first power-drive vehicle back in 1789 using steam. A German, Gottlieb Daimler, perfected internal combustion. The Fred Flintlocks of olden times slid down telephone poles of pizza oil attached to wood and began the skiing fad. Cricket, believe it or not, is derived from croquet, a once popular French game.

Dog-racing began ten centuries ago when the wild Afghan tribes sent their fastest pooches after game. A royal bloke, Saragon, King of Ur, playfully stuck his penknife into the queen's lover's gizzard and the ensuing argument started fencing. That was 2,000 B.C. And the gals have been rolling around ever since.

The daughter of the ancient Greeks of 2,500 years ago for want of something better than waiting in restaurants started hitting stones with long sticks and field hockey came into being. The French later dubbed it "hokey".

The Greek-Roman athletes invented football. The Chinese took it up using balls made of eight strips of leather, filled with hair. All-filled balls were introduced in 502 A.D. McGill U. and Harvard started the American version back in 1874.

An unknown Englishman owned the first horse to "trot" back in 1756 and that started harness racing. The first "thoroughbred" race was held in London, England on the Smithfield Track in 1174. Hurling is as traditionally Irish as the shamrock and shillalagh and started with the ancient kings of Gold Eire.

The Dutch were the first ice-boaters followed by the Lapps and Finns. Ice-skating is a drop-out from skiing and drawings from the Middle Ages show the ancient gods of the northlands were the originators. Lacrosse, formerly known as "baggataway" is the original property of the Canadian Indian, played long before the white man opened the first liquor store. Boccia is an Italian game played strictly by Italians.

A Belgian put together the first actual motorcycle in 1868. An American built the first "definite" motorbike in 1901. The Persians played polo 4,000 years ago when there were no millionaires. A London jail originated the game of racquets where inmates whiffed away the time playing the game.

Holland brought forth the first roller-skate. A Dutchman started it by attaching large wooden spools to his shoes with long strips of leather. Eskimos started with crude canoes back many centuries. The earliest car-driven boats were those of the Egyptians and Romans.

Swimming is a survival sport and a natural one. Joe the Caveman used his woman-club to keep afloat if he fell in the local pool—and thus learned to swim. Tennis originated in the 13th century. Weight-lifting did not originate as a sport. The greatest lifters in the world were the guys that built the Egyptian pyramids.

If I've left out any origins give the credit to the Russians.

The Trots

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Harry Ingles, a 72-year-old driver from Brighton, Ont., drove the upset of the night Tuesday at Garden City Raceway when he moved Miss Money Comet to a $14.15 payoff in the first race.

HAMBURG, N.Y. (CP) — Kappa Key moved at the three-quarter pole to score a come-from-behind victory in the $1,400 pacing feature Tuesday night at Buffalo Raceway.

HAY RETIRES

MONTREAL (CP) — Tommy Ivan, general manager of Chicago Black Hawks, said Tuesday Bill (Red) Hay, centre star with the club since 1959, has decided to retire. Hay, who won the Calder Trophy as the league's top rookie in his first full season with Chicago, is retiring for "business reasons," Ivan said. Hay, 30, is a graduate geologist and now makes his home in Calgary.

Belvedere Narrows The Gap

Scoring single runs in each of the last two innings, Belvedere Hotel nipped Stewart Warner 2-1 last night to move within two points of first place in the Commercial Softball League standings.

Stewart Warner has won six and lost two while Belvedere owns a record of five and three.

The losers jumped ahead 1-0 in the fourth. Turner led off with a single, stole second and moved around to score on two infield outs.

Hineman tied it for Belvedere with a home run in the sixth.

McMasters halted Stewart Warner's winning streak with a strong four - hit pitching chore. He stayed out of trouble with seven strikeouts.He walked only one.

Junior Day allowed eight hits in a losing effort. He fanned three and also walked but one.

Jim Mohr and George Perry had a brace of singles each. Cliff Hineman a homer, Jim Nichols a triple, Larry McMasters his double and Jack Caisan a single for Belvedere.

Nationals Will Play NHL Teams

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's national hockey team will play a three-game exhibition series against New York Rangers of the National Hockey League in Western Canada this fall, Gordon Juckes, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Tuesday.

The games will be played in Winnipeg Oct. 7 and 9 and in Calgary Oct. 8.

It will be the first time the Canadian national team has played against NHL competition.

Minor Softball Results

The Belleville Minor Softball Association peewee games were played last night, resulting in almost identical scores.

The OASA Travelers topped Hyde and Son Giants 15-6.

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League annual meeting moves into its third day today with the scheduled interleague draft expected to involve more player changes than the last two days of activities.

New York Rangers, who finished in fifth place in the standings this year, are permitted to protect 20 players plus three netminders. Boston Bruins, fifth-place finishers, are allowed to protect 19 players and two goaltenders and the remaining four clubs can only protect 18 players and three goalies.

Only one trade has been announced in the last two days. Montreal Canadiens and the Rangers completed a two-for-one deal with Gordon (Red) Berenson going to New York for Ted Taylor and another player as yet unnamed. Both Taylor and the unnamed are considered utility forwards.

Other announcements made at the league's session included a decision by Bill Hay of Chicago Black Hawks to retire; a move by Punch Imlach of Toronto Maple Leafs to hold on to all-star defenceman Carl Brewer and still protect 18 players; Boston Bruins' re-purchase of Wayne Connelly of Fergus, Ont., and some appointments by the Black Hawks.

Will Attend Senior A Hockey Meet

"To Be or Not To Be"

That is the question that a number of hockey fans have been asking the past week or so.

The question stemmed from a Kingston newspaper report that Belleville would send representatives to a meeting of the OHA Senior "A" Hockey League meeting slated for Toronto tonight.

Floyd Crawford will head a two - man delegation to the meeting "just to see what is going on."

It has been alleged that some influential business men of the city are interested in an entry.

The senior loop at present consists of clubs from Oakville, Guelph, Weston, Woodstock, Barrie, Collingwood, Kingston and Toronto.

The Kingston story said the Limestone City club would welcome a Belleville entry since it could pave the way to a two - section league. This, stated, could result in a big difference in costs of transportation.

The identity of the local "syndicate" has been kept very hush - hush. Nobody is talking - yet.

Crawford said the purpose of attendance of Belleville interests at tonight's meeting is to ascertain what costs of operation would be involved.

"No definite entry would be made tonight" he said.

Meanwhile fans broadcasts have questions of their own.

"What are we going to do for players?"

The league's board of governors voted a bid by Imlach, Toronto's general-manager, to hold on to Brewer and still allow him to protect 18 other players for today's draft.

UPHOLD CAMPBELL

The governors concurred with an earlier decision by NHL president Clarence Campbell that no players who is a professional can be placed on the inactive list unless he has been out of action for one year.

Imlach earlier had requested that he be allowed to transfer Brewer from the Leafs' reserve list to the Toronto inactive list under an NHL bylaw governing players attached to the military. Brewer is attending the University of Toronto.

Brewer becomes eligible under the new ruling since he walked out of the Leafs' training camp at Peterborough, Ont., last fall and did not sign a contract before the season ended.

Arthur M. Wirtz Sr., chairman of the Hawks, announced that both general - manager Tommy Ivan and Billy Reay had signed contracts which cover "a period of years."

Wirtz Sr. also announced that William W. Wirtz was named to succeed the late James D. Norris on the NHL board of governors for the Black Hawks.

Ivan has been with the Hawks since 1954 and Reay will be starting his fourth season as coach.

MOVE ALL-STARS

In other business, the governors decided to move the 30th annual all-star game from its customary pre-season slot to Wednesday, Jan. 18.

The game will be played in Montreal and will feature the defending Stanley Cup champion Canadiens against the all-star teams selected at the end of the first half of the 1966-67 season.

This will be the first time the all-star game will be played in mid-season. In 12 of the previous years it was played prior to the start of the season, while in 1948 it was played in Chicago just after the schedule got under way.

The Rangers completed plans to play pre-season exhibition games against the Canadian national team in Winnipeg Oct. 7 and 9 and in Calgary Oct. 8.

The league also announced that the veteran draft scheduled for Thursday has been moved up to today and will follow the internal draft.

This was made possible after the league cancelled the minor leagues draft session scheduled for Tuesday.

'Red' Storey Praises N.H.L. Prexy

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League was praised Tuesday night by a person he has had several differences of opinion with in past years — former referee Red Storey.

"We've had our differences of opinion," Storey said at the Kinsmen sportsmen's banquet Tuesday night, "but he (Campbell) is the best man the NHL could have."

Storey, who quit his job with the league in 1959 after Campbell criticized his work in the Montreal Canadiens - Chicago Black Hawks Stanley Cup playoff, said Campbell deserved his election to hockey's Hall of Fame Monday night.

Storey was the guest at the banquet which honored Eric Ellis as Pembroke's Sportsman of the Year for his work in Minto league baseball.

Another speaker, former Montreal Alouette Don Quinn of Ottawa Rough Riders, predicted Toronto Argonauts would make the playoffs this season in the Eastern Football Conference, due mainly to good recruiting. "I think they'll finish third," he said.

New Astro Splashes Down Koufax

Rally To Beat Yankees 2-1

Birds On Top Perch As Indians Split

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sun Miller keeps running out of innings in his quest for a no-hitter.

Baltimore's abominable slowman finished up with three perfect innings as the Orioles rallied for a 2-1 victory over New York Yankees Tuesday night.

That gave the 36-year-old relief specialist a string of 6 2-3 hitless innings in his last three game-ending appearances.

In Miller's limited repertoire, one pitch seems slower than the next. But he has seven saves and five victories so far this season.

The veteran righthander, who was 14-7 last year, has appeared in 25 of Baltimore's 36 games and has finished 14.

SECURE FIRST PLACE

Baltimore's victory combined with Cleveland Indians' split against Kansas City and Detroit Tigers' loss to Chicago White Sox put the Orioles into undisputed possession of first place. Cleveland beat the Red Sox 8-7 in the first game as Fred Whitfield drove in five runs but dropped the nightcap 11-7 with George Scott hammering two homers for Boston.

Elsewhere, Minnesota Twins tripped Kansas City Athletics 6-3, Washington Senators ended an eight-game losing streak by beating Detroit Tigers 3-2 and California Angels clouted Chicago White Sox 10-4.

Miller came on in the seventh with the Orioles trailing 1-0 against Jim Bouton. But Bouton, trying to make it seemed-to after missing almost two months with a bad arm, got in trouble on Chico Boyer's two-base throwing error in the eight.

Andy Etchebarren followed with a base hit that tied the game and when the ball got away from center fielder Al Pepitone, Etchebarren made it all the way to third. Luis Aparicio's single brought him home and made Miller a winner.

Sonny Siebert, making his first start since pitching a no-hitter last Friday, was stuck on a 2-0 lead in the opener against the Red Sox but needed help from Dick Radatz and Sam McDowell for his sixth victory. Whitfield homered and singled to drive in five runs.

HOMERS DECIDE GAME

Whitfield continued his hot hitting in the second game with another homer and two singles and Rocky Colavito's grand slam iced it for Jack Hamilton. But George Thomas homered and Scott added a three-run shot—his second of the game—to win it for Boston.

Earl Battey doubled home the tie-breaking run for the Twins in the eighth and then knocked in another run in the ninth against Kansas City. Dave Boswell pitched a five-hitter and struck out 11 for the victory.

HOFFA FIXES FOOTBALLERS

CHICAGO (AP)—A drive to unionize professional football players, in the wake of merger of the game's two major pro leagues, has been ordered by James Hoffa, Teamsters' union president. Hoffa was quoted Tuesday in an interview in the Chicago Daily News as saying players will "be like slaves" with agreement of the National Football League and American Football League to form one circuit by 1970.

Power Squadron Rendezvous

The Bay of Quinte Power Squadrons will hold its Spring Rendezvous this coming Sunday, June 19, at the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club, starting at 10:00 a.m.

Five cups have been set up for competition. They are the Ed Smith Trophy, for pilots only; the Little Corby, for mixed crews; the Wilf Stephenson Trophy, also for mixed crews; the Head Johnson Trophy, for predicted log and the Teddy Bear, for women only.

Dinner is planned for around 5:30 with the capable Squadronettes attending to the replacement of food. There is a small charge for men and children under 12 are admitted free.

Power squadron members wishing to take part are asked to contact Reg Morry or Frank Reed. Boats are available for those not having one.

Minor Baseball Results

A seven-run explosion in the sixth inning made the difference as Lyndhurst Lions defeated Lyle's Giants 16-14 in a B.M.B.A. tyke game, at Park Dale, last night.

Another tyke game, DeMilles vs. Lisle Oven Bakery, and a peewee game, The Toys vs. Foustain Park, were postponed because of wet grounds.

Ronnie Wood and Tim Whelan gave up 12 hits hurling for Jaycees They fanned seven and walked eight. Robin Goss, Wally Dirkard and Bob Moore allowed only nine hits in defeating Bell Telephone 8-3.

Bruce Clark hit a double and single, David Flesch two singles and Pat MacKenzie a double for the winners. Bill Sturgeon, Ron Wood, Tim Whelan and Dave Sullivan added singles.

Wally Dainard had a double and single, Cliff Rathbourne and Robin Goss! two hits each, Paul Meagher and Jed Foster a double each for Sailer's. Bob Moore, Tony Meagher, Bob Salisbury and Rick Culkin had singles.

ANNOUNCES CONTRACTS

MONTREAL (CP) — Arthur M. Wirtz Sr., chairman of Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, announced Tuesday that both general manager Tommy Ivan and coach Billy Reay have signed contracts which cover "a period of years."

Sandy Koufax finally lost a game, and part of his problem was Jim Gentile's broken bat.

Gentile's bat wasn't there, nor was Gentile, as Houston Astros defeated Los Angeles Dodgers and Koufax 3-0 Tuesday night.

But Gentile's replacement was, and he was a major factor in Koufax' first loss since April 9, a loss which snapped his eight-game winning streak.

Chuck Harrison, who took Gentile's spot on the Astro roster when the voluble first baseman was banished to the minors Monday, rapped a bases-loaded, two-run single in the sixth inning that broke up a scoreless battle between Koufax and young Larry Dierker.

Gentile was ordered to Oklahoma City of the Pacific Coast League after he slammed his bat against home plate and broke it Sunday in a game against Chicago Cubs.

Harrison's crucial single helped the 19-year-old Dierker to his first major league shutout and the Astros to their first victory over Koufax now 11-2 since April 14, 1963.

FIRSTS AGOUND

The game also marked the first time the Dodgers had been shut out since last Aug. 5 and ended their streak of 33 consecutive scoreless innings.

FIRSTS AGOUND

The game also marked the first time the Dodgers had been shut out since last Aug. 5 and ended their streak of 33 consecutive scoreless innings.

Bob Aspromonte added another run off Koufax with a homer in the seventh while Dierker stopped the Dodgers on five hits.

Willie McCovey's two - run homer in the seventh inning, the fifth homer of the day for San Francisco, snapped a 7-7 tie with the Cubs. Chuck Estrada made his league debut as a starter but departed after giving up first-inning, two-run homers to Willie Mays and Tom Haller.

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney pitched a three-hitter for his seventh victory against two defeats. Dick Simpson hit a two-run homer in the ninth.

Hank Aaron led Atlanta's attack, batting two - run homer, singling home another run and scoring still another on Clay Dalrymple's throwing error.

Jerry Buchek's two - run homer powered a six-run second inning for St. Louis. Lou Brock collected four hits and stole two bases for the Cardinals.

Minor Softball Week

Plan Two Tournaments

Minor Softball Week in Ontario is being held from Saturday June 25, and two special tournaments have been arranged here by the Belleville Minor Softball Association.

This Saturday, a fourteam baseball tourney will be played at Alemite Park, starting at 10:00 a.m., with the championship game slated for 8:00 p.m.

Marmora meets Belleville SACO at 10:00, Port Perry and Wellington clash at 12:00 noon, Peterborough and Marmora do battle at 2:00 and Belleville Legion meets Port Perry at 4:00. The two top clubs will meet for the title in what will be the game.

Five teams have entered the peewee tournament on June 25. Belleville Parkside's and Bayside's more play at Pine Street School a' 10:00 a.m. All other games are at the Alemite, with Westwood and Oshawa slated for 10:00; Zion and Belleville Sobeck for Sailer's, Bell; more vs Westwood at 2:00 and Oshawa vs. Zion at 4:00 p.m.

Trophies will be awards for the championship and medals.

Plans for a squirt tournament were abandoned due to a lack of entries. A small charge will be in effect for the tournaments with the money going to minor softball.

Also, tonight's special game between the Commercial League Stars and the touring California Oaties, slated for Alemite Park at 8:15 will be in aid of minor softball.

B. D. Game Postponed

Somebody got a little trigger happy!

The Belleville and District Softball League game, Bloomfield at Trudeau Manors, scheduled for last night at Alemite Park, was postponed around supper time.

Minutes later the rain stopped.

Near game time, it was stated the park appeared to be in good condition.

Too late to do anything about it at this time, however, so now the B. and D. grouping has five postponed games to make up.

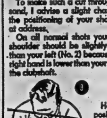
HOW TO PLAY DOWNHILL SAND SHOTS



The biggest problem on downhill sand shots is the possibility that the clubhead might cut into the side of the ball, instead of beneath it.

On such shots concentrate on contacting the sand well behind the ball and sliding your clubhead through the sand, well beyond the ball's original position (see No. 1).

To make such a cut through the sand, I advise a slight change in the positioning of your shoulders at address.

On all normal shots your right shoulder should be slightly lower than your left (No. 2) because your right hand is lower than your left on the clubshaft.

However, on downhill sand shots, position your right shoulder a bit higher than your left (No. 3). This will ensure you of an upright swing and will cause you to take a healthy cut of sand so as to sclelf or top the shot.

Under Way Thursday

Greens Favor Nicklaus In Open

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jack Nicklaus was the favorite going into Thursday's opening round of the United States open golf tournament even though the Olympic country club layout doesn't figure to be his kind of course.

"If there is a favorite, it has to be Jack," said defending champion Gary Player, the title South African who is gravely disturbed about his game.

"It's going to be won around the greens, not on driving," said Arnold Palmer. "And Jack is going to be on more greens than anyone else."

"Those greens are very small, and very hard to hold," Player said. "Jack has that soft lob shot that will hold."

Palmer agreed. "Jack has the highest shot in golf. It could make the difference."

The field of 128 professionals and 36 amateurs faces four rounds over a course that has been extremely trying in practice rounds.

"If you're off the fairway, you're in trouble," Nicklaus said. "You've got to stay on the fairway, but you've still got to be long enough."

The fairways are very tight and lined by dense growths of trees, giving them the appearance of tunnels. The greens are tiny.

The course is laid over hills. But it's more than up and down. It also writhes from side to side.

"It places a premium on accuracy," said Player.

Ben Hogan, a four-time winner, was extended a special invitation to attend. But another old, familiar face is missing. Sam Snead failed to qualify and will be missing his first Open since 1937.

LEGS DRIVE FORWARD, HEAD STAYS BACK

Maximize distance on golf shots is achieved when the legs drive forward on the downswing while the head remains in its original position (see illustration).

This combination of forward drive and stable head position builds a terrific force that moves down in the clubhead and produces maximum clubhead speed.

Some better players actually let their heads move back to their right on their downswing to further increase this source of power. However, I don't advise that the average golfer try to consciously duplicate this head movement.

Just make sure your head does not move forward toward the hole as your legs drive in that direction.

Scot Boxer Wins World "Fly" Title

LONDON (AP)—Writer McGowan, 25-year-old Scot, outpointed Salvatore Burruni of Italy and stripped him of his disputed world flyweight boxing title Tuesday night.

McGowan, 32, jabbed his way to victory in the early rounds and survived a vicious cut over his right eye suffered in the middle of the fight.

Burruni had been recognized as world champion by the British and European boxing boards.

But the World Boxing Council and the World Boxing Association consider Argentina's Hortacio Accavallo champion. The WBC and WBA stripped Burruni of the title for failing to defend the crown against Japan's Hiroyuki Ebihara before last Nov. 1.

Suns Edge Leafs 2-1, Jets Win

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Larry Miller, who had only one victory in his first four International League baseball games this season, won his fourth straight Monday night and hit his first home run of the year as Jacksonville Suns edged Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1. Miller gave up only four hits —one of them a homer by Toronto's Mike Andrews.

Elsewhere, Columbus Jots shutout Rochester Red Wings 8-0, Richmond Braves edged Buffalo Bisons 7-5 after losing the first 7-3, and Toledo Mud Hens downed Syracuse Chiefs 3-1.

SEEKS ARBITRATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator James R. Pearson called Tuesday for U.S. congressional action to force compulsory arbitration in the continuing jurisdictional dispute between the CIO Ind. Track and Field Federation and the Amateur Athletic Union.

T. and S. Softball

A strong pitching performance by Ron Denyes paced Hallowray to a 7-1 Thurlow and Sidney Softball League victory over Crookston last night.

Denyes gave up only three singles, struck out six and walked none. Dick Chapman gave up ten hits in defeat, fanning five and walking two.

Roscoe Morgan hit a three-run homer, Don Harris and Denyes two singles each and Gordon Allan a double for Halloway. Bob Bateman, Maurice Carter and Jack Francis got Crookston's safeties.

Bill Foster To Race At Mosport

TORONTO (CP)—Billy Foster, Victoria-born veteran of stock car racing, will compete in the Kawartha 250 race at Mosport Park July 30, it was announced Tuesday.

The 280year-old Foster, twice a competitor in the Indianapolis 500, will drive a Dodge Charger in the 250-mile race for late-model stock cars at the 2.5-mile road track 45 miles northeast of Toronto.

Foster, who has been driving stock cars for nearly 13 years, was a key figure in a 16-car pile-up at Indianapolis in the Memorial Day race May 30.

The Tracks

Trained by Carl Chapman and ridden by Paul Griffo, Snow Time completed the 6½-furlong distance in 1:18 2-5 and paid $24.60, $6.90 and $3.90.

REACH AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tentative agreement on a formula for mandatory federal safety standards for automobiles was reached Tuesday by the U.S. senate commerce committee, chairman Warren G. Magnuson (Dem. Wash.) announced. Magnuson said the committee is about two-thirds of the way through a revised version of the legislation requested by President Johnson and he hopes the measure will be completed by the end of this week.

WINS POINT

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Griffith, who wants to hold both the world welterweight and middleweight boxing titles, won a point Tuesday in his court suit to prevent the New York State Athletic Commission from stripping him of the welterweight crown. Samuel H. Gold, state Supreme Court justice, promised a quick decision after both sides agreed that no elimination bouts would be held in either division until the court rules.

How They're Biting

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pike to 23 pounds in Kapuskasing, pickerel to 13 pounds at Pembroke, and lake trout to 17 pounds at Lindsay were among top catches last weekend as all 22 districts of the department of lands and forests reported excellent fishing.

Weather that alternated between hot and sunny and cool and windy, provided good angling conditions across most of Ontario.

The only handicap was summed up by the district forester at Cochrane with the comment that "blackflies are prevalent."

The reports by district:

SOUTH

Lake Simcoe—Pike of 13 and 14 pounds were among unusual catches taken this week from Cook's Bay. Pike and pickerel have been fair in Georgian Bay, pickerel fair in Nottawasaga Bay, lake trout good in Lake Simcoe, pan fish fair. Pike and pickerel were fair to good in Sparrow Lake, and pan fish good in the Bayou.

EAST

Kemptville — Pickerel and pike catches have been good in Lake St. Frances and St. Lawrence River; fair in other areas. The mosquitoes and blackflies are a continuing problem.

Lindsay — Kawartha district: Pickerel fair to good, with Bobcaygeon the best spot using worms, spinners, plugs and minnows. Trent: Pike fair to good, pickerel poor to fair. Peterborough area: Pickerel poor to fair in the Ouseburn River, with the best baits minnows, worms' and artificial plugs. Speckled trout have been fair to good in Durham and Northumberland townships. RE-PURCHASED CENTRE

MONTREAL (CP) — Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League announced Tuesday they have re-purchased Wayne Connolly from San Francisco of the Western Hockey League. Connolly, a 26-year-old centre from Royne, Que., joined the Bruins for 61 games during the 1961-62 season, scoring eight goals and adding 12 assists.

Anti-dognapping Law Proposed in U.S. To Regulate Supply to Laboratories

Then days later, a dalmatian died in a New York city hospital laboratory following experimental heart surgery and its body was cremated.

This incident touched off a series of events now heading toward a possible climax this year in Congress which already has been asked to pass legislation restricting the handling and sale of research animals.

Two leaders of the congressional anti-dognapping drive are Senator Joseph S. Clark (Dem-Pa) and Representative Joseph V. Resnick (Dem—N.Y.).

If passed, the legislation could have its biggest impact in Pennsylvania which is considered a major centre for suppliers of laboratory animals because of its central location to eastern and mid-western laboratories. A house agriculture subcommittee already has held one hearing on the subject and plans more.

The bill's supporters contend up to 85 per cent of U.S. research animals have been stolen. Resnick says the theft ring is a $1,000,000 business and most laboratories use a substantial number of stolen cats and dogs.

Opponents say the bill is discriminatory, an abridgement of state powers, poorly written and unnecessary because few research animals are stolen.

STRICT CONTROL

The issue has generated some heat among pet lovers who have written hundreds of letters to Clark and Resnick, and to the House agriculture committee.

Under the legislation, dog and cat dealers would be licensed by the agriculture department which would fix standards for handling and transportation animals. No animals could be sold at public auction, and no dealer could buy animals from a pet owner, at least five days after he acquired it.

Maximum penalty for violation would be one year in jail and a $10,000 fine.

A recent case focused more attention on the legislation because of the involvement of the National Institute of Health, a major source of research animals.

The government agency purchased a white and black setter named Tressey from a Pennsylvania supplier but the Humane Society said it traced the dog to a man in Lexington, N.C., who contended he bought it from someone in Boyce, Va., whose name he couldn't remember.

The dog—or one like it—was reported stolen by a Boyce farmer earlier in the year.

The institute turned the dog over to the farmer, although it said proof of ownership was lacking. But it said there was evidence to support the farmer's claim.

The Humane Society said it has found evidence of dog theft rings in Delaware, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. One witness told the senate subcommittee that at least four dog auctions are held weekly within 90 miles of Philadelphia.

In the Slatington case, one story was that the dog which died in the New York hospital was raised in Altoona, Pa., and sold by its owner because it had started eating chickens.

But Resnick said positive identification of the dog was impossible because it had been cremated.

FIELD DAY

S. H. CONNOR SCHOOL

TWEED — The annual field day for the S.H. Connor School was held on Friday. The elimination took place in the morning with the final events held in the afternoon.

After the events the awards were presented and the overall winners in the primary division were Karen Baldrick, Anne Morton, Jimmy Heeney and Charles Wey. In the junior events winners were Margaret Woolfrey, Anne Foster, Billy Spencer and Jimmy Boyle. In the intermediate events winners were Susan Palmateer, Joyce Ash, Eddie McCallum and Stephen Mills. The senior event winners were Barbara Bibbs, Wendy Goulah, Gerald Booth and Greg Livelsay.

Bethel Zion

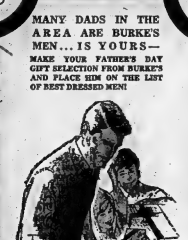
BETHEL ZION — The ladies of the U.C.W. recently held a successful smorgasbord dessert tea in the community hall. Beautiful floral arrangements and attractive tea tables as well as the buffet table with its eye appealing desserts contributed to the charm of the occasion.

A display of home baking was also on hand. Mrs. Earle Ray and Mrs. A. Marvyn had charge of the opportunity table and Mrs. P. Deakon of the scheme of decorations.



Mr. Roy Sills is a patient in Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, where he recently underwent surgery.

Mr. Garrison Ketcheson left on Friday to spend a holiday in Vancouver with her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Phillips have recently sold their farm to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cranston, and Mr. and Mrs. K. Vos have purchased the property of Mr. and Mrs. D. Mead.

6th Sidney

6TH SIDNEY — Mrs. Steve Oberman of Detroit and her daughter, Mrs. W. Rogan of Rockford, Michigan, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Hotchkiss of Toronto, spent the weekend in the community. On Sunday evening about sixty people gathered in Scott's United Church hall to meet them and talk over old times.

The U.C.W. of Scott's Church held a successful pot-luck dinner during the week.

Mrs. George Pollard, a patient in Trenton Memorial Hospital is reported to be slightly improved.

Soviet Jurist Warns Against Bias Aimed at Curbing Crime

MOSCOW (CP)—A high-ranking Soviet jurist has sternly admonished Russian courts to be more careful in examining evidence so as to reduce the danger of innocent people being condemned as criminals.

At the same time the jurist, Lev Smirnov, chairman of the Supreme Court of the Russian Federation, warned against the temptation to make an example out of accused persons in the interests of crime prevention.

"Correctness, disregard of procedural form, or any bias under the disguise of achieving general preventive aims of an exemplary' trial are all absolutely intolerable," wrote Smirnov in the communist party newspaper Pravda.

Smirnov's article appeared to be part of a continuing campaign to eliminate abuses in Soviet law practices, and place the rights of defendants on a firmer foundation. A number of prominent jurists and scholars have written about the need to reinforce what is called socialist legality, and the principle of innocence until proven guilty.

Vestiges of the recent past, when accused persons' rights were widely flouted or simply ignored, evidently still remain.

MUST PROTECT INNOCENT

Smirnov cited cases of "judicial errors" linked with sentences passed in inadequately-examined cases.

"Nothing can be more contradictory to the essence of Soviet courts than condemning an innocent man.

"Bias and the so-called accusatory trend", are impermissible for any member of the interrogation and procurator's supervision teams, and still more impermissible for the court which passes sentence and decides a man's fate.

"Every fact of an unjust and unsubstantiated sentence must be subjected to a most thorough checkup, and those guilty of irresponsibility and violation of the law must be punished."

The only basis for conclusions must be "fully and objectively examined evidence with both the circumstances under which the offence took place and the moral makeup of the defendant taken into account."

At the same time Smirnov allied himself with the apparently large number of Russians who believe that parole procedures should be tightened up so that undeserving criminals are not set free until their full time is served.

Parole should be granted, he argued, "only when an offender has really shown good conduct in the place of detention."

Demands of War in Viet Nam May Sink U.S. Merchant Fleet

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. merchant marine, already in danger of foundering on the rocks of high operating and construction costs, could go to the bottom over the demands of the war in Viet Nam.

Congress is already feeling the strain as the country is forced to draw more and more on its reserve fleet, composed of ships 20 years old or older, to meet the needs of war.

The House committee on merchant marine and fisheries has been holding hearings on the plight of the merchant marine.

The danger signals were there before the Vietnamese shipping needs became acute. The crisis was caused by labor disputes, cases of indifferent management and a lackluster application of federal maritime policies.

Fundamentally what it all boils down to is this: Should the United States maintain a merchant marine and a commercial shipbuilding industry, and if so, what should be the size of each?

How the question is answered will affect the jobs of 90,000 men now manning or building U.S. flag ships.

Further, the answer will have a vital effect on the country's export - import trade, especially if the ultimate decision be to let foreign ships carry the bulk of the U.S. trade, now valued at around $20,000,000,000 annually.

REASONS FOR PLIGHT

Why the U.S. maritime industry is in its present plight can be summed up in a couple of sentences:

1. It costs, roughly, twice as much to operate a U.S. flag ship as it does to operate an identical ship under foreign registry.

2. It costs twice as much to build a ship in an American yard as it does in, say, Japan.

The high cost of labor is a factor, of course, but only one. There are many others.

An American able - bodied seaman often earns $10,000 a year with overtime. That is three or four times the annual earnings of a seaman on a foreign ship.

For all practical purposes, ships built in U.S. yards are handcrafted by men earning an average of $3 an hour, compared with an hourly wage of $1.70 in Swedish yards and 72 cents in Japan.

There are those within the maritime administration who claim U.S. ships could be built 30 per cent cheaper if operators would accept standardized designs. So far the ship owners have resisted.

The engineers also maintain that labor costs could be reduced if the unions would permit—as Swedish yards do—the use of the dual craft system. Under this system, when a welder runs out of welding work, he can cross union lines and work as a steam fitter.

Only one U.S. yard uses this system, the non - union Avondale Shipyards Inc. of New Orleans. Avondale currently has a $213,000,000 backlog of orders, including 12 highly - automated cargo liners for private ship operators.

In an effort to escape high operating costs, U.S. owners have registered more than 400 ships under the flags of Panama, Honduras and Liberia.

The size and condition of the U.S. merchant fleet often come as a shock to Americans, accustomed to thinking in terms of biggest and best.

There now are 946 ships flying the U.S. flag. The active Soviet merchant fleet is about 1,300 ships.

Of the U.S. total, 300 ships are engaged in domestic trade, an area closed to foreign ships. Of the 646 American ships in world trade, 359 operate under federal subsidies; that is, the federal government pays the difference between U.S. operating costs and the cost of operating a similar ship under foreign registry. This subsidy now amounts to $373,000,000 annually.

There are 270 bulk cargo carriers — tramps — which are unsubsidized. These ships, all built more than 20 years ago, now are approaching the end of their useful economic life.

Only 8.5 per cent of all U.S. foreign trade now is carried in U.S. bottoms.

Scouting activities

MARMORA CHURCH SERVICE

MARMORA — Marmora Scouts and Cubs Packs paraded to divine service in St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday.

Twelve Cubs and two Scouts received their certificates presented by the leader of A. Pack, Mrs. Doris Vanrobaeys and by Mrs. Jackie Donaldson, leader of B. Pack. Two Scouts Phillip Skelton and Douglas Rothernel received their first year religion and three emblems and Garry Walker received the third year emblem. Rev. J. M. D. McLeod presented these emblems. Mr. Wayne Vanrobaeys, assistant Scout Master presented awards.

Mr. Joe Irish, district commissioner of Moira Valley District and Mrs. Irish, district cub master were present. Mr. Irish addressed the group on work in the church and in the community.

Mr. McLeod preached a sermon and the junior choir led in the service of praise.

Anglo-Rhodesian Talks May Have Escalated Into Negotiations

BY JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A feeling appears to be growing that the lead-heavy Anglo-Rhodesian "talks about talks" have escalated — to borrow a military term — into negotiations.

The significance of this — is that Prime Minister Wilson would then be permitting negotiations, even if indirect, with rebel Premier Ian Smith, the man denounced last November as a traitor to the Crown.

In announcing the talks April 27, Wilson stressed they would be conducted informally by officials—not by politicians — "directed only to see whether a basis of negotiation positively exists."

However, they now have been going on for more than a month —first in London and then, following a recess for reflection, in Salisbury, and some observers feel they cannot still be regarded as purely preliminary.

There is no question that the Caught in negotiations with Smith is enough to inflame most African leaders and this is one aspect of the criticism of Wilson by Zambia's President Kenneth Kaunda. It is also the background of criticism of Wilson by his own left-wing followers in Britain, some of whom suspect a sellout by the premier.

TAKE NEW LOOK

In any case, the situation was sufficiently equivocal to cause renewed study of the confidences issued following the Lagos conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in January. That emergency conference laid down terms of reference for putting Rhodesia on the road to majority rule.

The communique reaffirmed that "authority and responsibility" for guiding Rhodesia to independence rested with Britain but added that the problem was of wider concern to Africa, the Commonwealth and the world.

In setting up a committee on Rhodesian sanctions, the premiers gave the committee power to recommend a new Commonwealth summit conference when it was judged necessary.

"In any case, the prime ministers agreed to meet again in July if the rebellion has not been ended before then," the communique added.

This conference now appears almost certain to be held in September—not July—and will consider other matters besides Rhodesia. This came about on the initiative of Wilson, who argued that the Anglo-Rhodesian talks indicated a possible end to the rebellion.

Other sections of the communique provide a contrast with actual events since the conference:

"The prime ministers discussed the question of the use of military force in Rhodesia and it was accepted that its use could not be precluded if the proved necessary to restore law and order.

"In this connection the prime ministers noted the statement by the British prime minister that on the expert advice available to him the cumulative effects of the economic and financial sanctions might well bring the rebellion to an end within a matter of weeks rather than months."

The communique also envisages a period of British direct rule for Rhodesia—something that has not happened since 1923 —and this principle, too, appears unrealistic to some observers as time goes by.

Other sources maintain, however, that it is not British concessions but Rhodesian problems that are enhancing the prospect of real negotiations.

The most candid statement in this respect came last week when C. J. Hughes, president of the Rhodesian Associated Chambers of Commerce, told a meeting attended by Rhodesian government ministers that many firms were struggling for existence, suffering heavy losses to keep employees on the job.

KEEP MEAT OFF FIELD

BOMBAY (AP) — Police banned open-air butchers' meat-ege racks within two miles of the international airport here after a vulture wrecked into the jet engine of an airliner. They say hanging carcasses attract vultures and have prescribed a six-months penalty.

Rylstone

RYLSTONE — Lynn Moore, of Spencerville, and Carol Heath, of Rylstone, attended the staff picnic of the Lorne McDougall Insurance Company on Saturday at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McDougall, along the Rylstone road near Belleville. Carol has been a member of the McDougall staff, for nearly a year.

Marilyn Stewart, nurse-in-training at the Civic Hospital School of Nursing, in Peterborough, spent two days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stewart. On Friday evening, they visited Margaret Muliheron and her mother, Mrs. John Muliheron in Stirling.

Miss Irene Ramsey, of Quanamore, and Garland Finch of Rylstone, were guests at the Finch Sherman wedding, in Campbellford United Church Parsonage, on Friday evening.

Mrs. Fred Petherick accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Roland Jackson, and children, of Springbrook, to Stanwood on Thursday, where they visited Mrs. Jackson's grandmother and aunt, Mrs. Daniel Petherick, and Mrs. Murray Petherick.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKeown and their house-guest, his sister, (Illinois), and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Duncan, of Hamilton, spent Wednesday at Cornwall, and visited Upper Canada Village. Mr. and Mrs. Duncan returned to Hamilton on Thursday after visiting her brother, Thomas McKeown and sister, Mrs. Bert Solmes of Springbrook, and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brunton, of Healey Falls, visited her brother, Harry Moody his wife and daughter on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Finch and boys, entertained their niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Collins, and daughters Barbara and Jacqueline, of Toronto, and Dennis Finch, on Sunday.

Sherry Spencer has obtained a position at the Weeping, Peterborough and begins his duties there on Wednesday, this week.

8th Tyendinaga

8th TYENDINAGA — Mr. and Mrs. J. Clarke of Kingston spent a few days with her parent Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cross.

Master Alan Cross spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. R. Bamber and girls of Foxboro.

Master Armour and Richard Watson spent the weekend with their grandmother Mrs. J. Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Watson visited recently with Mrs. J. Cross. Mr. and Mrs. C. Boyle and family spent Saturday at the same home.

WHY YOU MAY HAVE TO PAY MORE FOR DAIRY FOODS

Each year, Canada's dairy farmers get a smaller return for their investment and efforts. Increased costs of operation, equipment and virtually everything a farm needs, plus a very serious shortage of farm labour, are putting dairy farmers out of business at the rate of about 10,000 each year.

Returns to the dairy farmer have not kept pace with increased costs of farm operation.

From May 1954 to the beginning of 1966, in most Canadian markets, the aggregate increase to the dairy farmer was only 2 cents per quart for standard home milk.

Consumer prices of dairy foods have not increased as much as most other food products.

From May 1958 to the beginning of 1966, in most Canadian markets, the aggregate increase in home delivered milk (standard home) was only 5 cents a quart.

Canada's dairy industry is vital to our economic and nutritional health. If dairy foods cost a little more than they used to, they'll still be your best food buy.

Daily Newspaper Association Offers Statistical Bonanza

TORONTO (CP) — Twenty-two per cent of the households in Prince Albert, Sask., have a fish for a pet. In New Glasgow, N.S., fewer than one per cent have.

That's the kind of information that generally is useful only as a conversation stopper—but if you happen to be a fish-food manufacturer planning a big marketing campaign, it could be invaluable.

It's also a sample of the kind of detail available in a new book brought out by the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association in an effort to present for the first time in one place a comprehensive statistical picture of 81 key Canadian marketing centres large enough to be served by a daily newspaper.

The result of 18 months' analysis of statistics gathered from about a dozen sources, it presents an estimated 100,000 facts, many never before published.

It's the kind of material that advertising and marketing officials—at whom it is aimed primarily — say has been lacking in Canada.

ANALYZES MARKETS

"Marketing is moving out of its flying - by - the - seat - of - your-pants era and anything that will permit a more scientific analysis of potential markets is bound to benefit both the producer and the consumer," says an official of the Tisdale, Clark and Leahy Co., a public relations agency.

"When you consider that something like 25 of every 30 new products launched now never make it, it's obvious that a more scientific approach based on reliable statistics can keep everyone time, money and trouble."

R. A. Binford, general manager of the CDNPA, says the seven-pound volume was designed to provide advertisers, businessmen and, incidentally, governments with an authentic source of standard statistical data about Canada's major markets.

The book is believed to be the first of its type in the world that goes into such detail of the areas it examines.

In addition to its potential value for advertising companies and businessmen, Mr. Binford says it could prove invaluable for overseas trade officials and business students, not to mention people who simply like to browse through obscure facts.

The book, which costs $25, has been sent to advertising agencies and will also be available at newspaper offices in the 81 designated areas.

To compile the figures, an estimated 200,000 t a b u l a t i o n s and calculations were made through MacDonald Research Ltd., the organization that sifted the basic material.

For each city, 63 different statistical columns are used and the book includes 40 other columns of tabular information on each of 12 regional marketing areas served by daily newspapers.

The loose - leaf pages will be revised continually as further information becomes available, but Mr. Binford says much of the basic information will stand up for years as an accurate guide.

"Population and demographic p a t t e r n s are changing constantly, but they take several years to make a noticeable shift," he says. "The book, for example, bases some of its figures on the 1961 census. These figures can be brought up to date very accurately by adding the general six - per - cent population increases experienced since then."

The 63 columns of information on each city examine in detail:

—Population statistics, including age, sex, religion, ethnic origin, occupation, education, marital status and size of family;

—Housing, including types of dwelling, how many are rented, how many are mortgaged, the number in various value categories and how they are heated;

—Personal income, including how many inhabitants are in various income groups, how much disposable income they have and how often they get paid and what day;

—Types of public transportation and inter-city connections;

—Municipal tax rates;

—Retail sales, showing shopping hours, sales by businesses, number of banks and shopping centres;

—Manufacturing, i n c l u d i n g number of employees in different jobs and value of shipments by various - sized establishments;

—Household head's working hours, how long it takes him to travel to and from work, how he travels and where he eats his lunch;

—Car ownership by model and ownership of 40 household facilities ranging from" rifles, color television sets and summer cottages to electric blankets;

—Climate range and hospital beds;

—Number of major chain stores;

—Pet ownership.

In all, says Cockfield, Brown and Co., advertising agency, the book—officially called Canadian Markets Data Manual—offers a comprehensive list of comparative statistics not previously available in Canada.

In addition,/to helping plan specific advertising campaigns, it will prove a boon in research, an official says.

Bonarlaw

BONARLAW — Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Boyd and family are moving to the Jones home at Bonarlaw.

Mrs. C. L. McKeown, Mrs. H. Rowe and Mrs. W. J. Barlow were among those who attended the graduation exercises on Monday evening at Kingston General Hospital. Miss Anne Rowe of Hamilton was one of the graduating class.

Miss Margaret Brown of Kingston spent holidays with Mrs. A. V. Brown and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCoy visited Mr. and Mrs. Garland McCoy of Toronto over the weekend.

Mrs. Chris Bateman spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Mitchell of Wooler.

St. Mark's W.A. held its June meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Burkitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Heath of Orillia were weekend guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Heath.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Burkitt attended the funeral of John Morrison of Oshawa on Saturday.

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION

A dinner party at Havelock hotel was held Tuesday evening to observe the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson of Trent River.

Four of their five children were present: Mrs. Ross Bailey (Thelma) of Belleville; William of Campbellford; Mrs. Gordon Bailey (Vera) of Harold; and Mrs. Russell West (Maria) of Stirling. Their son Elwood is in Vancouver.

Mr. Ketcheson and the former Margaret Murray farmed in Rawdon Township until 1949 when they retired to live in Marmora.

In 1953 they moved to Trent Bridge where they operate parkside cottages for tourists.

Cuban Sugar Harvest Down

HAVANA (Reuters) — Cuba's sugar harvest this year is expected to be some 650,000 tons less than the amount required to meet commitments in bilateral trade agreements and the needs of internal consumption.

With about two weeks left until the end of the harvest, the country has produced 6,446,013 tons with little prospect of a final yield of much more than 6,450,000 tons. Last week's production was 9,876 tons.

A total of 4,750,000 tons has already been pre-sold in trade agreements this year and a further 350,000 to 400,000 tons are needed for internal consumption.

Ottawa at A Glance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

TUESDAY, June 14, 1966

Labor Minister Nicholson told the Commons longshoremen are expected to return to work at Quebec ports Thursday as a result of an agreement worked out under the mediation of Prime Minister Pearson.

The agreement was signed by both parties and Mr. Nicholson was confident it would be accepted by all involved.

The Canadian Pharmaceutical Association said in a brief to the Commons drug prices inquiry that present drug charges are justifiable and proper.

The Commons started study of the government's proposed $300,000,000 fund for health research.

Several doctor-MPs said the amount is too little to get training and research facilities up to the level needed in a growing country.

The House approved the resolution after several hours of debate and moved on to the Canada Assistance plan.

That plan to co-ordinate and increase certain public assistance programs was still under debate at adjournment time.

WEDNESDAY, June 15

The Commons meets at 2:30 p.m. to discuss supplemental 1966-67 spending estimates, starting with veterans affairs. The Senate meets at 3 p.m.

Govt. Transfer In Quebec On Thursday

QUEBEC (CP)—The government of Quebec will be handed over to Union Nationale from Liberal control Thursday, the two party leaders said following a three-hour meeting Tuesday.

Premier Jean Lesage said he will hand his resignation to Lieutenant - Governor Hugues Lapointe at an unspecified time Thursday morning.

Daniel Johnson, leader of the Union Nationale, said he will be sworn in as premier at 2:30 p.m. EDT Thursday.

The Union Nationale won 55 seats in the provincial general election June 5, the Liberals won 51 and two independents were elected.

Mr. Johnson said he will make public the names of his cabinet half an hour after the swearing-in ceremony.

The two leaders announced the next session of the legislature will open Sept. 6.

At a press conference after the meeting, Mr. Johnson said he advocates the abolition of the legislative council, Quebec's upper house, "even though it is made up largely of Union Nationale members."

Quebec is the only province in Canada which still has a separate upper house.

Reorganization Bill Approved By Senate

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's complicated reorganization bill, which sets up new government departments and changes the responsibilities of a number of cabinet ministers, has been approved without amendment by a Senate committee.

It is slated to receive third reading today in the upper house and could be given royal assent later this week.

Last Thursday, Conservative senators threatened to kick up a storm of protest over the bill, which they said should have been hiked into several pieces of legislation.

But the hassling and committee consideration dealt with the bill swiftly Tuesday, along with another piece of legislation to provide further federal funds for rural development.

The senators made one minor change in the bill, providing a time limit for the minister dealing with it to report to the Commons.

CGE Given Extension to Select Site For Second Heavy Water Plant

OTTAWA (CP) — Announcement of the site for Canada's second heavy water plant has been put off 15 days but this time the delay probably is due more to intense competition than to technical and financial problems.

Mines Minister Pepin told the Commons Tuesday Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. has given Canadian General Electric until June 30 to select the site for its 500-tons-a-year plant due to go into production by mid-1969.

The delay, he said later in an interview, would not affect the production target date and is the final extension.

While the company requested the extension for "extensive examination of sites," there is considerable speculation that the need for extra time arose mainly from late offers by two provincial governments to provide special power sources for the plant.

The Ontario government announced Thursday it would build a $15,000,000 plant using lignite to supply steam and power if the heavy water plant was built at Cochrane, about 110 miles north of Cochrane. Lignite is a low - grade coal abundant in Northern Ontario.

OFFER FROM SASK.

Monday, the Saskatchewan government offered a similar plant, although the type and location were not mentioned.

Informed sources here say General Electric is considering sites in four provinces—Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Mr. Pepin was asked about this in the Commons Tuesday but said it would be unwise to speculate when asked specifically whether Estevan, Sask., and the Quebec site—in the Gaspe—still are in the running.

"There could be a surprise for a lot of people," he said later outside the House, but added any advance indication of the site would have to come from General Electric.

Canada's first heavy water plant now is in the final stages of construction at Glace Bay, N.S., and it also has its problems. It is unlikely the Deuterium of Canada Ltd. installation will meet its July 31 operation target. Technical problems are expected to delay initial production by two or three months at least.

HAS FINANCIAL PROBLEMS

Deuterium of Canada also has run into a financial problem but this is in connection with a proposed extension to the present plant, not the final payoff.

The company has a five-year contract with AECL to supply 1,000 tons of heavy water at $30.50 a pound. It has asked for an increased contract bringing it into line with the General Electric figure of 5,000 tons over 12½ years, at an average price of $18.15 a pound.

Atomic Energy of Canada has agreed to increase the contract provided Deuterium of Canada can show proof of financial ability to build the extension of its present plant.

Today was supposed to have been the deadline for production of this proof, but the date was extended last week to July 15.

Kidney Machine Of New Design Is Developed

KINGSTON (CP)—An artificial kidney machine of new design has been developed locally with the help of Kingston General Hospital doctors.

The designers, Siemenson Mechanical Products Ltd., said Tuesday the machine is "more efficient, easier to operate and cheaper" than those in the U.S.

Dr. Peter Morris and Dr. C. F. D. Ackman of Kingston worked with engineer Chris English to design the machine.

The artificial kidney, called a dialysis machine, is used to remove waste products from the blood when a patient's own kidney has failed.

Closeup of $10,000 Bills Feature of CBS Special

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Network television's news departments, somewhat ironically, find it easier to cover Sally a war on the other side of the world than some activities crowded into a few blocks in downtown Manhattan.

There are more than 1,300 different stocks traded on the New York Stock Exchange alone, and the really important news to viewers any day from that place is whether the particular stocks he owned went up or down. It is absolutely impossible to crowd this detailed information into even an hour-long news roundup.

But television can—and did Tuesday night—introduce viewers to a lesser, frantic and unexpectedly dramatic place that narrator Harry Reasoner called "the capital of capital."

The program on CBS called agination.

Wall Street: Where The Money Is opened with a closeup of some $10,000 bills and a shoel securities and closed with a shot of a mutual fund executive ordering 10,000 shares of an unidentified stock.

We never got a tip on the market, but we did get a fastpaced tour of the financial community.

One of the most interesting sections of the program was a brief documentary following the sale of a $30,000,000 bond issue. It showed four financial syndicates bidding for the issue and it built up like a stage drama as the rivals attempted to cut under each other's offer.

Altogether, it was a lively, thoroughly understandable presentation of an off-beat subject. It was presented with wit, intelligence and considerable im-

Agreed Before Marriage Sacrifices Would Be Made

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — She's making a television series in Universal City. He's filming a western movie at Kenab, Utah. Is this the way to start a marriage?

"Naturally we don't like being apart," says green-eyed Kathryn Hays, who became the wife of Glenn Ford in March. "But we realized the hazards of having two stars' careers and agreed before we married that we would make sacrifices if we had to.

"Glenn knows how much my career means to me. I've worked too hard to give it all up now."

So Kathy remains here to star in the new NBC series, Frontier Road West, while her husband, a native of Portland, Ore., is gallivanting over the Utah range in The Long Ride Home. It might be added that the pair did not rush int; marriage. Both had been wed previously and they waited until two years after they had first met at a Hollywood dinner party.

Both had children — she an eight-year-old daughter, he a grown son by his marriage to Eleanor Powell.

HAD HOUSE BUILT

Not the least of their problems was Glenn's pad. He built a house entirely to his own specifications—as a bachelor. How could it accommodate a wife and young daughter?

"It can't, so we are building on," Kathy said.

After a session as one of New York's highest-paid models, she moved into acting and worked most of the television capitals of New York and Hollywood, plus four Broadway shows. Now she's a regular in The Road West.

"What's It about?

"It's a dramatic series that is located in the West," she said with care (the term "western" is shunned out here.) "Barry Sullivan is a widower . . ."

It began to take on a faintly reminiscent ring. But Kathy assured that The Road West is no Bonanza.

"I wouldn't be doing the series if it was just another western," she said. "I play a doctor, so that gives me something more to do than hold someone's horse.

CO-OPERATE ON TV

Nine shows of the TV circus series Hippodrome, video-taped in England by an American producer, are an Anglo-American cooperative production for the world market.

AT THE PARK — It's A Fright — So exclaim Nancy Sinatra and Aron Kincaid in scene from "The Ghost In The Invisible Bikini" in color, opening Thursday at the Park Theatre for its first Belleville showings.

Queensboro

QUEENSBORO — Mr. John Barry of Ottawa spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barry.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wood of Oshawa were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sager.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Martin and children of Belleville have returned home after a week's holiday with Mrs. R. A. Sager.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deveau and baby of Oshawa spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander spent the weekend with friends in Frankford.

Mrs. Harry Sager of Ottawa is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Leslie.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sager and family of Ottawa visited relatives here on the weekend.

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Be clear within yourself regarding desires, goals. Clear away emotional debris. Share knowledge. Learn by teaching. You may see your beliefs reflected in unique way.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you are able enough to come through difficulty successfully. Your confidence would make you valuable as a business consultant, associate.

Astrological Forecasts

BY SYDNEY OMARR

For June 16

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Don't pass up chance to gain from past endeavors. Be sure, positive — exude confidence. You gain material if you look like you know what you're doing! Go to it!

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Speak up, express convictions. Cycle high. Realize others are inclined to be swayed. Avoid. Aries message. Finish major project. Advertise, publicize, spread influence.

GEMINI (May 21 —June 20): Follow through. Gain indicated if you act quickly . . . strike while iron is hot. In plain words, don't permit opportunity to slip away. Be sure to check possessions.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Friends may be more intense than as "comfortable". Know this . . . and don't play with fire! Significant day because you learn valuable lessons. Avoid carelessness with money.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): No time to "rush it in!" If you win — be gracious. Key today is to be discreet. If you can handle questions, problems in dignified manner . . . success is due. If clumsy, you pay the price.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): You may be surprised by message, calls, correspondence. Key is being alert, versatile. Learn from experience. Fine for firming up relationships, ajar changing thoughts, ideas.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Important you initiate project to replace lost objects, assets. Maintain steady course . . . be aware of family needs. Accord security. You can add to holdings if persistent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Your kind of day! Many of your best characteristics now recognized. People tend to appreciate what you stand for, say. But do be wary of binding agreements.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): If you keep goal in sight . . . then you gain. Otherwise, time is wasted — possibly money. Don't permit yourself to be diverted. Go after what you require. . . do so with enthusiasm!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Express motives, desires. Applies especially in dealings with members of opposite sex. Good time to put facts on record. Period can prove very advantageous!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Choose realistic course. If associate is enamored of get-rich-quick scheme . . . turn it down, be diplomatic but firm, adhere to principles. Stand tall!

Air Canada Strike Settled; Unions Critical

MONTREAL (CP) — Negotiators for Air Canada and the airline's sales employees reached agreement a few minutes before midnight Wednesday night, stopping a strike that had started on the East Coast from spreading to the rest of the country.

The agreement still has to be ratified by members of the Sales Employees Association of Air Canada (Ind.). First reaction of members in Montreal and Toronto was unfavorable to the settlement.

The 1,453 passenger agents and switchboard and communications operators had threatened to strike at midnight local times across Canada.

Pickets were set up in Newfoundland 114 hours before the deadlines were reached in Quebec and Ontario. In the Maritimes, employees left their jobs an hour before the agreement was announced here.

Under terms of the Wednesday agreement Air Canada will pay an eight-per-cent wage increase retroactive to June 1, 1965, and a week, increasing to 12 months, another increase of seven per cent will be paid for the 14-month pact.

GET CASH BONUS

A retroactive cash settlement of $100 to $200, depending on seniority, would be paid for the six months after the last contract expired March 31.

Sales clerks at Air Canada currently earn a minimum of $84.70 a week, increasing to $128.40 after 5½ years of service.

A company spokesman said he doubted that the new agreement provides for a $7½-hour work week. Negotiations broke off three meeting today to settle similar details in the agreement.

The offer accepted by union negotiators is similar to an offer previously rejected by the sales, except that it is spread over 28 months instead of 30. That offer was rejected by union members 1,301 to 252 in a vote several weeks ago.

The union had been seeking a 30-per-cent wage increase over two years. The company's last previous offer had been a 15-per - cent increase over 24½ months.

Pickets gathered at Montreal and Toronto international airports Wednesday night to picket with shouts and jeers to announcement of the new agreement.

READY TO GO BACK'

In Toronto, union leaders said: "If this contract isn't any good, we're ready to go back on the rain."

The agreement also proved unpopular at Montreal, where employees had set up a picket line around the airport by midnight deadline.

"That's not what we asked for," said Rudy Plaig, a union organizer. He said the negotiators had "sold us out" but admitted he had no choice but to call off the pickets.

He said he would recommend to the members that they refuse the agreement when they are asked to ratify it. He also hinted that he would seek to have the men change affiliations but did not say what other organization they might join.

"The mood of the workers here certainly is foul," he said.

There was no immediate reaction from union members in AIR CANADA

Criticize Fixed Incomes

By PAUL DUNN

OTTAWA (CP)—Although described by one MP as "not a very provocative" appointment, the veterans affairs department drew varied criticism in the Commons Wednesday.

The main attack was on the fixed income ceiling above which a veteran cannot qualify for war veterans allowance.

Members also complained about the low percentage of French-speaking employees in the department and the amount of night differential paid nurses in DVA hospitals.

The criticism came as the Commons approved the department's 1966 - 67 estimates of $302,458,200. MPs went on to pass the estimates of the citizenship and immigration department and started those of finance department before the 6 p.m. EDT adjournment.

Veterans Affairs Minister Macdonald said veterans receiving the allowance found in many instances that they became entitled to the old age pension their allowance ceased. This was an injustice and "Canadians as a whole" would support action to remove this restriction.

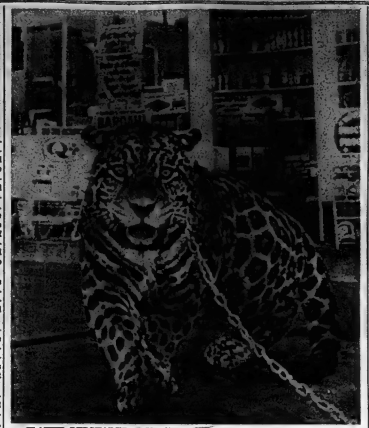
The annual income ceilings are: Single veterans no wid-ows, $1,326; married, $2,208. Male veterans at age 60 or more, male veterans at 58, if single, may qualify for a maximum allowance of $94 a month, and if married, $152.

"Why should they as men and women who served and whose income otherwise is below the level for entitlement to the war veterans' allowance, be discriminated against?" asked Mr. Diefenbaker.



Erik Winkler (PC — Grey East) sought aid for veterans receiving small service pensions who are barred from receiving war veterans allowances because of their income.

He also noted the special study and recommendations for assistance to Canadian women who were Japanese prisoners of war in Hong Kong. He fully agreed with special consideration being given this group but felt it was "equally important" that certain other cases of ex-prisoners be given similar recognition.

May Start Closing Seaway

OTTAWA (CP)—Negotiations in the St. Lawrence Seaway dispute resume today with a strike threatened for noon Friday.

The seaway will probably start closing tonight if no settlement is reached today with the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC).

Talks which started in Cornwall, Ont., Monday and Tuesday moved to Ottawa Wednesday and adjourned unexpectedly in the afternoon.

Senator Norman MacKenzie, the federal mediator, said nonmonetary issues had been cleared away and the adjournment was to give the union and the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority time to prepare arguments on the wage issue.

The seaway's operating employees demanded a 33-per-cent

EDMONTON (CP) — Canadian doctors will be allowed to practise outside any national medical care insurance program, and their patients will still be entitled to insurance benefits, Dr. R. H. Kenneth Thomson of Edmonton, president of the Canadian Medical Association, said Wednesday.

Dr. Thomson told the annual CMA convention that he had received this assurance from the federal government.

"The main concern of the medical profession has been that the federal legislation should in no way prohibit or destroy the right of any insured citizen to receive the full benefits of his medical insurance when he consults any qualified physician, whether or not that physician is a participant in any plan," Dr. Thomson said.

The federal government proposes to establish a nation-wide medical insurance program for all citizens. It would pay half the cost of medical insurance schemes operated within the province.

A doctor working "outside" a medical insurance program would be a doctor who, declining to participate in the program, submits his bill to the

Southerners' Ire Aroused By Whites Backing Negroes

HOLCOMB, Miss. (AP)—The sight of whites marching with Negroes provoked heavily-hidden resentment among the white populace as the Mississippi march moved into the greeting delta land today.

"They can't be white, they must be yellow," snapped a hefty matron, rocking in a chair in front of a country store closed because the marchers were coming by. There is only a sprinkling of whites in the column en route to Jackson, the state capital, to finish the march James H. Meredith started before he was wounded June 6.

British Seamen Studying New Proposals by Wilson

LONDON (AP) — The leaders of Britain's striking seamen scheduled a meeting today that may bring the beginning of the end of the month-long shipping strike.

The 48-man executive of the National Union of Seamen is called together to consider a new peace proposal presented by Prime Minister Wilson to the union's leaders Wednesday.

Wilson's proposals, still secret, are believed to concede little if anything to the union executive is split and may decide to call it quits.

Most of the union's leaders believe an all-out fight with the Labor government will bring only damage to the seamen, particularly since other British unions and the International Transport Workers' Federation rejected their appeal for aid.

Wilson told the strike leaders that their demands must be resisted to satisfy foreign opinion that inflation is being brought under control and to maintain the government's wage policy.

The seamen want a 40-hour work week at sea immediately. A government-appointed board of inquiry recommended the present 56-hour week to be cut to 48 now and 40 hours in a year. Wilson stressed this was the only basis for a settlement. But he held out hope that an improvement of some sort might be possible if the seamen earn it by raising their efficiency and productivity.

Canada Stirring Things Up In Desire to End Cold War

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is stirring things up on a wide international front to try to take advantage of what officials see as an almost worldwide restlessness for escape from the confines of the cold war.

External Affairs Minister Martin confirmed Wednesday in the Commons that he has sent special envoy Chester Ronning on another mission to Communist since May 20.

Mr. Ronning presumably is sounding out Hanoi on the possibility of negotiations to end the Viet Nam War.

Saturday in Springfield, Ill., Prime Minister Pearson said in a speech dealing with the North Atlantic Alliance:

"We must move forward with new resolve toward an international community with common political institutions, which covers more than a single continent, and spans the Atlantic."

He said another point: "It would be short-sighted not to realize that the attitude of Western Europe to American commitments in Europe is changing; just as the attitude of Eastern Europe toward Moscow is changing."

Mr. Martin has been urging improved relations between NATO and its counterpart in Eastern Europe, the Warsaw Pact, as a prerequisite for reaching a settlement of the

Jobless 18,000 Below '65

OTTAWA (CP) — Despite a less-than-seasonal increase in jobs in the construction industry, the number of Canadians without work at mid-May was estimated at 347,000, a decline of 81,000 from the previous month and 18,000 lower than May of 1965, it was reported today.

The monthly report by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the immigration department said employment continued its upward trend from last October. An increase of 186,000 persons in the working force raised the number of Canadians employed to 6,958,000.

About 40 per cent of the new jobs—74,000 — were in agriculture. Non-farm industries accounted for the others but the report noted that construction jobs, which had expanded rapidly over the last year, advanced less than seasonally over the last month.

The unemployment rate was 4.8 per cent of the labor force compared with 3.7 in May, 1965, and 4.3 per cent in May, 1964. The rate in April was 4.3 per cent.

RATE WAS 3.7

Adjusted to eliminate seasonable factors, the rate was 3.7 per cent compared with 3.3 in April and 4.1 a year ago.

The job picture in brief (estimates in thousands):

| | May | April | May |
|---|---|---|---|
| | 1966 | 1966 | 1965 |
| Labor force | 7,263 | 7,242 | 7,123 |
| Employed | 7,136 | 6,950 | 6,858 |
| Unemployed | 347 | 292 | 265 |

The estimates are based on a survey of 35,000 households in the week ended May 21.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: The cool unsettled weather pattern established throughout the Great Lakes regions will continue. A disturbance will pass south of the lower lakes today giving showers and scattered thunderstorms over most of southern Ontario. Another weak disturbance is expected to follow in this series Friday with more showers likely in southern regions. Temperatures will continue to range on the cool side in the high 60s and low 70s both this afternoon and Friday afternoon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's plan to seek a basis for French-Russian understanding on eventual unification of Germany when he visits Moscow next week worries American policy makers.

U.S. officials are not sure what terms for German unification de Gaulle may suggest to the Soviets. But they are concerned that whatever he has in mind may in some way be directed toward reducing U.S. power and influence in Europe.

Reports have circulated among diplomats for several weeks that the long deadlocked division of Germany would be one of de Gaulle's principal topics in his Moscow talks. The reports got official confirmation Wednesday when French Ambassador Claude Lecot told a National Press Club luncheon here de Gaulle would bring up the German issue.

De Gaulle's plan to sound out the Soviets on a German settlement is regarded here as one more break in the allied front toward Russia.

RISK UNLIKELY

In an obvious reference to the French president's independent course in Europe, Secretary of State Secretary Dean Rusk said in a speech in Denver two days ago that he saw no prospect of settling the problems that divide Europe, including Berlin, and the division of Germany, "as Western Europe is once again to break up into a large number of less-enduring independent states with each nation clawing for advantage at the expense of its neighbors."

Authorities say the dominant belief among experts now is that de Gaulle has in mind at least a partial neutralization of a united Germany calling for removal of U.S. forces and permanent German renunciation of nuclear weapons.

But the same authorities say these authorities say they believe that under any conditions de Gaulle has no interest in foreseeable future the Soviet Union probably will "not be seriously interested in German reunification, which would mean the end of an independent East Germany.

The official position of the United Western powers has been for many years that Germany should be united under conditions which would give the German people a free choice as to their international alignments.

Altars Removed In Hue

SAIGON (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam pushed his Buddhist opponents farther into a corner today by sending his paratroops into Hue and slapping a 9 p.m. nightly curfew on Saigon.

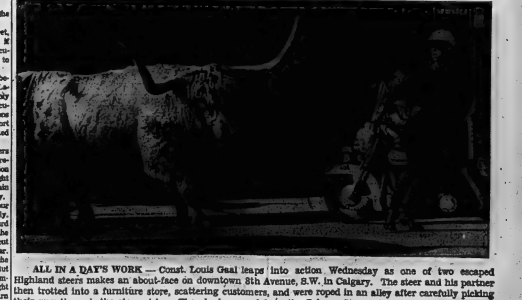
The paratroops opened fire on dissident Vietnamese soldiers who tried to stage a march with Buddhist banners in the northern city. The marchers fled after a heavy burst of fire, and some blood on the street indicated casualties among the dissidents.

Ky's 500 paratroops rolled into Hue in search for arms as one of a series of jeering, drum - beating Buddhists, but they quickly hauled Buddhist altars off main streets and took positions at the radio station and on ces of the bridges across the Perfume River.

The paratroops fired a few tear-gas canisters, but the operation was carried off without any concerted resistance from armed Buddhist youths and diehard troops who have kept the city of 160,000 in a virtual state of rebellion for weeks.

In Saigon, today, government riot police and troops gave another display of toughness after 1,500 Buddhist groups placed altars, logs, tires, rubble and barbed wire on the main roads leading to the Tan Son Nhut airport. At first authorities stood by, a psychological tactic to enable the Buddhists to make the blocks for heaping people from getting to their jobs or homes. When the morning rush ended, police and troops ripped the obstacles down.

In the fighting today, 20 U.S. marines held off 300 attacking Viet Cong guerrillas for five hours. U.S. military headquarters said all but two of the marines were killed or wounded. Air and ground reinforcements drove off the attackers.



The latest toll from the 1st Marine Division was defending a post atop a hill 12 miles northwest of Chu Lai and about 328 miles northeast of Saigon.

The U.S. military command said 141 Americans were killed, 741 wounded and one missing or captured last week compared with 93 killed, 695 wounded and 13 missing in the week of May 30-June 4.

The latest toll brought the number of U.S. servicemen reported killed by enemy fire since Jan. 1 to 1,305 and to 3,804 since Jan. 1, 1961.

The unofficial count of American wounded for the year climbed to 12,203.

The allies reported 1,360 enemy killed last week, an increase of 208, and 168 captured, an increase of 68.

Board Honors 'Archie' Frost On Retirement

TRENTON — High school teacher, G. "Archie" Frost was honored at a retirement dinner in the Twin Elms Restaurant last night by school board members and their wives and other long-time associates of the men, who has devoted 18 years to the training of Trenton students.

Special guests included high school inspector J. C. McLeod and Mrs. McLeod of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Speer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foster; Miss Marjorie Gothard and Miss Ann Johnson.

Board chairman E. M. Parker Jr. presented Mr. and Mrs. Frost with a silver tea service, the gift of the board and a cheque from the board was presented by past chairman T. S. Ketchenson.

Mr. Frost has taught 39 years altogether in Ontario schools. He has served in Warkworth, Salem, Beeton, Marmora, Frankford and Bridgewater.

At Trenton, Mr. Frost was associated with the air cadet squadron for many years, and was commanding officer for a number of years. Under his direction, the squadron won the Strathcona Trophy for the best squadron in the province.

When the Kiwanis-sponsored Key Club came into existence Mr. Frost became staff advisor and much of the success of this youth organization can be attributed to him.

Mr. Frost and Mrs. Frost's two daughters, Carol and Judy are of the Trenton High School graduates. Judy is married, is a nurse and Judy graduates from Queen's University, (Mr. Frost's Alma Mater) this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frost plan to spend their retirement in Trenton.

News in Brief

TRENTON — A coroner's jury, sitting in Trenton last night, brought down the verdict that 63-year-old John Bibby met his death when he stepped from a railway flat car onto a pole lying near the tracks and slipped beneath the wheels of the freight.

The jury recommended that poles be kept away from railroad tracks at the Domtar Chemicals' plant, where the fatality occurred.

TRENTON CLUB WINS

A four-man team of golfers, all members of the Trenton Kiwanis Club, won out over more than 50 other Kiwanians to take the Corby Trophy at yesterday's Kiwanis Division 6 A golf tournament at the Trenton Country Club.

"Bringing home the bacon" were Howard Aziz, who arranged the match, Jack Hobson, Ted Parker and Ken Bailey.

BARRED BY NUDISTS

WASHINGTON (AP) —Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (Dem. N.J.), said Wednesday he has referred to his state's civil rights division complaints from a Negro woman who contends she was barred from a New Jersey nudist camp on racial grounds.

Delays caused by "zoning and planning red tape" at Belleville's city hall are cited as the reason for the city losing out on the prospective development at the corner of North Front and Dundas Street and that the property is being put up for sale.

On the other hand city planning director P. J. Beavis says the alleged delays are the fault of the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board but that the matter has been in the hands of the Ontario Municipal Board since late in April.

"We wanted only a simple six store shopping plaza," Mr. Spiegel says, "but because of the delays and fighting with city hall, we are no longer interested and feel there would be no point in investing money in Belleville."

The local developer said he had been trying since last October to get a building permit but had run into nothing but delays.

MANY ZONING CHANGES

Among the delays claimed, were requests for zoning and plan changes which had to be approved by the Ontario Municipal Board.

One of the plan changes called for was that the entrance to the plaza be on Donald Street, because of heavy traffic conditions on Front Street.

"We have complied with every request but even after a public hearing on a zoning change we are still unable to go to city hall and get a building permit," Mr. Spiegel said.

LEASES CANCELLED

Mr. Spiegel says the local planning director P. J. Beavis favors certain areas along North Front St. being reserved as green belt with commercial ventures located on side streets.

Trenton Hospital Auxiliary Entertains at 'Fiesta Tea'

TRENTON — Wednesday's Fiesta Tea in the Trenton Legion Hall, arranged by the ladies of the Trenton Memorial Hospital Auxiliary was a most successful event in every sense of the word. The annual tea was convened by Mrs. Keith Packer, assisted by Mrs. G. Botton. Ways and means chairman was Mrs. Harold Weller.

The convener of the decorating committee, Mrs. Herbert Hustey, and her assistant, Mrs. Clyde Mason, were up at the break of dawn, gathering lilacs, fronds from the woods and throughout the morning were borrowing miniature palm trees, exotic plants and tropical fruit with which to carry out the Hawaiian theme. The tea cloths and the food served to the guests, fruit cup and fruit bread, added to the illusion that one had just dropped in on the tropic isle for the afternoon.

Tickets were taken by Mrs. Wm. Ellis and Mrs. T. W. Speer, auxiliary treasurer.

Tea room convener was Mrs. Bisaut, assisted by Mrs. D. Empey and Mrs. L. Moak of the Altar Society.

"Why are you protecting that trash," a woman asked a policeman Wednesday.

"Lady, I've got a wife and a little boy to feed and that's the only reason," he said.

As the marchers moved southward, the change toward repressed hostility became more marked. One farmer became enraged when a telephone company lineman for reporters was parked on the shoulder of the road at the edge of his land.

"If you're not the best bunch of trash you're not welcome on my property," he shouted. The trailer was moved.

Many Negroes in the delta are sharecroppers living on free government foods. Many say they are homeless. Most have not registered to vote—and those are the ones the marchers hope to inspire. Their drive in Greenad the last two days reunited 64 hundreds being registered.

IN MEMORIAM

LONGHURST — In loving memory of our dear son, Lieut. Ronald Longhurst, who died June 18th, 1952.

We think of him when we smile
That makes it hard
When we smile
The tears will fall
Sometimes they fall
Unseen
But they fall
Each morning sun may set
The hearts of those who loved you
Are the ones who never forget.

Doreen Family.

DAWSON — In loving memory of Clarence John (Jack) Dawson, who passed away on June 18th, 1952.

It's not the words, they are but few
It's the sadden memory of you.
We think of you day by day
And
Each evening sun may set.
The hearts of those who loved you
Are the ones who never forget.

Zoning Delays at City Hall Blamed as Plaza Plan Killed

"But business has to go where the traffic is," he says.

Since last fall when Mr. Spiegel first applied for a building permit, an existing Bruno house on the North Front street property has been razed and the site levelled. Also leases have been signed with prospective tenants. These leases have now been cancelled.

Mr. Spiegel said his development firm had built plazas in other centres but had never run into problems such as experienced in Belleville.

"But it is too late now, we are no longer interested," he said.

DIRECTOR DISAGREES

Today Planning Director Beavis disagreed that the Belleville and District Planning Board had been responsible for delay in the approval of Mr. Spiegel's plaza project.

He said the final agreement with respect to project plans were signed with Mr. Spiegel on April 15th and were forwarded to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval on April 22nd. —

At the same time, in an effort to expedite the matter, the OMB was asked if it would waive the customary waiting period for the hearing of objections.

On May 21th the OMB replied that it could not relax the pro-

DELORO DAM, forming a 26-acre headpond on the Moira River, is inspected by Moira River Conservation Authority members. The dam, one of the first water control measures built under Authority direction, was built to provide a water reserve for the then-operating Deloro Smelting plant.

FOREST TURNED QUARRY—New quarry of the Ontario Marble Company at Actinolite is on the site of a reforestation area started by Hastings county about 20 years ago. Authority members inspect works where white marble blocks weighing up to 20 tons are quarried and shipped to Peterborough for finishing.

Moira Watershed Is Toured By Members of Authority

Members of the Moira River Conservation Authority took a tour of the Moira watershed yesterday — and for the first time in the nearly 20-year history of the body, took their wives along.

Yesterday's tour was the first in three years, and for most of the members it served merely to up - date what they had seen before.

But for the new Authority members, and for the ladies, the day - long trip outlined what is being done locally to conserve nature for future generations.

The two bus loads stopped at the Deloro dam on the upper reaches of the Moira river, saw the century old Muley type saw at O'Hara's Mill in operation, were told how long it takes to grow a tree, and visited Authority park areas at Actinolite and at Thomasburg.

VERY MARBLE QUARRY

And then for good measure visited the new Ontario Marble quarry at Actinolite on the site of a county reforestation area established close to 20 years ago and later taken over by the Authority.

At the noon luncheon provided by the Plainfield Women's Institute at the Thomasburg United Church, Authority chairman James H. Sprackett, himself a lumberman of upwards of 70 years, told his listeners that the Moira Authority now owned approximately 18,000 acres in the watershed.

Much of the Authority property was under re-forestation and more sub marginal and marginal properties were being purchased each year.

"The only thing wrong with conservation is that we should have started 50 years sooner," he said.

FORMER MEMBER HONORED

Tour guests were introduced by T. C. Graham, chairman of the Authority Education-Extension committee who regretted the fact that Belleville representatives had been unable to make the trip.

The authority tour, he said, would have given city representatives the opportunity of seeing at first hand, what is being done to preserve natural resources for future generations. Belleville members on the Authority are Alderman Dan Joss and ex-alderman George Brown.

Two former Authority chairmen, George Wishart and Brice Smith, were honored during the noon luncheon period. Both were presented with engraved desk sets in recognition of their many years with the Authority.

Also speaking briefly at the dinner was Clarke T. Rollins, MLA for Hastings East. Federal members Rod Webb and Lee Grills, and provincial house members Hon. J. R. Simonett and W. E. Sandercock were unable to attend.

During the afternoon the party stopped at what was formerly known as the "Hungerford Forest," where nearly 30 years ago the township of Hungerford planted approximately 133,000 pines on sub marginal farm land.

Later the forest area was taken over by the Moira River Authority and is now being maintained under an agreement with the Lands and Forests at Tweed.

The first of the Hungerford planting has now been thinned with alternate rows removed and the trees pruned to a height of 17 feet.

MAY RELAX RULES

ROME (Reuters) — The Roman Catholic Church may in the future be more liberal in allowing priests to marry in certain cases, but only provided they renounce their ministry and are reduced to lay status, an influential Jesuit review forecast Wednesday.

pay increase, but altered their stand to take the increase over two years rather than the original request for a one-year contract. The Seaway Authority has agreed to a conciliation board report recommending seven-per-cent increases in both years of a two-year contract.

RATE IS $2.13

Basic rate for laborers now is $2.13 an hour on the Canadian side. Operating employees average $2.36 an hour.

The union is seeking rates closer to those paid on the U.S. side of the international waterway. U.S. laborers start at $2.54 an hour and the rate for two-year men is $2.80. Average wage for U.S. operating employees is $3.37.

Senator MacKenzie said Wednesday he was optimistic about a settlement.

"These negotiations have been going very satisfactorily and the spirit on both sides is good," he told reporters. "We expect to finish them tomorrow (today)—in one way or another."

Bruce MacRae of Toronto, chief federal conciliation officer from Ottawa, said the seaway requires 12 hours to ensure no vessels become trapped in the canal system in the event of a strike. He said this meant negotiators were working against a deadline of 10 p.m. tonight.

East Hastings PCs Name Officers for New Riding

The executive of the East Hastings Progressive Conservative Association called a meeting for the purpose of electing an executive for the new provincial riding known as "Hastings". Representation was made from municipal Conservative Associations from the old East and West Hastings ridings, which will make up the new Hastings riding. (The riding of Hastings incorporates the entire County of Hastings, less the City of Belleville, Town of Trenton, Township of Sidney, which includes Frankford and Batawa).

Charles Keeble, president of Hastings East Association gave up the chair to Mr. Verne MacMurray to conduct the adoption of a new constitution for the riding of Hastings, and for the election of officers. The slate of nominees as brought in by the nominating committee was unanimously accepted by those present. Those elected were: president — Kenneth Smith, motel operator, Elzevir Township; 1st. vice. — Bill Mostyn, Sidney; 2nd. vice. — Delbert Harvey, Tyendinaga Township; 3rd. vice. — Allan Bronson, Bancroft; 4th. vice — Barton Haggerty, West Huntingdon; 5th. vice. — Mrs. Lucy McGee, Bancroft; 6th vice. — Mrs. Berta Atkins, Thurlow; treasurer — Bruce White, Madoc; secretary — Mrs. Lorne MacTaggart, Dungannon; Association secretary —Mrs. Kenneth Vivian, Stanneoville.

Mr. Ken Smith, in accepting the presidency said "I am proud and honored that you have chosen me to act as your president in the new and great riding of "Hastings". "This riding has a strong Tory background and I am sure that with the support of the excellent executive that you have elected here tonight, it will continue to elect a Conservative to the Legislature."

A presentation was made by Mr. Harold Vardy, from Hungerford, to the retiring secretary, William Merch, who has been transferred by his employer to Cobourg.

Mr. Clark T. Rollins, MLA Hastings East, was introduced and spoke briefly. In his remarks he said, "I will give a report of my activities while I have been your member, when I address the delegates at the next nomination convention."

"I will be a candidate for nomination for the new riding of Hastings.

Mr. Rollins noted that it was encouraging to see the interest shown by the presence of some 325 people who attended the meeting, and assured those present that he would endeavor to represent all parts of the county to the best of his ability.

Indian Problems

A two-year project for the resettlement of 45 reserve Indians and their families at Sapawe in northwestern Ontario is an encouraging development. Initially, 15 Indian workers will be selected from bands in the Fort-Frances-Kenora area to work in a lumber company in Sapawe.

This and other projects being undertaken by the provincial and federal governments are positive steps toward helping the Indian make his way in the world. In another, under religious auspices, 15 girls from Kingston's Notre Dame Convent and three boys from Regiopolis College will spend two weeks "assisting missionaries in five Northern Lake Superior Indian missions.

Encouraging as such projects are, the overall picture of Indian society is not a rosy one, as those who have seen the poverty and degradation of life in some reserves can testify.

The Rev. Maurice McMahon, principal of the Crowfoot school at the Blackfoot reserve 70 miles east of Calgary said last week that the Indians there are living in "absolute squalor, worse than any white slum." He is seeking a Royal Commission inquiry into Indian affairs and education. The government, he charged, "is skimping and penny pinching just because the facilities are for the Indians." He drew a comparison with armed forces schools, saying the government "has not spared a penny for those children."

These sentiments have been echoed by others. Aileen Duncombe for example, a Toronto woman who has spent 20 years with her husband as a young missionary in the Canadian west.

"The primitive conditions, poor health and malnutrition in part of this rich country would shock most of the people in the Toronto area," she is quoted as saying.

And Stocks-Man J. Boyd, of Yellowknife, N.W.T., like Father McMahon, speaks of racial difficulties. In an interview in Niagara Falls she said: "We are trying to break down the barriers — for there are enormous barriers between the Indian, Eskimo and white people. It is past the point of pinpointing the blame — it is no good blaming anyone."

However, if there is a moral to be drawn it is the old one that people in glass houses should not throw stones. If the racial policies of South Africa cause concern, and if there is no love lost between whites and Negroes in the American south we should remember that Canada is not exactly a model of racial tolerance either.

Assult on Whom?

The saying about the law being an ass often seems to make sense, judging by the mildness and lightness of many of the sentences and recommendations involving homicide, car infractions and mental patients to name some categories.

In the United States the legal system and court procedures are particularly puzzling. Consider the dilemma (one that is not uncommon in the States) of Raven Novie, a 21-year-old Brooklyn girl.

Miss Novie suffered bruises in a scuffle with a policeman after she fired a tear gas fountain pen in the face of an alleged masher. Now she faces a court hearing on assault charges.

We recall a similar case in New York about a year ago when a girl turned the tables on an attacker, using some weapon or other. Like Miss Novie she ended up in court charged with assault.

This is patently ridiculous, considering the fact that even in daylight young women in large American cities have to look out for themselves. Unless of course the girls had jumped to conclusions and unwittingly injured innocent persons. However there is no suggestion this was so in either case.

Away From It All

Life, observed John Masefield — presumably in a moment of exasperation — is "one damn thing after another."

Scarcely the language of a poet — and yet are poets not subject to life's trials and tribulations too. All things come alike to all men.

In such a moment, Masefield may have been moved to write "Sea Fever."

"I must go down to the sea again,
To the lonely sea and the sky . . ."

Like most people he felt the need on occasions to get away from the irritations of the daily round and the foibles of society.

Masefield's poetry has an enduring place in British literature. Poet laureate since 1930, he is now 86 and lives quietly at the home of a daughter.

He may not do as much writing these days — only on some historic occasion when his magic way with words comes to life again — but he will always be remembered for such poems as Sea Fever and that early seven-word barb about life being one damn thing after another.

Ottawa Offbeat

Ottawa's Ice Cubes Could Be as Costly as Diamonds

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Parliament may be in a mess but Parliamentarians are doing alright.

It was less than two years ago that Agriculture Minister J. J. "Joe-Joe" Greene, then a mere MP, was complaining that the typewriter in his Centre Block office must have come over with Jacques Cartier. It was that old.

And New Democrat Murdo Martin of Timmins was grumbling that things were so primitive in his office his secretary had to step outside each time he received a visitor on private business.

A steno spent so much time drinking coffee in the Commons cafeteria while her boss was in conference that she "swished" and actually "listed" going around corners.

Now every MP has his own office — with a rug on the floor and fixed floor-to-ceiling drapes and Group of Seven prints on the wall — and every secretary, a new electric typewriter.

Perhaps best of all — but for Heaven's sake, don't say anything about it — they're in line to get their own refrigerator-type water cooler that holds a case of beer, tins of tomato juice and best of all, makes its own ice cubes.

LIKE A DESSERT

Parliament ISN, admirably, has been for since the old Centre Block, with its bar, burned down 43 years ago.

It became positively arid midway through former Prime Minister Diefenbaker's six-year regime when he banned the serving of hard stuff at his receptions and proclaimed tea and coffee the acceptable beverages for Parliamentary socializing.

Since then there have been a few signs of the drought breaking, but not breaking.

An MP or Senator who thirsts may dispatch a House of Commons messenger to an oasis in the nearby West Block, where, for 10 cents over the liquor price list, a bottle may be purchased from mediocre stock maintained by the Commons Restaurant Service. It is not exactly legal.

But the bibulous Andras, an Ontario Liquor Control Board Solicitor Col. C. E. Wood has ordered certain authorities in the Commons.

In being a operation, this special bottle-delivery-service is subsidized and has caught the critical eye of Auditor General Max Henderson, the "Watchdog of the Treasury."

Last time he looked, this Parliamentary "room service" was costing an average of $40 and the 10 - cents - per-bottle "corkage" was returning only $1,025.

The Treasury — I'll buy you with your tzzzz — picked up the $6,475 balance of the tab.

But problems there still remained.

Like mixes. And ice.

SOLUTION!

They hatch meant that too many MPs' your Parliamentary host was reduced to mixing his rye and scotch warm.

Bleh! (or scotch)!

Now the difficulty's being removed.

Approved for something initially approaching $20,000—about three times the cost of the service.

On order for $306.70 the copy are what are described by the manufacturer as "roomy, modern, electric plug-in type, with two-gallon bottle and refrigerator thermostat."

It is this "refrigerator compartment" that does the trick as the Many MP's — even the little-social-helper and presumably-able accounts for the better part of that $306.70.

Versatile, it stacks a case of beer, and cools a couple of dozen tonics, ginger or what'll - you - have?

But best of all, it makes its own ice, in two trays of cubes.

So, too, is each Parliamentary Secretary (16), each former Conservative Cabinet Minister (14) but count Dief out, the three Opposition "Spoiler" Leaders and the three party Whips.

That's 82 altogether, and if all eligible put in for this cool new refrigerator-cooler, that's $15,813.40.

But as these things invariably work out, if the Cabinet, the Big position Privy Councillors, the Leaders and who-knows - what-other Parliamentary Wheels get something, then all hands should end up with it.

Including $306.70 ice-cubes coolers.

Some 265 MPs and 108 Senators that could run a cool $118,558.80 for ice cubes.

Cheers!

Tough

We don't get paid, but we sure get criticized. — Lori Johnson, reminding her herself and her sister, Lynda, on being the daughters of a President.

Friends who generously spend their time and opinions are often disappointed when they don't get their own way. Another important area — but such disappointment is foolish, for one of the finest pleasures of friendship is that it shows us that even though opinions may be irreconcilable, such differences need not lead to conflict when each regards and respects the other's right to have views.

It is merely a seductive half-truth that more money would solve most of our problems — only those few with more money than they need are aware of the other half of the truth — that for every problem money solves, it creates a new one, and sometimes a more desperate one, for then we can no longer cling to the illusion that more money is the answer.

The seeking after a status-symbol is futile and endless — for as soon as enough people have attained it, it is no longer a status-symbol; true status is achieved only by those wise enough to live by sobriance and quality, not by symbols.

"Statesmanship" seems to be largely the art of leading the people into such an impasse that only another kind of statesmanship can lead them out, and so on ad infinitum.

The worst effect of the rise of Communism in the 20th century is that its evils are so obvious that they make us hug our own evils closer to our breast, rather than re-examining and reforming them, as we should.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 16th, 1946

Chairman of Finance, Alderman H. J. Clarke will be acting Mayor during the absence of Mayor Frank S. Fidlevil who is in Vancouver to attend the annual Dominion mayors' convention. Before leaving for the west coast, Mayor Fidlevil hosted aldermen Glencoe Thompson.

Thomas D. Easton was re-elected to the presidency of the Belleville Rotary Club at the annual meeting.

30 YEARS AGO

June 16th, 1936

Rev. C. T. Lewis, retired Church of England clergyman, formerly of Bury, Que., and now residing on Dundas St., visited the Church of the Holy Trinity in Hungerford township and was the celebrant in the Communion service and also delivered the sermon. This church was erected through the efforts of Mr. Lewis 46 years ago when he was rector of the Tweed Parish.

Dr. E. N. Baker and Mrs. Baker have left for their home in Winona, Muskoka, where they will spend the summer.

40 YEARS AGO

Mrs. W. H. Vanstone, George St., is observing on the 21st anniversary of her birth.

Miss Clara Mullin, George St., attended the Bucklin-Hodgens, in Chicago.

The Misses Wellbridge, George St., have returned after spending several months abroad and the past month in Scotland on their summer home in Wellington. They spent the winter in the south of France.

50 YEARS AGO

June 16th, 1916

At a meeting of the Belleville Cheese Board, 2,100 boxes of cheese were boarded at 12 and sold at 12 3-16 cents to 12½ cents.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Charles J. Bowell are at Banff. They will go on to Vancouver in a few days.

The Hastings County Council has made a grant of $300 to the funds of the 155th Battalion which is now stationed here.

Strictly Personal

The Anatomy of Freedom

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

Most young people mistakenly believe that to be "free" is to be able to do whatever one wants to do; when, in truth, to be free is to be able to do what is best for yourself — and learning what is best for yourself is the only way to get rid of the slavery of self-indulgence.

Which brings to mind Eric Hoffer's pungent paradox:

"When people are free to do as they please, they usually imitate each other."

When the angry man says he wants "justice," what he really wants is vengeance; and when the guilty man says he wants "justice" what he really wants is forgiveness.

The best test of a democracy consists in the variety and severity of things it is safe to laugh at: the more tendency that all totalitarian societies have to be common, whether left or right, the more constantly diminishing is sense of humor, and scorn of pounding aversion to satire.

I have never understood that old aphorism about a rolling stone — for what is moss but a clumsy impediment that chokes out the sunlight? Besides, it is precisely the fact that a stone doesn't roll that gives it no future.

Speaking of aphorisms, one must admire that anonymous wit who defined a "pessimist" as "a person who is forced to live with an optimist."

The Lost Art Of Whittling

Ottawa Journal

Since man first learned to fashion a sharp-edged blade he has enjoyed whittling. One of the deplorable aspects of what once a bit hesitatingly calls modern civilization is the passing of this art. Only a few dedicated whittlers are left today and all men should unite to foster a renaissance of the craft.

There are two kinds of whittling. A man can whittle with a purpose. In pioneer times, men and boys whittled implements for home and farm use. In cities in the woodlands, craftsmen made bowls and plates, spoons and forks; they made handles for hoes and axes, hooks for hanging harness and fashioned shovels and pitchforks.

Then is another kind of whittling — the kind we need today. That is whittling for whittling's sake. Under a good clasp knife and soft pork, unlik gravy, boiled potatoes and a quarter of a juicy strawberry pie, it is good to sit on a box in the barn doorway ad whittle for a few minutes before getting back to work.

A man needs a sharp knife and the wood of his choice. The countryman prefers straight-grained, soft white pine. A person of a city temperament prefers whittling does something for a man. It calms and relaxes; it puts him in tune with the seasons and helps to dissipate tensions smooth chunks get peel away, a man can see his perspective in life thriving. It might be helpful if our law makers would take up whittling, and after a session of oratory would adjourn for an hour while they whittled.

To Your Good Health

Should Exercise Arm After Breast Removed

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Removal of a breast, necessary as it is to save lives, often has an aftermath of stiffness and swelling of the arm. Movement and use of the arm are necessary to prevent this or correct it.

Nobody can do it for you. You have to do it yourself. The sad fact is that too many women, after such surgery, do not realize even when told how important it is to use the weak and painful arm, or how much good can result.

The following letter from a reader will probably do more for such women than anything a doctor could say. Her letter:

Dear Doctor: Seven years ago I had my breast removed and found I was really quite crippled. Having four teen-agers, I had to work this out. I found there are plenty of ways to help myself, as in fact the only one who can do anything is the patient.

First of all when the family left in the morning, and several times during the day, I work at the housework and put a piece of rope over a pipe. I pulled up and forward forcefully and even to pull up and be puffed by.

Then strung a clothesline but about shoulder height. My daughters wanted to hang the clothes for me, but I did it, and found that yesterday I could raise the line higher.

Another thing, I bought a heavy pocketbook. Whenever I went I carried this bag, swinging it. I carried every package of least part of the way home with my poor arm.

As soon as the doctor said I was healed, I bought a bathing suit. There are suits with a tiny sleeve and high neck that cover the scar. And I went swimming concentrating on the back stroke.

Eight months after the operation I went back to secretarial work, though I hadn't been employed in many years. I have worked ever since. It is good therapy. No one I work with knew I had this trouble.

I was 48 at the time of the operation. Because I didn't spare the arm right from the start, (though when I was alone and trying I shed many a tear of frustration) I am not at all incapacitated.

Wasn't I lucky? It could have been an eye, or a leg!

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking Vitamin A for about a year because it seemed to help my acne. Lately the sight in my right eye seems blurry and is getting worse. Could this be from the vitamins? If so is there any cure? I go to school and do a lot of reading. — M. H.

I doubt that there is any connection. However, I suggest that you have your eyes tested.

Note to F. N.: We can't say that worry and emotional disturbances cause stomach ulcers, but it is certain that such tension-producing states does in people who are inclined to have them.

Cool Approach

The responsible intellectual who moves between his campus and Washington knows above all that his task is, in the language of the current generation, to 'cool it,' to bring what my generation called 'hot heat,' but light' to public affairs. — President Johnson.

Contemptibles' Last March

Cornwall Standard - Freeholder

Time moves slong and takes us all with it. But somehow it always seemed it should stop for the Old Contemptibles.

The Old Contemptibles are survivors of the British Army which fought in Flanders early in the First World War. They were the "contemptible little army" the Kaiser's forces were going to sweep into the sea. The British Tommies adopted the name with a badge of honor.

The Contemptibles held their posts and those who survived fought on in the Second World War as officers and men, as impressive as when they faced the Kaiser's legions.

But time accomplished what the Germans couldn't and the Old Contemptibles held the last of their annual marches in London the other day, with hardly enough in the ranks under 70. Time has done what no other force in the world could do.

If time has embodied the Old Contemptibles, it should not take with it some other Mead associated with them. The contemptible little army was a highly mobilized and rather amateurly equipped band of men, sent out to do battle with the most powerful and best organized army in the world. They demonstrated what courage can accomplish. They showed that a powerful instrument an aroused nation can be.

In the day of Atomic arms it is probably that a contemptible little army would be only another target. Somewhere, after Today, attacking armies have weapons no living man could hope to match. But 50 years ago, machine guns and artillery, feared as they were, were not the ultimate weapons. The spirit of the Old Contemptibles must be known by a new flesh.

A people aroused and dedicated to the purpose that nothing but what the Old Contemptibles wrest from them they will have again would be a worthy memorial to the men who took the brunt of the Great War.

Upsetting

Ours is not a normal war which equalizes fortunes and helps athletes pally. It rather deepens social gaps and upsets social orders. — Nguyen Van Nha, writing in the Saigon Daily News.

Reagan Wins In Primary

Montreal Gazette

The strength of the far-right in the Republican party, so acutely reflected by the Americans' passion for H, is put dead on the win of film personality Ronald Reagan in the primary election in California this week-end showed.

Mr. Reagan, an early and strong supporter of Barry Goldwater in 1964, soundly beat George Christopher, who was regarded as the liberal republican ticket. In fact, the margin was more than two-to-one for Mr. Reagan.

The Republicans party certainly is in a very delicate position now. There were indications after the Goldwater loss in the last Presidential election that the middle-of-the-road Republicans would again take over the reins of the party.

But Mr. Reagan's victory will certainly prove a major setback for those moderates. If the California is now the most populous state in the United States, and thus, is correspondingly highest because of this fact.

The struggle between Mr. Reagan and Mr. Brown will undoubtedly be one of the most interesting this year. The campaign well decide the future course of the Republican party for a decade.

Intials' Cult In The U.S.

Portland Oregonian

Americans pride themselves on their irreverent attitude toward "sacred cows" or what they feel is excessive dignity. In almost meeting this goal anything his top test knocked off was good for a laugh. Will Rogers expressed the attitude of many Americans when he was introduced to European royalty and said in his big-hearted, friendly manner, "Howdy, King."

Newspaper headline writers do nothing to retard that tendency. From F. D. R. to L.B.J. Presidents have been known by their initials, except for Ike, whose nickname was shorter than his initials and so fitted better. Before F. D. R. he stood on, some headlines identified him as Jack, but soon no one used anything but the initials.

So far we have been fortunate. We have had no Presidents named Randolph A. Tyle, Robert O. Thompson, George Vesey Perker or the like. But the initialization of names could have a problem. At a quick glance to H.H.H. might be mistaken for Hubella.

Today in History

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

June 16, 1966 . . .

Giovanni Mauri-Ferretti was elected Pope Pius IX 320 years ago today—in 1846 —to start the longest papal reign in history, 32 years. Regarded as a liberal, reforming pope when elected, he became more conservative when the Italian wars of independence brought the old Papal States. During his incumbency the Syllabus of Errors was published, undermining political reformers who were Catholics. And the doctrine of papal infallibility was enforced.

1898—30 miners died in the Caledonia Mine explosion in Nova Scotia.

1916—First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1916—German guns shelled Canadian troops, now back on their old front line in Sanctuary Wood; the Greek military command moved its headquarters to Athens from Salonika, where it had been under political pressure from the Allies.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1941—the RAF destroyed 25 Germas aircraft over England and northern France; the United States ordered the closure of German consulates and other agencies; a British report recorded 9 column reconnoired 40 miles deep into Libya.

Fire Fact

Three large forest fires - 2,500, 1,200 and 2,400 acres — accounted for 66 percent of the 19,904 acres burned over in 1965 by fire season, according to the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

Auditor Says Garbled Note Allegedly Left by Burglar

Evidence of a possible break-in at Magistrate Jackson's office in Madoc in April of 1954 was introduced by a crown witness this morning, as the trial of Marjorie M. Lahey, charged with theft of a sum of money over $50 while she was court clerk and court reporter in Madoc, entered its second day.

Lorne Wilcox, auditor, Attorney General's Department, said he arrived in Madoc to conduct a routine audit of the books. There was no special reason for an audit at that time," he said. "It was a regular audit.

"When I arrived at the office, the office was locked. I went on to the division court in Madoc and conducted an audit there and returned to the magistrate's office the following day.

"Miss Lahey told me the office had been broken into the previous evening. She said no monies had been taken but certain of the court records and the cash book, had been taken.

"There was a note I was shown that she said was left in the office. I believe it was on the night previous. It was typed with the office typewriter on a brown manilla envelope."

Mr. Wilcox said the note was all garbled, and it read:

"WARNING:

Please resign if you know what is wise. You are being watched. Your papers will be returned in about a week. Do not tell anyone about this.

I'm warning you.

Your enemy."

Mr. Wilcox said under cross examinat on that he had given the Madoc Magistrate's office no advance notice that he was coming.

"As far as you know," defence counsel R. E. Nourse asked, "Miss Lahey had no knowledge that you were in town."

"Not as far as I know she didn't."

TALKED TO MAGISTRATE

Mr. Wilcox said he discussed the matter with Magistrate R. C. Jackson at the time and "I can recall the magistrate said he had some ideas as to who might be involved, but I can't recall any names being mentioned."

Percy Rowe, manager, Toronto-Dominion Bank, Madoc, identified deposit slips and ledgers presented in evidence yesterday as those connected with the account entitled, Magistrate's Account, R. C. Jackson.

He said under cross examination that a police officer had requested permission to view Miss Lahey's personal account but he had refused the request.

"Has it not been common gossip in the Village that Miss Lahey stole a sum of money from the magistrate's office?" Mr. Nourse asked.

"Yes, that presumably she had."

"I suggest to you that everyone was astonished, including yourself."

"Yes, that's a fact." c.

SAYS FINE PAID

John Edward Lowry, a laborer with the department of highways, testified that he paid a fine of $100 plus $5.50 court costs to Miss Lahey March 2, 1955.

He told Crown Attorney Bruce Affleck that he paid the fine in the Magistrate's Office, Madoc, to Miss Lahey in cash and received a receipt from her for the payment.

"Do you recall phoning her the night before you paid the fine and asking her to stay late in the office because you wanted to see her about the fine?" Mr Nourse asked in cross examination.

"I don't recall"

"I'm instructed that when you appeared at the office you had a cheque for $87 and wanted to pay it on account is that correct."

"I don't recall."

"Do you recall Miss Lahey telling you she couldn't take a part payment and the fine?"

"I don't recall."

"And do you recall Miss Lahey telling Magistrate Jackson on the phone to see if you could have an extension of time to pay the fine?"

"I don't recall."

"And do you remember she couldn't get Magistrate Jackson on the phone and she told you she'd give you another two weeks to pay the fine."

"It's possible, but I don't recall."

"Do you remember telling her not to tell your wife the fine hadn't been paid and her telling you she didn't tell anyone anything?"

"No sir."

"Do you deny it?"

"I don't recall."

I suggest to you that when Miss Lahey went to telephone the magistrate, you picked up the receipt that was on the desk."

"I didn't do that."

AUDITOR TESTIFIES

In yesterday afternoon's proceedings, testimony was completed of the first Crown witness, Stewart E. Neundorf, chief auditor of the Accounts Branch at the Attorney General's Department in Toronto.

Mr. Neundorf was in Madoc for about three and a half weeks from November 9 of last year to audit the accounts of the magistrate's office there. Yesterday he was called upon to identify some 40 informations and the corresponding court receipts for the payment of fines stipulated in these informations.

In each of the 40-odd instances cited, Mr. Neundorf said that receipts of payment had been issued, purportedly bearing Miss Lahey's signature, that the payments referred to in the receipts had been recorded as of "time to pay" cases (i.e.—unpaid accounts) in the Madoc office's monthly returns to the Toronto office, and that no record of deposit of these fine payments could be found in the bank account of the Madoc magistrate's court.

Miss Lahey, through defence counsel, R. E. Nourse, Q. C. of Picton, admitted the signatures as being hers on all of the receipts presented as exhibits. c.

In cross examination, Mr. Nourse asked Mr. Neundorf "Did you ever go to Miss Lahey in the course of your investigation and ask her for some information to help straighten out this mess?" The witness replied "No sir. I didn't think it was necessary under the circumstances."

"Could you think of any better person to get information from in this instance than Miss Lahey?"

"No sir. Frankly not."

"When was the last audit your department conducted of this particular office?"

"In 1955, sir, and I'm uncertain of the date."

"Then I suggest to you that this so-called deficiency could have been of long standing, perhaps previous to Miss Lahey's employment by the office."

"Perhaps it could."

"You have evidence that there was a deficiency of some $3,000 in this bank account, but you can't say that Miss Lahey took one dollar of that herself, are you?"

"No sir, I am not."

patient rather than in the insurance carrier. The patient would then pay the bill and seek reimbursement from the insurance carrier.

In 1962 the Saskatchewan government introduced a universal medical insurance program and the doctors there withdrew all but emergency medical services for 23 days until a compromise agreement was reached on which included recognition of the right of doctors to work outside the plan.

One of the leaders of the medical opposition in Saskatchewan plan was Dr. E. W. Bayfield of Regina, who said Wednesday he supports "some permanent" for of government-run, compulsory medical insurance schemes.

In an interview, Dr. Barooten said that while some of the qualms of medical profession about that kind of insurance plan have proved unfounded other qualms have proved well-founded. He said payment to physicians for medical services under the plan is lower than originally predicted.

Oil Companies Purchase Two Parcels of Land

D. J. Whalen Real Estate Ltd. today advised that two oil companies have purchased through their office vacant parcels of land for immediate construction. One is a large lot in the city adjacent to the Ontario Provincial Police Headquarters formerly owned by a motel chain. The other is north of the 401 highway expected to be used after construction as a materials handling depot.

Firefighters Promote Circus To Raise Funds

Belleville Firefighters' Association Local 499, concerned about slumping attendance at the bingo staffing has hit on another p n to raise funds for its continuing work for the benefit of underprivileged children in the city. For the time being at least, the bingos have been discontinued but the association is sponsoring the appearance here of a three-ring circus as a means of raising money for its charity fund.

The Selis and Gray Circus will appear here July 13 to 16 for the erection of the big top has not been decided on as yet but a decision is expected in the near future. Officials of the association have been inspecting several prospective locations.

In order to put the project over, a "telephone procedure" is scheduled; to start this Friday and it is expected to swing into high gear early next week. Industries, businessmen and merchants will be contacted and asked to purchase blocks of tickets for the show. There will be no problem distributing the tickets once they have been purchased because the Firefighters Association on repeated, bradin this detail and make sure the tickets reach the children, who can use them.

This project is not a new departure for the association. A few years ago a substantial amount was realized for underprivileged children when a successful variety night was sponsored.

Maurice Allard (Ind - PC—Sherbrooke) said the veterans affairs department is treating French - Canadians with "disc rimination" and asked Veterans Minister Teillet to "correct as many injustices as possible."

Only nine per cent of department employees earning more than $5,900 are in the Ottawa French-Canadians. He had received many complaints from French-speaking veterans about the lack of bilingualism at Queen Mary Veterans Hospital in Montreal. Some patients couldn't converse with their English-speaking doctors.

The department hired too few French - Canadians. At Queen Mary Hospital only 40 of the 148 doctors spoke French. And 179 nurses only 83 were French-speaking.

Ralph B. Cowan (L — York Humber) said that during study of the department's estimates in the Commons veterans affairs committee "what really shocked us" was the sight shirt differential paid nurses at DVA hospitals.

It amounted to eight cents an hour between 6 p.m. and midnight, and 12 cents an hour between midnight and 6 a.m.

Cheese Exchange

A total of 10,144 large regular cheese was offered on the Belleville Cheese Exchange this week. Also offered were 9,081 specials, and 9,031 square cheese.

The average price was 42.3 cents for white and 42.5 cents for colored.

Group Home Parents Wanted

To assume full responsibility for the operation of a Society-owned home located in the City of Belleville, offering group living to approximately six boys or girls. These will be local girls in attendance at city schools. The home will be completely furnished and the Society will assume the cost of food, heat, light, etc. While the house mother will be a salaried employee of the Society, her husband, who will be expected to accept the parental responsibilities of the head of a home, may be gainfully employed elsewhere. Interested applicants should be between the ages of thirty and forty-five, enjoy good health, be secure in their personal and marital relationships, and possess at a very minimum, secondary school education. Nevertheless, preference should be given those of young people and sympathetic to their problems. They will be expected to work as part of a team, take supervision and participate fully in staff training programs. Couples with a maximum of two children will be considered.

The many advantages offered should make this position attractive to young professional people, for example: an elementary or secondary school teacher and his wife. The commencing salary (which includes full maintenance) will be dependent upon the experience and qualifications of the successful applicants. Full staff benefits including medical, surgical, hospital care, group life insurance, OMERS pension plan, three weeks annual vacation will apply. Duties commence on or about the 1st of September, 1960.

OSLO OBSERVATIONS

"Oslo's giant Children's Parade will (pass) . . . Palace where King Olav and his family will stand on the Palace balcony and greet 'the ten thousands of enthusiastic youngsters'." — Relay News, May 16th edition, sent by Dr. Betty Hall.

When Betty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hall, 15 Southwood Crescent, read of a young girl, a medical book which her mother happened to bring from the library, she stated then her intentions of becoming a doctor. She really meant it — and did so!

"Yes, that is true," says her mother, "and upon receiving her medical degree, Betty spent a year in Newfoundland, then taught at the University of Ottawa where her interest in brain structure led her into research."

Recently she left for Norway where she will engage in further research with European colleagues for six months at the University at Oslo, and writes:

"Oslo is quite a small city; at least it seems to be. I haven't been around much yet. The Students (University residence) is out in the suburbs (10 miles from the heart of the city on the subway: Cost 15 cents). It is at the foot of a ski area and the slopes approach it; you will see wooded hills in the distance. The air is clear and it is lovely when the sun shines."

In answer to a request for a letter from Norway for Second Glance readers, Betty sent the following concerning the great National holiday, which was held May 17th:

"It is the celebration of the Norwegian Constitution of 1814, that meant freedom from Swedish domination. It is a special day for children and students as they participate in a huge parade.

"The students graduating (from the gymnasium (high school) are called the Russ. Early in the morning they run around in old cars waking up their brothers and the whole neighborhood. A group were at the Students by at 8:30 a.m., honking horns, shouting, singing and generally making a racket. Their car wouldn't start. Finally they picked it up and away we go. We were lucky — some people were awakened at 3 a.m.

"Needless to say a celebration was arranged here at the Students by. A group of us had breakfast together. The Norwegians are fond of lettuce and block (cheddar) cheese, though I like the soft Primost cheese best. The coffee is delicious.

"I left at 10:20 to see the parade. The Anatomical Institute overlooks the Main Street so I was heading there to watch from the windows with the rest of the Staff.

"However, I was a few minutes late and found the parade was underway when I arrived. I couldn't get across the street; instead, I had to go up around the Castle and through side streets. I didn't mind too much as I saw the King and Crown Prince on the balcony of the castle, greeting the marchers.

"The marchers! Not army, navy and airforce, but children — 30,000 of them! First came the public schools — children from about 10 to 14; each with its school flag, national flags, and in most cases its own band.

"They were followed by the Gymnasium students; again, each school with its band. The Russ wear red caps from now until they graduate, when they receive a black one. Those graduating from the Economic High School have blue caps.

"The parade started at 10:30 a.m. and the last group went by at 1 p.m.! It was a marvelous day for them — the sun shone throughout and it was pleasantly warm.

"Many women were out in National costume. There is a different one for each area; all are beautifully embroidered, usually by the owner, as they are rather expensive. However, once you have one you are all set, as you can wear it on any occasion requiring a long dress: theatre, wedding, etc.

"At 1 p.m. the University Men's Choir sang in the open rotunda (which, opens through the pillars onto a Square beside the street) of the University, their wonderful voices! We had an ideal location up in the balcony between the two main wings of the building. They sang national songs — the National Anthem is beautiful!

"I forgot to say I finally got to the University where I had tea and cake with the others (Mrs. Vasland invited me back to her place for lunch. We had a very tasty typical West Norway type of meal: leg of lamb treated with sød, smoked and partially dried. You slice it thin and eat it as is or along with vegetables and an omelette as we did.

"I ended the day quietly, but went Norwegians didn't. Unfortunately, I am a sound sleeper and didn't hear the others come home at 5 a.m. Apparently one played the guitar and they all sang, but I didn't hear a thing."

What a delightful letter, Betty. Our readers not only greatly appreciate it but all wish you well in your wonderful work. Would it be asking too much — may we have another letter from you about Norway (or your travels) later on? Thank you very much.

Ann Landers

Overweight Girl Finds Health Badly Damaged

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter you published recently from the teen-age girl whose father made fun of her because she was fat, rang a familiar bell with me.

I am now 21 years old, and very much overweight — in fact, about 60 pounds. Ever since I was a small child my parents tried to get me to cut down on my eating. I hated them every time they mentioned food. My friends kept telling me what a pretty face I had now and how attractive I would be if I slimmed down. I resented their comments and ate more.

Five years ago I was hospitalized. The doctors took tests and told me that everything that ANN LANDERS was wrong could be corrected if I followed their instructions and stuck to the diet. They also told me I wouldn't live long if I refused.

I am really trying now — for the first time in my life. But I'm afraid the damage has been done. I will probably never be able to have children. My health is permanently damaged and I am very unhappy.

Please tell the young people who write about being fat that it isn't worth it. Food isn't that important. I found out the hard way. — LEARNED TOO LATE.

DEAR LEARNED: Your letter clearly suggests that your excessive weight was tied in with an emotional problem. If you did not have psychiatric help, you should have had it. And early.

Thanks for writing, and good luck to you, honey.

DEAR ANN: Our son is 18 and going with a lovely girl. She is the fourth fine young girl he has gone steady with in the past year and we are deeply concerned about her.

Ever since Bud was 15 girls have fallen for him at the flick of an eyelash. His romances all end the same way. He uses the girl for his own pleasure, and leaves her heartbroken.

Bud is too handsome for his own good. He is also bright and does well in school. Bud has always had a mean streak and a bad temper, which seems to appeal to some very attractive and intelligent girls, for some strange reason.

My husband and I can't go around warning girls against our son. What shall we do? His present sweetheart is such a fine person we hate to see her hurt. — STYMIED.

DEAR STYMIED: You must get this Don Juan, Junior Grade, straightened around soon — not only for his good, but so the world will be safe. Unfortunately, disturbed people often attract each other. A girl who would be attracted to Bud's mean streak and bad temper must be a little out to lunch.

Ask your physician to direct you to someone who can help the boy. He needs professional counselling.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are the Pollyanna of all time. That letter from the woman who stuck it out with her cheating husband was a beaut. And your answer — well. Forget it, Honey. I would like to hear from the wives of other two-timing skunks. Was it worth the humiliation and the hurt you suffered? How about the truth? — UNFORGIVING IN KLAMATH FALLS.

DEAR UNFORGIVING: I'll print the letters if the women will write them. Be my guest, girls.

Women's Institutes

CANNIFTON - CORBYVILLE W.I.

The monthly meeting of the Canniffon - Corbyville W.I. was held at the Township Hall, Canniffon, on Monday evening with a good number present.

President Mrs. P. Meale opened the meeting in the usual manner and announced that the next meeting would be held in September as meetings are not held during July and August.

Small bags were distributed to each member to receive help to save coins for friendship during the summer months. A letter requesting the support of the Women's Institute to Hastings Manor was read. This matter will be dealt with at a later date. The report of the district annual held at Melrose in May was given by Mrs. F. Reid and Mrs. P. Meale.

The meeting was turned over to the education convener, Mrs. F. Reid, who introduced the guest speaker O.P.P. Constable Gordon Oliver. He showed a film on safety which dealt mainly with pedestrian safety.

The Institute plans to sponsor the Elmer safety program in the local schools starting the fall term. A question and answer period followed Constable Oliver's talk when many interesting questions were answered. The speaker also commended the members for taking over this safety program in the schools.

Mrs. Reid expressed thanks and presented the constable with a gift.

Trophies Are Presented at C.A. Rally

FRANKFORD — Churches of the Quinte Area were represented at Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle on Saturday evening, June 11th.

Rev. James Dunlop host pastor welcomed everyone, then Rev. David Mace of Trenton led the song service opening with the C.A. theme chorus. Mrs. David Switzer sang an appropriate solo.

Rev. R. Bombay, District Superintendent of Belleville presented the Bible quiz team, from Marmora with the winning trophy for this area. Mr. Leonard Coen of Marmora was presented with the winning attendance trophy.

Guest in the service Evangelist Rev. Bill McPherson from Indiana played a trumpet solo. Rev. H. Dawson of Marmora and Rev. Dunlop gave announcements and Mrs. Dunlop sang a solo.

Guest speaker of the evening, Rev. R. Bombay, district superintendent from Belleville spoke on the theme, "Putting Yourself Into God's Hands."

Women Want Special Dept. For Consumers

TORONTO (CP) — There should be a separate government department to deal with consumers' affairs, says the Ontario section of the Consumers' Association of Canada.

Mrs. Dorothy Askew of London, chairman of the provincial body's special committee on consumers' affairs, said in an interview Wednesday "the consumer is the neglected person in our society."

"When governments draw up policies there is no one there to present the consumer's point of view."

Mrs. Askew and Mrs. Gwen Pemberton, a past president of the Ontario group, were among eight persons presenting a brief to Attorney - General Arthur Wishart on the government's proposed legislation to set up a consumers' protection bureau and provide other measures to protect the consumer.

In the brief, the association commends the government for consumer legislation but notes that "the emphasis of this legislation is mainly on consumer credit and the difficulties therein."

The brief calls also for establishment of an information centre "which will provide specialized and expert information upon a wide range of topics" of interest to consumers.

MR. AND MRS. SAMUEL J. CURRY

Curry — Sarginson

FRANKFORD — A recent wedding ceremony was solemnized in Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle on Saturday June 11 at 12 noon, when Shirley Mae Sarginson of Peterborough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Sarginson of Marmora R R 2 was united in marriage to Samuel James Curry of Oshawa, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Curry of Frankford.

Rev. Fred Spring of Oshawa performed the double-ring ceremony assisted by Pastor Ron Kiltingbeck of Bannockburn. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Gordon Smith of Oshawa, sister of the bridegroom who also accompanied the soloist Mr. Floyd Cummings, cousin of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza over peau de sange. The Empire styled bodice was enhanced with Guipure lace around the neckline and sleeves. An A-line lace trimmed skirt was enhanced at the back with a detachable train. An Anne Boleyn type headdress caught a bouffant veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of pink Sweetheart roses and white gardenias.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Wayne Post of Toronto and the bridesmaids were Miss Linda Fisher of Batawa and Miss Kathleen Gunzer of Frankford. Little flower girls were Miss atKhryn Martin, niece of the bride and Miss Pamela Smith, niece of the bridegroom. All were identical floor - length dresses of melody pink, designed with Empire bodices, elbow length sleeves and detachable panels caught at the shoulders. They wore matching headdresses of each carried a bouquet of baby white 'mums tinted with pink. Ring - bearers were Master Brent Dewolfe, nephew of the bride and Master Ronald Smith, nephew of the bride groom.

Groomsman was Mr. Wayne Post of Toronto and ushers were Mr. Calvin Watson, cousin of the bridegroom and Mr. Murray Sarginson, brother of the bride.

The wedding reception was held at the Masonic Hall in Madoc where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a rose colored dress with matching coat of acetate lace, matching hat, black and white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. Assisting was the bridegroom's mother who wore a Montego blue sheath styled dress with chantilly lace bodice and crepe skirt, blue and white accessories and a corsage of pale pink roses.

For the wedding trip to the Honeymoon Resort in the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, the bride chose a three - piece suit of navy crepe, white and navy accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

Susanna's Family Fare

ANYTHING WOULD BE AN IMPROVEMENT

Dear Susanna: It is surprising the good results I have had, camouflaging cigarette burns in rugs.

Collect some of the pile that comes from the rug after cleaning. Purchase a good cement glue and put a liberal amount into the burned-out area. Now press the pile into the hole and place a weighted object over it until dry. Henceforth it is almost impossible to detect the mended area.

— To cut down on laundry during the lazy, hazy days of summer, I use paper dollies for dressers, and tables, etc.

It is usually a good long time before they need discarding.

— For carrying pens and pencils in my purse, a toothbrush container not only keeps them together and easy to find, but prevents them from soiling the lining.

— Hang vanities blinds on an outdoor line and slosh them off with a bucket of warm detergent suds and a car wash brush.

Rinse with hose. — Simple! — Mrs. S. Bott

DISTRICT WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

MARMORA W.I.

MARMORA — The June meeting of Marmora Branch Womens' Institute was held on June 8th evening at the home of Mrs. George Markett. The president, Mrs. O'Neil was in the chair.

A bus will leave from Marmora via Madoc to visit the home of Adelaide Hoodless on June 10th

A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. McNamara, principal of Marmora Separate School, for the gift of a flowering crab tree from the Institute. Four of these trees were presenting, one to each school in the village as a centennial effort to beautify the village.

A letter was received from Mr. Carl Bateman, Secretary Hastings County, in answer to a petition regarding suggested improvements to Hastings Manor. Mr. Bateman said as many improvements as possible are being made in the 11-year-old building and more are being carried out in the new wing.

Miss Grace Warren was appointed to convene a coffee party to be held in the Memorial Building on the evening of June 17th.

Mrs. Percy Carmen, convener of agriculture, gave a paper on moisture, its effects on growth, and its role in spontaneous combustion.

Mrs. George Empey, district director, gave a resume of the recent district - annual at Quennsboro. Mrs. Ethel Nobes put on a contest on vegetables and flowers with Mrs. B. Tinsdill the winner. A contest of speed was won by Miss Sabine's side.

The next meeting will be held in September at the home of Mrs. F. Sweet. Marmora Branch observes July and August holidays.

HONOR REPEATED

VANCOUVER (CP)—For the second consecutive year, Dr. Vivien Bason of the B.C. Cancer Institute has been awarded a $6,000 fellowship for her clinical research on body cells.

THIS JUNK IS JEWELRY — Boyana, a new model on the Vancouver scene from Paris, displays jewelry created by Ida Thery from bits and pieces of leftover material including papier mache. The designs are primitive, in exotic colors and black and white. Despite the size they are light. At left is a mass of bangles and beads; then one tremendous earring worn with a bracelet and finally stark black and white for a dramatic look. (CP Photo)

Fabulous 'Fake' Jewelry Introduced by Designer

VANCOUVER (CP)—It's not often anybody can get excited about junk. But that's what Ida Thery has done, and with considerable success.

Miss Thery, a Vancouver dress and hat designer, has created what a fashion editor has called "a collection of fabulous fake jewelry" out of odds and ends she had lying about.

The designer calls the jewelry pure relaxation—"sculptures in papier mache." Earrings come out light as a feather, large and in exotic colors as well as black and white.

"I just looked around at all the bits and pieces I'd been saving for years and decided to do something about it," says Miss Thery.

The reasonably-priced jewelry is featured at a boutique in suburban Oakridge and has been a real traffic-stopper.

Miss Thery, who used to design all the hats for Vancouver's Theatre Under The Stars and often appears on television, is already looking ahead to fall. She has some ideas of using the bits and pieces of tweed and leather she has in her apartment.

And at the moment she is turning out a mad collection of sun hats for the same boutique.

SMOKERS CATCH FLU

VANCOUVER (CP)—A study of nurses at Vancouver General Hospital shows that smokers are more liable to colds and other respiratory infections than non-smokers. A year-long study of 94 senior nursing students, half smokers, showed each smoker averaged 2.3 days more respiratory illness than each non-smoker.

Her junk jewelry is considered right for hostess wear and resort clothes.

Why should our son have a newspaper route?

The living is good. Plenty of money, nice home, nice furnishings, another salary raise in sight; we've never had it so good. Why should our son manage a newspaper route?

Most any educator or businessman will tell you why in three simple words: it builds character.

Oftentimes the youngster who grows up in comfortable circumstances and who gets his weekly "handout" from dad never realizes the value of money or the efforts required to make it and manage it, until he's on his own. By then attitudes and habits are difficult to reverse.

But the newspaperboy quickly learns valuable lessons that stick. While making money on a newspaper route is important, the experience of getting-the-job-done-no-matter-what is more important. When through route management, responsibility and self-confidence are acquired at this early age, a newspaperboy has an advantage over other youngsters that no amount of money can buy.

If you're still wondering whether your son would benefit from newspaper route management, ask a community businessman or civic leader, or better still, write our Circulation Department.

GIRL GUIDE, BROWNIE NEWS

Belleville South East District

The Golden and Brownies of Belleville South East District concluded their year's program with a number of interesting presentations and activities.

To emphasize a brownie's love for animals, a contribution was made to the Humane Society.

A hike and weiner roast, with games directed by Brownie tests was enjoyed by all Brownies.

Brown Owl, Mrs. C. Bateman and Belleville Brownis are feeling the difference in the lowered age group for Brownies, which is now seven years of age.

Only one Brownie from this pack, Barbara Liscum received her Golden Hand badge which will entitle her to "fly up" to Guides, while the first achievement award was presented to Wilma Brewer, Barbara Graham Karen Godfrey, Karen Empey, Cheryle Hannah, Ann Douglas, Colleen Doody, Susan Lennox, Karen Godfrey, Karen Empey, Marilyn M. Mackey, Linda Empey, and Marlene Mackey. These are now Golden Bar Brownies

Swimmers proficiency badges were awarded to Barbara Liscum and Debbie Rogers.

PACK 8 BROWNIES held a mother and daughter tea. Several Brownies served tea, thus passing a test.

The Guides of Company 1 were presented and brownied Wendy Ashley, Janet Batchelor, Julie Nettleton, Gillian Howe-wood "flew up" to Guides complete with large paper wings, and were received and introduced to the Guide Company. Golden Hand Badges were presented to them.

A stepping-stone to the Golden Hand, the Golden Ladder badge was presented to Nancy MacDonald, Nancy White, Linda Sands, Debbie Badley, Laurette Fairborn, and Debra Livock.

Gillian Homewood earned her music badge.

5TH BELLEVILLE

Brown Owl, Mrs. J. Driscoll's Brownies also held a barbecue in her yard where games were played and awards made.

The Brownies who had earned the most points during the year were awarded world pins Mary Ellen Roach and Clare Canty were the two to receive them.

The Golden Ladder badge was awarded to Roberta Driscoll, Martha Schultz, Joanne Wiseman, Linda Godbout, Mary Ellen Roach, Claire Canty, Darcel Thompson, Debra Flynn, Theresa Baskery and Lisa Sharland.

25,000 Young Unwed Women Face Same Agony Each Year in Canada

Would Illegitimacy be curbed if birth control devices were made available to young girls? Are parents failing in their responsibility to give their children sex education? Dray Dalby, London Free Press reporter, has explored the problems of the unwed mother. This story answers some salient questions.

By DINT DALBY
of the London Free Press

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Twenty - five thousand young women face the same agony each year in Canada.

They suspect and wait . . . wait for positive proof. Then one day a doctor says "you're pregnant."

Pregnant, but not married.

Their first reaction is "God, what do I do now!"

Each clings to the hope that somehow this thing inside them will disappear. Some seek abortions, others marriage. The more naive will pound their stomachs, take quinine pills or sit in scalding hot baths. But the tiny creature inside them keeps growing and eventually the fact of the illegitimate child has to be met.

Who is the unmarried mother?

She can come from a happy, close, loving family or she can come from a broken, unbearable home.

"No intelligent mother, on any socio - economic level, should think her daughter is above this sort of thing," says Dr. R. A. H. Kinch, head of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Western Ontario.

CARRY OUT STUDY

Under Dr. Kinch's supervision, a team of UWO medical men is making a continuing study of the unmarried mother.

The researchers came up with an impressive list of statistics about the unwed mother ranging from how many smoke to how many sex partners each has.

But statistics are impersonal. The tragic stories behind them can only be told by the unmarried mother herself. I talked with a number of pregnant, unmarried women.

"I knew I would get pregnant . . . but I thought we'd get married," A says. "But my father wouldn't let things turn out that way."

Her father's refusal to let her into the house if she brings the baby home with her has led to her decision to give up the child for adoption.

"I want my baby," A says, "but I want to get married, too, and we can't afford marriage right away. If I keep my baby I'll have no place to go."

BOY DATES OTHERS

B is a part blonde who says she's an adopted child and would like to keep her baby because it "would be my own flesh and blood." But she is in no position to support herself and the child's and the boy she loved has not stood by her and is dating other girls while she waits for the birth.

C is 13 and conceived during her first sexual experience—"I didn't even know what was happening." Besides her parents, only the boy still his parents know of her condition. What hurts her most is that the boy denies the baby is his.

She is working hard to keep up with her school work so that when she returns home no one will suspect the real reason for her absence.

When D told her mother she was pregnant the reaction was: "I always knew you were no good." She immediately sent her daughter to a relative's home and refuses to have any contact with her.

D says she never thought she'd become pregnant because the boy promised he would be careful. Being careful to this boy meant withdrawal.

Dr. Kinch says many teenagers think they can engage in certain methods of love-making without fear of pregnancy.

"They should know that they can get pregnant without penetration; that withdrawal doesn't prevent conception and that there is no such things as a safe period."

SHUN CONTRACEPTIVES

Unwed mothers interviewed said they didn't use contraceptives. "If it's God's will I would get pregnant, who am I to question it?" said one girl. "You don't think of those things when you make love," said another.

A girl who worked in a drug store and had full knowledge of, and access to, various types of birth control devices didn't use them.

The UWO survey indicates about one-quarter of women interviewed used contraceptives. Dr. Kinch says dissemination of birth control devices would not solve the problem of unwanted pregnancy among teen-agers.

"In the '20s more births took place at homes and it was quite possible to fail to register births or even for a child to be registered as born to his maternal grandmother."

Perhaps the question of the unwed mother has been blown up all out of proportion.

But if the experts aren't concerned with the over-all enormity of the problem, individual parents who learn their daughter is pregnant at 14 or 15 are.

Tomorrow: How should parents react?

ORDER SWEDISH PHONES

A Swedish telephone company recently obtained a $2,000,000 order for telephone exchange equipment from Kuwait.

Church Groups

MARMORA W.M.S.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Marmora Free Methodist Church, held in Beaver Creek School on Thursday. They are: president, Mrs. Everett Barrons; vice-president, Mrs. Russell Wells; secretary, Mrs. Gladys Jones; treasurer, Mrs. Stewart Hardy; mission study secretary, Mrs. Harry Mawer; J.M.S. superintendent, Mrs. Murray Walker; penny-a-day director, Mrs. Ritchie Wells; literary agent, Mrs. Carl Bird.

Following the opening of the meeting by the president, Mrs. Barrons, scripture reading was given by Mrs. Mawer. Missionary letters were read by Mrs. Stewart Hardy.

Taking part in the program, which included many readings, were: Mrs. Ritchie Wells, Mrs. Vanickle, Mrs. Percy Carman, Mrs. Barrons, Mrs. Merle Wells, Mrs. Ray Booker, and Mrs. Mawer. An object lesson was given by Mrs. Stewart Hardy on the most valuable things of a home.

Before the meeting, members completed a quilt.

Mme. Vanier Gets Greeting From Pointer

OTTAWA (CP) — A pointer named Goldie gave Madame Vanier an enthusiastic lick on the face Wednesday as a fitting finale to a dog's day for diplomats.

It was the Canadian Save the Children Fund Dog Show, and wives and children of the diplomatic corps were among the shorts-and-slacks-clad crowd, as well as behind the scenes.

Ladies of the United Kingdom high commission served hot dogs and soft drinks in the lunch tent, and more than 30 diplomatic wives contributed exotic foods to the International food booth.

About 300 dogs from Canada and the United States were shown at the event.

Gate receipts for the two-day show are expected to add more than $5,000 to the fund.

U.C.W. Meetings

FRANKFORD U.C.W.

FRANKFORD — The general meeting of Frankford United Church Women was held in Ross Lowery Hall on Monday evening. The Units met for brief business sessions, then adjourned to Frankford Community Hall where they had been invited to join with Zion U.C.W.

Mrs. Edith McLelland of Five Oaks, Paris, Ontario was guest speaker for the evening and showed films about Five Oaks School. Mrs. Harold Morgan of Carmel thanked the speaker and spoke briefly on U.C.W. work.

CARNIVAL IS HOMELY

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont (CP)—Robert Miron says he likes happy children, so he spent two years building a ferris wheel in his driveway. It's 18 feet high, has four baskets each seating two children, and rotates once a minute.

Ballet Guild Lists Officers

Reports of a successful year were read at the annual meeting of the Belleville Branch of the National Ballet Guild of Canada, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. I. MacKinnon.

Mr. George Brickwood was elected president for the coming year, with the following executive: past president, Mrs. D. I. MacKinnon; 1st vice-president, Mrs. C. I. Wilson; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. A. L. Turnbull; secretary, Mrs. Peter Bolton; recording secretary, Mr. R. C. Greig; treasurer, Mrs. Peter Harris; social convener, Mrs. Stanley Evans; publicity, Mrs. Thomas H. Hammel; house manager, Mr. Gordon C. Collins; business manager, Mr. Don Thomas; nominating committee, Mrs. J. H. Bateman, Mrs. Peter Acton, Miss Leona Riggs.

The committee gave $180 to the Guild Fund and an award of $400 was given to the student fund.

The annual wine and cheese tasting party held in April at Club Canara has become one of the popular social events of the season.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon entertained the executive and members at a cocktail party.

SOLDIERS WILL MARCH

The greatest military tattoo ever staged in Canada, involving nearly 2,000 troops, will be held during Expo 67.

Successful Living
Told to Plan Budget For Much Wanted Baby

DEAR DORIS: Four years ago I had a child out of wedlock. I gave him up for adoption, for his own good, and while I have occasionally waterlogged my pillow at nights, the memory of him does not overshadow my marriage to a wonderful man.

We have been married a year and both working. Lately I have found myself more and more often caught up with a desire to have a baby. Perhaps my previous experience is partly to blame, but I have always loved children.

When I told my husband, he felt we should wait awhile until we can get ahead with expenses. I know he's right, but I can't suppress my desire for a little one. This empty ache for a child is not good for a girl only married a year, and neither is it fair to her husband.

Can you help us? — EMPTY ARMS.

DEAR EMPTY: "Hope deferred maketh the heart sick," doesn't it? You surrendered one little pet; and a person just can't put up with too much heartbreak.

But how lucky you are! Married happily to a fine man, whose chief concern is for your contentment. A companion who is completely understanding about what happened before, and who is working hard to insure a solid future.

He deserves to be on the inside and to realize just how much having a baby means to you. Tell him. Together set up a one-year plan, or a two-year plan, and call it "Operation Family." In the coming months you then budget religiously to pay off the debts that plague you and you do it with great good cheer, because every economy, every receipted bill, brings you closer to your goal.

DEAR DORIS: At 75 my wife is full of little complaints. She goes to bed at the drop of a hat and has me bring her hot milk. Sometimes I think she just wants to lie down and die. Yet her doctor says there is nothing really wrong with her.

Can you suggest anything? I'd like to go places and do things. — NEARLY EIGHTY.

DEAR NEARLY EIGHTY: Then live it up! Dr. Edward Bortz, authority on aging, says the biggest curse in the life of old people is boredom.

Far too many young-olds graduate into old-olds by their own hand. With a little more get-up-and-go your wife could join you and be having a ball.

Can you summon to open up if we allow it to. How about taking her to a new dress and dinner at the best restaurant in town? She needs to be reminded that fun is more fun than a permanent hot-milk siesta.

Women older than she have graduated from a college course and started a second career.

(Doris welcomes your comments and ideas. Write to her, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.)

Q.S.S. Students Graduate in Toronto

Miss Wendy Hunter daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Hunter, 115 Donald Street graduated from Toronto East General and Orthopaedic Hospital School of Nursing on June 9th. Miss Hunter also received the silver medal award at the graduation exercises held in Convocation Hall. In Belleville she graduated from Quinte Secondary School.

Miss Judith Ann Harrison daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Harrison, 22 Prince of Wales Drive, Belleville, graduated from Toronto East General and Orthopaedic Hospital June 9th. Miss Harrison is a graduate of Quinte Secondary School. She will remain on the staff at East General Hospital.

Miss Lynda Thompson daughter of Mrs. Lynden Thompson and the late Mr. Lynden Thompson, who graduated from the Atkinson School of Nursing at Toronto Western Hospital on June 6th. Next year Lynda plans to attend Queen's University to further her studies. She is a graduate of Quinte Secondary School.

Mother's Helper

OUR sleek-a-bed girl loves mail. She enjoys going back over her get-well cards and letters, so we helped her. make a game of it. We improvised her own "mail room" from a cardboard carton to go over her knees. We tied cord around it several times and zigzag clip clothes pins to hold the individual pieces of mail. Keeps the sick room neater, too! (Thanks to Mrs. Kenneth McClure, Little Falls, Minn.)

STEAK TARTAR FOR FATHER

Fathers should be pampered. They work and strive and hope and arbitrate and make final decisions and cut the lawn and have the last word when it comes to steak. Like tigers sometimes they eat it raw.

Take Schlemmerschnitte for instance. Call it Steak Tartar if you prefer. It is the same thinly-scraped raw tenderloin of beef with garnishings. I have seen my son-in-law Herbie eat in Im Welzer Mann, a restaurant in Soest in Germany. In New York my son Pete, father of two, ordered it at Luchow's and generously gave me a bite.

Now I have come around to making my version of it but modified to suit my and your Canadian tastes.

I hope all steak lovers with an eye on their budgets try this for Father's Day. Maybe sons and daughters will cook it for Father or could be Father will cook it himself. Do not be tempted to change the ingredients for I have juggled them endlessly to get the perfect results.

Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

THURSDAY

SUNDAY

(Father's Day)

Father's Steak Tartar (see Thurs.); Asparagus with Hollandaise; Sliced Tomatoes and Cucumbers; Cheesecake Pie with Strawberries (see Tues.); Tea.

FATHER' STEAK TARTAR

(to serve 5 or 6)

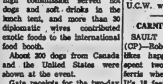
NOTE:

The success depends on grinding the sirloin beef four times through fine knife of grinder.—Prefitly ask your butcher to do this for you. The meat must be so smooth it resembles scraped beef.

2 pounds fine-ground sirloin beef (see above), 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon celery salt, ½ teaspoon black pepper, 4 teaspoons finely chopped onion, ¼ cup cold water, 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice, 5 or 6 split hamburg buns, sliced cheese (optional but not necessary).

In a bowl mix together the 4-times-ground beef, Worcestershire sauce, salt, celery salt, pepper chopped onion, water and lemon juice. Have ready on counter 10 or 12 hamburg bun halves spread with butter. Cover each with a ¾" thick layer of meat mixture having it perfectly even and level right to the edge of buns. Place on broiler pan and put under blazing hot broiler 4" from heat and broil for 3 minutes. Remove at once. This gives a rare layer of beef next to bun but heats bun and cooks top of meat. Serve at once.

NOTE:



If desired when above step has been done if you like cover half of buns with thin slices of Cheddar cheese and return to broiler for 1 minute to soften cheese. Serve at once. Most of our crowd preferred Father's Steak Tartar without the cheese for of course it changes its character. But we also had some who preferred it.

So take your choice. Do make this — it is a rare treat — but do not tamper with the ingredients and do not overcook them. Happy Father's Day.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The first meeting of the month of the Women of the Moose was held in Moose Hall with Sr. Regent Nellis Berry presiding.

The annual picnic will be held at Cove Beach on June 19, 1966. A bus will leave the Moose Hall at ten o'clock in the morning to take everyone wishing to go on the bus. This is a joint picnic between the Loyal Order of Moose and Women of the Moose. All are requested to bring individual lunches.

Dance for the men and women of the Moose that was to be held on June 18 is to be held on June 25. Co-workers are asked to note change in date. This party is for members and their husbands and wives only.

Installation supper will be held in the Moose Hall with the Hillcrest W.A. to cater. Supper will be at seven o'clock.

The Loyal Order of Moose brothers will install the new officers for the coming year on June 23.

The following girls are to buy gifts for installation for bingo workers: Margaret Kellar and Elsie Archer for chairman Helen Kellar and Helen Waite for officers Nellie Shandraw and Ruby Stapley.

An executive meeting was held between the men and women. Various projects were discussed, particulars will be given later.

The meeting was brought to a close with lunch served by the Academy of Friendship members.

CHOCOLATE PUDDING CAKE

2-3 cup soft shortening
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
1¾ cup sifted all purpose flour
2½ tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. cloves
½ tsp. salt
4 oz. pkg. instant chocolate pudding mix
¾ cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla

METHOD: Heat oven to 350 F. Grease and flour a 9" square cake pan. Cream shortening. Blend in sugar and eggs and beat until fluffy. Sift flour, baking powder, cloves, salt and pudding mix together. Combine milk and vanilla. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Spoon into prepared pan and bake about 40 min. or until top springs back when touched lightly with finger. Cool in pan, ice with 7 min. or any other favorite while icing.

LEMON SQUARES

1½ cups Graham Cracker crumbs
⅓ cup butter or margarine
1-3 cup brown sugar (packed)
¼ cup flour (all purpose)
1 tsp. baking powder
Pinch salt

Mix together above ingredients and place part in greased 8" square pan.

FILLING:
1 can Eagle Brand Milk
½ cup lemon juice
1 tsp. lemon rind

Spread above mixture over crumbs, sprinkle the remaining crumbs over top and bake 20 min. at 300 or 325 F.

Once Upon a Time the Hole In Doughnuts Was Nuts

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: . . . Until diamonds were discovered in South Africa only 100 or so years ago, pearls were a girl's best friend. . . . They were the most precious of all jewels.

But you don't know how doughnuts got their name. . . . They were first made here by Dutch settlers in 1706 and had no holes in the middle. . . . Instead their doughy centres were filled with nuts —hence, doughnuts.

Health help: Many doctors believe that one way to reduce the heart - threatening level of blood cholesterol is to cut your intake of eggs to no more than four a week.

Hunters often argue about which is the fastest flying game bird. . . . The facts: the canvasback duck has been clocked at 94 miles an hour. . . . It's nearest rival is the blue-wing teal at 80. . . . Others: Canada geese, 48, quail, 41, doves, 34.

HOUSEFLIES PROLIFIC

If left alone, a pair of housefies theoretically could produce 1919 quintillion offspring in a single season—and they'd sure leave your neighborhood buzzin', cousin.

Quips: Catholic Digest magazine gravely reports the arrival of a new foreign sports car called "The Mafia". . . . You open one hood — and there's another hood.

Ever wonder why brides wear veils? . . . This custom was started by the ancient Greeks. . . . They thought the veils would protect brides from evil spirits flying about during the marriage ceremony.

Worth remembering: "It's great to be great, but it's greater to be human."

The answer: Because Napoleon Bonaparte often is pictured with one hand inside his coat, people have wondered whether he was scratching a chronic itch. . . . Nope. . . . He adopted this pose on the advice of an actor friend, Francois-Joseph Talma, who told the emperor this would rid him of his undignified habit of gesturing nervously in public.

MADE BAYONETS

The layon is believed to have received its name from its first place of manufacture, Bayonne, France, before 1500.

Though Quarter of People Die Poles' Memory of War Dimming

One - quarter of Poland's population was wiped out in the Second World War but 21 years later the wounds of the nightmare are beginning to fade a little. A Canadian Press reporter discusses the country's policies in the light of these attitudes.

By JOHN BEST

WARSAW (CP)—How can a nation forget the loss of 6,000,000 people?

"One person in four lost his life," the visitor is quietly reminded. "There is not a family that didn't lose somebody. We can't forget that."

But saying that is different from saying it's easy to remember the nightmare of the Second World War when Poland's cities were reduced to rubble.

"A whole new generation is growing up that never knew war," says a middle - aged man in understanding tones. "They ask why it's necessary to keep talking about the war and about the possibility of a new one. They consider another war impossible. They don't know how easily wars can start."

The government's own reconstruction policies have had the effect of helping dim the nightmare. In Warsaw, only the occasional grim reminder of the horror remains—usually a gaunt brick wall or a skeleton of a bombed-out building.

Even in the ghetto, symbol of a people's anguished last-ditch resistance to overwhelming power, the only reminders are a monument and a burial mound.

The monument is to the Jews who took part in the famous uprising of 1943 in which inhabitants of the ghetto were wiped out almost to a man. It is located in the centre of a spacious park surrounded by tall apartment buildings.

The burial mound marks the spot where the last holdouts made their final stand against the Nazis at Mila 18.

MANY TOO YOUNG

To more and more Poles, then, the war is becoming a remote and dimly-remembered thing—apart from the growing segment of the population too young to remember at all.

They go on to think of other things.

They think, for example, of how to get by on 3,000 zlotys a month, the average wage. It works out to something like $130 at the official exchange rate but $85 at the rate tourists enjoy here, which is more realistic in terms of purchasing power.

And they think about the problems of living space. Though there has been a phenomenal growth of apartment accommodation since the war there still isn't enough to go around and the average city dweller has to wait three years to get an apartment.

Once he gets his apartment, however, the family breadwinner can enjoy it in the knowledge that the rent is only a pittance, no more than seven per cent of his income.

Poles also think that it would be nice to have more leisure time, especially on weekends. They work a six-day, 46-hour week and there's no immediate prospect of an improvement.

MUST PRODUCE MORE

"Perhaps after 10 years our productivity will be close enough to Western Europe to warrant a shortening of the work week," says a writer on economic affairs.

Such cares as spanday living, and the passage of time, have helped dispel some of the memories of wartime terror.

But if war is becoming a half-forgotten thing among the people, the government can't neglect to take it into account in its foreign policy.

Probably nowhere else in Europe is the threat, justified or not, of German militarism kept so assiduously alive. This provides a plausible rationale for Poland's close relations with the Soviet bloc.

The Poles give full credit to the Russians for liberating them from the Nazis. Some other aspects of the war they don't talk about, such as the back-door Russian invasion of 1939 when Poland was already under German attack; the slice of eastern Poland taken by Russia after the war; the still - unexplained halt of the Soviet army's advance east of Warsaw in 1944, allowing the Germans a free hand to stamp out a great uprising of the city's people; the Katyn forest massacre of Polish officers, believed in the West to have been the work of the Russians.

LEVER AGAINST GERMANY

Apart from the obvious fact that Poland's present policies provides a powerful lever against Germany, it gives an firm a guarantee as possible that Poland will be able to hang onto the valuable Oder-Neisse territories it got from Germany after the war.

At the same time there is widespread sympathy here for the idea of Poland acting as a bridge between East and West. This idea is current at official levels and is reflected in a series of proposals — widely respected even in the West if not yet accepted—for disengagement in central Europe as a prelude to a comprehensive program of European security.

Broadly, however, if not in all details, Polish foreign policy is the foreign policy of Moscow and the Soviet bloc and Polish authorities emphasize that's the way it will remain.

This does not mean subservience to Moscow, they insist. It's simply a matter of acting in the national self - interest. Officials argue that Poland has long since earned its spurs in asserting independence.

They still talk proudly of the day in 1956 when, with Russian tanks poised at the gates of Warsaw, Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka faced down Nikita Khrushchev in a dramatic confrontation over defence arrangements and helped set the stage for Eastern Europe's still-continuing movement away from the close clutches of Moscow.

THREAT OF WAR FADES FOR YOUNG POLES — Polish children (above) have their photos taken during a trip to the birthplace of Chopin. They are part of a new generation which has never known war. Although the threat of German militarism continues to be a keystone of Polish foreign policy there are few visible reminders of the Second World War. One is the monument (below) to the Jews who took part in the 1943 uprising of the Warsaw ghetto. (CP Photo)

German and Berlin problems.

An informed view is that Communist Rumania is showing the way to dissolution of the Warsaw Pact just as France's actions may lead to disintegration of NATO.

Sources close to the cabinet said ministers may be heading to question seriously annual Canadian outlay of $1,370,000,000 for defence and are critical of the planned construction in 1966-72 of a multi-million-dollar, 26-storey defence headquarters.

These sources also said some ministers would like to see at least a partial withdrawal of Canadian forces from Europe. A group of Conservatives is openly advocating this.

MAY RETURN TROOPS

One source said that the Canadian government might bring some Canadian troops home soon and cut defence expenditures if it were not for the fear of American economic retaliation.

On other fronts:

Mr. Martin has been insisting that establishment of future United Nations peace-keeping forces must coincide with attempts at mediation of the disputes which called the forces into being in the first place.

Mr. Martin last week in Brussels saw the Greek and Turkish foreign ministers concerning the situation in Cyprus where nearly 1,000 Canadian soldiers are serving as part of a UN force.

Mr. Pearson Saturday probably hit the U.S. where it hurts when he said: "A guarantee of nuclear support against aggression simply does not now have the credibility that would make it a fully effective deterrent and, therefore, a guarantee of security."

This is exactly what de Gaulle has been saying, despite American protests to the contrary: That the U.S. might not come to the nuclear defence of Europe when, by doing so, it would invite a Soviet nuclear attack itself.

POWER NOT SHARED

Mr. Pearson also said: "An alliance for defence only is an anachronism in 1966, especially when nuclear power is not shared by possession or control, among its members."

Canada has also been conducting "discreet probes" as a member of the International Truce Supervisory Commission in Viet Nam to examine any and all leads bearing on possible moves toward negotiations.

Informants said a new Geneva conference appears the only adequate framework for Viet Nam peace negotiations. It was the 1954 Geneva meeting which ended the civil war between the French and Vietnamese and established the truce commission.

An Air Canada spokesman said early today there had been "no appreciable number of cancellations" of advance reservations and that there had been few delays or inconveniences caused passengers.

SAW NO PROBLEM

The airline had maintained there would be no cancellations of flights or other changes in operations affecting passengers, even if the strike had materialized. Several statements issued this week said all posts would be filled by supervisory personnel.

The Canadian Air Line Flight Attendants Association and the International Association of Machinists (CLC), had intimated they would recognize picket lines but it was the machinists that could have grounded the airline.

Cleve Kidd, spokesman for the National Liaison Committee of Airline Employees, said a withdrawal of labor by the machinists would mean that aircraft would not be serviced or loaded.

"If the planes are not serviced, the pilots will not be able to fly them," he said.

The machinists' posts could not be filled by the supervisory personnel.

Only two local union grounds-men's positions to support the strike. They were the Teamsters Union (CLC) and the Oil, Chemical, and Atomic Workers' Union (CLC) that are vital to ground operations and maintenance at Vancouver International Airport.

Asked early today if all the airlines' operations were back to normal, an Air Canada spokesman said "they were never anything but normal."

After Seven Months' Looking Laing Still Lacks Yukon Boss

By STUART LAKE

WHITEHORSE, Yukon (CP) — After almost seven months of shopping around, Northern Affairs Minister Laing has yet to find a replacement for former Yukon commissioner Gordon Cameron.

The first Yukoner to hold the territory's highest government post since the First World War, Mr. Cameron gave six months notice last December that he intended to go into private business. That would give Mr. Laing plenty of time to find his successor, he said.

"The hell of it is, I don't think Mr. Laing is even close to making a decision," one prominent Whitehorse resident said after a personal interview with the northern affairs minister early in June.

Mr. Laing seems to agree with Yukoners that the new commissioner must come from the territory. The Yukon already is smarting under what it calls colonial government.

Having gained the concession of a native son holding the job, the territory doesn't want to revert to the practice of having a career civil servant appointed to the post.

RESENT CIVIL SERVANTS

"A second-best yukoner is heads-and-shoulders above an outsider," said the outspoken Whitehorse Daily News in an editorial.

Mr. Laing's visit was partly made to further his quest for a commissioner. But he also hoped to bring about better relations between federal civil servants in the territory and the residents.

A public servant would think twice before running as dog-catcher in the territory. As in the Northwest Territories, there is resentment for the preferential treatment Ottawa gives its employees, such as subsidized rents and public utilities.

Deeper than that is the feeling the Yukon can handle more of its own affairs and do it better than part-time territorial residents and officials in faraway Ottawa.

The territorial council, a seven - member elected body, gets more and more insistent that its powers be increased. Among other things, it lacks authority to initiate money bills—the sole power now of the commissioner—and has no control over the territory's natural resources.

WANT TO BE PROVINCE

The council at its last session asked Mr. Laing for the opportunity to appear before a parliamentary committee so it could expound a blueprint to bring the territory to provincial standing. The plan would take 12 years to carry out.

The Daily News attacked the scheme, wondering why council thought it should take so long. And the newspaper also hit out because there was no mention of turning over resources to the council.

Instead of acting as scheduled case at Ottawa, he should be devoting his talents towards independence for the Yukon, they said.

Mr Nielsen, a lawyer, hasn't been inactive on this front. He recently staged, with no success, a campaign both in the Commons and his northern affairs committee to take the Yukon Council to Ottawa for a hearing.

Houses Fall Into Abandoned Limestone Mine

By FRANK CRAWFORD

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)— began Jan. 3 when Mrs. Ben C. Stewart's cow disappeared into the earth.

Eighteen days later the earth opened up beneath the modest home she and her blind husband occupied and broke it in two. They moved away.

Since then, five other houses have broken apart or fallen into an abandoned limestone mine that runs beneath an irregular area approximately three-quarters of a mile long. It is perhaps half a mile wide in some places in the poorest suburban area at the southwest outskirts of Kansas City.

The latest disappearing act was Monday night. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Monty Flack plunged into a 60-foot hole. The Flacks moved out earlier when their garage fell into the abyss.

KNEW ABOUT QUARRY

"My father bought all these lots (almost a block) 12 years ago," said Mrs. Ralph Crookham. "We knew the quarry was under us but it says right in our contract of sale that it was adequately supported by big pillars and there would be no sinking."

There have been some 30 lawsuits filed against the city, where the earlier cave - ins occurred, against a construction company, and now perhaps Wyandotte County will become a defendant. The latest cave-in has just beyond the city limits.

The construction companies broke ownership of the mine. The rock crushing company that started and operated the mine was been dissolved.

Efforts to inspect the mine have been stymied by legal entanglements.

None of the residents voiced any hope that their standard insurance policies will cover the losses.

Rawdon

RAWDON — Mrs. Grace L. Morton and grade 4- to 8 pupils of Allen Public School and Mrs. Muriel Hoover and her pupils at Williams Public School enjoyed a bus trip to Ottawa on Friday. They visited the mint, museum, Parliament Buildings, and other places of interest. Eighteen adults from the two school sections accompanied them.

Mrs. Burton Sharpe and Mrs. Ernest Weaver are the census enumerators for the Mount Pleasant community.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan and Mr Bessie Sharp attended the nurses' graduation exercises in Belleville.

Mrs. Marguerite McMullen of Mount Pleasant accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Galloway and family of Trenton to Brighton, where they visited Mrs. Wendell Pond and Mr. Pond.

GUARDS BACK

OTTAWA (CP)—The colorful changing the guard ceremony returns to Parliament Hill for another summer June 30, one day earlier than previously announced. The ceremony, performed by the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Guards stationed at Petawawa, Ont., will be held every morning, weather permitting, until Sept. 3.

Cuban Trainers Secret Police Says Athlete

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Cuban athlete given political asylum in the United States says more than 30 Cuban trainers at the Central American and Caribbean Games in Puerto Rico are secret policemen.

"If it were not for that, many more might defect," said Juan Pablo Vega Romero, 18, a bantamweight wrestler.

Vega, who arrived here Tuesday from San Juan, said he decided to defect because he was tired of being afraid.

"Fear in Cuba stems from uncertainty and the fact that you can't trust your neighbor. He may tattle on you to the Communists," Vega told a press conference.

He said he planned to live in Chicago with his brother-in-law Bernardo Cortes.

Vega said he escaped from the Olympic Village in San Juan Sunday night after removing his Cuban sweater and replacing it with one a Puerto Rican athlete gave him.

Rawdon

RAWDON — Carmel United Church women held an afternoon tea and sale in Jubilee Hall on Thursday. Mrs. Bruce Small and Mrs. Douglas Frost welcomed the guests. Tea was served at individual tables and spring flowers were used for decoration. Aprons, fancy work, home baking, and plants were sold to eager buyers.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sarles recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. Wally Ketchenson and children, Randy, Cindy and Scott, of Hull, Que.; Mr., Mrs. Ritchie Mason of Oshawa, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ketchenson of Trenton and Mr. and Mrs. Mac Watson and Craig of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Higgs of Milton and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Scott of Mount Pleasant attended the funeral of their uncle, Mr. John Rapson of Belleville, on Monday.

YELLOWSTONE FIRST

The national park system in the United States began with the creation of Yellowstone Park in 1872.

2nd Thurlow

2ND THURLO W —Mr. and Mrs. Clare Leversus of Leaven Brothers Limited Aircraft, Toronto, flew to Belleville on Sunday. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mitchell and called on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mitchell while here.

Miss Kay Whalen, Reg. N. of Toronto spent the weekend with her brothers, Gerald, Andrew and Benedict Whalen.

Mrs. Harry Thomson attended the Boy Scout Conference, sponsored by the Provincial Advisory Board of the Boy Scouts of Canada in Toronto last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hammond of Brandon, Manitoba spent a few days over the weekend with their cousin, Mrs. Douglas Atkins and family.

Mrs. Douglas Atkins spent a few days recently with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Atkins of Brighton while Mrs. Atkins was in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brockhurst of Buffalo were recent guests of their cousin, Mrs. Douglas Atkins, while enroute to their home after spending the weekend at Marinaw Lake.

Miss Thomson and Perry Johnston attended Saganaska Scout camp at Col. Vandervater Park.

Mrs. Harry Thomson and Jane were guests at the 35th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Westerhof when their family entertained friends and relatives at dinner at the Carrying Place hall.

LIFT FEET OFF GROUND

ROME (AP)—A Danish couple were married on the first leg of their honeymoon, aboard an airliner from Copenhagen to Rome. Per and Birgitta Hasselcat, 28 and 24, were married in the air by a Catholic priest because they wanted their wedding "to be the highest of all."

Great Canadians

This week Weekend Magazine publishes excerpts from the Canadian Centennial Library publication "Great Canadians: A Century of Achievement", showing some of the men and women who helped shape our country's destiny. Full color portraits include humorist Stephen Leacock, Tom Thomson, the acknowledged father of the Group of Seven and Sir Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin.

The Question

Canada's top two harness-racing drivers last year became the only Canadian drivers in sport's history to win 200 races in one season. Sports Editor Andy O'Brien asked the two champs what every fan of the track would like to know: "What basic rule would you follow in betting?" For their answers read Weekend Magazine this week.

Strawberries: they serve you right

What better way to start off the summer season than by serving strawberries? Food Editor Margo Oliver is a self-confessed strawberry eater. Her recipes this week include such strawberry specials as Pink Snow, Strawberry Sherbet and Strawberry-Mallow Tarts.

Chou En-lai To Spend Week In Romania

BUCHAREST (AP) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai arrives in this Romanian capital today for a week's visit on the heels of new evidence of the Bucharest regime's opposition to Soviet control.

Speaking in the southern town of Oltenia, Romanian Communist Party Chief Nicolae Ceausescu said Wednesday the Soviet idea of central guidance for the world's Communist parties has become obsolete.

"An international centre to guide parties along uniform lines is no longer possible," said Ceausescu. "Today, each party must follow its own general line according to its concrete conditions."

The Romanians have plugged this idea for several years and recently have been calling for a bigger voice for the smaller Communist nations in the military decisions of the Warsaw Pact alliance.

But despite its increasing coolness toward Moscow, the Romanian party has maintained a policy of neutrality in the bitter Soviet-Chinese dispute that has divided the Communist world.

Several times in the past the Romanians have tried without success to improve relations between Moscow and Peking.

If Chou speaks on ideological issues, he is expected to avoid anti-Soviet attacks so he won't embarrass his hosts. Asked whether provision had been made to restrict the scope of the Chinese leader's speeches, a Romanian official said:

"Of course, we have no influence on what Mr. Chou En-lai will say. The Romanian government and party have repeatedly expressed the desire to see the public polemics ended in the interest of socialist unity."

Organized Credit Fraud Rackets Attracting Attention in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Highly-organized credit fraud rackets attract increasing attention in Ottawa and one of the most keenly interested persons is Erik Nielsen, Conservative MP for Yukon.

Mr. Nielsen has been deluged with mail detailing complaints against the rackets since he and other Conservatives began calling last year for a royal commission on organized crime.

The Canadian Lumbermen's Association, speaking for one of the industries most often victimized in bankruptcy and credit frauds, estimates that the federal and provincial governments lost $150,000,000 in tax revenue in 1965 alone because of the complex swindles.

Mr. Nielsen, 43-year-old lawyer and former Yukon Crown attorney, said in an interview his informants unravel conspiracies on a vast scale. He estimated there were 5,000 bankruptcies valued at $280,000,000 last year in Canada.

Racketeers operating through several layers of hired underlings look over legitimate firms or set up fictitious ones; bought huge quantities of products on credit; sold out their stocks at fire-sale prices within hours and vanished.

WRITE LOSSES OFF

Honest businessmen and banks were left holding the bag for millions of dollars. These losses were written off as business expenses, thus sharply cutting last revenue.

Mr. Nielsen said the racketeers' favorite trick is to set up dummy companies with names similar to those of well-known reputable firms.

The dummy firm was neither registered nor incorporated and consisted simply of a name on letterheads and listing in the telephone directory.

Dummy firms then acquired stocks on 30 or 60 days credit from distant suppliers, concentrating on lumber, building materials, cement and other products easy to transform and thus hard to trace.

When asked for a bank reference, the dummy firms provide with an unlisted telephone number with an agent at the end of the line to pose as a bank credit manager and assure the caller regarding the fictitious firm.

DISAPPEAR FAST

When the supplies arrive they are transformed at the racket's own mills and plants and liquidated within 24 or 48 hours at cut-rate prices. The dummy firm then disappears and a new one is set up by the same agents.

Mr. Nielsen said racketeers sometimes operate the same type of fraud by grabbing control of established firms, going on a buying and selling spree, then declaring bankruptcy.

Such firms have little or no visible assets and their creditors absorb the full loss.

Federal and provincial authorities often had been furnished with evidence by victims of the fraud rackets but had taken no action until recently, he said.

He added, however, that the federal government has moved in the right direction in recent weeks.

PLUG LOOPHOLES

Some loopholes in the Bankruptcy Act were being plugged, the RCMP was investigating the relatively-new fraud rackets, a new superintendent of bankruptcy — Roger Tasse — had been named in April and the justice department was hiring more bankruptcy investigators and inspectors.

A big problem in fighting bankruptcy frauds arises from a muddled constitutional situation, he said. Officials and police were never sure where to draw the line between federal and provincial jurisdiction over bankruptcies and racketeers were active in Quebec, Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia.

Mr. Nielsen said another problem is the method of appointing bankruptcy trustees. There are about 425 across Canada, most of them accountants and all appointed by the federal justice minister.

Some trustees are in the bankruptcy business full time, receiving a percentage fee for every bankruptcy they handle. Some have been known to encourage business men to go bankrupt or to advise shady operators on the loopholes in the Bankruptcy Act, he said.

Regional Health Services Proposed in New Study

OTTAWA (CP) — Reorganization of all community health services along regional lines is proposed in a special study released Wednesday by the royal commission on health services.

The 200 - page volume says there is growing concern over the largely uncoordinated development of community health services. They are hindered in providing a balanced pattern of service by overlapping in some areas, gaps in others and uneconomic use of skilled personnel and complex facilities.

In addition, there was a tendency to overlook regular, objective evaluation of the various programs.

The study is the work of Drs. John E. F. Hastings and William Mosley of the University of Toronto's School of Hygiene.

Under the plan, each province would establish a regional health services board representing municipal councils in the region, professional groups providing the services and the public.

It would be responsible to the legislature through the provincial health minister. Its powers would include changing existing policies to meet regional circumstances, initiating special programs with provincial approval and authority over operation of local programs.

The programs would be financed mostly by the provincial government through annual regional budgets. But the boards would have limited powers to get money locally.

The province would be responsible for over-all supervision of local services with respect to standards of staffing, general administrative procedures, budgetary methods and standards of service.

The study calls for federal government grants to cover half the cost of provincial services.

Dr. Hastings says that regional boards would replace existing local municipal boards of health and would assume responsibility from the boards of hospitals and other institutions for extensions, alterations, bed allotment and distribution, purchase of new equipment and similar matters.

The regional boards also would become responsible for rehabilitation services and facilities, mental health services and facilities, home care programs, ambulance services and health services for the aged.

Services provided now by voluntary agencies would either be provided by the regional board or paid for by the board.

Special Care Unit Could Save Lives of Many Heart Patients

VANCOUVER (CP) — The lives of many heart-attack victims could be saved if all hospitals were equipped with cardiac care units similar to the one at Shaughnessy Hospital here, says Dr. C. C. Coverston, assistant medical superintendent.

About 60 patients have received treatment at the military hospital's unit since it was inaugurated last Nov. 1 and, says Dr. Coverston, "it certainly has saved a number of lives already."

"This kind of care should be available to everyone who has had a heart attack."

But because of the high cost of equipping and staffing cardiac care units, the treatment is available today to only a tiny fraction of all Canadian heart-attack victims, he says.

The Shaughnessy unit is the first of its kind in British Columbia. Another larger unit will soon be installed at St. Paul's Hospital here. There are half a dozen other such units in Canada.

The advantage is that the unit permits moment - by - moment scrutiny of the functioning of the heart during the first few days after an attack, Dr. Coverston says.

The patient is wired to his own electronic monitor and alarm system. Electrodes taped to the patient's chest and back are connected to a portable five-dial monitor at bedside. The monitor continuously shows, on dials and on a small oscilloscope, the rate and rhythm of heart action.

If the heart speeds up or slows down beyond certain limits the monitor sounds an alarm to call the nurse constantly on duty. When this happens the nurse has only to turn on an electronic pacemaker built into the monitoring device to re-establish a steady, normal heartbeat.

Dr. Coverston says 70 per cent of the patients treated in Shaughnessy's unit have developed serious arrhythmias — disturbance of the heart rhythm — during the first few days after attacks.

"This high incidence was totally unsuspected. In the past most of these rhythm disturbances would have gone undetected in the beginning even if the patient had a special nurse at his bedside day and night. And some of them certainly would have led to cardiac arrest and death."

Stirling

HORTICULTURISTS PLANT FLOWERS

STIRLING — Stirling Horticultural Society planted almost 800 boxed plants of petunias and marigolds on Tuesday. They were planted in Coronation Park, Victoria Park and at the cemetery, cenotaph and Masonic Hall lawn. At the Stirling Public School, red petunias were planted at the base of the maple trees. Those in charge included Mrs. Ray Ross, Mrs. Morley Ayrhart, Mrs. Dennis Armstrong and Ernest Munro and W. Ashby.

Mr. Fred Hoschke and his committee planted over 1,000 small plants in the flower beds at the Legion Hall. Mr. R. B. Belshaw was in charge of the boxes on the bridge.

Industry Minister Drury Calls Closed Parley on Car Safety

CP CROSS-CANADA SURVEY
By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Every day trains pull out of Windsor or Oakville or Oshawa, Ont., stacked three deep with shiny new cars each headed for the hands of a driver somewhere in Canada.

Of these new cars, one in two will be involved sometime in an injury-causing accident.

A good number will be mangled out of recognition when they reach the junk heap.

And each of them will add one more unit to a massive safety problem on the highways—a problem that appears to be getting more attention this year than ever before.

A Cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press shows that while the provinces are continuing to work for better drivers and better roads, the big debate this year is on the new cars themselves.

The question is: Are they coming off the assembly lines as safe as can reasonably be expected?

The federal government, with only limited control in the area of traffic safety, is taking a hand in that aspect of the problem.

Industry Minister Drury has called a closed meeting in Ottawa June 20-21 where the question will be put to about 50 people from the manufacturers, insurance companies and safety groups, as well as government.

CODE DRAFTED

Preparing for the meeting, Mr. Drury has ordered the drafting of a preliminary automotive vehicle safety code. The code will not be mandatory and will not be made public—but will serve as a guide for the discussions.

Meanwhile, the death toll is still going up. Last year there were 4,879 deaths on Canadian roads—224 more than the year before.

Despite the increase, six provinces were able to record lower death rates. Most reductions were slight but Quebec cut its figure to 1,538 from 1,581. The other four provinces had record lobs: Ontario 1,611, British Columbia 469, Nova Scotia 217, New Brunswick 204.

This year the figures are worse. In the first three months of the year, 816 people died on the roads compared with 770 in the same period last year.

Figures for the three months, with last year's in brackets, are: British Columbia 122 (81); Alberta 81 (61); Saskatchewan 22 (18); Manitoba 23 (30); Ontario 287 (272); Quebec 364 (342); New Brunswick 16 (15); Nova Scotia 29 (29); Prince Edward Island 0 (3); Newfoundland 12 (9).

SLAUGHTER ON HOLIDAY

On one holiday weekend alone, the Victoria Day holiday in May, there were 80 traffic deaths in Canada.

As usual, much of the legislative planning for highway safety is aimed at drinking drivers.

British Columbia has a new law coming into effect soon which will empower a policeman to lift the licence of a driver he suspects of being impaired.

The motorist will be able to get his licence back in 24 hours without penalty. If he denies impairment, he can take a breath test and get the licence back immediately. If the test shows impairment, it will not necessarily be used as the basis of a charge.

Alberta is also polling the squeeze on drivers to take the test. Under a law effective July 1, the licence of a driver refusing to take the test is subject to suspension.

New Brunswick drivers who refuse to take the test now are called before a registrar for a hearing.

In other areas, impending changes in Manitoba will make seat-belts compulsory, after 1968. The province's revamped traffic act also will provide a $20-per-pupil incentive payment to schools to start driver education courses.

RETESTING PLANNED

Ontario, where the death toll of 1,611 was the highest in the country last year, will start next year to re-examine its almost 3,000,000 drivers. Those with accident records and convictions for certain driving offences will be called in first.

Transport Minister Irwin Haskett of Ontario also announced in May that Canadian manufacturers have promised to add three new safety devices to their cars in 1967: dual brake systems; impact-absorbing steering wheel assemblies and four-way flashers.

In Saskatchewan, a special legislative committee has been studying highway safety and has recommended, among other things, compulsory driver examination every five years.

Nova Scotia is tightening up its licensing July 1 with a new points system involving a four-year probationary period. During that time a driver who accumulates four points will be called in for a "driver-improvement" interview and re-examination.

In Quebec, amendments to the highway legislation are ready for submission to the next legislature. But the justice department already is exercising increased surveillance on provincial roads and is applying provisions of the highway code more severely.

WHO'S AT FAULT?

Neither Newfoundland nor Prince Edward Island has new legislation coming out. Both provinces cut their death rates last year—to 65 from 69 in Newfoundland and to 25 from 34 in Prince Edward Island.

Behind the statistics, the brisk debate goes on over whether the toll can best be cut by improving the driver or improving the car.

Howard Graffiny, Conservative member of Parliament for Brome - Missisquoi, says there is no evidence that adequate results will be produced by continuing to educate, cajole and penalize drivers. He says cars should be built so they will protect the driver from his inevitable errors.

Dr. Kenneth Wilson of Ottawa, head of the Traffic Injury Research Foundation of Canada, says drivers are responsible for "almost all accidents that occur."

This summer, the survey shows, there will be something like 4,500,000 vehicles on Canadian roads — and 4,500,000 drivers.

CUT HIGHWAY SPEED

SANTIAGO (AP) — Chile's first superhighway is a superhighway no longer. Authorities put a speed limit of 77 miles per hour on the four-lane Ochagavia Highway after a report mentioned 1,000 accidents on the road in three months.

HEADED FOR TROUBLE — The missing automobiles in this trainload give a graphic idea of Canada's highway safety problem. One car in two being turned out at Canadian auto plants will be involved some time in an injury-causing accident. With the death toll continuing to rise, auto safety will be the subject of a meeting in Ottawa June 20-21.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

The small stone of rumor tossed into the senior hockey pond is causing ripples that are causing die-hard puck fans heeeeboots. The ghosts of the Roaring Fifties are beginning to stir the limp scarlet emblems of national and world championship that hang in their arena mausoleum.

Movement is, or was, afoot, a Kingston-stemmed rumor said, that certain Belleville interests were interested in the upcoming senior "A" hockey league, or the costs and whatnot of operating a team out of here.

A two-man delegation attended the senior league meeting last night in Toronto. The story is elsewhere on the sports pages.

I talked with a few pew veterans of the days when if less than 2,000 fans cluttered the splinter-loaded seats of venerable Memorial Arena, someone was delegated to find out where the fire was.

Some were in favor; others scratched their heads. Two ventured the opinion that a junior "A" entry would be better if league facilities were available.

Whatever happens it is doubtful that the fun, color and excitement of the exhilarating Fifties will be repeated. There were some colorful characters in and outside of hockey during those days.

One stands out in my mind. The gang in the press box would have a hook for him whenever the Kingston team played here.

He'd push his 150-pound 5-6 bundle of energy inside the door, deposit his radio gear in a corner and light an ear-shredding cigar.

"Kelly's here in case anyone is looking for him," he would announce.

Johnny Kelly was one of the best, most popular sports announcers in these parts in those days. He had a quick wit, glib tongue and keen sense of Irish humor. He was fair and impartial in his broadcasts, gave credit where it was due and criticism when necessary. He never hit bitter nor blessed.

He did have a habit, though, while a radio compadre was eulogizing the merits of deodorants, pads, fags or whatever the commercial script called for, of leaning over and whispering:

"Two bucks says our gentlemen will beat hell out of your home."

You knew Johnny was on the air with his opening remarks. "The teams are on the ice, Belleville has the goal under the dome."

Kelly loved that pipe. It always carried a full head of steam in off-the-air periods.

Seconds after starting a broadcast one night, he noticed the remnants of a pipe lying on the ice following an exciting goal-mouth flourish.

"These Belleville fans are different," he told his audience. "I've been here and elsewhere on the ice but this is the first time I've seen a nut hurl his pipe overboard."

Someone nudged him and pointed to where his pipe should be. You guessed it—it wasn't there.

And he hit the sports page headlines the other day with the announcement he had been named the president of the Kingston Aces senior "A" hockey club.

I do not know Johnny's capabilities in this line of sports endeavor but if they are commensurate with his announcing abilities, the Aces are in good hands.

Leafs Bury Suns 10-1, Braves Win

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was home-run night in the International League Wednesday night.

Bob Guindon hit two consecutive homers to lead Toronto Maple Leafs to a 10-1 first-game victory over Jacksonville Suns. Richmond tagged Buffalo Bisons's pitchers for three homers as the Braves won 7-5. John Scrugge's two-out homer gave Rochester a 3-0 lead but Colonial Braves came back for a 5-5 victory over the Red Wings.

The only other scheduled ex game between Syracuse Chiefs and Toledo Mud Hens was rained out. Tuesday, the ack one game 4-2 to the Suns.

Catcher Owen Johnson also hit a homer to drive in three runs in the Leafs' first-game victory. Gordie Richardson won the second game for the Suns, pitching his first victory of the season.

Cecil Upshaw picked up the victory in relief for the Braves. The Suns won with a five-run fifth-inning outburst.

CONTINUATION WINS

ASCOT, England (Reuters)—Continuation, a 25-to-1 outsider from Ireland, won the Royal Hunt Cup Wednesday, the big gamble of the four-day royal meeting here. The four-year-old son of Ballygoe, owned and trained by Seamus McGrath and ridden by Irish jockey Johnny Roe, won the mile handicap by five lengths.

Minor Baseball Results

Roller's Little Giants out-scored DeMille, 29-18 in last night's Belleville Minor Baseball Association tyke action at Park Dale. The winners held a 17-12 edge in the hitting department.

Sharing the pitching for the winners were Bob Moore, Robin Guest and Wally Dalseed. Pitching for DeMille were Peter Bissi, David Rutherford and John Venutti.

Leading the hit parade for the Little Giants were Wally Dalard with a triple and three singles, and Bob Moore who checked in with two doubles and two singles. Cliff Radbourne, Jed Forster, Stewart Hickson and Ricky Collis each hit safely twice. The losers' top hitters were David Rutherford with a double and three singles and Tom Coughlan, three singles. Supplying two hits each were Bissi, David Rutherford and Andy Ricketts. Peter Cranford banged a triple.

PUDDICOMBE QUALIFIES

LONDON (Reuters) — Robert Puddicome of Vancouver qualified for the Wimbledon tennis championships Wednesday when he won a third-round match at the southern area qualifying tournament at Roehampton here. Puddicombe beat Lance Lumsden of Jamaica 6-3, 1-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Mild Trading On NHL Player Market

MONTREAL (CP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said Wednesday night that a special meeting to deal solely with the expansion draft will be held Aug. 26 in Toronto.

Governors attending the four-day annual convention in Montreal, which winds up today, set the date for the meeting as the clubs about the formula to be used in drafting players for the 1967-68 season.

The six new entries paid $2,000,000 each for their franchise and the right to 20 players.

Campbell said he "could see nothing in the current stage of development that could halt successful expansion."

Earlier Wednesday, the NHL's intra-league draft was held. Only 12 players were involved in the draft session and no money changed hands.

New York Rangers, last-place finishers last season, ended up with defenceman Al MacNeil from Chicago Black Hawks and utility forward Orland Kurtenbach from Toronto Maple Leafs.

Montreal Canadiens lost Ted Taylor, whom they acquired in a two-for-one deal Tuesday with New York Rangers in exchange for Red Berenson, to Detroit Red Wings, but filled in with defencemen Pat Quinn from Memphis of the Central Professional League and Mike McMahon of New York.

Detroit in turn acquired defenceman Al Lebrun and centre Ray Cullen from New York and gave up minor leaguers Max MacInnes, a right winger, and centre Bryan Campbell, both from Memphis.

The Leafs took Don Blackburn, who played with Quebec Aces of the American League last season, in exchange for utility forward Wally Boyer and the Canadiens then lost Boyer to Chicago. Toronto also acquired John Brenneman from the Rangers.

The acquisition of Boyer by Chicago is expected to fill the penalty-killing gap left Tuesday by the announced retirement of veteran centre Bill Hay.

The final part of Tuesday's deal, which sent Berenson to New York in exchange for Taylor and an unnamed player, was completed after the draft, when the Canadiens obtained the services of centre Gary Peters.

Cuties, Stars Play To Capacity Crowd

A tremendous crowd, all but over-running every part of the New Alemite Park, watched the Cultural Cuties and commercial Softball League Stars perform last night.

The Commercial team overcame early 5-0 and 7-2 deficits but the Cuties scored one of their famous "six-run, back ward homers" late in the game.

It could have been a tie.

With only two outfielders and midget "Little Beulah" playing second base and even pitching an inning, the Cuties kept both the fans, estimated at well over 1,000 and the opposing pitcher in stitches from start to finish. And they demonstrated their superb ball ability at times, too.

"Sleeping Sheila" who handled the ashy pitching before "Liza Jane" and Beulah had their turns, looks like (s)he would pitch in any league going.

The Cuties finished off all their proven bag of tricks and it was announced that they will be back here on August 29, to meet the Belleville and District League Stars in another fun frolic.

As for the Commercial Stars and the umpires, they went along with everything.

They didn't really have much choice!

Jazy Sets New Mark

RENNES, France (Reuters)—France's Michel Jazy clocked three minutes, 36.3 seconds here Wednesday night to improve the European 1,500 metre record by one-tenth of a second.

Only Australian Herb Elliott, whose world record is 3:35.6, has a faster time to his credit.

Jazy, idol of French track fans and holder of the world one-mile record, improved the previous European record set by Jurgen May of East Germany last July. Jazy's world mile record is 3:53.6.

Senior Hockey Here Possibility

Belleville delegates at an OHA Senior hockey meeting in Toronto last night were given little cheer a week to come up with an entry in what would be a ten-team grouping.

FLOYD CRAWFORD

Represented by Floyd Crawford and Robert Temple, this city was accepted into the grouping by a 8-3 vote, with one team abstaining.

"We were given until Friday, June 24, to file entry," Temple said this morning.

"Floyd and I were there to look into the functions of senior hockey and I think we got a number of answers.

"We hope to have an announcement, one way or the other, early next week," Temple said.

He would not be tied down as to what the chances are of a Belleville entry at this time.

Entering the grouping last night were Galt, Guelph, Oakville, Woodstock, Orillia, Barrie, Kingston, Toronto and Collingwood.

Collingwood was the final centre accepted and it took a tie-breaking vote by Ron Boddell, of Waterloo, chairman of the meeting to get the Shipbuilders in.

The first eight clubs in split 4-4 on accepting the Collingwood entry after Toronto moved admission.

Belleville was the next item on the agenda. The vote went 5-3 to admit a Belleville club, with Barrie abstaining.

Operating on the hope that the Belleville entry will materialize, Toronto made a motion that one ten-team grouping be formed to play a 36-game schedule.

Belleville voted for the motion but it was defeated on a 5-5 tie vote.

Woodstock followed up by

moving to split the group in half, to play an inter-locking schedule.

Belleville voted with the motion and it was carried 7-3, with one club abstaining. Toronto delegates were still backing for a single grouping.

The split would have been Belleville in with Kingston, Toronto, Barrie and Orillia, leaving Guelph, Oakville, Woodstock, Collingwood and Galt in the other section.

Another hot discussion followed as to the number of games for such a schedule.

Ten inter-locking games were satisfactory, one home and one away against each of the clubs in the other grouping.

Orillia, Barrie, Toronto and Collingwood requested a 34-game schedule. Belleville went with the other clubs seeking a 42-game schedule which would include the ten inter-locking games. It is expected the matter will be settled, "if and when," the number of entries are settled.

Questioned as to any plans in the definite class for Belleville, Temple would only say that Floyd Crawford would likely be named playing coach if Belleville has a team.

Crawford coached Del Moines in the international League last year. Temple would neither confirm or deny that Crawford would be bringing some players with him if he returned to Belleville.

Questioned as to his status with the proposed club, Temple said: "I am one of numerous persons interested in bringing senior hockey back to Belleville."

TORONTO (CP)—Bologna of Italy defeated Toronto Roma 4-0 in an exhibition soccer game before 4,721 fans Wednesday night. Three goals in the last six minutes broke up an otherwise close match.

May Grant Million For Arena

VANCOUVER (CP) — City council meets today to discuss a request for a $1,000,000 grant toward the cost of an arena that a Pacific National Exhibition official says he is certain will house a National Hockey League team.

Council will consider a request from Capt. Harry Terry, exhibition president, for help in paying the cost of the 14,000-seat arena, $4,000,000 of which will be paid by the British Columbia and federal governments.

Capt. Terry said in an interview he has been informed there is "strong talk" in Montreal and New York that Los Angeles and San Francisco, recently awarded franchises by the expanding NHL, won't be able to meet arena commitments.

Ron Feagan Tops With 89 Winners

TORONTO (CP) — Ron Feagan of Goderich, Ont., leads all drivers in races won in 1966. Figures released Wednesday by the Canadian Trotting Association place the 34-year-old Feagan on top with 89 winners up to June 15.

Second is Henri Filion, 25-with 61 victories in 345 starts. Top driver in Canada last year and third on the North American list with 213 wins, Feagan has driven 385 races this campaign on seven Canadian and U.S. tracks.

Keith Waples of Victoria Harbour, Ont., now racing at Richelieu Park in Montreal, along with Filion has 58 victories.

Ron Murphy Comes Back

MONTREAL (CP) — Leighton (Hap) Emms, general manager of Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, reported Wednesday that left winger Ron Murphy has informed the club he will come out of retirement and play in the coming season.

Murphy, a 33-year-old veteran from Hamilton, Ont., retired during the 1965-66 season after being traded to the Bruins by Detroit Red Wings in a deal which sent defenceman Bob Bolvin and left winger Dean Prentice to Detroit.

EOBA Lions Lose to Cobourg

Plagued by control problems, John Hinsman pitched Cobourg to a 14-3 Eastern Ontario Baseball Association Pawres division win over Belleville Lions Club at the Fairgrounds here last night. Hinsman walked 10 but retired 12 on third strikes and finished up with a three-hitter.

The visitors made the most of six runs his off three Belleville hurlers and were quick to take advantage of five miscues by the home team. David Wood, Dennis Cone and Allan Wood shared the pitching for Lions Club. They struck out seven and walked six.

Cobourg put together three-run bursts in the second and fifth innings and scored four times in each of the third and seventh frames. The Belleville squad scored once in the second and closed out its scoring with a single counter in the seventh.

Backster had the winners' only extra-base hit, a double. Hastings and McGregor each banged a pair of singles and Hinsman helped his own cause with the other Cobourg base hit. Belleville's hits, all singles, went to Cliff Jasitsch, Stephen McDowell and Mike Gough.

Cards' Gibson Eyes Strikeout Mark

Leads Koufax

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was in the cards for Bob Gibson to post his 100th victory. But can St. Louis Cardinals' ace become the National League's new strikeout king?

The 30-year-old righthander stepped up on the 100-victory plateau Wednesday night when he pitched a three-hitter in the Cardinals' 1-0 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates.

The fireballer may now take a shot at dethroning Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles Dodgers as the league's No. 1 strikeout artist.

A righthander has been unable to lead the league in strikeouts since 1955, but Gibson has inched his victory total, his number of innings pitched and his strikeouts upward each of the last three years.

Last season he hit the 30-victory mark, worked 299 innings and struck out 270. And right now he's running ahead of both his own strikeout pace — and Koufax.

IMPROVES HIS TOTAL

By striking out eight Pirates, Gibson has struck out 128 batters so far this season in 126 innings, or just over one an inning. That's his best ratio ever. He's mean this while, is running second with 117 strikeouts in 117 1-3 innings, Mike Cuellar, Baltimore southpaw.

Meanwhile, Willie Mays closed in on Ted Williams, moving to within one homer of third place on the all-time home run list, by hitting No. 539 of his career in San Francisco Giants' 4-0 victory over Houston Astros.

Elsewhere, the Dodgers shaded two games back of the front-running Giants with a 6-5 victory over Chicago Cubs, New York Mets edged Atlanta Braves 5-4 and Cincinnati Reds swept Philadelphia Phillies 7-6 and 9-6.

Gibson, bringing his record to 9-6, allowed only two men to reach second base in outdueling Bob Veale. Veale, who allowed only five hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth, also rendered the game's only run in the first inning on singles by Julian Javier and Phil Gagliano and a grounder by Curt Flood.

HOMERS BLANK HOUSTON

The Giants collected all their runs on homers with Tom Haller connecting in the fifth inning and Mays and McCovey hitting consecutive shots in the eighth. Mays' was his 15th of the season. Joe Gibbon pitched into the ninth but needed Frank Linzy's one-out relief help to finish a four-hit shutout.

The Dodgers trailed the Cubs 4-1 before they put it away with a five-run fifth inning uprising. A walk to Jim Gilliam and singles by Willie Davis, Tommy Davis and Lou Johnson produced two runs before Wes Parker capped the rally with a three-run homer. Claude Osteen got the victory, his eighth against five defeats.

The Braves took a 4-3 lead in the eighth on Felipe Alou's single and homer of the game but the Mets won it in the ninth when Jesse Gonder led off with a double and Billy Murphy, a throwing error by Ted Abernathy on Ron Hunt's bunt and a sacrifice fly by Ken Boyer produced two runs.

The Phillies built 6-2 leads in each game of the twinbill against the Reds and each time reliever Ed Roebuck, called up recently from San Diego, was tagged for the winning runs.

City Hotel Clips Loss String

City Hotel snapped their losing string last night walloping Foresters 12-5 for their second victory in nine starts.

Two explosions one minor and one big in the fourth scored three in the fourth to overcome a 3-1 deficit and then blasted six more times in the sixth to salt the game away. They added singles in the sixth and seventh. Lighthouse rallied in the sixth to score three but that was that. They tallied one in the first and two in the second.

Paul Langard and Dave Feeney allowed only five hits for the winners, the latter telling five innings for three. Feeney put out the fire in the sixth when Lighthouse started a rally. They walked six and whiffed three.

George Young, taken out in the seventh, yielded 10 hits for the dozen runs, walking ten and striking out two. Don Smith retired the last two men of the innings.

The two Dougs, Murray and Moreau were the big clouters for the Hotelmen, Murray getting a double and single, and Moreau three singles. Billy McGuire, Frank Donovan, Bobby Ashler, Larry Potter and Dave Feeney came through with singles.

The two's bludgeon polled out a two - run homer and single for Lighthouse with Julian Murray getting a single and double, and George Young a single.

Steve's Larry Potter blasted out a brace. loaded home run, but was called back its first as he omitted to touch second base.

Four singles and four walks accounted for the winners six runs in the fifth.

NHL Reverse Draft

American League Picks Up 22

THEY'RE OFF! — Seven-litre boats roar over the start line at the Miami Orange Bowl Regatta. These are the type of craft which will seek the "Maple Leaf" world championship trophy at Picton, July 1, 2, 3.

MONTREAL (CP) — American Hockey League teams Wednesday picked up 22 of 36 players offered in the National Hockey League reverse draft during the third day session of the four-day annual convention in Montreal.

NHL teams provided the pool of 36 players at a cost of $10,000 each.

Baltimore Clippers were the most active in the draft, picking up six players in nine rounds.

Pittsburgh Hornets acquired five players, including left winger Al Nicholson from Boston, right wingers Edgar Ehrenworth, Gordon Labossiere and Willie Wilkie from Montreal and Warren Hicks from Detroit.

Both Cleveland Barons and Quebec Aces passed on all nine rounds of the reverse draft.

Mets Buy Friend

Braves Get Jay, Lose O'Dell

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Atlanta Braves, major disappointments in the National League pennant race, obtained pitchers Joey Jay and Don Schwall in separate transactions shortly before Wednesday night's major league baseball trading deadline.

The Braves acquired Jay from Cincinnati Reds in exchange for Hank Fischer, another righthander, and then picked up Schwall, also a righthander, from Pittsburgh Pirates for southpaw Billy O'Dell.

O'Dell was the losing pitcher Wednesday night when Atlanta dropped a 5-4 decision to New York Mets.

No cash was involved in the transactions, the third and fourth of the day.

Earlier, New York teams completed their first deal ever when the Mets purchased veteran pitcher Bob Friend from the Yankees for the $20,000 waiver price and a minor league player to be named later.

The Mets also asked waivers on first baseman Dick Stuart to give him his unconditional release.

Jay, who has won six games and lost two, had a 21-10 mark for Cincinnati Reds in 1961.

O'Dell will be the only southpaw in the Pirates' bullpen. A Pittsburgh spokesman said the club had been shopping around for a left-handed reliever.

Friend, 35, a righthander, had a 1-4 record for the Yanks, who purchased him from the Pirates last winter. He has won 191 National League games.

German Bests Yugoslav

FRANKFURT (AP) — West Germany's Karl Hildenbergr used a steady jabbing attack to score a 15-round decision over Yugoslavia's Ivan Prebeg Wednesday night and successfully defend his European heavyweight boxing championship.

There were no knockdowns in the fight and a minimum of action. The referee Sonny Bill urged the fighters to do more punching instead of dancing.

Hildenbergr, 28, has been mentioned as the next opponent of world heavyweight king Cassius Clay.

THE ARNOLD Palmer Method

by GOLF'S 4-TIME MASTERS WINNER

CURING A COMMON PUTTING FAULT

A common putting mistake occurs when the putterhead moves outside the target line, away from the player, on the backstroke.

This type of backstroke will either cause putts to slice to the right, or to pull to the left, depending on the direction the putter faces when it meets the ball.

A proper backstroke on putts should find the putterhead moving either straight back or slightly to inside the target line. This type of backstroke gives you the best chance for square contact and straight-rolling putts.

Check your backstroke by laying a ruler on the floor as in No. 1. If your putter moves back toward the ruler, try to correct your backstroke.

Correct such an improper backstroke by keeping your right elbow tight to your right side during your stroke (No. 2). This eliminates the possibility of moving the putterhead to the outside.

Lose To Bloomfield 3-2

Madoc Drops Squeaker

PICTON — Keith Stacey's two-run double in the seventh inning provided Bloomfield with a 3-2 Belleville and District Softball League victory over last place Madoc here last night.

The victory pulled Bloomfield up into a first-place deadlock with Belleville Trudeau Mo-tors.

Each club scored once in the fifth. A walk started the Bloomfield seventh but two force plays appeared to kill the rally. Another walk kept it alive and Stacey delivered his key double for a 3-1 lead.

Madoc's E. Gray bounced off his school and scored later in the ninth to make it tight, 3-2, at the finish.

Ken DeMille hurled neat four-hit ball for the winners. He struck out five and issued one free ticket.

Darryl Kramp was touched for seven hits, in defeat. He whiffed seven and walked three.

Planes Win Over Latta

Behind the five - hit hurling of Pat O'Connor, Canadian Planes shut out Latta 7-0 in a South Hastings Baseball League game last night.

O'Connor breezed through to the win whiffing seven and walking four. His battery mate was Court Bralley.

Howard Meeks on the mound for Latta was nicked for eleven hits while whiffing five and walking one, Len Reynolds was the catcher.

The game was scoreless for three innings then Planes tucked it away with a three - run rally in the fourth. They added two runs in the fifth and seventh.

Don Forsythe led the winners at the plate with a double and two singles. Hugh Petrie also led three times. Bralley had a double and single, Ed Bardy a double and Larry Adams and Eric Emerson singles.

Watched 29 Innings, Wanted More

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Would you believe that 200 minor league baseball fans watched Miami and St. Petersburg, of the Florida State Baseball League, play 27 innings and then booed when told the game might be stopped at the end of 30?

Would you believe 150?

The number of weary fans who stuck it out to the end Tuesday night isn't official—just a reporter's estimate of between 150 and 200. But it is official that the game lasted more innings than any other in the history of United States professional baseball.

Miami finally won 4-3 in the 29th after the two teams punched out 24 hits and ran through 12 pitchers.

About 2 a.m., the two bleary-eyed managers got together and agreed with the umpire that if the 3-3 tie wasn't broken at the end of 30 innings, they were ready to go home.

When the umpires announced the decision, the remaining 740 fans who started out at 7:30 booed and chanted: "We want more."

The winning run was scored on a sacrifice fly to centre at 2:29 a.m. after six hours and 59 minutes of play.

The longest previous game in professional baseball was Minnesota's 37-inning, 2-1 Eastern League victory over Springfield May 8, 1965. That game lasted 6 hours, 24 minutes.

Departmental Softball

The Intelligencer broke open a tight 2-1 ball game in the middle innings to cool off the Fire Department 9-1 in Departmental Softball last night, boosting the winners into first place.

John Edwards pitched five-hit, nine-strikeout ball for the winners while Craig Rump gave up seven hits and whiffed five to defeat.

Garry Wood, with a triple and single, Maurice Switzer, a double and single, and Merve Thompson, with a two-run triple paced the Intelligencer hitters.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—Hoisercic, a dark bay colt, proved himself contender for the 107th running of the Queen's Plate June 25 by winning the Seaforth Glider Purse Wednesday at Woodbine.

The daily double of Level Jay in the first and Peaches Reward in the second paid $18.80 and the exactor of Miss Snow Goose and Northern Blonde in the fifth paid $30.30.

Longest winner of the day was Sally's Corner in the sixth. The bay two - year - old broke his maiden handily, beating favorite Roman Trooper by a length and three-quarters to pay $46.20.

North American Head of MRA Is Forceful Sales Executive

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP)—J. Blanton Belk has the appearance and aggressiveness of a suave, 40-year-old sales executive. And that is what he is. But he's selling something different, on a $3,000,000 budget.

Belk is executive director in North America of Moral Re-Armament. His product, so to speak, is that organization's ideology. He insists it isn't a religion.

This trim, five-foot-11, 160-pounder became MRA chief in North American upon decentralization of the movement with the unexpected death of Peter Howard, a British journalist-playwright, Feb. 25, 1965.

Until Howard's death, Moral Re-Armament had been under world guidance by one man since its founding as the Oxford Group in 1921 by the late Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman, a Lutheran minister.

Now, says Belk, separate countries operate their own Moral Re-Armament programs, the leaders from each forming what might be termed a national cabinet. But the president still has the say. He believes the movement is too big for one man.

The cabinet has no set meeting date or place.

Belk emphasizes, as did Buchman and Howard, that Moral Re-Armament is an ideology. It advocates adherence to and practice of four principles: "Absolute honesty, absolute purity, absolute unselfishness and absolute love."

KEY TO BROTHERHOOD

Belk makes emphasis is that Moral Re-Armament holds the key to obliterating communism and bringing about world brotherhood.

Moral Re-Armament has no membership rolls, as such, and he says its aim is "to get movement into people, not people into a movement." It is financed, he adds, "like (George) Washington's resolution, by people who believe in it."

No one in Moral Re-Armament draws a salary from it. But Belk's expenses are found to run high. He's a world traveller and he goes about the United States in either of two MRA-owned planes.

An apartment, with a glassed-in sun deck, is available to him at Moral Re-Armament's $3,-340,000 summer headquarters and assembly buildings here.

Winter headquarters, with a co-ordinating staff of a dozen, is maintained at Tucson, Ariz., in a home Belk says was a gift to Dr. Buchman some years ago.

Publication headquarters are in a five-story, MRA-owned building in Los Angeles and a New York City MRA - owned headquarters is a one - time dwelling on East 40th St. It also owns a 270-acre farm in New York state.

When Belk entertains, martinis are missing. So are cigarettes.

Why?

"Whatever I have comes from sacrificial giving. I would not feel right spending any of this for alcohol or cigarettes, when we have so many more needed things."

He regards Tucson as "home" now. It is here that Mrs. Belk, formerly Elizabeth Wilkes of Greenwich, Conn., lives with their only child, a daughter, Virginia Elizabeth, born Aug. 29 last.

Many subordinates hold seniority over Belk in the American Moral Re - Armament movement. He explains his selection as executive director this way:

"It is just natural that I should, being the man in America closest to Peter Howard, having travelled with him, and before that with Dr. Buchman, both here and abroad."

Public relations director David Carey, formerly of Vancouver, a 31-year-old Canadian who joined MRA in 1938 while a Rhodes scholar at Oxford, said Belk was chosen by Moral Re-Armament's directors, of which Belk is a member and also secretary.

Belk, a native of Florida and son of a retired Presbyterian minister, had his first brush with MRA in 1946, freshly mustered out of the U.S. Navy.

"It was very simple," he explains. "My father had met and admired Dr. Buchman and was coming up to Mackinac Island to visit him. He invited me to come along.

"I also knew that some of my buddies in service were coming up. Having helped win a hot war, we agreed more or less among ourselves to devote a year to winning a cold one.

"Before it was over, 60 veterans came, and between us, from mustering out pay and otherwise, we raised $72,000 and gave it to MRA. I went back to Europe with Dr. Buchman and spent three years with him."

More than 7,000 high school and college youths from some 50 countries attended a series of three-week assemblies on Mackinac Island last summer. Collectively they were called Demonstration for Modernizing Man.

Asked the cost, Belk replied quickly, $1,500,000. This included an $18,000 budget for recruiting across 143 American and Canadian campuses.

What does it cost worldwide to finance MRA?

"We need $25,000,000."

Belk is proud of his sawy background, "and I take great umbrage to the pacifist reputation some have imputed to MRA.

In Seoul, Korea, last October he told an MRA world assembly that Communist China should not be misled by demonstrations in the United States of "a few insignificant pacifists who fail to understand freedom and the cost required to maintain it."

"The people of the United States want peace, but not peace at the price of freedom. They want patriotism, not pacifism, Moral Re-Armament, not moral disarmament. . . .

"The people of the United States, young and old, stand firmly behind President Johnson in his policies in Viet Nam."

China Pays 'Reformed' Family Million a Year in Interest

SHANGHAI (Reuter) — The Yung family, which has drawn the equivalent of $10,080,000 from the government of China during the last 10 years, may well claim to be the richest in this whole Communist nation.

These "socialist millionaires" are among the 90,000 "reformed" capitalist from Shanghai who draw regular, and often sizable, dividends from the state on their former shares and property.

The Yungs ran a flourishing textile business in Shanghai before the Communists came to power 16 years ago.

The new regime became a partner in the enterprise in 1956 and agreed to pay the family five per cent interest annually on the value of their assets.

Since they owned 80 per cent of the mills and other properties, they got five per cent on some 48,000,000 yuanor the equivalent of $1,008,000 each year.

One of the family, Yung Yi-jen, is China's vice-minister for textile industry and vice-mayor of Shanghai, though he now lives mainly in Peking. He also holds a managerial post in the big Sung Sung Company division, still known by its "pre-liberation" name.

THE SMALL SUMS

While a handful of "national bourgeois" capitalists are still getting big dividends, the bulk get only small sums for having thrown in their lot with the state.

When the Communists toppled the Kuomintang government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in 1949, they classified capitalists into two main groups.

The "national" capitalists were allowed to retain their holdings until their factories were merged into state-private enterprise ventures. Their properties were then valued; and dividends paid on them.

Four powerful families of the Kuomintang regime—the Chiangs, the Soongs, the Kungs and the Chens—were declared "bureaucrat" capitalists.

It was alleged that these families had used their connection with the government of the day to increase their fortunes. Their property was confiscated.

The "national" capitalists are going through what is officially described as a period of "socialist transformation." During this time, they are allowed to live in fine houses, import expensive cars and travel abroad.

Madoc Junction

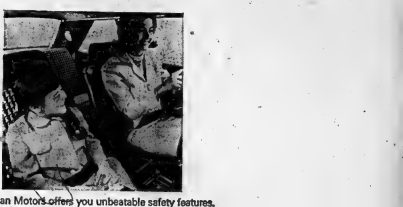
MADOC JUNCTION — Mr. and Mrs. Keith Johnson and Judy were guests over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith and family of Spencerville.

Mrs. White Sr., and Billie Stapley are patients in Belleville General Hospital.



Mrs. Maurice Clancy war guest speaker at the meeting of the Ivistone United Church Women on Wednesday afternoon.

Sandra Stapley had the misfortune to fall from a swing and injure her arm.

Mrs. B. Stapley, Mrs. M Clancy, Mrs. F. Smith, Mrs. W. McMullen and Mrs. C. Fitchett represented the Eggleton U.C.W. at the tea and bazaar held at Carmel United Church Hall on Thursday afternoon.

MORE SAFETY FEATURES NOW FROM AMERICAN MOTORS!

American Motors offers you unbeatable safety features. Body construction: body and frame welded together for tremendous protection. Double braking system: if one set ever fails, the other still stops you. Ceramic-Armoured Exhaust System: eliminates the danger of leaking fumes. (These three features at no cost on all models) Safety options: headrests, power disc brakes, heavy-duty suspension, Twin-Grip differential, 4-way hazard warning signal. Standard equipment: front and rear seat belts, padded dash and visors, outside rearview mirror, backup lights, windshield washers, variable-speed wipers, higher-strength windshield glass. More safety features come from American Motors today.

Advanced engineering features at no extra cost. Built-in quality from beginning to end. That's what you get from American Motors today. Look at these features:

Single Unit Construction. Body and frame on all American Motors cars are welded together into one, single, solid unit for tremendous strength and safety. Result: a stronger, safer, longer-lasting car—a car free from rattles.

Double Safety Brakes. Not just one braking system, but two. If one set ever fails, the other stops you safely. (Double Safety Brakes have been an exclusive feature, at no extra cost, on all our models since 1962. Some other manufacturers have now announced that they will adopt this feature—but not until their 1967 models.)

World's best rustproofing. All our cars get a "bath." They're deep-dipped up to their rooflines in rustproofing compound six separate times. Then they're dipped again in primer and given a separate spray coat of primer. Then come three gleaming coats of Lustre-Gard super enamel. You get a beautiful finish and long-lasting protection from the ravages of rust.

Widest range of seating options in the Industry. Luxurious reclining seats (buckets, if you want). Armrests and adjustable headrests. And fine-furniture coil springs in all our seats in all our models. (Only one other North American car offers this—and it's in the luxury class).

Fibreglass rooffiners and double door seals. A far cry from flimsy fabric rooffiners and single door seals. Noise stays out. Drafts, winds, chills can't get in.

Attention to detail. American Motors offers the durability of plastic kick panels, all-metal rear-deck shelves, even ashtrays that roll out on ball bearings. Small details, yes—but they add up to overall quality.

Beautiful luxury fittings. A big, big selection! All the power equipment and features you want. And floor consoles. Thick-cut pile carpeting. Wire wheel discs. Walnut interior paneling. Houndstooth Check fabric. New vinyl patterns. Exciting styling in top-of-the-line Ambassador DPL, Rambler Rogue and Rambler Rebel.

New car quality. We believe that quality is what you build in—not what you add on. We build quality into all our cars from the beginning. We take the time. We take the trouble. We always have. We always will.

Used car quality. The exclusive quality and features that we build into our-full line of cars mean that an American Motors used car is a better value and a better buy.

Cancer Researchers Should Devote Time to Humans Advice of Amerian Expert

HONEY HARBOUR, Ont. (CP)—Cancer researchers are neglecting the study of cancer in man in favor of the easier method of investigating the disease in small laboratory animals, an American cancer specialist said Wednesday.

Dr. Harold L. Stewart of the U.S. National Cancer Institute blamed the trend on "lack of money, the lack of enterprise, the general dislikeness and the caution and lack of imagination of top administrators."

He told the seventh Canadian cancer research conference this reluctance to study human beings with cancer needs to be overcome so that greater research efforts can be channelled into the field of geographic pathology."

Dr. Stewart defined geographic pathology as "the study of the experiments that nature has designed upon our fellow creatures."

The incidence of various types of cancer varies greatly in different parts of the world, he said, and this variation "may be related to different environments, diets, habits and racial and ethnic groups.

EACH AREA DIFFERS

Almost every country in the world has some claim to be a geographical area where at least one cancer is strikingly frequent, he said.

These racial and geographical variations in the incidence of cancer of the different segments of the alimentary tract — the mouth, throat, esophagus, stomach and intestines—are so striking as to leave no doubt that the cancers have special unknown causes, he added.

In another address, Dr. Charles Heidenberger, professor of oncology at the University of Wisconsin, challenged common assumptions about the way certain chemicals produce cancer.

Dr. Heidelberger said the biological behavior of cancer is not compatible with the idea that these chemicals cause cancer by reacting with the genetic mechanism of the cell and producing malignant mutations.

If cancers resulted from mutations, they should be irreversible, but they are not, he said.

Comedian Says Hockey, 7 Days 'Most Meaningful' TV Shows

By ED GOULD

EDMONTON (CP) — During Charlottetown conference centenary celebrations last year, the Queen told Dave Broadfoot:

"You certainly know how to make them laugh."

Much as he treasures the royal accolade, the 40-year-old comedian values even more highly a recent tribute by an Edmonton university student.

"That remark really impressed me," Broadfoot said in an interview following an engagement here, "because I knew I was getting through to the young people."

Comedy, heavily laced with satire and local color, has been Broadfoot's trademark through 18 years of professional appearances.

This includes 20 musical revues, nine seasons with Spring Thaw, three overseas tours with armed forces shows and numerous radio and TV broadcasts in Canada, the United States and Britain.

Although he was reared in a strict, religious North Vancouver home—three of his sisters are Baptist missionaries—the clergy are frequent targets of Broadfoot's barbs.

LINKED BY FEAR

As a swinging, tambourine-thumping evangelist he sings: "White, white, that's the shade that's right," in a strong commentary on Canada's immigration laws.

In another skit here he referred to Alberta Premier Manning's Back to the Bible Hour broadcasts. It's content, he said "I hear politics out here is a kind of parson-to-parson program."

Broadfoot says Canada is "10 provinces loosely held together by fear" but admits he prefers to work here despite offers to move to the U.S. or Britain.

"I love this country and love working here. There's a wonderful lack of extremism in Canada. Sometimes, it's our greatest asset. I make a good living and show business is relatively uncomplicated. Unlike the U.S. and abroad, you don't have to consult a dozen lackeys every time you change your socks."

He has appeared at the Lyric Hammersmith and in the surrcessful Canadian revue Clap Hands in London and on the Ed Sullivan show in the U.S.

But it's not all bouquets for Canada. Broadfoot is strongly critical of an "indifferent" attitude to home-grown talent. "It must be good," he says, "or the Canadian colonies working in Hollywood, New York and London, wouldn't be so busy."

LAUGHTER DECIDED HIM

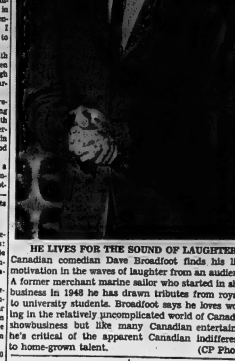
The tall, thin, greying actor—he prefer comedian because nobody knows what a satirist is"—began his acting career in 1946 after a four year stint in the merchant marine. He started with a bit part in a comedy presented by the amateur North Vancouver Community Players.

"I really didn't know what to do with my life. But when that first wave of laughter hit me, I knew I really belonged somewhere."

His first big break came in 1955 during his third year with Spring Thaw in Toronto when he portrayed the Honorable Member for Kicking Horse Pass. That characterization and another as a Mountie sot to get his woman have become standard repertoire.



He recently closed his own Canada Goose revue in Toronto after a four-month run and has appeared in satirical skits on the controversial CBC TV program This Hour Has Seven Days.

Broadfoot says Seven Days and hockey are the most "meaningful" broadcasts on television.

"Everyone — barbers, waiters, taxi drivers and intellectuals—feels Seven Days is his show."

SUSPEND TEACHER

BROOKLIN, Ont. (CP) — A teacher at Brooklin senior school has been suspended temporarily pending completion of an investigation into an alleged drinking party attended by students and a teacher Tuesday night. The investigation was launched after a parent complained that his 15-year-old son stayed out all night and was found Wednesday morning in the school under the influence of liquor.

HE LIVES FOR THE SOUND OF LAUGHTER — Canadian comedian Dave Broadfoot finds his life's motivation in the waves of laughter from an audience. A former merchant marine sailor who started in show business in 1948 he has drawn tributes from royalty to university students. Broadfoot says he loves working in the relatively uncomplicated world of Canadian showbusiness but like many Canadian entertainers he's critical of the apparent Canadian indifference to home-grown talent. ## Madoc

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

MADOC — The regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held in Rive's Hotel on Tuesday evening, as a buffet dinner with 28 present.

Several important items of local interest were discussed, among them the increasing of the local parking meters from one to two hours, installing of large "P" signs with arrows, and a corner on lower Durham Street pointing to parking areas, and several advertising items which would be of interest to the local tourist operators.

The duck rules were finally set after much discussion from everyone present. It was decided to charge $20 for business memberships and $10 for non-business memberships, with collection to be made each May.

The meeting closed with nominations of assistants for each director.

LEGION SERVICE

The local Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 363 and their Auxiliary paraded and attended a divine service at St. John the Baptist Anglican Church, Madoc, to commemorate D-Day. In charge of the color party was Comrade Mel Stevenson and President George Nelson. The church choir sang an anthem, with Miss Jean Brownson at the organ. The Rector and Chaplain of the Branch spoke on the "Battles of Life." Mr. John Kemp read the Lesson.

APPOINT NEW TEACHERS

New teachers employed for Centenary Hastings High School are: Miss Sheila Aldred of Toronto, commercial department; Mr. Ross Condon of Kingston, a graduate of the Eastern School of Technology in Ottawa, commercial department; Mr. Ewart Orr, Madoc and Mr. Edward Ritter B.A., Montreal, English department; Mr. Werner Roemer Ph.D., of Wortsworth, French; Miss Nine Edwards, M.A., London, History; Mr. Romesh Kapur, B.A., Pietre, science department; Mr. Robert Colliver, B.A., Peterborough, boys P.E.; Mr. John Reid Springbrook, junior science, geography and boys' P.E.; Mr. James Tinlin, Trenton, boys' O.T.

TELEPHONE NIGHT

A "Telephone Night" will be held in the Trinity United Church next Wednesday, June 22nd at 8:00 p.m. The program will explain the telephone system by means of movies and displays and offer a chance to meet some of the people who work for the telephone company. Light refreshment will be served.

EXPECT 20,000

TORONTO (CP)—More than 20,000 persons are expected to attend the Jehovah's Witness convention at the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand June 23-26.

Efforts Made to Explain Guerrilla War Outbreaks

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The Undeclared War, as NBC news specials was an effort to explain the outbreak of guerrilla warfare in many places in terms of the two-year-old conflict in Guatemala.

Three-quarters of the hour Wednesday night was devoted, with considerable sympathy, to showing the operations of these mountain fighters who have been operating in classic hit-and-run fashion against the government.

The program explained in slightly fuzzy style the goal of the outlaws—their leader was alleged to have a $25,000 price on his head—and suggested they were typical of underground warriors in other countries. They crop up in underdeveloped countries where land reform is needed and where the population is sharply divided between a few haves and a lot of have-nots.

KNOW PROPAGANDA

Fortunately for the NBC camera team, a couple of the Guatemala guerrillas had a rudimentary knowledge of English and, what was more, a keen working knowledge of the uses of propaganda. Otherwise they would never have welcomed the TV team to shoot pictures of them. They emerged, rather like romantic Robin Hoods.

The program made a great point that the most fertile ground for the outbreak of such warfare is in countries with a peasant class that is largely illiterate and held in something like feudal bondage, dominated by rich landowners supported by government military forces.

Similar guerrilla warfare exists in neighboring countries of Peru and Colombia, both of which were touched upon kghtly in the program

While hardly a well-rounded study in depth of all civil wars in the world, it was a most interesting treatment.

NBC's short-lived Let's Play Post Office, a noon-hour game show, will be replaced by another game show on June 4. The new one will be called Showdown.

Joan Bennett, a film star for two decades, is the most recent name performer to sign on as a daytime soap opera. She will play a confusing leading role in ABC's Dark Shadows, a sort of continuing mystery story, that starts June 27.

This season such performers as Ann Sheridan, Bethel Leslie, Macdonald Carey and Gloria de Haven have taken on soap opera assignments and been given star billing.

Stirling

STIRLING — Mrs. Janet Usman, Front Street, Stirling, observed her 81st birthday on Thursday. She was the recipient of numerous cards and gifts and about 25 relatives and friends called at her home during the day. The guests included a neighbor, Mrs. Jane Munro, who recently observed her 103rd birthday.

At a recent meeting of Stirling Rotary Club, Paul Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bailey of Ameliasburgh Township and a grade 12 student of Stirling-Rawdon District High School, spoke on adventures in citizenship. Paul, with 245 other young people, enjoyed a three day trip to Ottawa. The Rotary Club of Ottawa have been arranging these tours for 16 years. Stirling Rotary Club sponsored Paul on this trip.

Mrs. Morley Bosiak, office manager at Elaine Footwear Limited was elected chairman of the Bay of Quinte Chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants.

At a recent meeting of the Oak Hills Flying Club, held in the Legion Hall, Stirling, the officers elected were: president, Allen Lawes; vice-president, Hadley Richardson; financial secretary, Kenneth Sine; treasurer, Bruce Bell; secretary, Robert Fisher; directors, Barry J. McGregor, Wilfred Turner, Robert Sweet, Claude Trumble, Donald Rodgers and Stuart McAfee. The club received its charter from the provincial "secretary that evening.

Mrs. Warren Harlow recently entertained Rev. and Mrs. Leslie Hardy and daughter of Courtright, Miss Helen Hopkins of Lindsay and Mrs. H. C. Kelly of Warkworth.

AT THE BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN — Bullets fly as super-secret agent Charles Vine pursues a ruthless gang of terrorists in this scene from Joseph E. Levine's tongue-in-cheeker, "The 3rd Best Secret Agent in The Whole Wide World", which opens tonight at the Belleville Drive-In Theatre in color and wide-screen. An Embassy Pictures release, it stars Tom Adams as the dauntless Mr. Vine, shown here with lovely Judy Huxtable, one of the many women in his "secret" life. Also on the same program and in color "Gunmen Of The Rio Grande" starring Guy Madison as Wyatt Earp and Madeleine Babeau.

AT THE PARK — Fun Couple — Claudia Martin, daughter of Dean Martin, and Ed Garter enjoy themselves in scene from American International's "The Ghost in the Invisible Bikini" in color, opening tonight at the Park Theatre for its first Belleville showings. Complete shows at 7.00 and 9.10 p.m.

Frederic March Thinking Time to Hang Up Hat

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I think it's time to hang up my hat," said Fredric March, chewing on the tag end of a cigar.

The 1gyo-time Academy Winner (for Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, 1932; The Best Years of Our Lives, 1946) was sitting in a chair next to the entrance of the stage where Hombre was being filmed. He had just finished a scene with Paul Newman and Martin Balsam and was waiting for the next one.

"What am I doing here?" he asked himself. "I've got four grandchildren coming from their home in Italy to our house in Connecticut; my daughter is married to an Italian-American named Al Florence. My son is getting married this summer. "Here I am making a picture, feeling as fine as I have ever been, when I should be in the East with my family. It doesn't make sense."

March had just returned from a gruelling 10 weeks in the Arizona and Nevada deserts and mountains.

"The weather was murderous," said March, "so hot that you couldn't sleep at night. In one location, it was 33 miles over mountain roads to reach the shooting at the top of the peak. The place was one ledge with a road so narrow that a jeep would have to back down it to descend."

MARRIED 29 YEARS

He and his wife and often co-star, Florence Eldridge celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary during their stay in Las Vegas.

March has come to the conclusion that he should end his distinguished career in movies. Nor does he intend to perform again on the Broadway stage.

"Look—I'm 68. I'll be 69 in August," he said. "I think I've done my stint. Now I am to do the things I like to do: Spend some time with my family, and travel.

"Fortunately, I'm in a position where I don't have to work. I made money in the years when you could still keep it. And having been a banker, I took good care of what I earned. As long as the market holds up, I shouldn't have any financial problems."

If March carries out his threat to quit, it will mean the end of one of the screen's most distinguished careers. From The Royal Family of Broadway (1930) to Seven Days in May (1964), he has provided a series of indelible portrayals.

PRINCE NAMES COAT

The coat known as the Prince Albert did not receive this name from Victoria's consort, but from her son, afterward King Edward VII.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For June 17

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Activity increases. Neighbors may appear argumentative. Be independent without appearing arrogant . . . have your own say but be gracious. Fine for profit. Love new projects.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Action indicated regarding money, possessions. Success is behind the scenes plays active role in your behalf. Wait and observe. Unwise to act on impulse!

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Cycle high . . . but impatience could cause mistakes. Friends tend to encourage aggressiveness. Need your own counsel. Be versatile. Don't insist on the impossible.

CANCER (June 21 —July 23): Explore unfamiliar areas. You can now give full play to curiosity. Take attitude which encourages learning, observing. Be open to ideas, suggestions.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Don't permit others to take credit due you. Be charming but firm. Insist on your rights. Some hopes, efforts may appear scattered. This is but temporary!

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): In dealing with higher-ups . . . emphasize restraint. Key to productive day is diplomacy. Weigh your actions, words. Impulsive recorded ambitions — you accomplish major points.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Be realistic regarding long-range plans. If you insist on everything at once . . . disappointment results. Relatives you helped in past . . . could now return the favor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 — Nov. 21): Come into open with what you feel, fear. Applies especially in dealing with mate or partner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): You may be on the brink of discovery . . . yet you must consider others. Includes mate, partner, public image. Fine for finishing . . . but new starts could be premature. Stand by!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Job duties may cause you to be irritable. You demand reward at faster pace. But wise course now is one of patience. View situations as whole . . . not in bits, pieces.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 —Feb. 18): Avoid unnecessary risks. Study carefully any investment offers. Avoid extravagance, concentrate on simplicity. Gain shown if you are conservative where cash is concerned.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Frank discussion clears the air. Don't try to hide facts, figures. Future may be brighter than it now appears. Realize this — bring forth sense of balance, humor. Family members require encouragement. Give kind and avoid battles.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you usually set slight goals you can achieve. This makes you a valuable person—to others as well as to yourself.

Seaway Strike Called Off at Last Minute

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP) — A seaway strike that would have cost th shipping route into half a cer tlement was called off Thursday night when union and manage ment negotiators settled for wage increase of 20 per cen now and another 10 per cent 1 1967.

Total cost will approach $ 000,000.

The agreement, approved ; an emergency session of th federal cabinet, will raise th average wage package of the St. Lawrence Seaway's 1,20 operating employees to $3.21 ar hour from $2.36 as of Jan. 1.

Settlement terms wer worked out late in the fourt day of mediation talks director by Senator Norman MacKenzie appointed to the task only lat Thursday by his old university schoolmate, Labor Minister Nicholson.

Prime Minister Pearson an nounced the settlement in the Commons a half-hour before the Canadian section of the seaway was scheduled to begin shut down procedures. A strike had been set for noon EDT today.

Senator MacKenzie, later re ported that the 20-per-cent wage boost will apply retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year, when the old contract expired.

EXPECTS APPROVAL

W. J. Smith, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Rail way, Transport and General Workers (CLC), told the press conference he is confident his union members would accept the package.

Dr. Pierre Camu, president of the deficit-ridden St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, declined comment on all aspects of the settlement, including cost fig ures.

However, a reliable informant said later the wage package would cost an additional $1,500, 000 this year and $2,500,000 extra in 1967. Last year's total wage bill on the seaway was about $5,000,000.

Mr. Smith told reporters the total value of the wage and benefits clauses in the new con tract would be a minimum of 75 cents an hour and an average of 85 cents an hour for each year.

Mr. Nicholson, who took over the federal labor portfolio in January, announced that the sea way settlement should not be looked upon as a pattern.

"This was a special situa tion," he told a reporter, ob viously with an eye to the cru cial negotiations coming up later this summer in the rail way industry.

Senator MacKenzie had ironed out all of the fringe is sues in the seaway dispute ear lier.

Lumber Workers Walk Off

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 4,500 lumber workers walked off their jobs at a number of big coast plants Thursday in appar ent disobeyance of a union edict that there would be no strike in the small-million-dollar indus try until an industrial inquiry commissioner had made his re port.

One of the biggest operations tied up was the Chemainus mill of Macmillan, Bloedel on Van couver Island, where 600 men walked off the job Thursday night.

Also affected on Vancouver Is land was the Victoria Plywood's plant where 300 men walked out.

Syd Thompson, president of the Vancouver local, biggest coast local of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC), said at least 10 of 40 plants on the lower mainland were tied up with the strike of a total of at least 3,500 men.

There are 26,000 IWA mem bers on the coast.

Thompson said, officers of the Vancouver local had advised the men to wait for the indus trial commissioner's report but "apparently this advice is not accepted."

And he blamed the companies for "procrastination" in negoti ations and said they were to blame for "the eruptions now taking place."

CALLS MEETING

Jack Moore, western regional president of the IWA, said he had called a meeting for today "to take a look at this situa tion."

He felt it incumbent on the un ion to keep its promise to indus trial commissioner Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz to await the re port the commissioner was expected to have completed by late next week.

Mr. Justice Nemetz of the B.C. Supreme Court was ap pointed by the provincial gov ernment to inquire into the dis pute between the coast IWA members and 120 companies.

The union wants a 30-cent hourly increase on a base rate of $2.36 as well as fringe benefits. The companies are asking an iron-clad agreement against strikes but have said little if anything about wage increase.

A strike by the coast's wood workers would hit hard at the economy of B.C., where forestry is the biggest industry.

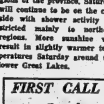
Canada and Britain Agree To Form Joint Trade Body

LONDON (CP)—Canada and Britain today agreed to establish a joint cabinet committee on economic and trade problems, an informant said.

Agreement was reached in private talks between Trade Min ister Robert Winters and Doug las Jay, president of the British Board of Trade. The first meet ing of the new committee is ex pected later this year.



The committee would function along the lines of one already established between Canada and the United States, with cab inet members covering trade, fi nance, external affairs and ag ricultural portfolios meeting from time to time to iron out knotty trade problems before they turn into embarrassing public quarrels.

Jay has maintained that while Canada has taken some steps to encourage a greater flow of im ports from Britain, prob lems still remain, particularly in the field of customs evalua tions. Britain is seeking to boost her exports to overcome a war risome international payments deficit that is straining her fi nancial structure.

Jay and Winters are reported to have agreed that problems between the two countries still remain and that the joint min isterial body should be estab lished to seek solutions.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Unsettled cool weather will persist for at least another day throughout south ern Ontario. In northern areas mainly sunny but cool weather will continue. Afternoon tem peratures today will be in the high 60s or low 70s in all re gions of the province. Saturday will continue to be on the cool side with shower activity re stricted mainly to northern regions. More sunshine will result in slightly warmer tem peratures Saturday around the lower Great Lakes.

Crew Members Jump Into Boiling Sea of Flames

By GEORGE NEWMAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Intense heat and a continuing danger of new fires thwarted efforts to day to search for more victims in the twisted metal left by the flaming collision of two ships, the U.S. Coast Guard said.

More than 18 hours after the collision in the Kill van Kull Channel in lower New York Harbor firemen still were pour ing foam onto the smoking, smoldering hulk of the British tanker Alva Cape, trying to cool her down and ensure that her remaining volatile naptha cargo does not catch fire again.

The coast guard placed the toll of known dead at 20 among 101 crew members on the tank ers and two passing tugs which also caught fire after the col lision Thursday. Twelve were listed as missing with 69 sur vivors, 40 in hospital.

The British tanker was carry ing the naphtha cargo. The other vessel, the American tanker Texaco Massachusetts, was empty.

A harbor pilot, Donald Baker, 46, of Massapequa Park, N.Y., who was aboard the Alva Cape, said the disaster apparently was caused by a mixup in sig nals.

Baker said the Texaco Mas sachusetts, which was pulling out of a tank farm, signalled the Alva Cape, which was com ing into the channel, that the two ships would cross paths.

Baker said he acknowledged the signal and proceeded, appar ently believing that the Texaco Massachusetts intended to hold back until his ship had passed.

Baker said when he saw that a collision was probable, he or dered full speed astern and, as gave him (the American ship) a whistle, but the time they answered we were right on top of them."

Witnesses said one of the tugs exploded, igniting naphtha leak ing from the 546-foot British tanker Alva Cape after its col lision with the Texaco Massa chusetts, an American tanker heading for the Gulf of Mexico after discharging its cargo in New York.

Crew members from both ships and the tugs clambered overboard to find the water a boiling sea of flames from the burning naphtha.

Coast guard and police res cuers in boats and helicopters plucked survivors from the sea.

UN Chief Becomes Premier

QUEBEC (CP)—Daniel John son became the 20th premier of Quebec Thursday as he was sworn in by Lieutenant-Gov ernor Hugues Lapointe, the man whose position he has said he will abolish.

The 51-year-old Union Na tionale leader has described the lieutenant-governor's position as a vestige of colonialism.

A massed crowd jammed the legislative council's red cham ber, cheering intermittently in the humid heat, as Mr. Johnson swore to "serve Her Majesty in the executive council of Que bec."

A few hours later, having an nounced the 21 names of his cabinet members, he said he planned to form "an inner cab inet" which would hold meet ings and make decisions behind doors closed to the rest of the cabinet, as regular cabinet meetings are closed to the pub lic.

The inner cabinet would be made up of four former mem bers of the pre-1960 cabinet of Maurice Duplessis.

The four men are Mr. John son, who takes the federal-pro vincial affairs and natural re sources portfolios, Jean-Jacques Bertrand, minister of education and justice, Paul Dozois, fi nance and municipal affairs, and Maurice Bellemare, labor and industry and commerce minister.

NAMES SPEAKER

Mr. Johnson said that when the legislature next sits, Remi Paul (Maskinonge) will be elected Speaker of the assem bly.

He also named a new depart ment, to be known as the de partment of equipment, which would eliminate "useless dupli cation" in the granting of con struction contracts, engineering and in the placing of bids.

The Union Nationale took 26 seats in the June 5 election. The Liberals took 31 and two inde pendents were elected.

Ask Govt. Boost Pay Of 60,000

OTTAWA (CP) — The Staff Side Conference which repre sents some 115,000 federal em ployees wants an immediate salary increase for some 60,000 workers in administrative and administrative - support posi tions.

TBS conference, in a state ment released today, said it made its approach to the gov ernment in a brief Thursday seeking an across-the-board in crease which, coupled with an interim increased granted last October, would total eight per cent.

The October raises ranged from four to six per cent.

"This further interim revision provides for an increase of four per cent to those who, prior to the downpayment, had a max mum salary of $6,000 and less, and three per cent to those who, prior to the downpayment had a maximum salary of $6,001 to $7,900, and two per cent to those who, prior to the downpayment had a maximum salary of $7, 901 or more."

Tighten Laws On Frauds

By KEN CLARK

OTTAWA (CP) — The Com mons gave speedy detailed ap proval Thursday to legislation to tighten up the bankruptcy law with the knowledge it's a forerunner to more sweeping changes.

Justice Minister Cardin, who piloted the legislation through the House, said the government is studying the possibility of a national court with exclusive jurisdiction over bankruptcies.

He suggested the federal Ex chequer Court may be trans formed to handle the job. He was "very strongly" in favor of consideration of such a move.

The Exchequer Court's prime function now is to handle civil cases involving income tax, pa tents and copyrights.

The consideration of a na tional court is a companion to a comprehensive study under way for some time of the whole Bankruptcy Act, last revised in 1949. The government has as signed three lawyers as a com mittee to draft a wholesale re vision.

Mr. Cardin said their job should be completed before the end of the year.

Despite occasional scalli cs from Erik Nielsen (PC— Yukon), the opposition front and crime watchdog, MPs were in no mood to quibble too much with the amending legislation.

After the bankruptcy bill's relatively smooth ride through clause - by - clause study, the House began similar examina tion of the bill to set up the Company of Young Canadians, the Canadian equivalent of the U.S. Peace Corps. Both bills had received second reading, general in principle, in pre vious sittings.

The bankruptcy amendments took most of the sitting day. At the start Mr. Cardin gave a rundown of government efforts to halt fraudulent bankruptcies.

Mr. Nielsen said he party had no intention of holding up the amendments because Con servatives realized there was an emergency.

Mr. Cardin said the govern

Farmers Mount Tractor Parade To Protest Low Milk Prices

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—About 100 farmers mounted on trac tors converged Thursday on this city's northern limits to protest low milk prices.

They staged their demonstra tion despite a request by the executive of the Ontario Farm ers Union that they wait until the end of the month "and see what happens."

However, Walter Miller, one OFU vice-president, said pub licity is needed to bring the farmers' demands for a firm $4-a-hundredweight price for milk into the government's view.

"The government has asked for this and if our tractor pro tests don't bring results, there are other means, including strike action," he said.

The farmers gathered at Cal amity Corners at noon and con tinued the afternoon, the line of tractors extended for miles on Highway 22 from the western part of Middlesex County and Lambton County.

Several city police cars were sent to the intersection of High ways 4 and 22 to keep traffic lanes open.

The farmers are protesting the fact that milk buyers have been deducting trucking costs ranging from 16 to 30 cents a hundredweight from a basic price of $3.25 promised April 1 for 100 pounds of milk of 3.5 per cent butterfat content.

The federal government promised a 75-cent subsidy a hundredweight to bring the price to $4 and the farmers want the provincial government to absorb the shipping costs to guarantee the $4 price to them.

William Stewart, Ontario agri culture minister, told the legis lature but he spoke to federal Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene Thursday and was as sured the subsidy cheques for the promised 75 cents a hun dredweight will be in the mail this week.

Mr. Stewart told the house that "product subsidization by individual provinces can only result in unrealistic competition between the provinces."

He said outside the house that misunderstanding a bout the subsidy procedure is a major cause of the dairy farmers' pro test.

He said dissatisfaction has resulted from the new system of payments which began April 1 whereby the federal govern ment pays the subsidy directly by mail instead of through the

Liberal Wins In Recount In Matepedia

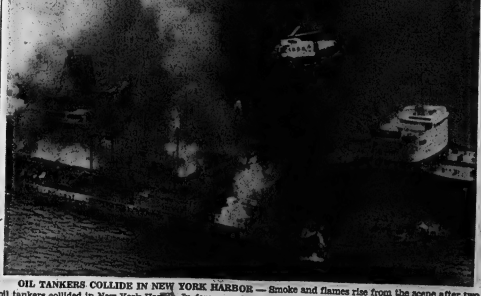
QUEBEC (CP)—The result of a judicial recount in Matapedia has confirmed Bona Arsenault, provincial secretary in the Le sage liberal government, as winner in the June 5 provincial election.



The judicial recount gave him a majority of 32 votes, 33 less than he had in the official count after the election.

Complete figures from the ju dicial recount, will be made pub lic later.

Court Clerk Takes Stand In Defence in Theft Case

Marjorie M. Lahey, 44, took the stand in Hastings County Court today and testified for about 40 minutes before the noon recess, as her trial on charges of theft of court funds from the Magistrate's office went into its third day.

Miss Lahey said she was employed by Magistrate Jackson in 1961. She said at the time, she was working for the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co., but when she heard that company was closing its business, she inquired about an opening at the magistrate's office.

She said she thought she was being paid $5,600 a year salary for her job as court clerk and court reporter.

Miss Lahey said she often did work at home and consequently took court records home with her, including receipts and the cash book.

"Was there any instance where money received by you in connection with these cases (i.e. cases cited in crown evidence) was not deposited in the bank?" Defence counsel R. E. Nourse asked.

"No."

"Have you ever at any time taken money for yourself or anyone else from your office?"

"I have never taken any money from the office. Never."

Her testimony continues this afternoon.

INVESTIGATED BREAK-IN

Cpl. H. L. Adams, Madoc O.P.P., court reporter for the Madoc court and investigating officer in the lahey case, testified he investigated a reported break-in at Magistrate Jackson's office April 30, 1964.

He also testified he took part in a search December 2 of Miss Lahey's apartment and entered as evidence a number of articles seized in that search, including various envelopes, stenographers' note books, a carbon copy of a bank deposit slip, receipts, sales contracts and a promissory note for $600.

Cpl. Adams also testified that a second break-in was reported by Miss Lahey and Magistrate Jackson Sunday, Oct. 31. He said between the first break-in and the second, at his suggestion, Magistrate Jackson had changed the lock on the door to the office, and to his knowledge, there were only two persons with keys to that door, Magistrate Jackson and Miss Lahey.

He said there were no visible signs of entry in either break-in. He said under cross examination he would have been easy for someone to have had a key made.

GIVEN BOOK

Cpl. Adams testified that on Dec. 8 he was called to Miss Lahey's apartment by her brother, William. He said William presented him with a bank deposit book containing an entry dated April 29. He said that was the book Miss Lahey had reported stolen in the first break-in.

This is the book that Miss Lahey reported stolen from the magistrate's office," he said in cross examination by Mr. Nourse. "This is the book I found in her apartment."

"You didn't find it at all."

"It was given to me by her brother."

Cpl. Adams was cross examined for one and one-half hours this morning by Mr. Nourse.

Magistrate R. C. Jackson was in the stand for one and one half hours yesterday. He said Miss Lahey looked after deposits of monies in the bank and completed the monthly returns to be sent to the attorney general's department.

Magistrate Jackson said, as far as he was concerned, she was perfectly honest and trustworthy. "I suppose it goes without saying, that if I thought she wasn't honest and trustworthy, she wouldn't have been working for me."

He said he didn't know of any money that she took.

"Would you say about her competency as a clerk," Mr. Nourse asked.

"I thought she was very good."

"Did it ever occur to you she was not honest?"

"Honestly it did not. I thought she was perfectly reliable and trustworthy."

"Have you any reason now to believe otherwise."

"No. Nothing but heresay."

NO SPENDTHRIFT

Magistrate Jackson said Miss Lahey was not a spendthrift and he never saw any evidence of her spending more money than her salary would disbase.

"If I had a clerk who seemed to be living above her salary, I would begin to wonder, but I never saw any of that with her."

"How many people do you know collected fines out of court?" Mr. Nourse asked.

"I'm not sure. I didn't have much to do about collecting fines."

"I suggest to you there were 11 provincial police officers and five municipal police officers collecting fines."

"They weren't supposed to. If they did it was behind my back."

"Didn't it get so bad that you had to send a letter to municipal police officials and the O.P.P. instructing them not to collect fines."

"I sent one to the municipal police, but I don't recall sending one to the O.P.P."

Magistrate Jackson said of his reaction to hearing of the charges against Miss Lahey, "I was flabbergasted. My wife was startled."

Crown Attorney Bruce Affleck asked to re-examination, "Do you have any reason to believe that any police officer in your county ever stole any fine money during the period in question here?"

" No sir."

Inspector R. A. Ferguson, Criminal Investigation Bureau, O.P.P., testified he took a written and oral statement from Miss Lahey December 2, 1965, in Madoc

Mr. Nourse said Miss Lahey does not remember making the statement, but if she were to make a statement now, she would make the same one.

Inspector Ferguson said he and other police officers went to Miss Lahey's apartment December 2 with a search warrant and order of arrest.

He listed the questions he asked Miss Lahey later that evening in the Madoc detachment, and told her answers.

Question: "There is over $2,000 stolen from the magistrate's office."

Answer: "If it's gone, I don't know where it went."

Question: "Do you have any knowledge where it went?"

Answer: "If the there's money gone, I don't know that I've ever taken it."

Question: "Have you anything to say?"

Answer: "I don't remember taking any money from the office if some is missing, I am responsible. I have access to the office".

Reciting questions asked and answers received in the written statement, Inspector Ferguson said:

Question: "Am I correct in saying you say if there is money gone you are responsible."

Answer: "Right".

Question: "Is there anything else you wish to say?"

Answer: "No."

Mr. Nourse asked Inspector Ferguson under cross examination if he remembered that when he and the other officers first arrived at Mis Lahey's apartment she thought it was a joke and one of the officers had to say, "Marjorie, it's for real."

"I don't remember that being said."

Eastminster Feeds Multitude With 500 Chickens, 110 Cakes

What does it take to produce a successful church chicken barbecue? Among other things, it takes 1,000 chicken halves, 525 lbs. of potatoes, 110 homemade cakes, 1,200 rolls, gallons of ice cream, assorted salads and relishes, a 40-foot barbecue pit and, a whopping 700 lbs. of charcoal.

These are the ingredients necessary for the Eastminster United Church annual chicken barbecue. Lots of hard work and planning goes into the popular event, too. That's where the United Church Women and the AOTS Men's Club enter the picture. And they receive assistance from church young people, members of the OGIT, Hi-C and the Sunday School.

Of course, any venture of this kind must be patronized by the public. There's no problem here as far as Eastminster is concerned. Yesterday's third annual barbecue attracted 1,160 customers, about 40 under last year's total but this year, everybody's servings were fewer. Once again, tired but happy workers were able to report a sell-out.

The men, under AOTS president Bob Lovering, were responsible for cooking the chicken. Decked out in chefs hats and aprons, they worked in teams, cooalmually turning the chicken on large racks they had devised themselves. It was hot work and a few of them admitted it was "hard on the back" but there were no shirkers.

The women looked after all the trimmings. They baked the potatoes, supplied the cakes and prepared the salads as well as performing countless other duties. Serving was done by the young people, who also waited on customers requesting takeout service.

Mrs. Edward Smith was convenor for the project. Co-convenor was Mrs. Allan Glover. Proceeds from the event will be used to improve the parking area at the church.

Cash Register Is Taken In Break-in

Police believe the break-in occurred about 1.20 a.m. The cash register is missing, but it believed there was very little cash in it.

The investigation continues.

Two Youths Given Terms; One Suspended

Three Belleville area youths were sentenced today on a charge of breaking and entering St. Michael's Church on May 30.

Donald Richard Campoli, 18, of 80½ Front Street, Robert Charles Malloy, 17, of Belleville, and James R. Akey, 18, of Bayside had been remanded in custody June 7th to await a pre-sentence report.

The youths had testified that they went into the church to sleep when discovered there by City Police Constable Akey was also found guilty of theft arising out of the same incident.

Campoli and Akey were each sentenced to six-month terms in the county jail, while Malloy, already on a suspended sentence, was told by Magistrate T. V. Wills "I'm going to give you a last chance."

Malloy's present 2-year suspended sentence will be amended by probation officer Don McKinnon, to whom the former was ordered to report every two weeks. The magistrate told Malloy "You will refrain from associating with any persons that Mr. McKinnon forbids you to."

Addressing the three youths, Magistrate Wills remarked "When you undertake to do something like this, I'm sure you must expect to pay the consequences if you are caught."

Three Detention Centres Sites Are Approved

The Honorable Allan Grossman, Minister of Reform Institutions, announced in the Legislature today that approval has just been given to the proposed sites for the Quinte Regional Detention Centre, the Kawartha Regional Detention Centre, and the Carleton Detention Centre.

All three groups have engaged architects who are actively working on the drawings and plans at the present time.

The additions included accountants and investigators. More of the staff was in the offing for Vancouver, where an office similar to those in the East will be established.

The superintendent's staff had risen to 31 from 11 in 1961.

Around the Kitty

The women's section of the bowling club held their annual competition for the Brading trophy last night at the local alleys and a rink of Mrs. Kay Moreau, Mrs. Dorothy Price with Mrs. Phyllis Graham as skip was the winner. There were ten rinks in play thrown entirely from the club rosier which shows that the women's section of the club is in a flourishing condition.

The runner-up rink to the champions was one of Mrs. Mary Robson, Mrs "Doll" Argue with Mrs. Millie Smith as skip, while a rink of Mrs. May Semple, Mrs. Jessie Hurter with Mrs. Grace Clapp as skip finished third. At the conclusion of play all repaired to the clubhouse where a committee under the president, Mrs. Li Macaro, served delightful refreshments of sandwiches and coffee.

The men bowlers of the club were relegated to the lower greens for their club games and were kindly invited to join the women at the social hour and this gesture was very much appreciated. The bowling season is now in full swing and it is pleasant to see so many new bowlers around the club. It is hoped the older members will make the new ones welcome and assist in aiding the newer ones to master their fine summer pastime.

SEES MORE INTEREST

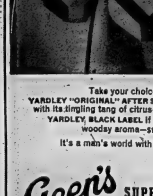
MONTREAL (CP)—The 1967 Montreal world's fair should stimulate interest in travel in Canada from the rest of the world on a long-term basis, Howard L. Clark, president of American Express Co., said Thursday. Mr. Clark, here to confer with fair officials, predicted that Canadians and U.S. residents will continue to spend more than $1,000,000,000 annually while travelling in each other's countries.

The District Chairman's tournament held on Wednesday afternoon attracted twelve rinks from Trenton, Kingston, Campbellford and Belleville. Gilbert McQuorodale, chairman of the district from Kingston, was in charge of the draw and made the bowlers welcome before the start of play.



The bowlers competed for the Corby trophy and Bill Johns, representative of the company was on hand during the afternoon play and presented the trophy and prizes at the conclusion of play. Claude Corby, the rack Avery as skip captured the trophy winning all three games. Two-game winner was another rink from the Belleville club of Charles Coleman and Frank Morrell, while the one-game winner was a rink from Trenton of L. Chouinard with Bill Fuller as skip.

IN MEMORIAM

BENNETT—In loving memory of a dear mother, Pearl Bennett, who passed away on June 17, 1965.

The dearest mother, the kindest friend,
One of the best whom God could send.
A heart so thoughtful, gentle and true,
Always willing a kind act to do.
—Ever remembered by Bernice and family.

WOODACRE, Walter — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away June 17, 1963.

My heart still aches with sadness,
And secret tears will flow,
What I miss most is your love,
Which no one will know.
Sleep on dear husband and father, sleep sweetly,
There's nothing more I can say or do,
I cannot hear your whisper,
Dear one and sorry too,
Each time I see your picture,
I long to hear your voice,
But I'll meet you in heaven,
We will meet again some day.
—Never forgotten by loving wife Iva and children and grandchildren.

Seaway

lier in the week during talks with both sides that began Monday in Cornwall and switched here Wednesday morning in order to be close to the source of power — the seaway's political headquarters.

Both sides met with Senator MacKenzie Thursday morning. But in the afternoon he kept the two parties in separate rooms and carried on a back-and-forth negotiating procedure.

The union had originally demanded a 35-per-cent increase in one year, later amending this to two years.

Seaway negotiators started at a three-per-cent raise in each year of a three-year contract. They later accepted a conciliation board report suggesting seven per cent immediately and another seven per cent next year.

The main aim of the seaway workers was to get close to parity with workers on the American side of the waterway. A U.S. official said the average wage for operating employees on the few seaway links situated in the U.S. is $3.37 an hour.

Crew

man of the Texaco Massena'astic, told of one unidentified man who "took off his own life bolt and gave it to somebody else—then he kept swimming from one man to another and helped them to the barge."

Colon said his ship struck the Alva Cape and "cut through it like a knife."

"Then napalma started to pour out of the Cape," Colon said. "Nothing serious would have happened but one of our ings was straining so hard to avoid the accident that it blew up."

The coast guard said the tug, the Capt. Vermost, apparently exploded when the naphtha-like petroleum distillate — washed over its engines. Eight of the Esso Vermont's nine-man crew were reported missing. One was rescued.

CAUSE OBSCURE

The cause of the collision remained a subject for coast guard investigation, which began immediately.

A police official in Bayonne, N.J., said one of the dead was Capt. Richard F. Pinder of Clarksboro, N.J., skipper of the Texaco Massachusetts.

The coast guard said the Alva Cape, carrying 4,200,000 gallons of naphtha into New York port under charter to Esso, though managed by a British company and flying a British flag.

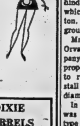
It collided with the Texaco Massachusetts at a spot where the Kill Van Kull is about 2,000 feet wide, at the entrance to Newark Bay. The coast guard said a crew member on board the two ships exchanged whistle blasts before the collision and the Alva Cape had dropped its anchor.

Each vessel was accompanied by a tug. The tug with the American ship, the Latin American, also sampled fire.

Several survivors reported that after they had leaped into the water a wind arose and swept back the spreading flames.

"That's how God helped us," said Colon. "The wind blew the fire away from every one of us. Then a police boat came by and picked us up."

Hours after the collision, the Alva Cape was reduced to a hulk of charred metal floating in the channel. The Texaco Massachusetts, less severely damaged, was towed to a pier.



The Texaco Massachusetts, built in 1961, is 604 feet long with a deadweight of 25,413 tons. The Alva Cape, 546 feet long, was built in 1953. Its deadweight is 18,252 tons.

Commission Will Appeal Decision of County Judge

Service Roads From Centres Are Requested

TRENTON — Mayor James MacDonald and Councillor Edward Todd met with members of Murray and Brighton township councils on Wednesday night to discuss the possibility of petitioning the Department of Highways to build service roads, running parallel to Highway 401, both sides of the throughway, from the service centres, four miles west of Trenton to Smithfield.

The upshot of the meeting was that Trenton town council, the Brighton village council and the two township councils will petition the department for the roads, which would enable motorists or those working at the service centres to drive east or west of the centres without going too far out of their way to get turned around on 401.

Meanwhile, Mr. Wilson reports the current membership campaign has surpassed last year's total membership of 143.

Ad Requests Man Over 50 For Position

TRENTON — "No men under 50 need apply."

A little unusual in this day and age?

Well, that's the way an ad for a janitor for buildings under jurisdiction of the Trenton Public Utilities Commission will read.

Commissioners decided yesterday many a retired man would appreciate the $1,800 a year job.

DECLINE TO SIGN

Trenton Public Utility Commissioners, meeting yesterday, declined to sign a deed which laid out that the commission would sell the town east side Orchard land for the Zigmond scrapyard for "$1, and other valuable considerations."

The commission want $1,000 an acre for the 3.45 acres involved, and weren't just sure the "other" would come across unless the exact figures was named in the deed.

The deed will be sent back to lawyers for revision.

CADETS VISIT VESSEL

Fourteen cadets from HCMCV "Provost", along with six cadets from Belleville and Picton visited aboard the RCN Cadet Vessel in Picton harbor yesterday.

Cordova Mine Will Re-open This Summer

MARMORA — Orvana Mines Ltd. has announced it will re-open Cordova gold mine this summer A 35-man crew will begin to prepare the property for operation in about two weeks time.

The mine was last worked by Consolidated Mining and Smelting in 1940. When the company moved to Trail, B.C. it left behind 36,000 tons of mined ore which assays at $12 of gold per ton. The ore is still under ground.

Mr. Iva Sopha, president of Orvana Mines says his company has spent $150,000 on the property in the past two years to repair mine buildings, install electricity and carry out diamond drilling.

In 1900 Cordova gold mine was the largest operation of its type in Canada.

MINISTER AT TRENTON BRIEFING — At the Air Transport Command Headquarters yesterday Defence Minister Paul Hellyer noted Canada's armed service air transport capabilities would be enlarged sizeably. Expansion in the command means a boost in area morale since it is a foregone conclusion that as the Department of National Defence installation at Trenton goes so goes the economy of the Quinte district. The minister is shown standing between Air Transport Commander Air Commodore G. G. Diamond (left) and Lee Grills, MP for Hastings South a member of the defence committee.

Committee Visits

Hellyer Predicts Expansion For Air Transport Command

Flying Officer E. A. Johnson, of Belleville, has successfully completed the RCAF Radio Navigator Course at the Air Navigation School in Winnipeg. He obtained his senior matriculation at the Quinte Secondary School prior to joining the RCAF under the Regular Officer Training Plan in 1961. He graduated with a Bachelor of Engineering Degree from Royal Military College of Canada in 1965. For the past year he has been undergoing intensive ground and air training as a student aviation officer. During officer Johnson will receive further training at an Operational Training Unit and 436 Squadron, Upland, Ontario, before taking up flying duties with Air Transport Command. His mother, Mrs. S. E. Turner, lives at 65 Grier Street. Her aunt is the former Joy Miller of Downview.

TRENTON — Expansion of the air transport proportion is in the cards for Air Transport Command according to Defence Minister Paul Hellyer who visited the Canadian Forces Base here yesterday with members of the Parliamentary committee on defence. The purpose of the defence committee's visit was to hear a brief on Air Transport Command, including an outline of its role, its tasks and the units and airports it operates, conferred at St. Hubert and Belleville earlier gathering information while considering estimates of expenditures for the armed forces totalling $2,000,000 of defence spending is allocated to Air Transport Command.

Members of the defence committee were moved to seek more information about a serious situation that existed in Air Transport Command last spring when the command was involved in "Exercise Winter Express". Transport Commander Air Commodore G. G. Diamond reported that the movement of 1,000 army personnel, 197 vehicles and 100,000 pounds of supplies in the northern flank of the NATO area in Norway left the command with no reserves. Group Capt. Diamond said that during the deployment operation all routine service flights, with the exception of one to the Arctic, had to be suspended. The airlift regarded as a success although some minor problems cropped up, pleased and satisfied the training planners, he observed. The requirements that called for the complete deployment of fully - equipped combat force within a seven - day period following seven days prior warning were met, he revealed.

He said the command could have sustained the operation for another week without losing efficiency, although the extra effort would have taxed personnel and aircraft to the limit.

MORALE GOOD

Commander Air Commodore Diamond disclosed his findings pertaining to morale within Air Training Command. Reporting a tour of the command from Et Arish in the Middle East to Comox in British Columbia he said he found the morale "good everywhere."

In addition the defence committee learned that air transport command now comprises 5,072 personnel. The figure includes 378 pilots, 216 navigators and radio officers and approximately 150 flight engineers. There is some improvement in persuading aircraft technicians to remain in the service, rather than seek release to join the civilian work force. If another Cyprus emergency should arise there would be no problems in air transport with the exception of aircraft technicians. If Air Transport Command is to meet both routine and emergencies commitments, a larger force is needed. As of April 1, Air Transport Command became responsible for the operational support of some 10,000 army militia located principally in Alberta and Ontario and transport base commanders are tackling this program with vigour and expect to achieve their commitments.

Among the members of the Parliamentary defence committee accompanying the minister on his visit here was Lee Grills, M.P. for Hastings South.

Pollution Subject of Talk At Meeting

TRENTON — John Ellen, of the Ontario Federation of Labour, spoke to the Trenton and District Labor Council in Trenton last night on the subject of pollution.

Mr. Ellen deplored the contamination of Ontario waterway by human and industrial wastes.

He said the water became polluted then, municipalities added chlorine and the residents used it for drinking water.

Mr. Ellen said the Ontario Water Resources Commission was doing a good job but needed wiser powers in order to punish individuals and industrialists for polluting the waterways.

Wilson Tackles Strike

Prime Minister Wilson is weathering more crises, both domestic and foreign, than many a British leader before him with the exception of Sir Winston Churchill.

A skilled politician, he has never shirked an issue. Rather he has tackled the country's many problems squarely, though not always with notably successful results.

The Rhodesian question is a case in point. With the political initiative and practical momentum of the gradually stepped up sanctions long since lost, this issue is now to all intents and purposes forgotten. Independence in Rhodesia, under the white minority government, is virtually an established fact.

Mr. Wilson did all he could, took every step that was politically possible, to prevent an illegal declaration of independence, and followed these up with sanctions — but to no avail.

Now he is wrestling with the seamen's union leaders, but at this juncture has not succeeded in effecting a settlement of the shipping strike in Britain.

Indeed, the British leader may be reflecting ruefully on Prime Minister Pearson's successful intervention in the Quebec longshoremen's strike. Perhaps Mr. Pearson could give him a few tips.

The thought occurs that the leader of the Labor government may not have as much influence over the predominantly socialist union membership in Britain as might be supposed. On the other hand, the Conservatives would have even less. The unions in Britain are extremely powerful, and the seamen's strike is further proof of this.

Dockers Win Raise

With the increase in wages accorded the Quebec longshoremen after a 37-day strike, it is going to be difficult to avoid similar increases in the case of the Seaway employees.

The rise in the cost of living is a continuing fact, so that the current spate of wage demands is not surprising. For one thing, the dollar has lost more than 20 cents in spending power since 1949.

The consumer price index last month, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, was 3.9 per cent higher than it was a year earlier. In other words, last month it cost $14.34 to buy what $10 bought in 1949.

Such increases are part and parcel of the free enterprise system. On the other hand, economists say ideally prices should not rise more than 1½ to two per cent a year. Last month the consumer price index was 3.9 per cent higher than it was a year earlier.

The country can stand only so much of this, unless productivity is increased to balance it. Unfortunately the lengthy strike of the dockers and the possibility of a similar shutdown by the seaway workers cannot but have an adverse effect on overall national production.

A prime example of lagging production as a result of the longshoremen's walkout is Expo 67 where construction work was seriously curtailed. On a cumulative basis, the various strikes now in progress or pending in Canada, are causing considerable delay to the project.

Yet, this is one of the prices that must be paid for the system of free enterprise on which our economy is based.

Jack Ruby Case

The anomalies of the United States' legal system are no more apparent than in the long drawn-out case of Jack Ruby, the Dallas nightclub owner who shot and killed Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused of assassinating President Kennedy.

Convicted in 1964, Ruby has been languishing in jail since, pending a hearing to determine his mental competence at the time he killed Oswald.

Prior to the hearing, Ruby was reported outwardly calm. He had been spending his time playing dominoes, reading the Bible and doing occasional pushups as he awaited the final court decision.

Now the decision has been made. A jury has found Ruby legally sane. Ruby himself took the stand, declaring: "Never at any time have I tried to make anyone believe that I was of unsound mind. I never tried to camouflage my mental capacities."

Ruby does not fit one's conception of the criminal type. When he was arrested after firing the shot that killed the suspected assassin of the president, he explained simply that he had done it to spare Mrs. Kennedy the further ordeal of being a witness at Oswald's trial.

What Ruby did could have been interpreted as a symbol of the anguish felt by millions around the world at what had occurred. Indeed, had President Kennedy not been slain, Ruby today would likely be running his nightclub, instead of standing trial for his life.

Brantford's Downtown Image

Brantford Expositor

Some 20 times in the last 13 years the newspaper has urged editorially that Brantford start planning its development in long-range terms and especially should take steps to reverse the drift to drabness that makes much of our central area an eyesore. After many years of delay we are to get a development plan including suggestions for downtown renewal. But what then? Will this be received with the same apathy and indifference that met those early calls for action?

The portents are not encouraging. The latest is the displeasing result of a survey of civic-minded action of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in connection of a survey of opinion on Brantford's major problems. As we reported on Saturday, of the 2,500 persons who received the questionnaire, only 400 bothered to answer it. Five persons out of every six in this sample poll ignored it, possibly because its nearly 100 questions were too many to ask in one survey.

It is no surprise that of those who did co-operate, 83 percent mentioned the shoddy appearance of our downtown area and 77 per cent thought the physical appearance of the whole community needs improvement. Anyone who can not see the deterioration of a central facelift and the unsightliness of some of our urban streets probably cannot read. It is not big, he can do nothing about it. "It is true that the pervading shabbiness is chiefly the responsibility have been presented with higher of the property owners. A few have rebuilt their premises instead of just putting on a new false front, and for their pains tax bills. Other who rest their premises to retailers have chosen to sit back, draw the revenue, put little or none of it into rebuilding and modernizing and so have kept their tax bills down. Thanks to our tax system, enterprise has been penalized and neglect encouraged.

The result is a down town patchwork of new and obsolete. And only now that revenue from out-of-date premises is declining are their owners seeing the folly of their course. Meanwhile, valuable years that could have been used to give our central area a new face have been lost, and when renewal steps are taken, as they must be, the cost will be very much higher than it need have been.

All over this continent cities no larger than Brantford have embarked upon or completed schemes of downtown redevelopment. These have required and received the co-operation of councils, property owners, businessmen and governments. Of this there is no sign in Brantford amid the talk of the need for renewal coupled with some moaning about loss of business to fringe plazas.

What city council receives the experts' suggestions for improving the city core, are we to have action, which requires vision, civic and business leadership, or yet another long period of debate, drift and indecision such as has marked our handling of too many other projects? If then the public indifference is as great as the Jaycees' survey indicates the prospects are dim for getting the face-lift downtown Brantford badly needs.

Fenian Raids Irish Affair

Letter from author Marcus Van Steen in The Globe and Mail

I should like to make one small comment on the excellent article on the Battle of Ridgeway which appeared in your issue of June 8 in it, your writer, Michael Enright, says that the objectives of the Fenian Brotherhood which planned the invasion of Canada was to transform "Ireland from a backward British colony to an energetic young republic." He also refers to "English rule in Ireland."

Ireland never was a "British colony" and Ireland was no more under English rule than Nova Scotia can be said to be under Ontario's rule. The status of Ireland following the Act of Union of 1801 was that of a fully-representative part of the United Kingdom, sending members, in proportion to its population, to both Houses of Parliament in Westminster. Before 1801, Ireland had its own Parliament, sitting in Dublin.

The objectives of the Fenian Brotherhood, and other similar groups which followed, was to involve the union with Britain, and much of the struggle for Irish Home Rule was not between Irish and English but between the Irish who wanted to break away from the United Kingdom and those who wished to remain united — as the Irish of Northern Ireland still do.

Newfoundland On the March

Royal Bank Letter

Since Newfoundland, the most underdeveloped of the provinces, joined Confederation in 1949 its budget has quintupled; it has built more than a thousand new schools and doubled the number of teachers; it has paved hundreds of miles of roads; its personal income has climbed from $163 million to $528 million; automobiles have increased from 14,000 to 65,500. People in isolated outports are moving their homes en masse to central locations where they can have the advantages of schools, electric power, telephones, medical services and modern fish-packing plants. Infant mortality has been reduced from 92 per thousand live births in 1951-54 to 31 in 1964, and maternal mortality from 4.2 to 0.4.

An Age of Fancy Titles

Stratford Beacon-Herald

Remember when the Department of Lands and Forests stocked streams and anglers caught fish?

That day is fast forever, out of sight, gone the way of watch fobs and spats.

The lands and forests people now plant streams and anglers harvest fish. We have it in black and white, on the pages of the department's regular news release.

We no longer live in the age of simple words. Instead of one word, we are handed a mouthful.

Years ago, the lands and forests employed a game warden. Remember? Now we have conservation officers.

It's not much of a step to wildlife species protection agents.

To Your Good Health

Suffers Seven Years From Fungus Rash

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am writing because I don't know where else to turn. Seven years ago, my husband went to a skin specialist for a fungus-type rash on his scrotum. The doctor advised switching to a bland soap and to wear boxer shorts to allow more air to reach the area. He also prescribed some medicine.

Seven years later he still has this condition. The rash causes excessive itching, but being modest and also stubborn he says he went to a doctor once and it didn't help so he'll just continue to suffer.

I called the doctor and all but begged him to give me a prescription for the medicine he prescribed before but he refused unless my husband would come in. Is there anything I could do or get for him that wouldn't be harmful? — Mrs. J. W.

Alas, there is no pill to make husbands go to the doctor when they should, nor is there one for wives who don't. (Men are usually worse than women, though.)

There are two sound arguments which might sayw him. You can try. First, "it has trouble really is fungus, as may well be the case, one new anti-fungus drug was just achieving strong recognition some years ago. Another startling good one has become available within the last year. One or the other might make a world of difference.

Second, expecting a doctor, even a specialist, to cure a fungus infection on the basis of one visit is asking too much. Sometimes it can be done, but fungus-as-your suffering husband) and react in different ways to treatment.

When a case begins to improve with a certain treatment, then you continue it. If not, you try something else. Yet your husband prefers to itch because he wasn't cured in just one visit seven years ago.

I've known the newer medications to put an end to fungus infections which had defied all treatment for 20 years or more. The only sensible thing, it seems to me, is to try again.

Your doctor was quite right in giving a prescription without an examination.

I hope your husband sees the light. It's painful even to think of him suffering from that tooth for the next seven years. If it has lasted this long, obviously it won't cure itself.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please settle an argument. When my neighbor removes leftover food from the refrigerator to warm up for a meal, she always cooks the whole batch, saying that heat kills the germs.

My thought is that only the amount needed for the meal should be warmed. Please straighten us out. — M. M.

You are correct. Yes, cooking will kill germs, but "cooking things up" doesn't always mean getting the food hot enough all the way through to kill germs. In fact, mere warming encourages bacteria, which is why so many people manage to get a food poisoning on picnics in hot weather. The food too often sits in the sun, or in the hot trunk of a car for some hours, instead of being kept cool.

It is better to keep food in the refrigerator until time to warm it up, then heat only what is needed.

Thorough cooking of the whole batch would get it pretty well dried out if repeated.

Note to R.I.D.: You received conflicting answers because you asked a question that cannot be answered positively. A Pap smear of the cervix might show evidence of the womb, either the body of the womb, or the cervix, which is part of it.

Lignite Is Source of Power

Windsor Star

Northern Ontario, with its vast resources of minerals, timber and water, has been a source of wealth for this province and for Canada. And some riches up there haven't yet been tapped.

This is illustrated by the Ontario Government's desire to have a heavy water plant established some 70 miles from James Bay. This heavy water is needed for uranium processing. The most modern development, however, would be based on one of the North's oldest known resources.

There is a huge lignite field in the area. This could provide cheap fuel for the heavy water plant and also for an electric generating plant.

This lignite deposit has been there all along. There was talk 30 years and more ago of developing it. Economics were against it. It is low grade coal and the cost of transporting it to the industrial part of Ontario would have been prohibitive.

In any case, with the increasing use of electricity, oil and gas, the mining of coal everywhere in Canada ran into economic difficulties.

Northern Ontario was opened up mainly by the discovery of gold and other precious minerals. Then came the development of the base metal deposits along, of course, with the timber resources.

It will be a queer twist if the last valuable of the mineral deposits of the North should become valuable by the linking of lignite with modern technology and processes, one of the newest forms of mineral wealth.

This development isn't yet a sure thing. It only means Ontario is trying to get the heavy water plant and to combine it with the use of lignite.

If it comes off, however, another resource of Northern Ontario will be a source of wealth. It will mean the present Government of Ontario has succeeded, where all previous governments failed, in finding an economic use for this lignite.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

June 17, 1966 . . .

The French missionaries Marquette and Joliet discovered the Mississippi River 231 years ago today — in 1673 — on a mission of exploration from Upper Ste. Marie. The two Jesuit agents explored Illinois and travelled down the Mississippi as far as the Arkansas River before returning because of illness and poor health. He died in 1675, aged 40. Their exploration was made because of Indian reports that a great river flowed south, perhaps to the Gulf of California, thus providing a navigable route to China.

1845 — The French fort of Louisbourg, Cape Breton, surrendered to the British.

1896 — 302 people were drowned in the wreck of the Drummond Castle off the French Coast.

First World War

Fifty years ago today — in 1916 — Russia recaptured Czernowitz, capital of Bukovina; HMS Eden sank in the English Channel after a collision; German units at Verdun introduced flamethrowers in the second attack.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today — in 1941 — Lord Beaverbrook announced the existence of what is to be a broadcast appeal for electronics technicians; 16 German and 11 RAF aircraft were shot down in the day's combat in Europe and 20 Axis for six RAF aircraft in the Mediterranean theatre.

The Ideal and the Reality

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

At the beginning of this year, the editor of the "Bulletin of Atomic Scientists" sadly pointed out that "after two decades, the nations of the world haven't adjusted their relationships to the revolution in human existence which began with the destruction of Hiroshima in 1945."

This revolution, he went on to say, created a reversal of values between what was "realistic" and what was "idealistic." But the governments, and the people, with few exceptions, are still not aware of this reversal of values.

What the first atomic bomb was exploded, such phrases as "national sovereignty" and "national security" and "military superiority" and "victory in war" had some meaning and made some sense. They were part of the world of reality which nobody could deny.

And, until then, such naive phrases as "permanent peace" and "general disarmament" and "control of common interests by all nations" were little more than utopian dreams, which may have made sense morally and theoretically, but had little practical effect in the world of reality.

Today, the militaristic and nationalistic phrases are utopian and unrealistic, while the peace and disarmament phrases have become the only realistic political program for all nations.

How has this come about? It has happened because modern war is not only quantitatively different but also qualitatively different from war in the past. Indeed, it has nothing in common with it except the name; and it is by using the same words to describe past and future "wars" that we continue to delude ourselves into not facing about the same thing.

In actuality, atomic war-fare is the direct opposite of past wars. For past wars had boundaries, clearly-defined areas of conflict, distinctions between military and civilian populations, limited aims, and limited casualties for the directions and limited damage on the enemy.

None of this utterly disappeared in the nuclear age of conflict. The whole world is now the battlefield. The civilians will suffer even more horribly than the military, the capabilities for total destruction are multiplied — and worst of all, as the rate of nuclear proliferation continues to increase, no larger and more stable governments find themselves powerless to prevent smaller and more desperate countries from building and brandishing nuclear weapons, and thus adding to the probability of war by accident or madness or mere technical stupidity.

We have little "sovereignty" or "security" any more, and our "military superiority" is an Atlantic illusion. As so often happens in history, yesterday's "reality" has become our only reliable guide to reality, a not yesterday's "realist" is fighting the wrong war.

Group Home Parents Wanted

To assume full responsibility for the operation of a Society-owned home located in the City of Belleville, offering group living to approximately six teen-age girls. These will be local girls in attendance at city schools. The home will be completely furnished and the Society will assume the cost of food, heat, light, etc. While the house mother will be a salaried employee of the Society, her husband, who will be expected to accept the normal responsibilities of the head of a home, may be gainfully employed elsewhere. Interested applicants should be between the ages of thirty and forty-five, enjoy good health, be secure in their personal and emotional relationship, and possess as a very minimum, secondary school education. Needless to say, they should be genuinely fond of young people and sympathetic to their problems. They will be expected to work as part of a team, take supervision and participate fully in staff training programs. Couples with a maximum of two children will be considered.

The many advantages offered should make this position attractive to young professional people, for example: an elementary or secondary school teacher and his wife. The commencing salary (which includes full maintenance) will be dependent upon the academic qualification and/or experience, etc. of the applicants. Full staff benefits including medical, surgical, hospital care, group life insurance, OMERS pension plan, three weeks annual vacation will apply. Duties commence on or about the 1st of September, 1966.

Labor Saving Techniques Moving More Farmers Into Growing Corn in District

Things are changing down on the farm as labor saving techniques take over where long hours and hard sweat used to be the accepted rule.

The case in point is the growing of corn which in recent years had made big strides in the Bay of Quinte area.

There are three main reasons: (1) earlier maturing corn varieties have been developed; (2) farmers are appreciating the greater feed potential of corn; and (3) modern day machinery and new growing techniques have all but eliminated the former hard work.

In the old days the growing of corn meant hours of cultivation during the growing season and manhandling of heavy sheaves at silo filling time.

But that is all in the past.

PLANTED MECHANICALLY

Today heavy tractor equipped gangways the corn growing; the corn is planted mechanically and silo filling has been turned into a completely mechanized operation.

And modern day spray chemicals are even doing away with the former need for cultivation.

Agricultural representative Dave Chamberlain points out that this year again has seen greatly increased acreages of corn planted in the Quinte district. Dealers, suppliers and the county agricultural office at Stirling are being flooded with enquiries about the proper sprays to use for weed control.

CHEMICALS TAKE OVER

Mr. Tipper says that in many instances the spray chemicals have taken over completely for control of weeds with no cultivation at all,being done during the growing season.

"Definitely the trend today is to get away from cultivation as much as possible", the agricultural representative says. "Farmers want to reduce labor costs as much as possible."

Price of Milk To Be Hiked In Near Future

Bad news for local householders.

The price of milk is soon to be increased again.

The reason is that the price paid to farmers will be increased on July 1st by 46 cents per cwt. and local milk distributors say the increase will be passed along to the consumer.

Milk distributors say they have been directed by the Ontario Milk Marketing Board to increase the farmers' payment for milk from the present $5.36 to $5.76 per cwt. It will be the second increase this year for farmers who in January received a 17 cents per cwt. boost from $5.12.

Although local distributors have been notified to increase farmers' payments no decision has been made to what the per quart increase for bottled milk will be in the Quinte district.

Rumor has it that the increase will be at least two cents but in larger metropolitan areas there is talk of a three cent increase.

The present delivered price for bottled milk is 27 cents per quart with three-quart jugs selling at the dairy and at the supermarkets for 86 cents.

Grade 13 Papers Cut to Seven Says Papers

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram says hundreds of Grade 13 students who would have failed their final exams last year have been saved by a decision to cut the number of required passing papers to seven from eight.

The paper says the announcement, which will not affect university requirements, was mailed today to principals, teachers and senior education officials.

It says that 1066 Grade 13 diplomas will be awarded for seven rather than eight papers —English (or French) and six other subjects that don't include physical education.

The Telegram says the memorandum took principals by surprise because the reduction had been planned for June, 1967.

Editor's note: The Superintending Principal of High School District E. Arnold Orr, has not as yet received notification.

Area Farmers Starting to Take Off Hay

The growing season this year was a week or so late because of the cold spring, but farmers in the Quinte district have been busy getting their hay harvesting operations.

The far most of the hay being cut is going into silos but conventional haying is expected to be in full swing by next week.

By conventional haying is meant hay will be cut with the mower, allowed to dry in the swath and windrow and later baled.

Belleville Livestock

Honda Proves Virtually Unbeatable

ADVT.

Honda does it again! To the Steel City Scramble recently held at Lyndon Track near Hamilton, and sanctioned by the Canadian Motorcycle Association, Honda S-90's finished one-two-three in the competition for 90 cc bikes up to 100 cc. The Hondas were ridden by Fred Pistone and Fred Christiansen of Hamilton and Derek Brown of Toronto.

In another race held in connection with the Trillium Trophy, John and Mike Manley of Toronto ran away with the combined race for 100 cc. and 200 cc. with a Honda 90 and a Honda 250 Super Sport. In the Ontario Motorcycle Grand Prix at Hammond on Victoria Day Mike Manley set the pace in the 100 cc. event.

Whether you're interested in competition or just riding for pleasure, you can't beat a Honda for performance and reliability. The four cycle engine gives smooth power, long life and economical operation.

Mr. Miller said the executive of the union will meet in Port Elgin Saturday to decide whether to call for province-wide tractor protests. All protests so far have been organized by area locals of the union.

A parade of tractors Thursday along Highway 4 and 21 for the meeting in London brought tractors together from Watford, Petrolia, Camlachie, Forest, Arkona, Kerwood, Wardsville, Ailsa Craig, Lakeside, Stratford and St. Marys.

Provincial police said the Highway Traffic Act would not allow them to halt the demonstration but officers were ordered to have the tractors pull over to the side from time to time to allow other vehicles to pass.

Union delegates from five eastern Ontario counties will meet in Richmond, 20 miles south of Ottawa, June 24 to discuss the price problem. Another meeting has been called for Peterborough June 23.

Mr. Miller has asked for a meeting with Mr. Stewart but although he has agreed, no date has been set.

Before her recent marriage, Mrs. Reginald J. Osborne, formerly Carolyn Marie Vesterfelt of Belleville, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower given by Rev. Beth at Centre Street United Church Hall, by Mrs. Ken Osborne at the home of the bridegroom, and by a personation from the women at Mead Johnson of Canada. Mr. Osborne was presented with a gift from Campbell Construction Company where he is employed and with a gift from his co workers in Deux Rivieres.

COUPLED TRUCKED

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — A decorated wedding car wasn't good enough, so friends of the groom put 20 chairs on his flat bed truck and met him at the church. Herb Farley of Brantford, his bride, Grace Mintz of Kitchener, Ont., and 30 guests led a parade around the town to the reception hall. Herb may not have been pleased with the novel idea—he hadn't let anyone else drive his truck for two years.

MR. AND MRS. REGINALD JOHN OSBORNE

Osborne – Vesterfelt

Carolyn Marie Vesterfelt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Earl Vesterfelt of Belleville, was united in marriage to Reginald John Osborne, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Osborne of Bannockburn by Rev. Roy Vesper in College Hill United Church, Belleville on Saturday, June 11, 1966, at 2.30 p.m. Mrs. Blakely played the wedding music and Mrs. Donna Peters, soloist of the bride, was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor - length sheath gown of white Chantilly lace with a sleeveless coat of sheer organza extending into a short train banded with matching scalloped lace. The gown featured lily - point sleeves and a scalloped neckline with four - tier shoulder length scalloped veil of silk illusion was caught with a headpiece of small organza roses and rhinestones, and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses centred with two white cymbidium orchids.

Miss Beverly Belch was maid of honor, wearing a rose-colored floor - length gown of silk georgette over taffeta, complimented with a cummerbund of bonded white lace with a bow at the back. Her headpiece was a puff of net centred with three rosettes of matching material and sprigs of lily-of-the-valley. She carried a cascade bouquet of white mums and red carnations.

The bridesmaids, Miss Brenda Vesterfelt and Miss Darlene Vesterfelt, sisters of the bride, were turquoise dresses similar in style to that of the maid of honor. Their flowers were cascades of white mums and turquoise tinted carnations.

Mr. William Pearson was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Alan Wilson, and Mr. Gordon Vesterfelt, brother of the bride.

At the reception at Parkdale Community Hall the bride's mother received the guests in a pink lace over taffeta dress, with deep pink and white accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a street - length dress of beige with matching accessories and a red rose corsage.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a pink and white striped suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

On their return, the couple will live at Deux Rivieres, Ontario.

Readers' Friday Column

QUESTION: . . . a recipe for biscuit and pie crust using oil instead of lard or shortening please . . . Mrs. M. B.

FRIDAY
Dinner Menu
by Mary
Moore

Baked Whitefish with Relish Stuffing; Baked Jacket Potatoes; Parsleyed Whole New Carrots; Head Lettuce and Watercress Salad with Russian Dressing; Rhubarb Pie; Cheddar Cheese; Tea.

Variation: Cheese Biscuits: Add ¼ cup grated Cheddar cheese to flour mixture.

QUESTION: Your Oven Potato Chips are a standby — the best yet, but I have misplaced the recipe! Please! A.H.

ANSWER: It is three years since it appeared here and our young brides will appreciate it too.

OVEN CHIPS (serves 4)

Scrub and pare 6 medium size potatoes. Cut into the familiar strips that are the length of the potato but ¼" x ¼". Soak for 1 hour in very cold water to cover. Drain and dry on heavy towel. Turn onto large very shallow baking dish and arrange in a single layer if possible. (The broiler pan is ideal.) Brush liberally with melted shortening or margarine or butter or salad oil, turning them over and brushing other side. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 30 min., turning 3 times. Drain on paper towels, sprinkle with salt. Serve at once.

ALIENATION SICKENS

The World health Organization says that the isolation of individuals in a seemingly hostile environment produces mental disturbance, and that this underlies many of the effects of urbanization.

Susanna's Family Fare

WAYOUT DESIGN FOR HEAT MATS

Dear Susanna; I am not very good at writing anything like this, but I understand you are always glad to exchange a pattern for a hint, and the nylon flower corsage you wrote about appeals to me very much.

Here is a pleasant way to make heat mats for placing under serving dishes that are brought to the table.

Take old rubber sealer rings and crochet in and out around the rings with yarn or cord. Join as many together as you wish depending on the size of heat mat needed. — Lorna Beckwith

SHAMPOO 'HAIR STYLES'

Hi! Children will look forward to having their hair shampooed if you will hand them a mirror, hair-way through and show them how to make peaks and swirls and new hair styles with the suds.

Watch it, however, that nothing runs into their eyes! — Mrs. W. Marks

ANYONE FOR EGGS?

Dear Susanna: Have just finished hacking the cauliflower in to the refrigerator ready for a snack during our drive to the cottage in the morning — so I know whereof I speak.

Use a pastry blender to chop hard-cooked eggs — add salt, pepper and chopped onion, and combine with the blender. Mrs. L. Bradley.

— On the other hand, Mrs. Beverley McEwen writes to say she prefers to use a potato masher with square holes for preparing large quantities of chopped eggs quickly. — Susanna.

WEDDING

THOMPSON — CORRIGAN

Patricia Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William V. Corrigan of Ottawa and William James Thompson of Canadian Forces Base, Trenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Thompson of Ottawa, were married in St. Martin's Presbyterian Church, Manor Park, Ottawa. The ceremony was performed on Saturday, June 11, 1966 at 1:00 p.m. by Dr. Peter Richardson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length white peau de soie gown lightly adorned with rose petal lace and accented with pearl sequins. The gown had lily-point sleeves and a train flowing from the waist. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a cluster of white flowers and she carried a bouquet of white baby mums and red sweetheart roses.

Miss Virginia Case of Ottawa, maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown of aqua chiffon. From the Empire waistline flowed a chiffon overlay accented with a small peau de soie bow. Miss Gwenda Dellor of Stirling, bridesmaid, wore a matching aqua gown. Both attendants wore headpieces of peau de soie bows and chiffon netting and carried bouquets of white mums and yellow carnations.

Mr. Kenneth Thompson was his brother's attendant and Mr. Ralph Dellor of Stirling and Mr. Richard Besserer of Ottawa ushered the guests.

At the reception at Eastview Hotel, Eastview, Ontario, the bride's mother received the guests dressed in a pink crepe ensemble with Chantilly lace bodice and matching lace appliques on the shirt. Her accessories were white and her corsage was of pink carnations with white baby mums. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a gown of blue crepe with a bolero of matching lace, blue and white accessories and a corsage of baby mums and pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will live at 358 Sidney Street, Belleville.

Way Parents Act Will Have Important Bearing On Future of the Girl

The way parents react when they discover their unwed daughter is pregnant may have an important bearing on the girl's future and her relations with her family. A reporter who has spent weeks in research on the problems of the unmarried mother tells what the family's reaction can mean.

By DINY DALBY
of the London Free Press

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The fact that a teen-age daughter is pregnant is a bitter pill to swallow for even the most understanding parents.

Their immediate reaction, and subsequent attitude, can make or break the family's future relationship.

By the time the girl comes to her parents with her secret, she is at the end of her rope.

"The girl may be in tremendous anxiety because she hasn't told her mother and the second thing is usually 'the better,'" says Dr. R. A. H. Kinch, head of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Western Ontario.

To the mother of the pregnant girl, he says:

"If you really love your daughter, you must show her more love now than ever before."

Part of her guilt is associated with what she has done to her parents.

An unmarried pregnancy can bring a family closer together by breaking down the communication barrier that often exists between parents and teen-ager.

One 16-year-old unmarried mother confessed she never paid much attention to her mother's wishes and suggestions. Now she has love and respect for her. In this case, the mother took the news of her daughter's pregnancy calmly, indicating it did not interfere with her love for the girl.

LEARN FROM MISTAKE

Another girl who had never been close to her father was relieved when his reaction was: "We all make mistakes; perhaps you'll learn something by it."

In many cases, at least one of the parents turns on the pregnant girl.

It tells the story that her mother long suspected she was pregnant. Rather than confronting her daughter with her suspicions, she confided in a neighbor. Word of the girl's pregnancy spread through the neighborhood.

It's mother then forced her to take "little white pills she got from a lady down the street."

(Dr. Kinch says the pills were probably ergot or quinine which will not dislodge the baby but could poison the mother.)

When the pills failed, It's mother forced her to take hot mustard baths. Again they were unsuccessful. Finally, against her wishes, she was sent to a maternity home. She had hoped to live with a relative in another city until the baby was born.

It's father "blew the roof" when he learned his daughter was pregnant. He told her to get out but she had no place to go. He refused to let it in her and after weeks of tension she attempted suicide.

"I guess I goofed it up because I really didn't want to die," she says. "I just wanted my dad to notice me."

BOTH BITTER

In both cases the girls were hurt and bitter about the way their were treated by their families.

Where does a family turn for advice when a daughter becomes pregnant?

As soon as pregnancy is medically confirmed, the family should consult the local Children's Aid Society. Time is of the essence since officials prefer to work with the family while they can still make calm decisions.

The social worker assigned to the case needs time to get to know the girl and her family background. She will advise the family on ways in which the unwed mother can spend her months of confinement.

An increasing number are staying home during their pregnancy, says A. P. Bales of the Children's Aid Society in London. This has become possible in the last 10 years because communities are more tolerant.

"Since this is a time of crisis the girl is better off with those who love her."

Mr. Bales says about 60 per cent of unwed mothers served by the society in London remain at home; others go to private homes and maternity homes.

FATHER MAY NEED AID

Throughout pregnancy the girl is visited by her social worker even if she is in another city. When the baby is born the society continues to work with her, helping her decide the baby's future.

The society is concerned with the welfare of the father for he, too, needs counselling, says Mr. Bales. He may have the same feelings about becoming a father as his married brother but because he isn't married he can't express them."

Since the father of the child is equally responsible, society officials encourage him to share in the cost of the confinement. If he refuses to pay and the girl decides to take legal action, the society assumes the responsibility of seeing the case through court.

In cases where the girl has been the aggressor, the boy is not always told he has fathered an illegitimate child.

"Sometimes the girl will try to get pregnant to hurt her family, feeling the boy or force marriage," says Mr. Bales.

Under normal circumstances the unwed mother needs much more than financial assistance from the child's father. She needs emotional support. Lacking this, the lonely experience of unwanted pregnancy may leave irreparable damage.

Tomorrow: Are maternity homes the answer?

IODE Chapter Names Bridge Marathon Winners

The June meeting of the St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. was held at the home of Mrs. W. Slade on Monday evening. After a tasty potluck supper a short business meeting was conducted by the Regent, Mrs. C. Home.

Mrs. Thompson announced the winners of the afternoon bridge marathon with prizes going to Mrs. R. Ellis and Mrs. C. Whitehorne; Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Ibbotson; Mrs. Yates and Mrs. Colby, and Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Weymark.

The season was concluded by a luncheon bridge and the winners for the afternoon were Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Ellis.

The winners of the evening bridge marathon were Mrs. Patterno and Mrs. Sellers and Mrs. Slade and Mrs. Home. The winners at the closing party were Mrs. Riley, Mrs. Gordine and Mrs. Daniels.

Proceeds from the marathons are used to further the work of the Chapter.

Mrs. Hume reported that the rummage sale held recently in conjunction with the Argyll Chapter was successful and that the proceeds were being sent to the Canadian Mental Health Association.

It was reported by Mrs. Whitemore that another box of toys, magazines and clothing had been sent to the Fox Nursing Station and that two boxes had been shipped to I.O.D.E. Headquarters for distribution.

World Affairs convener Mrs. J. Perry gave an interesting report on the life of Sir John A. MacDonald.

GIRL GUIDE, BROWNIE NEWS

Belleville South East District

A mother and daughter pot luck supper with Mrs. A. V. Lorring as Brown Owl was held by the 1st 38th BELLEVILLE Brownie pack at the Lutheran Church on Victoria Ave.

The Brownies entertained their guests with songs and a play.

In appreciation for the use of the church for their banquet, 85 was given to the Lutheran Church towards a tree to be planted for their centennial project.

Pamela Morden, Mary Ellen Nurse, Kim Keenan and Laurie Dentenbeck received Golden Hazel badges, and Golden Bar badges were awarded to Wendy Russell, Lori Baldwin, Cathy Graham, Lou-Anne Dolong, Patricia Thompson, Christine Watson, Brenda Austin, Dianne Thesen, Donna Romain, and Susan Doherty.

Mrs. M. Chartrand's PACK 18 Brownies have also completed a busy year.

Linda Moore completed her Golden Hazel and Fleur Up to Guides while three other Brownies "walked up."

Twelve golden Bars were presented and 13 proficiency badges including collectors, horse orderly and Religion and Life emblems.

Linda Brownie of the Year award was presented to Lorie Duffy.

The Brownies recently entertained the children and teachers of St. Joseph's school with a concert and sing-song.

A mother and daughter tea was held in the Parish Hall.

Among the guests were the Right Reverend J. A. Carley, Rev. Chas. Gamley, Mrs. D. Dundas and president of the CWL and District Commissioner Colleen.

VALUES SPOUSE

TORONTO (CP)—An American team of home economists calculated a wife to be worth $10,000 a year in the labor market. This includes $2,600 a year as cook and waitress; $900 as dishwasher; $1,170 as maid; $620 as laundress; $3,110 as housekeeper, seamstress and gardener; and $1,580 a year for "miscellaneous" labor.

Ann Landers Thinks Trouble-maker Reports Strange Antics

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently my husband changed jobs. Now he is employed in an office which has some very strange customs.

Several secretaries, I am told, eat their lunch at their desks and then go out for what they call a lunch hour. They sometimes return as late as 2:00 p.m. and pass the word that they had to go to the bank, the doctor, the dentist, or shopping.

The men and the women in the office call each other "Doll, Baby, Honey, Dear" and other pet names. They kiss one another when they meet on the street or at a party, or any places at all. If they are so friendly in public who do you think goes on in private? — JUST A DUMB HOUSEWIFE.

DEAR DUMB HOUSEWIFE: Probably nothing — or they'd be more reserved in the presence of others.

I suspect the bearer of all these glad tidings, who happily reports the goings on at the office, is a bit of a trouble-maker. It is a fact that many office workers must do their shopping or banking and see doctors and dentists during their lunch hours, because it's the only time available.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend of my husband's has spent the last two months crying on my neck over a woman he had loved and lost. He begged me to help him get her back, and I agreed.

I didn't realize I had such persuasive powers but after a 20-minute conversation she said, "You are right. Jim is a wonderful person. I shouldn't have broken up with him. Please ask him to call me and we'll pick up where we left off."

When I told Jim of my success he said, "I don't want her now. She has caused me so much grief I could never trust her again." I almost went through the floor.

I told my husband and he was very unsympathetic. He said it served me right for getting involved in other people's affairs.

The woman has been calling to ask why she hasn't heard from Jim. I don't know what to say. After having told her that Jim is madly in love with her I can't bring myself to tell her he has suddenly changed his mind. She will think I am nuts.

Please give me some advice. — CUPID FOR LAST TIME.

DEAR CUPID: It's always a mistake to try to glue together the broken romances of friends. M they can't put the pieces together, forget it, Doll.

Tell the woman the truth. She won't think you're nuts. She'll think he's nuts.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 14-year-old girl who would like some suggestions on what to talk about when I am dancing with a boy. I can't think of anything to say and I feel real stupid. Thanks for your help. — MUSIC WITHOUT WORDS.

* * *

DEAR WITHOUT: Good dancers don't talk — they just dance. When you see a couple conversing madly on the dance floor it's a safe bet that at least one of them is a very poor dancer.

ALPHA LAMBDA CHAPTER

A meeting of the Alpha Lambda Chapter of Sigma Phi was held last Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Lillian Watson with Mrs. Lorene Siter as co-hostess.

The program for the evening dealt with travel and Alice Woods of the sorority gave a most interesting travelogue dealing with two Xhosa. The first entitled "City of Many Faces" showed many interesting scenes in the city of Vancouver, while the second, "Painting a Province" gave a vivid account of artists in New Brunswick.

Following the program presentations were made to Clara Davenport for perfect attendance and to Alice Wood and Arlene Borsteld who are leaving the chapter. The past president Joan Manley was presented with a gavel.

MALES ALLOW FEMALES

OTTAWA (CP) — After 70 years, Anglican women in the diocese of Ottawa can be synod delegates. The amendment that settled "City of Many to church canon was passed by male delegates this year. One opponent, a man, said the change would allow men to slough off the duty to serve as delegates onto the women.

Scouts of Two Countries Visit Around a Campfire

PICTON (Staff) — If anything or anyone can do anything to promote better understanding and cement friendship between Canada and it's neighbor, the U.S.A., the Boy Scouts organizations of these countries can.

An example of goodwill at work was displayed Thursday at the Boy Scout camp at the Outlet. This ideal campsite fairly rang with the shouts and laughter of 17 American Boy Scouts who are camping here, this week. They played host to four troops from the Picton area, the 1st Picton Heights troop, 1st Picton, 2nd Picton and an Adventurer group from Camp Picton. Both the Canadian and the American Scouts took turns at entertaining each other with songs, stories, and skits which took place around a gigantic campfire. Two huge totem poles which are permanent fixtures of the camp overlooked the activities.

The American boys were members of No. 7 troop and were accompanied on tour from Mineral Ridge, Ohio, by four adult leaders. Their adventurous trip was highlighted by having a breakdown of their bus which ended up in having to buy a new motor for the vehicle. The 17 boys whose ages range from 11 to 15 on Wednesday visited Kingston — were greatly thrilled with a guided tour of Old Fort Henry and enjoyed a trip by boat through the 1,000 Islands.

William Strachan made a presentation to the American boys and their leaders before their return journey with shopping bags of local produce and souvenir literature on Prince Edward County. The Scouts plan to leave for their southern Ohio homes on Sunday, and will no doubt take back many pleasant memories of their adventures in Canada, many of whom have seen it for the first time.

May Abandon 2 Old Schools For New One

PICTON (Staff) — The Picton Public School Board at its last meeting have agreed to ask Town Council for tentative approval of its building program. The Board wishes to seek architect's advice providing the tow. gives its approval

Two of Picton's public schools Mary Street, and North Street, are built over 60 years old Mary Street, the oldest, is said to be over 100 years old and the board has for some time been considering the possibility of abandoning them and perhaps building one new school to replace them. However, members feel they should seek architects advice on the matter, they are recommend that additions be made to one or both of the schools. Another possibility according to board chairman, W. W. Evans, is to enlarge the modern Queen Elizabeth School.

An accomodation problem is not anticipated however, until such a time as the town may be successful in its bid to annex part of Hallowell Township. It is estimated that two more classrooms would then be necessary to accomodate the additional children from the annexed areas.

Salvation Army Officers Moved To Woodstock

PICTON (Staff) — Captain and Mrs. Len Pearo, officers of the Picton Salvation Army Corps, have received word this week of their posting to Woodstock Ont. Their farewell service will be conducted on Sunday June 26 and they will take over their new charge on June 30.

Captain and Mrs. Pearo came to Picton four years ago, their first Corps after they graduated from the S.A. Training College in Toronto. Their four-year stay in Picton is one year longer than any preceeding S.A. officers in the past.

News of their transfer was received with regret by the host of friends they have made throughout the whole county. The progress of the Citadel and its activities under their direction speaks for itself. Their participation in public events for the good of the community has been most generous. Capt. and Mrs. Pearo will be sadly missed and Woodstock will gain two fine officers.

Dreads Rejection From Married Woman

DEAR DORIS: Five years ago I met a wonderful woman. We were both 28. We began seeing each other regularly, making plans so that we could stay away overnight together. Our love grew; we found we saw eye to eye about many things, and I was proud to know such a woman.

Her husband found out six months ago; and since then, though I write to her, she seldom answers. I fear she has changed her mind about getting a divorce next year to marry me.

Could it be possible for her to have found contentment with her husband under these circumstances? She has said many times that she feels more married to me than to him.

DORIS CLARK

I honestly don't know how I can accept a negative answer from her now that we have had so much for so long. — HOPING AGAINST HOPE.

DEAR HOPING: To have a dream shattered is devastating. But if this wife and mother has had a belated attack of conscience or a newly-appreciative husband, and finds she simply cannot go through with a divorce, have you any alternative?

Perhaps all that is left to you is to treasure those happy, stolen times. There are values in marriage and family life which incline even the hell-to-leave it with it, when they come smack up against the reality of flight.

New Home-Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if ridiculle pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blood disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Viet Nam Truce Body Might Eventually Be Useful--Poles

Poland, Canada and India make up the three-power truce commission for Viet Nam. A Canadian Press reporter who talked with officials of the Polish government reports how they feel about the commission's future.

By JOHN BEST

WARSAW (CP) — Officials here are pessimistic about the chances of an early settlement of the Viet Nam war.

However, they can see the prospect of negotiations taking place if circumstances change. And when the time comes they feel the three-power supervisory commission may have a role to play.

The commission is made up of representatives of Poland, Canada and India.

The commission could be of assistance toward a peaceful settlement . . . but under present circumstances this is impossible," says a high Polish official.

In the Polish view the biggest obstacle is the American bombing of North Viet Nam.

"I see no possibility of constructive action while the military activities against North Viet Nam last," the official says.

At the same time, he refused to concede the necessity of infiltration of northern troops into South Viet Nam being halted as a prerequisite to negotiations.

"It's all one country," he commented, adding that in any case it is doubtful that the movement of men and supplies from the north could have any telling effect on the course of the war.

AMERICANS DISAGREE

The Americans and South Vietnamese would dispute this. They contend that a large part of the fighting strength of the Communist forces lies in the armed regulars sent into the south from North Viet Nam.

The Polish contention that the supervisory commission may still have a role to play in bringing about a settlement is significant in view of the fact that until now it has been virtually powerless to do anything to influence the situation.

The commission, whose main task is to check on violations of the 1954 Geneva accords by which partitioned Viet Nam, has never been able to pull together as a harmonious - functioning unit.

Canada and Communist Poland are usually at loggerheads when it comes to verifying truce - violation complaints and preparing reports, Canada usually supporting the American - South Vietnamese position and Poland the North Vietnamese-Viet Cong position.

India swings back and forth, sometimes lining up with the Canadian commissioner and sometimes with the Polish.

Bloodby, the Polish and Canadian governments appear agreed that it's important to keep the commission going. It is one of the few organs with direct access to both Saigon and Hanoi.

At the same time, Polish officials insist that only their representatives have the credentials effectively to encourage Hanoi to negotiate.

WINS CONFIDENCE

Poland has been building up those credentials through a painstaking exercise designed to gain the confidence of Hanoi and the Viet Cong. Besides backing them to the hilt in councils of the three-power commission, it has gone down the line with all the demands of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong leaders, including insistence on withdrawal of American troops from South Viet Nam as a condition for negotiations.

The Poles suggest, however, that the rigid stance of Hanoi might unbend on this point if the bombing were to stop for good.

The Polish official, using his own country as an example, says the West is wrong in its assessment of the Viet Nam situation. He holds that the Vietnamese Communists, if successful in their fight to unify the country on their terms, would eventually assert their independence from both China and Russia.

"The Poles were regarded as agents of Moscow until 1956, as before them the Yugoslavs were. Now look at us."

New weedkiller kills weeds and unwanted grasses where others cannot.
New 'Weedrite' is like no other weedkiller yet developed. Here's why: (1) It kills everything that's green — but cannot harm mature brown bark; and (2) It becomes completely inactive on contact with soil, so it can't damage planted seeds or run off onto adjacent ground.
This means that with 'Weedrite' you can safely spray, as recommended, around trees and shrubs, beneath hedges, along driveways and even close to desirable plants, flowers and vegetables. Available in 7oz. containers (to treat approximately 200 sq. ft.) 'Weedrite' is at your Chipman Dealer's now.

Andrew Maracle Leads Drive For Indian Centennial Plans

Leading a drive for local Indian participation in next year's Centennial celebration is Andrew Maracle of the Tyendinaga Reserve east of Belleville.

Mr. Maracle envisages construction of an Indian village at Tyendinaga and visits by an increasing number of tourists passing through Hastings and Prince Edward counties by bus, particularly on completion of the new bridge at Deseronto.

Tentative plans have been discussed by the Mohawk Indian Council on the reserve under Chief John Brant, and Mr. Maracle has had talks with Bill West, of Picton, president of the Quinte Regional Tourist Council. He has also been in touch with the Ontario Department of Tourism.

J. G. Reid, regional officer of the Department of Tourism at Lansdowne, near the Thousand Island gate, is being invited to visit the Reserve, and Mr. Maracle also plans to take up the matter with the Belleville Centennial Committee.

Meanwhile he plans visits this summer to the Six Nations Reserve at Brantford and to reserves at Curve Lake, Peterborough; Allegheny, N.Y., and Anandarko, Oklahoma, to observe what is being done in connection with tourist promotion.

TOURS PLANNED

The site of an Indian village at Tyendinaga is still a matter of conjecture, but tours of the reserve in Centennial year will likely include visits to Christ Church Anglican at Deseronto, which is closely associated with Mohawk traditions.

Each year Christ Church is the scene of services after the celebration of the anniversary of the landing of Mohawks by canoe in May 1784, after the War of Independence in the American colonies when the Mohawks fought with the British.

Christ Church is the repository of valuable silverware, communion cloth and a Bible, gifts of Queen Anne. In its picturesque grounds is a memorial to Huron Brant, M.M. and 12 others from Tyendinaga who gave their lives in the last war.

It also marks the burial place of Onwhyateka (1801-1907), Mohawk chief, orator and physician, who was largely responsible for the formation of the Independent Order of Foresters.

Onwhyateka (his English name was Peter Martin) studied at the University of Toronto and at Oxford. During his summer vacations he hired a number of men, dressed them as Indians, and presented "Wild West" shows to raise funds for his education.

Another attraction - - at the Council House - - is the memorial to Degonawidah, the 15th century chief and native of the Deseronto area who founded the Iroquois Confederacy.

Mr. Maracle currently is dividing his time between centennial plans, his gift shop at Deseronto which, since its opening last year has attracted visitors from Europe and as far away as Australia and New Zealand, and visits to youth camps in New England which he conducts in his capacity as an ordained minister.

VISITS SOUTHWEST

In March this year, accompanied by his cousin Theodore

MR. AND MRS. ANDREW MARACLE

Maracle, he visited Indian reservations in the American southwest — in Arizona and New Mexico. The gift shop includes Indian handicraft obtained on the trip, as well as work by the St. Regis (Cornwall) and Curve Lake (Peterborough) bands.

His wife Lillian has contributed artistic leatherwork fashioned — in leaves, a poem on Indian legend, also written on leather, as well as the curtains for the shop window showing the "tree of peace" planted by Deganiwadah at Onondaga in New York, and below it five stones representing the original five nations of the Iroquois Confederacy.

A native of Boston, Massachusetts, Mrs. Maracle is English on her father's side and her mother came from Prince Edward Island.

The Maracles are also hoping to encourage the development more handicrafts by the Indians at Tyendinaga. Ultimately, Mr. Maracle hopes to add a restaurant on the site, as well as a museum to house Indian artifacts. Bonfire discussion groups for summer visitors are also envisaged.

PLANS NEW DISPLAYS

Next year Mr. Maracle is hoping to display correspondence between Chief Joseph Brant and George Washington now in the possession of his sister, Mrs. Marie Jamesson, of Brantford. Current exhibits include a photograph of Indian poetess Pauline Johnson and a serving bowl believed to have been a gift to Dr. Martin (Chief Onwhyateka) by Queen Victoria.

Mr. Maracle leaves this weekend for Augusta, Maine, to conduct a youth camp. In July he will participate in similar camps in Massachusetts and Virginia, returning to Deseronto in August.

For many years Mr. Maracle has lived at Hogsnburg, N.Y., and has travelled thousands of miles throughout the United States lecturing and conducting interdenominational camps. He plans to spend more time at Deseronto where he now makes his home. The couple have six sons.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

THURSDAY, June 16, 1966

The government announced approval of a wage increase to settle the threatened strike of St. Lawrence Seaway workers hours before the scheduled walkout time.

Under the agreement, workers would get a wage increase of 20 per cent retroactive to last Jan. 1 and an additional 10 per cent starting next Jan. 1.

Drug industry spokesmen maintained before a Commons committee that prices are fair and reasonable.

The government reported unemployment dipped to 247,000 in May, down 53,000 from the previous month and down 18,000 from May, 1965.

The Commons studied amendments to the Bankruptcy Act and Justice Minister Cardin said a national court for bankruptcies is being considered.

The Commons gave clause-by-clause approval to the bankruptcy bill and turned to one setting up the Company of Young Canadians.

It was still under discussion at adjournment.

FRIDAY, June 17

The Commons meets at 11 a.m. EDT to consider 1965-67 departmental spending estimates. The Senate stands adjourned until June 27.

DRAMA IN PLANS

MONTREAL (CP)—A week of performances by three major drama companies will be held during the Expo 67 World Festival, an Expo spokesman said Thursday. The National Theatre of Greece, Sir Laurence Olivier's National Theatre of Britain and the Stratford Shakespearean Festival Company of Stratford, Ont., will take part.

Occupational Trainees Honored at Graduation By Staff and Parents

Sixteen graduates of Moira Secondary Schools Occupational Training Course were the guests of honor at a banquet held last evening at the east hill high school.

The course for occupational training was instituted several years ago as part of Moira's school system. It is intended to provide public school "transferees" with an "all-round" education to equip them for taking their place in "the work-a-day world."

This year, 19 trainees successfully completed the two-year course, which consists of 50 percent academic, and 50 percent practical work. In the latter category, the girls might receive instruction in sewing, cooking, or home care, while the male students participated in service station, welding, and masonry work, among other types.

During the course of the program, one day a week is set aside for "on-the-job" training, to give the trainees some idea of what is expected by employers, as well as to broaden their experiences. A number of the employers who co-operated in this program with Moira were on hand last night, along with the students' parents, to honor the graduates.

The Bay of Quinte District High School Board prizes for the top students in the course were presented by the program's occupational teachers, Mrs. M. Brydson and Mr. H. Smith. Receiving the award for the highest standing among the girls in the occupational training program was Rose Mary Gannon, while David Rushlow was presented with the boys' top standing award.

Besides receiving certificates marking their achievement, the graduates were treated to a turkey plate dinner, and partook of a large cake bearing each of their names.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

"I read in your column yesterday," the letter writer said, "about the "limp scarlet of national and world hockey championships hanging in their arena mausoleum".

"These four banners symbolic of the Ontario, all-Ontario, Allan Cup and World championships are apparently divorcees from what was once the proud affection of a proud city.

"There are few communities of comparable size in Canada which can boast such sports honors. In these cities the exploits of their hockey champions are honored with large glass-enclosed plaques or flags hung in city halls and arenas," the writer said.

"And what has this fair city done. The banners were hung in the arena and left there to rot, their symbolic glory now a memory. Their red and gold beauty is fading. The edges are worn due to atmospheric exposure. In a few years, if nothing is done about it, all they'll need is a few latted pallbearers.

"Sure, some tight-fisted cranks will say they represent the biggest gyp that was ever perpetrated on an innocent tax-paying public. And five gets you a hundred that the male hitter-tongued critics were part of the crowd of 25,000 people who shouted themselves hoarse when the Maes decimated here after winning the world championship."

"It cost me eighty-odd extra on the tax bill," the writer said, "but I had ten times that while from watching the team play and following their trail to the championship climax. Yet the critics will note the city will hire an assistant to the chief ditch digger's secretary at a salary of $6,000 and never twitch a toenil."

"If advertising was gold then this city would be a millionaire, thanks to the McFarland's hockey club. It was placed in global headlines as the home of world hockey champions and almost before the ink was dry, we hit the second editions with the so-called 'scandal'. A similar amount of prime time would pay a million bucks for half the advertising we received."

"And all we've got left out of the deal is accepted tax bills and four drooping scarlet banners. The tax bills were taken care of — or else. The banners, as I said, have been left to rot in the dark bypaths of society's "cultural dregs."

This writer agrees with the correspondent in regards preservation of the scarlet symbols of championships.

As far as the "scandal" goes, these symbols had nothing to do with it. They are emblematic of honors won on the battlefield of hockey and as such should be given the preservation attention they deserve.

Let the scandal-minded critics howl. Fans that were loyal to the club were taxpayers too — or a lot of them were. They paid the toll, too. Don't forget that.

And don't forget this. The inquiry which hooked into the operations of the McFarlands also unearthed some startling facts of city government operations over preceding years. The smell did not remind one roses.

Be that as it may. Something should be done about the preservation of the four scarlet banners that now hang rotting and drooping with disappointment in a city to which they brought fame and world glory.

They should be encased in glass and hung in positions where future hockey players can view the symbols of glory that once belonged to their city.

Braves' Bonus Baby Blasts Mets 17-1

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tony Cloninger, Atlanta Braves $500,000 bonus baby eight years ago and a 24-game winner last season, turned stopper Thursday night, driving in five runs with the second and third homers of his major league career as the Braves stomped New York Mets 17-1.

The Braves' 17 runs and 22 hits were the highest single game totals in the majors this year.

The 25-year-old right-hander, who was struggling along with a 5-7 pitching record before his date with the Mets, slogged Hiem on five hits while stroking a single in addition to three-run and two-run homers.

Cloninger hit the only previous big league homer last season—against the Mets.

Elsewhere, San Francisco's Juan Marichal became the majors' first 12-game winner in the first-place Giants' 3-1 victory over Houston Astros, Chicago Cubs upended Don Drysdale and Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3, Philadelphia Phillies slugged Cincinnati Reds 13-5 with a 19-hit attack and Pittsburgh Pirates edged St. Louis Cardinals 2-1.

Mack Jones also drove in five runs for Braves with two singles and his eighth homer while Felipe Alou had a single, double and triple for Atlanta.

MURPHY HOMERED

The only run off Cloninger was a pinch-hit homer by Billy Murphy in the fifth inning.

Marichal pitched a four-hitter, boosting his record to 12-2, and also got the deciding run as the Giants won their fifth in a row. After Tom Haller homered for Frank Thomas in the second, singles by Ollie Brown and Hal Lanier put runners on first and third. Marichal then tapped to third baseman Bob Aspromonte and Brown beat the throw to the plate.

The Cubs beat Drysdale for the third time this season and sent the Dodger right-hander down to his fourth straight defeat. Relief pitcher Cal Koonce blanked the Dodgers from the fourth through the ninth, when he needed last-out help from Billy Hoeft.

Richie Allen hit a three-run homer and Cookie Rojas smacked five straight singles to lead the Phillies and enable Chris Short to breeze to his fifth victory in 12 decisions. Pittsburgh snapped a string of 19 scoreless innings on Willie Stargell's second-inning homer and scored the clincher in the ninth on singles by Manny Mota, Gene Alley and Roberto Clemente.

Cementmen Defeat Belvedere

Rallying for three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning, the Point Anne Cementmen clipped Belvedere Hotel 3-2, at the Point, in Commercial Softball League play last night.

Belvedere led 1-0 from the fifth on Bob Andrews' run-scoring double.

In the Point Anne seventh, Kimmett doubled, MacDonald sacrificed and Dennis Maher tripled to tie it. Rosebush's wrong-field smash drove in the winner and was scored as a home run, despite the fact the game should have ended when the Cementmen's second run crossed the plate.

Ron Maracle buried the victory, checking Belvedere on six hits. He struck out six and walked five.

Ken Osborne allowed eight hits in defeat, whiffing two and passing one.

Dick Rosebush, with his winning clout and a single, and Dennis Maher, with a triple and single, sparked the winners. Jim Horwood and Maurice Kimmett hit doubles, Glen Maracle and David Akey singles.

Pug Kellar had a double and played an outstanding game at shortstop for Belvedere Hotel while Bob Andrews' run-batted-in effort was driven home by Jim Muir, Doug Reid and George Parks.

The game was Point Anne's first since June 2, due to school examinations, and the win boosted them up near second-place Belvedere Hotel.

MONTREAL (CP) — French-language signs on the Trans-Canada Highway from Montreal to the Ontario border will be replaced by signs in French and English, it was learned Thursday.

Form National Professional Soccer League

NEW YORK (AP) — Formation of the 10-team National Professional Soccer League was announced Thursday by Richard H. Millen, Los Angeles lawyer who is acting league president.

Among the founders are four owners of National Football League teams.

Teams in the league are New York, Toronto, Vancouver, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Minnesota, Philadelphia, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Play is expected to start next April. Initially, player talent will be sought in Europe, but Millen said "eventually we expect to recruit substantially all of our players from the United States and Canada."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Al Mengert, a club pro from Tacoma, Wash., who grubbed the first-round lead in the U.S. Open golf tournament, says mental condition is all-important for the duffer.

"A fellow like me, a club pro, has to kick a mental block," Mengert said after carving out a three-under-par 67 Thursday. "A club pro only plays about three times a week. The guys on the tour play all the time and you may figure that gives them an advantage. So you have to get geared up mentally. You have to build your confidence."

Leafs Beat Suns 5-3, Hens Win 2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hits were scarce in the International league Thursday night.

Toronto Maple Leafs, after scoring three unearned runs, scored two more on a pinch single by Orlando Pecoraro to beat Jacksonville Suns 5-3, BP. Short pitched a three-hit shutout as Rochester Red Wings whitewashed Columbus 2-0, and Buffalo Bisons won a 5-4 decision over Richmond Braves on a nine-inning rally.

Elsewhere, Toledo Mud Hens defeated Syracuse Chiefs 6-0 and 4-3.

The Leafs scored their first run on an error and two passed balls. But Russ Gibson won it for the Leafs, driving in two runs with his pinch-hit two-run single in the sixth inning.

Mike Epstein hit a homer for the Red Wings to support Short.

Snap Three-Game Loss String
Cats Claw Trudeaus 7-4

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Unleashing a booming attack with two out in the seventh inning, the Belleville Trudeau Tradeau Motors 7-4 to tighten the Belleville and District Softball League race, all at Alemite Park, last night.

The Tabbies didn't waste a thing in snapping their three - game losing streak. Six of their seven hits figured in the scoring. Trudeaus could muster but three in a 6-1 deficit and the ith 4-4 after six frames.

After two men out in the seventh, Locke's Texas-league double got the Cats moving. LeSage cracked another two-baser down the right field line to snap the deadlock. Mowat belted a screaming liner to centre that skipped past Muirhead for a home run and the 7-4 score.

Mowat drove in one for the winners in the first with a single after an error and passed ball set up the run. Another Trudeau error and Lashy's single snapped a 1-1 tie in the second.

Trudeaus failed to give starting pitcher Bill Baldwin support and after an error and two hits in the third, he was replaced by Pat Maracle. Whyte scored both runners with a base hit to make it 4-1.

A walk, stolen bases, a passed-ball error at first and Weston's fly ball netted Trudeau's first.

Drake lined a two - out homer, cutting the margin to 4-2, in the fifth.

Trudeaus threatened to pull away in the sixth. Weston singled and Plane crashed a tremendous home run to deep right-centre for a tie game. Maracle's bat got a bunt but an interference call on Soule's bunt helped halt the rally.

Clair Leahy pitched six - hit ball and got many of his strikeouts in key spots to earn the victory. He walked three and got solid support.

Maracle was the loser, allowing five of seven Bobcat hits, fanning five and walking none. Baldwin whiffed none and passed one.

Len Mowat, with his homer and single, paced the winners' attack. Terry LeSage, Rick Locke and Paul Zakos got doubles, Clair Leahy and Jim Whyte singles.

Six-Man Tag-Team Tonight

Clear the deck boys, this one will make the Leaf-Canadiens' battles look like a Sunday School tea party!

Yes sir, it's a six-man tag-team bout (count 'em) in the main bout of tonight's professional wrestling card at Belleville Memorial Arena.

The clean-cut combo of Tiger Monter, Billy Cash and Golden Boy Dupree will tackle the the shock-troop tactics of Don Juan, Terry Garvin and Charlie Fox.

It should be a dilly, with a sixty-minute time limit or two out-of-three falls.

Don't look for any of the combatants to survive for sixty minutes, Aunt Martha, even the referee might not make it.

And just in case the opponents haven't enough reason to tear each other apart, the tangle individually in three 15-minute preliminary bouts.

They pry the lid off at 9:00 p.m.

NHL Switches All-Star Game Plans

1965-66 Team To Play

MONTREAL (CP)—The all-star team from the 1965-66 season will play in the annual National Hockey League all-star game against the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens at mid-season.

It had been decided at the annual NHL meeting earlier this week that the 20th all-star contest will be played Wednesday, Jan. 18 instead of the usual week prior to the opening of the 70-game schedule.

The plan concerning the new all-star date had called for the all-stars, chosen for their play in the first half of the season, to meet Montreal Canadiens, current Stanley Cup champions.

However, it was decided Thursday that insufficient time between first-half voting and the game date would not allow this. Therefore, the all - stars chosen for last season would face the Canadiens.

The meeting also approved an extension in the number of monetary units granted the first-place finishers. In the past, 18 units of $2,250 have gone to the club winning the Prince of Wales Trophy, but this now has been extended to cover 21 shares of the season account.

APPROVED U.S. TV

The meeting approved a proposal to be submitted to the National Broadcasting Company for United States television coverage of 14 late-season games and three to five playoff contests.

Final dates have not yet been worked out but the games to be televised will all be Saturday or Sunday contests.

President Clarence Campbell said viewers will see all action. No taped playbacks of any fights or unruly demonstrations would be shown.

The meeting also agreed to refer to the general-manager level each point proposed by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in an effort to alter the current pro-amateur agreement. The CAHA has served notice it will terminate the working agreement with the NHL next June, but both sides now appeared ready to return to the bargaining table.

It was also agreed to review programs made by the six U.S. cities involved in the expansion after Sept. 15. The six cities are Los Angeles, San Francisco-Oakland, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Sid Abel, general - manager and coach of Detroit Red Wings, said Thursday he expects defenceman Bill Gadsby to return next year as a player. Gadsby said after the Stanley Cup playoffs that he would be retiring from hockey.

AFTER HARVEY

Hal Laycoe, general-manager of Portland Buckaroos of the Western League, said Thursday he has offered defenceman Doug Harvey an opportunity to play for Portland next year. Harvey, a former NHL all-star defenceman, is a free agent. He played with Baltimore Clippers of the American League last season.

Other recommendations during the four-day annual convention included the selection of 10 persons to hockey's hall of fame, new rules to curb fighting and the intra-league draft.

The 10 persons elected to the hall of fame included Campbell, goaltender Frank Brimsek, defencemen Babe Pratt, Kenny Reardon and Butch Bouchard, along with forwards Ted Kennedy, Max Bentley, Elmer Lach, Toe Blake and Ted Lindsay.

In an effort to curb players on the bench and in the penalty box leaving over the ice surface to take part in a brawl, an automatic $50 fine will be handed out. Previously, a player had to leave the bench to be fined.

The rules committee also laid down a regulation whereby a player who persists in fighting after he has been awarded a penalty will be given a $50 fine.

The board of governors also ruled that no blade on any stick can be smaller than 2¼ inches in height as any point in the blade.

The intra - league draft involved only 12 players with no money changing hands.

GERMANS WALK OUT

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — East Germany walked out of the world wrestling championships Thursday shortly before the opening ceremony. The International Federation of Amateur Wrestling had refused to accede to East German demands that it be allowed to participate as a nation separate from West Germany.

Beats Orioles 2-1

Senators' Southpaw Misses No-Hitter

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Earlier this season, after striking out seven straight batters to tie an American League record but losing 4-0 to Detroit Tigers, Pete Richert said:

"It don't mean a thing if you don't get the big W. You've got to get the win."

The Washington southpaw got the big W Thursday night in the Senators' 2-1 victory over league - leading Baltimore Orioles, but despite allowing only one hit, he needed ninth-inning help to get it.

Richert, touched by Brooks Robinson for a lead-off single in the second when Baltimore scored an unearned run, was sailing along until he walked the first two batters in the ninth before Ron Kline came in to pitch out of the jam.

Up to the first walk in the ninth he had retired 18 straight Orioles, who had a four-game winning streak snapped.

Besides good pitching there was another big reason behind the Senators' victory — 6-foot-7 Frank Howard — who hit his home bolt Washington runs in the third.

SOX TAKE TWO

In other games, Chicago White Sox took a doubleheader from Kansas City Athletics 6-4 and 5-2, Detroit smashed Boston Red Sox 16-4, New York Yankees edged Cleveland Indians 7-6 and California Angels beat Minnesota Twins 7-2.

Tom McCraw was the big gun for the White Sox, he tripled in his only official at - bat and scored three runs in their 6-4 first game victory and drove in all of their runs with a grand slam homer and a bases-empty blast in the 5-2 nightcap triumph.

Detroit's Denny McLain, the American League's winningest pitcher, breezed to his 10th victory against three losses behind the hitting of Willie Horton, Al Kaline and Jim Northrup.

Horton drove in six runs, including three with a home run. Kaline and Northrup each got four hits.

The Yankees got a two-run homer from Mickey Mantle and then drove Cleveland's Sam Dowsell from the game with five runs in the fifth. Chuck Hinton hit a pinch-hit, three-run homer in the ninth before Hal Reniff got the last out.

Norm Siebern's bases-empty homer leading off the seventh broke a 2-2 tie for California, and Frank Malzone's three-run blast in the ninth put it out of reach as the Angels notched their 50th straight victory.

Marlene Beaten

TORONTO (CP)—U.S. professional Mickey Wright of Texas scored a one - under - par 72 Thursday to defeat Canadian amateur Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto by six strokes in a televised women's golf match.

Won't Extend Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission turned down a proposal that next Thursday's George Chuvalo-Oscar Bonavena heavyweight bout at Madison Square Garden be extended to 15 rounds if it is even at the end of the scheduled 10 rounds.

Dr. Marvin Goldberg, manager of Bonavena, made the proposal Thursday, a week after the commission rejected a suggestion that the two men fight to a finish.

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—Oscar Bonavena, the Argentine heavyweight champion, knocked out two sparring partners in an impressive workout Thursday for his 10-round bout with Canadian champion George Chuvalo June 22.

The stocky South American was scheduled to box eight rounds but because of the knockouts he worked less than four. The partners were James Johnson and Bobby Hunter.

Chuvalo, working out at nearby Monticello in the Catskill Mountains, boxed six rounds. He sparred three with Lee Carr and three with stablemate Frankie Dellard of Toronto.

WELSH WEAR LEEK

For centuries it has been a popular custom for natives of Welsh to wear leek blossoms on their hats March 1, the feast day of their patron saint, St. David.

Outdoor Tips And Tricks

BY BOB BLAIND

Musky season opens Saturday June 18th and the bass season the following Saturday June 25th. This is 12 days earlier this year for the musky.

When fishing for big bass, you should use big bait, although at times these monsters will take just about anything from a deer worm to a June Bug. But in the long run most of the big ones are caught on either large rubber minnows or a large plug.

The large suckers and I mean large ones, which many of the old musky fishermen use are from 8 to 16 inches long and on the end of a fishing rod feels like a large bass on the hoove.

The sucker is rigged up with a harness loaded with large hooks and is either trolled at very slow speeds or drift fished along weed beds. When the big fish strikes you let him have the bait for quite a while before you try and set the hooks in him. The best way to time this waiting period is to light a cigarette, inhale it slowly a couple times minutes then set the hooks hard. When you set them look out you are in for the exciting fight of an hour or so that you have ever had. Action every minute both on top of the water, deep and in the air.

A strong line is recommended along with a good sturdy rod and a good quality reel. A large landing net or a gaff for landing the fish after being hooked is a must and after landing one of these vic ous fish, a steel mesh handle or baseball bat type billy is part of the equipment. Give the fish a hard rap between the eyes to kill him or he can cause a lot of trouble in a small boat. I know of one fellow who lassoed one of these huge fish in a 12-foot plywood punt and it literally tore the boat apart and then got away.

Some good artificials lures for musky are 5" Flatfish, Musky Cisco Kid, Jitterbug, Crazy Crawler Haddon Vamp Spook either solid or jointed, a large Pikie Minnor. Some of the old timers still use the old Double Buffalo and Princeton Musky Spoons with good luck.

What I was just a little gaf-fer starting out as a musky fisherman I fished with one of the best known muskie fishermen in this area, Vic Morris, and I do not think anyone around here has caught any more of these monsters than Vic.

He would cast in the evening or early morning while the water was calm with a Jitterbug, Crazy Crawler or a Flatail surface lure and if he got a strike for the 6,794-yard layout.

Gain Net Semi-Finals

HAMILTON (CP)—Four Toronto seeds in the Golden Horseshoe tennis tournament here gained semi-final berths in Thursday night's men's singles play.

Don Fontana, top-seeded, defeated Barry Headland of Toronto 6-4, 6-4. Second - seeded John Sharpe, a former ranking Australian player now living in Toronto, had little trouble sidelining Don Young of London, Ont. 6-2, 6-1.

In Indian singles play Inge Weber of Kitchener, seeded second, defeated Ines Frotag of Hamilton 6-2, 6-4.

•In a ladies doubles semi-final game, Joan Mulvaney and Mary Pollices of Hamilton won out over Dolores Moffat and Mary Anne Gaskin of Galt 6-4, 9-7.

Minor Baseball Results

Farrel Motors, bantams blanked Mead Johnson 8-0 and Jaycee tykes hammered the CN Firemen 17-3 in a pair of Belleville Minor Baseball Association games last night.

Terry McTaggart's superb pitching stymied the staff Farrell's victory march. He stopped Mead's on a pair of singles, struck out 14 batters and walked two. He also got errorless support.

Starchuk and Jim Potts gave up nine hits in defeat, fanning nine and walking seven.

Ron Jury had a triple and single, George Farrars three one-bagger and Terry Pope a pair to pace the attack. Peter Middleton and Terry McTaggart got the others.

Mike Healey and Charles Crousen singled for Mead's.

Mead Johnson

Jaycees built a 16-0 lead before the Firemen scored.

Tim Whelan and Ron Wood combined for a four-hitter, striking out 15 batters and walking only one. They also got perfect field support.

Rick Sweet and Terry Ray allowed 13 hits, whiffed seven and did not walk a batter for the Firemen.

Greg Bradshaw hit four Jaycee singles, Tim Whelan three and David Flesch two. Bruce Clarke got a home run and single, Bull Sturgess and Peter Stephenson a hit each.

Grant Coogan rapped a CN homer, Allan Pont two singles and Norm Sweet one.

Rowan and Martin Collect Fine Talent for New Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Rowan and Dick Martin, a comedy team, took over Dean Martin's easy - going variety hour Thursday night and apparently will turn it into a free-wheeling NBC show for the summer months.

Rowan and Martin are an unusual and attractive pair who somehow always make this viewer think they are going to be funnier than they turn out to be.

But they are pleasant and unusual, and have some vital assistance in Dom de Luise. They have some attractive young talent on the show. There is a striking young singer named Laisie Kazan, and a very pretty young singer, Jill Rohn, with a fine soprano voice.

One of the show's gimmicks is its informality. The actors themselves show the scenery and props into position. A regular feature will be an "improvisation," when the comedians and a guest—Thursday night it was Tom Jacobsen—all lib their way through a subject picked on the spur of the moment.

The subject Thursday night was psychiatry and, without a single psychiatrist joke, the bit built up smashingly. But it could just as easily have turned into a resounding bomb.

DON'T CLICK

Some sketches were less than successful. There was a sight gag that had Dick Martin, playing a movie star, slowly sinking from sight when he stepped into soft cement. Another, with Rowan playing a fresh corpse getting a hair cut was, to put it mildly, macabre.

Meanwhile on ABC, a documentary was encountering slow going making a case for extrasensory perception. The Baffling World of ESP was earnest but ran into a wall because it turned out to be a subject much easier to discuss than to illustrate.

Result was that it was largely a talk show with parapsychologists, psychologists, physicists and mechanics discussing such subjects as telepathy and empathy and dreams.

There were tantalizing bits, too. One was a film purporting to show a British medium getting "in touch" with the deceased father of a woman he had never met, made after showed experiments in a Brooklyn hospital involving thought projections and dreams.

But the program's most fascinating material was contained in stories related by interviewees. A German psychologist told of a 14-year-old boy with strange powers—when he was around a China shop for two days, some $2,000 worth of porcelain smashed and the shopkeeper's wife saw cups and saucers jumping from the shelves.

But the documentary, in general, suffered from an excess of talk and a lack of visual documentation.

Candice Bergen, Daughter Of Ventriloquist, Defiant

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A reluctant actress, Candice Bergen, may well prove one of the more successful ones.

She is the head in that direction. Everything about her bespeaks success. For her second film, she is co-starring with Steve McQueen in the $11,000,000 The Sand Pebbles. She has the background (famous father, continental education) and looks (tawny, fashion-model figure) that make the magazines flip.

She is also a fluent talker, especially about Candice Bergen.

Acting came to her as an afterthought.

"I saw it as a chance to provide the independence to pursue what I really wanted to do, which was photography and writing," she explains.

Candy carries her independence like a banner and admits it has been a source of friction between herself and her father, ventriloquist Edgar Bergen.

"I've always been anti-discipline," he admitted, "and this has frustrated my father, poor fellow, because he is by nature a disciplinarian.

"He was able to exert discipline on Charlie because I relied on him for financial support. Therefore the way for me to break his hold was to start earning my own money. I went to New York from the University of Pennsylvania, got my own apartment and started working.

"It was hard on my father, but it wasn't easy for me, either. After the first two months of living alone, I got terribly blue and wondered 'is this what I really want?'"

Candy moved to a larger, more cheerful apartment and became one of the darlings of the fashion world. Her fame as a model brought an offer to appear in The Group. To her father's despair, she took the role of a lesbian.

"The picture couldn't have been better for me," she commented. "How can you fail when you have only five minutes of scenes, play a controversial role and make a striking appearance? It was over before the audience had a chance to ask, 'Can she act?'"

Will Widen Approaches To Bridges

NAPANEE — Members of the streets committee of Napanee town Town Council and the Council of North Fredericksburgh, agreed Wednesday night to do what they could to make the old overhead railway bridge less dangerous to traffic, and to small children. With the help of the latter they can do nothing. It is railroad property.

Some years ago when piggyback cars were introduced by the CNR, this bridge was raised and certain repairs were made. But it still remains what it was when it was built by the Grand Trunk, some time between 1852 and 1860, it was adequate for that day, when the present William Street was a county lane with a handful of houses and the bridge served to connect Clarkeville with what was known as South Napanee.

But today it is different, especially now that the Bridge Road, running through Clarkeville is an outlet of Highway 401, and a new bridge now at the road end bypass the heavy traffic on Dundas St. for several blocks crossing the river at the Centre Street bridge. Many workers in Kingston keep straight on to their homes on the River Road.

At the meeting last night it was agreed to build up the approaches, widening them about three feet. The plank guards will probably be replaced by steel posts and wire mesh sliding.

The matter is left in the hands of Reeve Claude Knight and Deputy Reeve W. R. Dougherty of Napanee and Reeve Alvin Fitchett of North Fredericksburgh. West Williamsburgh will be asked if they will not necessarily be accepted. contribute as the bridge in question are on the boundary between the two municipalities.

R.K. Uens New Principal Of School

DESERONTO — Rodney Kenneth Uens, vice - principal of the Deseronto Public School, this year, was hired as its future principal at the meeting of the Board Monday evening. He replaces Peter Roach, who will retire next year near Cooksville. Mr. Uens will have the assistance of Mr. Roach in setting up the new school, besides taking enough time off from his teaching to do so, by authority of the Board.

Mrs. Agnes Jordan and Mrs. Joyce Tucker were given full time employment, following the recommendation of the board of management, headed by Mrs. Ruth Hepburn, as the new replacement, had been teaching under a temporary contract. Mrs Tucker, who has been teaching part time, will now be a full time teacher.

Dr. D. C. McVicker, MOH, will be asked to come to the school after June 17 to give the pupils immunization shots against to vaccinate them.

The Board is sending its janitor, Gordon Brannan, to Brantford for two days. His will be the caretaker at Memorial and Maintenance Workshop. Renovations which are needed will be carried out during the summer vacation.

The Board voted $200 toward the trust to the graduating class. This will pay for the buses to take them on a day trip to Ottawa. Principal Roach made the arrangements for a brides and maids party at the school and a nice sum was realized to go toward giving the boys and girls a banquet. The Lions Club is undercurving the balance of the cost. Parents and friends will contribute some of the food.

The meeting was conducted by vice - chairman Gerald Reid, in the absence of Chairman J. S. Spence through illness.

DRIVERS "HUNT"
PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Car drivers are among the better hunters here. Conservation authorities say two or three moose are hit weekly on highways in the Prince George area.

Around Town Briefs

DANCE IN ARMORIES
NAPANEE — The Jaycees are sponsoring an "after exams" dance for the teenagers in the Armories Saturday night. Four bands are expected, each to play for an hour. During the intermissions the bands are changing, a folk singer will entertain, and there will be audience participation. This is not a money-making project, but if there are any proceeds, the Jaycees will use the money for community work.

TRAFFIC CHANGE
Last Friday evening an experiment with a left-hand turn at two intersections on Dundas Street proved so successful that it will be repeated and expanded. Eventually a by-law may make it permanent.

Traffic at the Centre Street and the John Street intersections on Dundas becomes better regulated during busy periods and last Friday the traffic lights were turned off and two policemen directed traffic. One observed that as much as 1,000 times the normal dosage of the chemical meatraced was given to the mice, the tests were carried out over a long period, and the liver of a rat is notoriously sensitive to the drug.

ROTARY MEET
At their regular weekly luncheon meeting this week, the Rotarians heard Brian Manion, a grade 13 student, describe his experience in Ottawa. He is the student whom the Rotary club sponsored for the "Adventure in Citizenship" trip to the capital this year, one of 248 students from all parts of Canada. He was introduced by Dr. A. E. Fyfe, chairman of the Napanee District Collegiate Institute Board who thanked by Rotarian E. S. Eedso representing Napanee on the board.

CAUSES DAMAGE
LONDON (Reuters)—One of the chemicals used in most anti-contraceptives has caused liver damage in rats, a British drugs safety committee reported Thursday. But the committee stressed that as much as 1,000 times the normal dosage of the chemical meatraced was given to the mice, the tests were carried out over a long period, and the liver of a rat is notoriously sensitive to the drug.

Sunday School Lesson

Finding the Lost Book

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

The late Methodist Bishop, Edwin Holt Hughes, once told about becoming the pastor of a church where a family had been at odds with the former pastor. When he visited the family, they began at once to voice their grievances against the former minister. Mr. Hughes explained that he did not wish to discuss the problem. He just wanted, as their new pastor, to read a passage from their Bible and have a prayer with them. The husband and wife looked at each other helplessly. Neither one knew where to find a Bible in the house. Then the wife's face lighted up, and she left the room. After several minutes, she returned with an old Bible. It was a well-thumbed book. When Mr. Hughes opened it, he saw in the margins words written by an elderly hand. "This was your father's Bible?" he asked. "Yes," replied the woman. "I'm sure he was a wonderful man," said Mr. Hughes, "and one reason was that he read this book."

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for June 19: "A Covenant Renewed," II Kings 22: 1 through 23:30.

The Bible is a lost book to millions of families. They never read it. If they own a Bible, it is because they feel they should own one whether they read it or not. One family had neglected Bible reading so long that when the husband came home from work and saw his wife reading the Bible, he asked in alarm, "What's the matter, dear?" She explained, "Nothing's the matter. I just heard a radio broadcast on the Bible and it made me want to read it again."

Something is the matter with us, and the reason is that too many people have gotten away from the teachings of the Bible. The ten commandments no longer guide the moral and ethical life of millions of people. Politicians praise the "Sermon on the Mount," but do not live by it. God has been pushed so far into the background that some theologians are actually saying God is dead. The modern age needs another Luther who can put the Bible back into the thinking of the people.

NATION WITHOUT A BIBLE

The Judah in which Josiah came to the throne was a nation that had literally lost its Bible. The Book of the Law was only a historic memory. No copies were known to exist. Temple worship had no reverence for the people. Pagan gods abounded. The observance of the Passover had fallen into disuse. The fear of the Lord was a thing of the past.

Then a tremendous thing happened. Josiah ordered the renovation of the temple. In the course of the renovation, the high priest, Hilkiah, found a scroll. It appeared to be the lost book of the law, portions of the present book of Deuteronomy. Conscious of the importance of his find, he reported it to Shaphan, an officer of the king. Shaphan took the scroll and read it to the king. The king was deeply moved. If this were indeed the lost book of the law, and if what it said were true, then God's judgments would fall on Judah.

Holdah, the prophetess, confirmed the belief that this was the book of the law. Armed with her judgment, the king summoned the people, read the book to them. He called them into a renewed covenant with God lest the nation suffer the punishment of an outraged God.

A TREMENDOUS DISCOVERY

The importance of this find cannot be over-estimated. Without the sacred writings to remind them of their obligations to God, the people drifted farther and farther away from His laws. They needed these time-tested truths to pull them back to righteous living.

When men get away from the teachings of the Bible, they get away from its concept of man as a spiritual being. They forget that every person is a creation of God, and deserves to be treated as such. Albert Camus, though he didn't believe in God, urged the Dominican monks to keep alive the Christian doctrine of man as Christianity's chief contribution to the world.

When men get away from the Bible, they get away from its concept of moral law. They forget, or disbelieve, that "whatever a man sows, that he will also reap." (Gal. 6:7 RSV) When men get away from the Bible, they get away from God. They forget His commandments. They fail to see His judgments shown repeatedly in history. They begin to destroy Christian values. They face life alone without adequate guide-lines for the present, and no hope for the future. They need its message to call them back to the ways that make for understanding and peace.

FRANKFORD — Miss Annie Weston of Frankford arrived at Leroy, New York on June 10th to be a guest at the home of Miss Jennie Vistel. Miss Vistel entertained all her classmates from the Edward J. Meyer Memorial Hospital, 462 Grider St., Buffalo, New York at a reunion of the 1921 graduation class. Miss Weston also attended the 35th anniversary luncheon on Sunday.

WILL HONOR NURSES

OTTAWA (CP)—Two nurses will be honored by the 80,000-member Canadian Nurses Association at its meeting in Montreal in July. Pearl Silver of Bayeville, Ont., and Margaret Kerr of Vancouver will receive honorary memberships in the organization for their contribution to nursing.

Lions Club Of Frankford To Give Show

FRANKFORD — With the proceeds going to the artificial ice fund, Frankford Lions Club will present a Hootenanny Friday night at the new Community Curling Iron. The show will start at 8.30.

About 30 entertainers from the Quinte area and some from Oshawa will perform with plans now calling for a two-hour show.

Special attractions include the Country Diamonds, the Wayfaring Strangers and the Cedar Valley Boys. Go-Go dancing will be feature of the program with Anna Link of Trenton and Beatrice Volks of Batawa demonstrating the popular dance.

20 Buddhists Surrender After Work-bound Policeman Slain Passing Pagoda

SAIGON (Reuters) — Buddhist youths shot and killed a South Vietnamese policeman and were reported to have set fire to a U.S. Jeep here early today only a few hours after a Buddhist girl burned herself to death.

The 18-year-old girl poured gasoline over herself in the Buddhist Vien Hoa Dao pagoda headquarters and struck a match.

She was the 10th person to die by fire in the last three weeks in protest against South Viet Nam's military government.

In the early hours, Buddhist youths shot the 23-year-old policeman through the head near Buddhist headquarters as he was going to work, a police spokesman said.

Later, the police, crack ranger troops, and paratroops surrounded the Viet Hoa Dao pagoda and threatened to "take strong measures" unless the youths responsible for the shooting were brought out with their weapons.

Eyewitnesses said about 20 men — aged, including girls, walked out and were driven away in police trucks.

Informed sources said angry Buddhist youths this morning burned a U.S. Jeep—the eighth vehicle to be destroyed this week.

Meanwhile, six Buddhist monks spent the night in the Saigon city hall seeking arrest in their protest against the government.

One of them, Thich (the venerable) Thuy Tri, deputy chairman of the Buddhist secular affairs institute, had started an indefinite hunger strike, a Buddhist spokesman said.

The girl who burned herself last two letters, one addressed to President Johnson and the other to the Buddhist church. Both denounced the country's military regime and the U.S. government's support for it.

In the disaffect northern city of Hue, battalions of government troops today continued to try to restore order after three months of near-anarchy.

'Tight Money' Is Forecast For 10 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—High interest rates are likely to prevail in the Canadian economy for the next 10 years, says a consulting economist from Missouri.

M. E. Weidman, professor of finance at Washington University, St. Louis, consulting economist for the U.S. National Association of Credit Management, told a business seminar funds are likely to be "tight" for most businesses because of the rapid expansion expected in the 1970s.

Addressing the closing session of a two-day seminar sponsored by the Canadian Credit Men's Association, Mr. Weidman said many smaller firms and new ventures will have to depend on so-called trade credit to finance their operations. This is short-term credit such as a householder may get by buying goods or services for which he is prepared to pay in full at the end of a month or two.

MARGINAL RISKS

"It is among these firms that marginal risks are most apt to be found," he said.

"The anticipated growth of the Canadian economy promises to hold interest rates at relatively high levels for the next decade. The high levels of interest rates and the limitation of loanable funds by commercial banks to the chief source of increase further, the reliance of many firms on trade credit as a source of short-term financing."

C. R. Cook, comptroller of Molson Breweries Ltd., told delegates the chief limitation on Canadian business during the next 10 years will be the funds made available to management by government-sponsored pension plans and the speed with which financial and management operations will be made to data processing equipment.

Harvey E. Gellman, president of DCF Systems Ltd., a data processing and control functions firm, said the area of technological change is being speeded up by computers.

Munsinger Inquiry Attacked

By KEN CLARK

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative Leader Diefenbaker was a thorn in the government's side in the Commons Friday as he criticized the Liberals' handling of Munsinger-type royal commission inquiries.

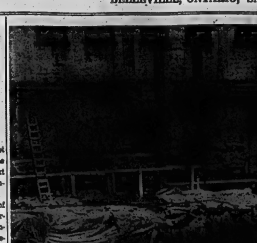
Later he softened his thrust in delivering an eloquent plea that the government save the Miasteni Indian shrine from ending up at the bottom of the lake being formed behind the South Saskatchewan River dam.

Other opposition MPs attacked the government on the handling and the principle of the Combines Investigation Act.

Despite the cut-and-thrust, the Commons approved the spending estimates of the Indian Affairs department and those of Guy Favreau, president of the Privy Council.

Mr. Diefenbaker, in his criticism of judicial inquiries said there were too many of them and too many judges were involved.

SEEN AS THREAT



Inquiries with political overtones were a threat to democracy. Rules of evidence were too loose. Judges, particularly from the Supreme Court of Canada, should not head inquiries into controversial political matters.

"We dare not, if democracy is to be preserved, allow for the setting up of royal commissions having essentially the characteristics of state trials," he said.

Rules of evidence used in courts of law should apply to judicial inquiries he said. Any other course would destroy the judiciary and lead to harassment of civilians as in totalitarian countries.

Assurance was needed that citizens would not be slandered by hearsay evidence at inquiries.

Stressing he was not announcing government policy, Mr. Favreau said the inquiries Act did not outline rules of procedure sufficiently and safeguards could be added to protect individuals. The chairman of the com-

CAVE-IN KILLS THREE — Workers dig through rubble in Montreal Friday in an effort to save four men who were buried by a cave-in at a construction site. Three of the men were killed and the fourth was rescued alive. (CP Photo)

Three Construction Workers Killed by Montreal Cave-in

MONTREAL (CP) — Three construction workers were killed and a fourth rescued Friday after a gravel and earth wall collapsed at an excavation site in midtown Montreal, burying them under tons of earth and rubble.

A fifth worker, 35-year-old Laurent Paquin, dug himself out of the debris and walked away about 10 minutes after the accident occurred.

Dead are Charles-Auguste Lemay, 54, Michel Patenaude, 25, and Francesco Tottino, 32, all of Montreal.

Paul Brassard, 29, the rescued man, dug out of the rubble about an hour after the cave-in, suffered multiple injuries but is not in serious condition, hospital authorities reported.

The men were working on a scaffold 30 feet below the surface of the excavation pit when a steel beam and wooden construction support fell, releasing a huge mound of earth and gravel from the wall.

Witnesses said there were two cave-ins in succession.

Some 100 firemen and construction workers dug frantically to rescue the three men.

Officials declined to comment on the probable cause of the accident.

Mobile, Transport Units Now Aim of Defence Dept.

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department is tending to look on the nuclear bombing role of the RCAF Air Division in Europe as a chullisone around its neck.

Informed sources say Defence Minister Hellyer would like to put more money into mobile and transport commands but that he can't just throw away the CF-104 nuclear bombers for which the treasury paid $464,000,000 in capital costs alone.

They say the department wants to reduce the number of CF-104 squadrons in Europe to six from eight as soon as possible and cut overhead costs at home.

But such action might be misconstrued by Canada's NATO partners at this critical time in the alliance as the start of a general military withdrawal from Europe by this country. Next year appears the earliest possible date for such a move.

When External Affairs Minister Martin mentioned recently a possibility that the government might bring back the dependents of Canadian servicemen in Europe and rotate the troops there every four months, he received a flood of anxious telephone calls, mainly from Rome.

Mr. Hellyer is said to want to build up a mobile force of at least two light brigades—some 7,000 men in all—as a much more useful and flexible contribution to NATO. And it could be used in theatres other than Europe.

The minister told the Com-

Navy May Move Ships Next Week

LONDON (CP)—The stage is set for an all-out struggle between the British government and the striking seamen's union.

The government is expected to call on the Royal Navy sometime next week to move strike-bound British vessels and make room for foreign-manned ships carrying vital imports.

A week of hurried negotiations ended Friday with no sign that the month-old strike was any closer to a settlement.

Despite a pep-talk by Prime Minister Wilson and the first talks between union and shipowners since the strike began, the union executive voted to continue the strike.

The seamen won no concession to their demand for a 40-hour week immediately. Wilson stuck by his endorsement of a judicial inquiry formula which would give them the 40-hour week next year and a reduction to 48 from 56 hours in the meantime.

The union says 841 ships are strike-bound and nearly 20,000 of its 60,000 members on strike.

William Hogarth, general secretary of the union, said reaction to the use of the navy would depend on whether it is necessary to clear berths or to break the strike.

Wilson was greeted with cries of "rubbish" and "scandalous" when he visited Liverpool into Friday. But his Labor government, with a huge majority and Trades Union Congress, appears to have a good chance of using the navy without touching off serious reaction.

Hogarth says he does not expect to have any difficulty holding the union together for a prolonged strike.

Although there are warnings of serious long-term damage to Britain's economy, the government feels the cost of meeting the seamen's terms would be worse.

The strike has so far hardly touched the general public, although islands dependent on coastal shipping have been hard hit.

STEPS DOWN

TORONTO (CP)—A. J. Biles, 61, told shareholders of Canadian Tire Corp. Ltd. Friday he is retiring as president to become an ordinary non-policy making employee. J. Dean Muncaster, 32, of Sudbury, formerly a vice-president, will succeed Mr. Biles.

Fogged-Up Visor Caused Little Loneliness in Space Says Cernan

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—"I became a little lonely. . . . The light appeared to me as I was looking out my visor as an automobile light coming through a misty-type fog."

Thus, U.S. space walker Eugene A. Cernan described Friday how his visor fogged, forcing premature end to his June 5 orbital stroll that lasted 2 hours and seven minutes.

Cernan, one of new space two-doo that caused moisture inside his space suit to collect on his helmet visor—just too much work for the equipment he had.

Cernan and Thomas P. Stafford, the Gemini 9 command pilot, told of their oft-troubled flight at a news conference.

The pair spoke eagerly of the mission that spanned three days, agreeing that what they learned added to the growing bank of knowledge needed to some day send men to the moon.

Stafford said Gemini 8 proved that radar, rather than optical devices, would be needed for an Apollo spaceship to manoeuvre toward the moon to rescue men in a lunar landing module, who for some reason decided not to land.

Despite Proposal to Mediate Farmers Still Blocking Roads

LAKESIDE, Ont. (CP)—Most tractor-driving farmer demonstrators blockading highways in this area to support demands for higher milk prices have called off protests pending a meeting Tuesday with Agriculture Minister William Stewart.

Mr. Stewart notified the Ontario Farmers' Union executive Friday that he would meet them in his office to discuss the farmers' demands for a firm $4-a-hundredweight price for milk.

However, at least one group of farmers announced continuation of the highway-driving blockade Monday despite Mr. Stewart's proposal to mediate.

Bill Langdon, president of Local 341 of the union, said a group of farmers—mostly from the St. Marys area—decided in an impromptu vote to continue their demonstrations in the area Monday.

The developments came after at least four groups of tractor-driving farmers drove their vehicles at a snail's pace along highways leading into the city of London.

Fearing traffic tie-ups as motorists flocked to summer cottages, police blocked about 20 tractors to a one-mile section of Highway 22, about 50 miles southwest of London.

Other groups, including one with 100 tractors, were reported on highways just east and west of London.

At 2 p.m. Friday a large group of farmers paraded into the farm of William Bryson, near Arcona. He is president of the Warwick local of the OFU.

It was there the group got word from OFU President John Pelmar that Tuesday's meeting with Mr. Stewart had been set.

The group voted to call off further demonstrations until after the meeting.

But about 30 farmers driving home from a demonstration near this community 30 miles northeast of London stopped for refreshments and took a vote on the issue.

"They voted to stay on the road until something is offered," Mr. Langdon said. "They feel they have finally found a way to make a solution to their problem."

"They're a little suspicious that Stewart is just trying to kill time until they are forced off the road to do the haying."

Provincial government officials have said they will leave it to police to ensure that motorists are not unduly impeded by the demonstrations and that highway traffic laws are observed.

Superintendent A. E. Agers of the provincial police No. 2 district said he hoped farmers would go back to driving their tractors in the fields.

"There are several sections under the Highway Traffic Act in which they could be

12 Missing As Trawler Hit, Sunk

By IAN MacKENZIE

HALIFAX (CP)—Twelve men from the Nova Scotia fishing trawler Reliance are missing and feared dead following a collision early today between the trawler and the Liberian freighter Bordapian off Nova Scotia's south shore.

The air-sea rescue centre here reported the trawler sank immediately after the collision, which occurred in dense fog about 40 miles southeast of Shelburne, N.S.

Four survivors of the trawler were taken aboard the freighter, bound for Halifax.

RADIOES NEWS

The 5,916-ton freighter, owned by Bordagain Shipping Co. Ltd., radioed first word of the collision at 12:36 a.m. today.

The Canadian Coast Guard cutter Rally was dispatched from Shelburne and reached the scene about 4:30 a.m.

She was being assisted in her search for possible survivors by an unidentified trawler, but dense fog shrouded the area and little hope was offered for the missing seamen.

The rescue centre here said an aircraft may be sent to help in the search as soon as visibility cleared, but an officer at the centre added: "It doesn't look too good for the rest of the day."

The Bordapian, whose port of registry is listed as Monrovia, Liberia, was headed for Halifax when the collision occurred.

The Reliance sailed from Lunenburg, 70 miles southwest of Halifax, at 3 p.m. Friday for a nine-day fishing trip to George's Bank, off the southern tip of Nova Scotia.

The two-year old trawler was under charter to Lunenburg Sea Products Ltd., a subsidiary of National Sea Products Ltd. of Halifax.

Capt. Allan said he normally goes to sea as her skipper, "but I broke a couple of ribs in a fall on my last trip ashore and so remained behind this time."

He said Capt. W. Langille, ordinarily the mate, has handled ships many times before.

Air Canada Agreement Wins OK

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal branch of the Air Canada Sales Employees Association has voted to accept the terms of a new contract with its employer, an association spokesman said Friday night.

The spokesman said some 185 members, representing 96 per cent of the voters, approved the agreement reached Wednesday night between representatives of the association and Air Canada.

The agreement came only minutes before the deadline for a strike of the airline's 1,430 sales personnel.

Voting by association members in other Canadian cities will be held today and Sunday, the spokesman said. Results of the vote have to be handed Air Canada by Monday.

The contract provides for an eight-per-cent increase retroactive to June 1, with another increase of seven per cent in 12 months, effective for 18 months.

A retroactive cash settlement of $150 to $200, depending on seniority, would be paid to cover the period since the last working agreement expired.

Rudy Plaig, chairman of the Montreal International Airport section of the Association, said earlier the agreement may have only delayed a threatened strike for five days. He charged the negotiators with "selling us out."

He said the union's negotiating committee is composed of people who are simply looking for "promotion within the company" and other employees in Toronto and Vancouver were also disgusted with the agreement.

Today's Chuckle

Husband, struggling with parcels, to wife: "We should have saved during the depression so that we could live through this prosperity."

Most dramatic was Cernan's description of the trouble he encountered in the strange world outside his spaceship as a human satellite. He had to end the walk 30 minutes early because of the fogged faceplate.

Cernan said he first realized the seriousness of the problem after he worked his way around to the rear of the spacecraft before attaching a rocket pack—called AMU for astronaut manoeuvring unit.

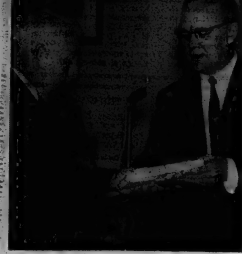
"I had a little problem when trying to keep my feet in the stirrups while using both hands to get into the AMU.

"I continually floated out the back and had to work continuously against a pressure suit. This overpowered the environmental control system in the backpack (which removes the moisture from the suit). I was breathing 30 per cent of my work load just to maintain positive pressure.

"As soon as we went into a darkness period, my visor started to fog," Cernan said. "I had only two more AMU connections to make. . . . I looked into the black night and the earth and the night looked the same. I could not see the horizon.

"I'm not saying I felt lonely out there. But a light (in the darkness) can be mistaken for a headlight coming through a fog. That's when we decided not to use the AMU.

"We just didn't realize the amount of work that would be needed. Now we know and will be able to plan for it in the future."



Cernan revealed for the first time that apparently an inner layer of the space suit had ripped or come apart at the seams early in the flight.

As the astronaut left side of the spaceship, his back turned to the blistering sun, his back got "extremely hot." He later compared it to "backing up to a campfire or fireplace."

Stafford said it apparently will be essential to use radar in any lunar rescue.

"Without radar we never would have found the target (spacecraft) said. "It was like a period on a piece of typing paper. It was a real classic test in relative motion."

Bill Gault Honored On Retirement After 45 Years of Service

CNR officials, associates and personal friends gathered at the Club Canada on Friday night to honor Bill Gault, recently retired as express freight agent, after 45 years of service. Many came from distant points and each called upon to say a few words of congratulations by the Master of ceremonies, Ralph Plompton, traffic manager at Corby Distillery. During the evening Harry Fast, Rideau Area Manager, presented Mr. Gault with a memento from his associates to which the recipient suitably replied.

Before the assembly enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings, a social hour was held and many stories about the honored guest were handled about but it was all in fun and Mr. Gault took it in his usual stride. The dinner was prepared by the Women's Auxiliary of the CNRAA and as always was delicious in every particular. The women were highly complimented during the evening. In the social hour, Bruce Johnson entertained with a number of selections on the piano.

The guest of honor has contributed not only to the success of the CNR in the city for the past 18 years but has also taken part in many worthwhile projects, which include the Curling Club, the Fair Board, the Traffic Club and the Rotary Club, of which he is a past president. Mr. Fast in recounting his life's work on the railway stated he joined the Express Company in his native town of Deseronto, moved to Napanee, where he met his wife Nina McKim, and then at Brockville, Bowmanville and Gerald-ton. He came to Belleville in 1941 and then was moved to Welland for the following year and there he took part in the formation of the Curling Club.

In 1950 he was appointed agent in this city and for the past 18 years has been part and parcel of the community. Mr. Fast stated that no task was too great for Mr. Gault and was always willing to assist in any project that would benefit his adopted home. "His great love of horses," said Mr. Fast caused him to be interested in the Fair Board and he has been a director in that organization.

Others to add their felicitations during the evening were Ron Messenger, train master, Harold Emerson of Northern Electric, J. F. Thomson, superintendent of Express freight for the Rideau Area, Jack Rashotte of TPT transport, Charles Reynolds, general superintendent of Express freight of Montreal, Bill Macey, of Montreal, Cliff Renwicke of Toronto, and Bill Slack CPR agent in this city and locally "Senator" Harry Rollins and Lee Grills, MP for South Hastings whose daughter Betty has the same birthday date as Mr. Gault. A presentation was made by Mr. Grills on behalf of himself and his daughter.

Mr. Gault in reply to all the nice things said about him stated he had enjoyed every minute of his life time with the railway and would do it all over again if the decision had to be made. He thanked all for the co-operation he had received during his years here and especially singled out Jay Campbell for special attention. It was a most pleasant evening and thoroughly enjoyable.

EMPLOYMENT NEWS

By J. R. Staveley
Employment Relations Officer

A longed wished for event in the lives of students, occurred this week with the community's High Schools completing their 1965-66 scholastic year. The rather depleted local labor supply was suddenly augmented by several hundred high school students eagerly seeking work. For over 800 of these young people a permanent job is the objective either locally or elsewhere. The remainder are seeking temporary summer work in preparation for further education.

Last year employers were well satisfied with the work performance of these young people both from a temporary or the permanent basis.

Employers having current employment vacancies or forecasting labor requirements in the immediate future suitable for these youngsters are invited to list with the local National Employment Service Office. Here experienced employment officers will refer suitable applicants to meet the requirements of the position.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES

The following job opportunities are a few of those now listed at local NES office.

In the female division locally — still required is an experienced sales lady to sell dresses, suits and coats either on a full or part-time basis. A similar position calls for a mature sales lady on a full time basis including some work on weekends.

In a neighboring city, a manufacturer of metal products requires assembly workers. The requirements call for a high degree of manual dexterity, Grade 10 level schooling, with a height of 5' 2" inches or over, limit 45 years of age or over and willing to work on a shift production basis. There are also a number of positions available in the plant testing department for young women possessing a Grade 12 education.

ASSEMBLERS NEEDED

Elsewhere in other parts of Ontario there are numerous openings for qualified members in the electrical field, power sewing machine operators, a travel agent, hotels, qualified cooks for summer resorts including a kitchen supervisor for a well-known girls camp.

In the male division locally — an experienced laketype operator is needed for one month's work on one of the Belleville agencies — current top salary rates apply and there is a possibility of continued engagement.

A high school Grade 12 technical graduate is being sought to fill a position in one of the industries as an expediter.

In addition to the existing career opportunities, many interesting jobs are open across the country — trainee in the office managership, retail merchandising, police work, textile operation, etc. Many mines are in urgent need of candidates to fill their miner-training programs. Adventuresome, healthy young men who are unemployed, continued to secondary school or whose stay there has been brief, are invited to check on the possibilities suggested by this basic Canadian industry.

Persons interested in any of these positions, seeking employment or thinking of reentering the labor market, are asked to contact the National Employment Office at 324 Church St. Belleville, or telephone 962-9681.

Red Cross Will Operate Youth Study Centre Here

Albert College will again be the scene of the Ontario Red Cross Youth Study Centre this year. Approximately 85 high school students from all over the province will attend the meeting to be held from June 30 to June 28.

The theme of the Study Centre will be "Dignity of Man in a Changing World." Panels, meetings, and talks will explore this topic throughout the week-long conference.

The delegates were selected for the Study Centre on the basis of their leadership ability and academic standing.

ANNOUNCE STAMP

OTTAWA (CP)—A five-cent commemorative stamp on the peaceful uses of atomic energy will be issued July 27, the post office department said Friday.

FARMERS WILL VENT FEELINGS AT MEETING

All farmers have been invited to attend the "Farmers' Protest Meeting" being held on Thursday, in the auditorium of St. Peter High School on Park St. in Peterborough.

The speakers, one representing farmers, the second from the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, and the third from O.F.U. will lead off.

The men and women — 70 in number — planning this meeting were unanimous in agreeing to have as main question time when farmers having problems will be able to present these with concrete evidence, pass reliable comments backed by evidence, and thus place a true picture of the farmer's case before the public.

A questionnaire will be presented to each farmer entering the hall. The seven questions are pertinent to further action if necessary. Each farmer filling out the form, expresses his own ideas and is not influenced by the thinking of others.

From the 1000 questionnaires passed out at the meeting held at Furnous last week, 900 supported immediate action and pledged their support in the demonstrations as well as financially.

TWO SHAKEN IN ACCIDENT

Two persons were taken to Belleville General Hospital for a check-up this morning following a two car accident on 14 highway south of Foxboro at Ross Corners.

Taken to hospital by City Ambulance were a Stirling area mother and her daughter. The hospital withheld the names.

The two cars involved received only fender damage.

Obituary

ROYAL SPENCER ZUFELT

Royal Spencer Zufelt of Rossmore died this morning at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, in his 63rd year. He had been in failing health for one year. Born in Consecon, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zufelt.

He leaves his wife, the former Correna Harris of Toronto and a sister, Mrs. Morris (Gena) Dulmage of Rossmore. He had been employed at the Belvedere Hotel in Belleville.

He is resting at the John R. Bush Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

ONE OF THE LARGEST IN ONTARIO, this Mattison precision surface grinder arrived yesterday at the Deloro Stellite plant here. It is the most expensive machine the local plant has purchased.

Deloro Stellite Gets $50,000 Grinder

On Thursday Hon. Louis Cecile, Ontario minister of welfare, introduced in the Ontario Legislature a bill which increased subsidies for day nurseries.

Previously the provincial contribution was 50 percent of the cost of public nurseries only.

Under the bill, the subsidy from the two senior governments would be increased to 80 percent and would cover private as well as publicly administered day nurseries. When the Canada Assistance Plan takes effect the province will negotiate agreements between municipalities and private nurseries to accept children on a fee-for-service basis. The municipalities will be repaid 50 percent of the cost of private fees and the cost of operating a municipal day nursery.

Belleville Mayor J. R. Ellis, said today that the new bill means day nursery costs will be on the same basis with all other welfare costs which are subsidized 80 percent.

"With the revised subsidy schedule, I can't see how there can be any valid objection to the establishment of a day nursery here," he said.

Continuing Mayor Ellis said that a day nursery in Belleville would not in any way increase the tax rate and if the program was as successful as he expected, it may be the means of even further reducing welfare expenditures in the years ahead.

Any objection to a day nursery here could only be due to lack of information, the mayor believed.

Deloro Stellite yesterday afternoon received the most expensive piece of machinery purchased by the company since locating in this city ten years ago.

A Mattison Precision Surface Grinder valued at $50,000 was unloaded at the plant and placed on a bed previously prepared for it. The grinder occupies a floor space of 35 feet by 9½ feet and weighs 53,350 pounds.

Deloro advertising manager Gordon Horaby explained that some grades of alloys used by the company are so hard that they cannot be machined and that grinding is the only process by which they can be finished. The acquisition of this grinder marks a major development in the firm's operations.

Mr. Horaby added that Deloro's grinder is one of the largest of its type in the province with the exception of a 50 foot long, 30 inches high, and 16 inches wide.

J. W. Hodgson Honored by Lieut.-Governor

John W. Hodgson, well known superintendent of the St. John Ambulance Corps in this area was honored this afternoon (Saturday) when he received the Priory Vote of Thanks from the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

In a special investiture ceremony held at Hart House, University of Toronto, persons who have given leadership and service received recognition.

Mr. Hodgson began his first Aid training in 1922 as an army cadet and has since passed his yearly examination twenty six times. He was appointed chairman superintendent when the Ambulance Division started in Belleville in 1941 leaving it upon enlisting in the Medical Corps. In 1961 when the new Division was organized again he became superintendent and in 1964 was appointed head of the Corps which includes Trenton, Belleville and Picton Divisions.

130 Homes Are Inspected For Fire Hazards in Week

The Belleville Fire Department's Home Inspection Program has reached the end of its first week and inspector Robert Fair reports that 130 homes were visited during the period. Inclement weather prevented inspections for two days during the week.

Inspector Fair said that 61 defects were found and that 26 houses were discovered to be in satisfactory condition. Most of the defects were electrical, he said, and the greatest number of these were improper fusing.

"We've been well accepted in this program," the inspector said. "There has not been one direct refusal of entry to the inspecting firemen.

The Fire Department will continue its program next week in the area between Moira Street, Catherine Street Coleman Street and the city limits.

IN MEMORIAM

GRANT — In loving memory of our dear husband and grandfather John Grant, who passed away June 18, 1964.
Two are not forgotten dear father, Those days we miss you,
As time goes by we sadly miss you,
We will remember them always,
Ever remembered by son, Olive and family.

MARACLE—In loving memory of a dear father, Edward Maracle, who passed away June 18, 1965.
Sadly missed by daughter Ruby and son-in-law, Walter.

MARACLE—In loving memory of a dear father, Edward Maracle, who passed away June 18, 1965.
Tenderly we treasure the past
Memories dear to us will always last
And when we cease to think of you
Will be when God has called us too.
Lovingly remembered by daughters Florence and Shirley, sons-in-law and children.

GRANT—In loving memory of a wonderful son, Ernest John Grant, who passed away June 18, 1960.
In tears we saw you sinking,
Watched you fade away,
Our hearts were almost broken,
But God took you home,
But when we saw you sleeping
So peaceful and free from pain,
We gathered around you weeping,
To suffer that again.
Lovingly remembered by stepdaughters Florence and Shirley, sons-in-law and children.

Mrs. Violet Fox Drives 400 Miles To Mark 100th Birthday in Belleville

Most people when they reach their 100th birthday are willing to remain close to home and let the rest of the world go by.

But not so Mrs. Violet Fox of Pontiac, Michigan, who this week decided a fitting way to observe her 100th milestone would be to take a 400 mile jaunt by car to visit relatives in Belleville.

And that is just what the surprisingly spry centenarian from south of the border did.

She stepped into her daughter's car and the two made the trip to Belleville where Friday (the date of her birthday) Mrs. Fox visited a niece and nephew, now residents of Hastings Manor.

"I didn't want to stay at home on my birthday. I wanted to go to Canada," she said.

Mrs. Fox's relatives at Hastings Manor are Mrs. Nina Morton, of Stirling, and Mr. Lewis Fox of Madoc.

Yesterday's 100-year-old visitor at Hastings Manor is an American by birth and met her husband, Neil Fox, when, as a young man he moved from the Belleville district to Michigan.

Mr. Fox died 22 years ago, but Mrs. Fox has retained a close connection with the Canadian branch of her husband's family.

A daughter, Miss Jane Fox, says her mother still does many of the household chores. She still does the baking, looks after the washing and this spring was even out raking the front lawn.

Miss Fox says the real reason for her mother's wanting to come to Belleville was to get away from the bother of a centenary birthday party.

But her Pontiac relatives and friends were not to be denied.

On Monday evening about 30 friends turned up at her Pontiac home to give her honor.

The tiny, 100-year-old lady, who keeps right up to date on world affairs, took the party in stride.

The next morning she helped clean up the house — and said she was ready for the trip to Belleville.

Defence Move to Quash Theft Indictment Fails

Defence counsel R. E. Nourse was turned down this morning by Judge Wilfred S. Lane in his bid to quash the indictment against his client, Miss Marjorie M. Lahey, as Miss Lahey's trial on a charge of theft of funds from the Madoc magistrate's office entered its fourth day.

The jury, consisting of 10 men and two women, is expected to deliberate this afternoon after hearing arguments of Mr. Nourse and Crown Attorney Brud Affick and the charge from Judge Wilfred S. Lane.

Testimony in the case ended late yesterday afternoon.

Miss Lahey said under cross-examination yesterday she had no explanation for the crown evidence of 40 cases where payment was made for fines but no record of those payments were recorded in the monthly returns.

In the stand for three and one half hours yesterday in direct evidence and cross-examination Miss Lahey broke down briefly on only two occasions.

"On your monthly returns," Crown Attorney Affick said, "I notice when you made your summary that sometimes you'd report that payment had been received for time cases listed on previous returns."

"Yes. There were always time cases."

"Once a time case had been paid, you'd report it on the next monthly return, is that correct?"

"Yes."

"And yet there are something like 35 or 40 cases here never reported as paid. Why wouldn't you report them as paid?"

"I have no explanation for that."

"And you can't explain why there are no deposit slips for them?"

"I haven't checked the deposit slips."

"That could be arranged."

DEPOSITED ALL MONEY

"All I am saying is any money that I received, I deposited. I deposited it all."

In reply to her counsel, R. E. Nourse in direct testimony, Miss Lahey said she had told Magistrate R. C. Jackson on three occasions she was going to resign.

"I liked the work, but it was too hard on me. I couldn't sleep at night.

"I typed out my resignation one night and left it on his (Magistrate Jackson's) desk. When I came to work next morning, it was still on his desk. He didn't arrive until the afternoon because there was a court.

"He read the resignation and said, 'I'm going to tear it up, I will not accept it.'"

Miss Lahey said she had talked with Magistrate Jackson about being behind in filing her monthly returns and he told her "Well, Toronto won't crucify you for that." He advised her to leave the transcripts and catch up on the monthly reports.

She said she wrote letters in the department (attorney general's department) about the returns being behind and once got a telephone call from an auditor in Toronto.

"He said my returns were behind. I told him I'd get them in as soon as I could. I told Magistrate Jackson about the phone call and he said no matter how he wrote a letter or phoned them to tell them the reason for it was because of the number of courts I had to do."

Miss Lahey said when the police came to her apartment December 2 to arrest her and search the apartment she had got home after 10 days in hospital only 15 minutes or one-half hour earlier. "Just long enough to change into my pyjamas.

"I thought it was a joke. I asked one of the officers, 'Are you kidding' or 'is this a joke' or words to that effect.

"We've been told you bought a large quantity of liquor for three months before your arrest," Mr. Nourse said. "Did you buy that liquor for yourself?"

"Not all of it, no."

"Who did you buy it for?"

BOUGHT LIQUOR

"I have bought liquor for two different people."

"Who were they?"

Miss Lahey did not reply. Judge Wilfred S. Lane said, "You'll have to tell the court, Miss Lahey."

"Magistrate Jackson and a hairdresser who is a cousin of mine," she said.

"Who did you buy most of it for?"

"Magistrate Jackson."

"Where did you get the money for the liquor you bought for the magistrate?"

"Magistrate Jackson gave me the money."

"Over what period of time did that take place?"

"From six months after I started working there."

Miss Lahey said she balanced the books in the office herself every month and they balanced.

In her statement given to police following her arrest, she said, "I was working at Magistrate Jackson's office as court reporter and court clerk. I was paid by Magistrate Jackson. I had the key to the office. I worked there from Monday to Friday. I was responsible for the office."

Strawberries Sold Quickly On Local Mart

Home grown strawberries, offered by Mr. Earl Onderdonk of R. R. 1 Carrying Place, were offered this morning on the Belleville farmers' market.

Mr. Onderdonk had only 18 boxes of the early berries for sale and they were quickly snapped up at 75 cents per qt. box.

Locally grown hothouse tomatoes were also offered at 45 cents per pint box while bunch onions, radishes, rhubarb and lettuce were in good supply. Rhubarb sold at three bunches for 25 cents, and rhubarb and onions at two for a quarter.

Spy and Delicious apples ranged from 75 to 85 cents per six quart basket. Sweets were 75 cents and snows 60 cents.

Grade "A" eggs brought 50 cents per dozen and extras 55 cents.

Rains Save Year's Crop of Strawberries

Frequent rains of the past two weeks have saved this season's strawberry crop, according to one vendor who offered berries today on the Belleville market.

Mr. Earl Onderdonk of Prince Edward county, said that until the rains came prospects for the strawberry crop were pretty dim. Root structure of the plants was skimpy and the ground dry and cracked.

But the frequent showers have changed the picture and now farmers are looking forward to a "fair" crop of strawberries.

Call Tenders For $1 Million Job at Trenton

Lee Grills, M.P., reports tenders have been called for reconstruction of a taxiway at Trenton Armed Forces Station. It will be 15-inch concrete construction on base to carry larger and heavier planes. Upwards of one million dollars will be spent on the project. Tenders close June 23, 1966.

Fist Fights Shorten Visit Of Evangelist

LONDON (AP) — American evangelist Billy Graham cut short his tour of London's Soho district Friday night when fist fights broke out and two persons were arrested.

Graham had intended to take an hour-long walk through the area of coffee bars, strip-tease houses and strip clubs, but he cut it to five minutes when he was met by more than 1,000 shouting and screaming people.

The fights broke out not over religious differences, but among people being pushed in the crowd.

Three policemen formed a wedge to get Graham to a microphone. From a van, he was told the crowd he had not come to criticize them, but to tell them "God is merciful and forgives all sins."

Postpone Mains To Use Funds For Other Jobs

TRENTON — The members of the Trenton Public Utilities Commission, meeting Thursday, voted to postpone two water-main projects and to substitute other capital works for these.

Delayed will be the renewal of a watermain on Hawley Street, in order to make funds available for the installation of a main on Bay Street South, to serve houses owned by Earl Godden. Also, the planned-for installation of a main on Stewart Street will not be carried out this year as the commission thinks the estimated $18,000 could be spent in other ways. The main would only serve two business and this property is already served by a smaller main.

The commission voted also to rescind existing legislation to do with the installation of air conditioning units, as manager James Page explained these were impossible to "police".

The commission decided to make an exception to the rule that employees should live in Trenton in the case of Charles Twyman, who is needed as an experienced call-out man. Other cases of this nature, will be dealt with on their individual merits.

In order Twyman was hired as a meterman, to replace a man who resigned.

Mr. Page was empowered to sign an agreement with E. and E. Seegmiller Ltd., for the purchase from the commission of crushable material and sandy gravel fill for work on the Murray Township new development road.

Hospital Busy

TRENTON — In May, 433 adults and children were admitted to Trenton Memorial Hospital, according to a report released yesterday by hospital administrator, Miss Hazel Naudett. Of the total, 315 admissions were from Hastings County and 43 from Prince Edward County.

There were 62 livebirths and two stillbirths and nine deaths.

Major operations numbered 68; minor operations, 90.

In the outpatients' department, 1,749 persons were treated and there were 698 emergency cases.

Legion Will Honor Memory of Comrades

TRENTON — On Sunday, members of Trenton Legion Branch 51 will decorate graves of departed comrades in area cemeteries. Legionnaires will assemble at the hall at 9 a.m.

On Sunday, June 26, Trenton Legionnaires will attend a district memorial service in Cobourg. Branches will form up at the Cobourg armory at 1.15 p.m.

In other Legion activities, Trenton will play host to golfers from eight other branches at a tournament at the Trenton Country Club on July 10. Tee off time is 10 a.m.

The annual branch picnic is being planned, time and place to be announced, and Monday night, the branch will present the Provincial Command Remembrance Day essay winner's cup to Diane Willet, a Grade 11 student at Marmora Street Senior Public School.

LIBRARY GOING TO THE DOGS? — This unfortunate dachshund was refused entry to the Corby Public Library yesterday afternoon, possibly because he had lost his card.

Northern Signs Contract With Greek Co.

MONTREAL — The Northern Electric Company, Ltd., Canada's largest manufacturer of communications systems, announces the recent signing of a contract with the Hellenic Organization of Telecommunications, S.A.

The contract, valued at about $5 million dollars, is the result of two years of complex negotiations by a team of technical and commercial experts. It stipulates that Northern will provide crossbar switching telephone systems, specially adapted to the requirements of Greece for six new telephone exchanges located in the Athens area. Greek technical personnel will receive thorough training in Canada, and also in Greece, in Northern's installation and maintenance techniques.

Stressing the significance of this contract to the Canadian economy, Mr. A. C. Kwatz, Northern's vice-president, international operations, indicated that a project of such dimension, using Canadian materials provides hundreds of thousands of man hours of work for the skilled labor force, not only of Northern Electric but also of Northern's many suppliers across Canada.

Transport Command Boost

Defence Minister Paul Hellyer's prediction of a possible expansion of Air Transport Command is good news for the Trenton-Belleville area.

That the command's resources currently are strained heavily appears evident from the fact that the big airlift of men and equipment for NATO manoeuvres in Norway earlier this year left the organization with no reserves.

Visiting Trenton with members of the Parliamentary Defence Committee, the minister was given a first-hand briefing of command needs by Air Commodore G. G. Diamond who has just completed a tour of command bases in Canada and overseas.

The situation now, according to Air Commodore Diamond, is that if Air Transport Command is to meet emergencies as well as routine commitments a larger force is needed.

The command strength of almost 7,000 at present includes 378 pilots, 216 navigators and radio officers, and approximately 150 flight engineers. The problem of aircraft technicians leaving to take up civilian posts has lessened to some extent, although more are still required if the command is to operate at full efficiency.

In the event of expansion taking place, it will mean increased business for the Quinte area, including Belleville where a considerable number of personnel make their homes.

Belleville enjoys good relations with the air force and any influx of additional personnel will be welcomed here.

Romania's Course

For some years now Romania has been pursuing much the same sort of independent course as Yugoslavia before it — to the discomfiture of the powers that be in Moscow who have been witnessing in recent years a gradual loosening of the shackles that have bound the eastern European nations to Soviet authority since the last war.

Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and to a lesser extent Hungary still remain firmly within the Soviet orbit, Romania, however, with its oil resources and burgeoning industries, has been renewing old links with the western world.

Much of Romania's trade today is with western Europe and Britain. The result has been a growing estrangement with Moscow which wants Romanian industry to serve the communist equivalent of the European common market.

If Yugoslavia, with its relative poverty, can go its own white elephant way in creating a socialist type of government, so too can Romania. That is exactly what is happening.

And now, to compound Russia's embarrassment over its errant satellite partner, the long term visits of Premier Chou En-lai to the Soviets and Romanians even further apart. Peking already has a friend in the area—Albania, and although the latter's influence is insignificant, the possible addition of Romania to China's adherents could represent a rival political bridgehead in the Soviet bloc that might be disastrous for the latter.

Nor is China making any pretence of its intentions, as witness the visit to Bucharest of Premier Chou En-lai, who pledged his country's support for Romania in its pursuit of independent policies. The next few years should prove interesting in the relations between Russia and its satellites.

Maori Progress

Reading the current issue of Te Ao Hou, the Maori Magazine of New Zealand, affords further proof of Maori progress and of the excellent relations they enjoy with white New Zealanders.

Maoris and whites (pakehas) together form a harmonious society in New Zealand. The country also has a considerable number of Orientals and islanders (people of Polynesian stock from the Cook Islands) and Europeans.

Published in both English and the Maori languages, Te Ao Hou reflects not only the Maori's traditional culture, his arts and crafts and legends, but also his place in the modern world and the increasing emphasis on education. A careers officer in a country college with a large Maori roll, writes on the problems of job placement, and there is a picture of a group of teenage Maori girls from Maori communities in the north island arriving in Wellington for a five-week course aimed at introducing them to city life.

Auckland, one of the world's most beautiful cities, with a population of 400-a-nation, is a mecca for Maoris as well as white New Zealanders. Wages there are high by New Zealand standards, as reflected by a hospital board advertisement seeking household staff at rates up to £20 ($60) a week.

The rhythmic music and dances of the Maori world famous and there are advertisements of the latest records by Maori groups, including the well-known St. Joseph's Maori Girls' Choir and Kiri Te Kanawa, a young soprano who is making a name for herself.

Spelling Bee Is Revived

Windsor Star

Looking back, the old-time spelling bee appears to have been more a feature of the little red schoolhouse and the subsequent consolidated school than of today's large urban institutions. But it hangs on in various places, without proving conclusively that today's pupils are less competent than their predecessors.

A nation-wide contest recently held in the U.S. picked a 12-year-old champion who held his top position by correctly spelling "sachsen" and "ratoon." He played the two words for ear, not knowing what either of them before.

That this contest was a practical test of ability to spell may not be conceded generally on the basis of the few contest words revealed. Certainly "ratoon" is more suggestive of Indian or Tarzanese than of things within the experience of young people. And "ratoon," which has eighteen patch citations, has its own limitations.

The top girl contestant, who muffed "sachsen" on a run through on "ratoon." The third contestant was eliminated when she spelled "couturier" as "couturier." We'd want to know more about the bee director's accent and enunciation before conceding that the word "couture" offered a fair test.

Pining for Simple Life

Montreal Gazette

A new idea for a different holiday has been hanging up by the German Farmers' Association, which is trying to persuade city dwellers in West Germany to pay their vacation on the farm.

The idea grew out of a public opinion survey which showed that some six million families in West Germany have a long, long for "the unspoiled, simple life." The survey also found that others look forward to pitching hay and feeding livestock.

The city-dweller may get a different idea of the farming life after a few weeks of pitching hay and feeding livestock, but it is an interesting thought for some Canadian farm association anyway.

Are Various Reasons Why Child Pulls Hair

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter had abhabit of pulling out her hair. She is partially bald now, but the hair is growing back. Is there any way to speed up its growth? — Mrs. P. K.

* * *

I donut if there is any way to speed up the growth. As long as the hair is growing back, let time take care of it.

There are various reasons why some youngsters get into this habit, and sometimes are never find out why.

It is rather a common trick of a nervous child, and is comparable to nailbiting, nose-picking and other such actions. Sometimes it may be an attention-getter.

Depending on the child's age and circumstances, it can be a nervous reaction to such things as competition with brothers or sisters, an unfavorable home situation, or irregular habits of eating, play and sleep. In other words, it's a nervous action.

Therefore it is at least worth the effort to note whether any of these circumstances are present.

I've heard of very young children being cured of such pulling by cutting the hair so short they can't get hold of it. In a brief time, so it was reported, the habit was broken. The question then is whether some other nervous habit develops instead.

As to hair pulling occasionally a child will eat the hair, and this can be a serious matter if enough is swallowed to form a ball in the stomach. Only a few months ago I observed a case in which the hair ball was of such a size that it actually prevented the child from getting enough nourishment, and it had to be removed surgically.

Dear Dr. Molner: A doctor said that excessive thyroid can cause a person to be underweight. I am very thin and have trouble in gaining, although I used to weigh more than normal. My mother and sister both have thyroid trouble but they are heavy. Are there any signs or symptoms that would indicate anything is wrong with my thyroid? — Mrs. A. B.

An underactive thyroid is indeed likely to contribute to overweight; an overactive thyroid, however, has to be quite dynamic to cause a person to be thin. Many underweight people are that way, not because of thyroid, but because they are physically active and use up the calories they eat, because they are satisfied with foods which do not have a high calorie value.

An overactive thyroid is more likely to bring about a sudden loss in weight despite a good appetite, rather than to cause a person to be continually underweight.

Principal symptoms of overactive thyroid include nervousness, excessive sweating, fast heart beat and possibly wide palpitations, and a fine tremor of the fingers.

Dear Dr. Molner: Three years ago, my aunt had a "ring" inserted for a fallen bladder. Since then she has never returned to the doctor for examination, nor has the ring been removed. Could this cause any difficulties? — Mrs. T. E. D.

These rings, made of hard or soft rubber, should be removed periodically for cleaning and the area should be inspected for irritation. Chronic vaginitis with discharge or ulceration could result from the ring being left for long periods. She should have it checked.

Note to A. F. J.: Yes, blood type remains the same throughout life. And yes, liver is high in iron, but it is not necessarily a cure or preventive for anemia. Some anemic people only need iron. Others require Vitamin B 12. It depends on the type of anemia.

Japs Put On Inches

Saint John Telegraph - Journal

If you are a parent dismayed at how fast the teen-agers are growing these days, be thankful at least you're not a parent in Japan.

The modern rate of growth there has been so phenomenal that 14-year-old boys today stand five inches higher on the average than boys of the same age in 1900. In just the last 15 years, the average weight of 15 year-olds has increased 20 per cent.

Japanese schools are being forced to install larger desks and seats. Theatres need more leg room. Clothing manufacturers are turning out longer-legged suits. The building industry is considering new construction specifications, raising the heights of doorways and ceilings.

Much the same thing has been happening here. Once upon a time a shoe store in New Brunswick rarely got a request for size 12 for a high school boy. Now size 12 is a staple commodity, and some boys are wearing size 13's and 14's. We can only wonder where it is all going to stop.

Lakehead's Attractions

Fort William Times-Journal

Some years ago, men engaged in promoting the tourist industry in our part of the country published the local incidence of hay fever in Thunder Bay District. We have few of the weeds which promote the affliction of hay fever sufferers. But for some reason or other we have not been talking so much about the subject lately.

Maybe we should revive the topic. For those whose eyes start to smart and weep and whose noses begin to itch in the summer, a place which presents them relief from their misery is hard to resist. And since there are countless numbers of hay fever sufferers on the North American continent, many of them could be induced to visit Northwestern Ontario if the word were spread around properly.

Free Spending Parliament Spurs Spiralling Cost

By RICHARD JACKSON

From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Forget, if you can, for a moment, the high cost of living and its always climbing index.

Last month it perched at its highest ever peak at 143.6 based on what the Dominion Bureau of Statistics calls "normal" 1949.

It means that what cost you $1.00 only 17 years ago, now runs you $1.43 and a bit more.

And if it runs true to the form it has held for the last 27 months or so, this month will be even higher.

Worrying, eh?

You can't worry now. It's going to level off, and if your family budget has any more stretch in it?

Well, if you're concerned about costs soaring like a rocket, you should see what's been happening to Parliament and what the Statistics Bureau would call the Cost - of - Governing Index.

Based on the DBS "normal" of 1949, it would read somewhere over $4.00

UP UP UP!

For 17 years ago in 1949, figures in the Finance Department's Official Estimates put the annual cost of running Parliament at approximately $3,000,000.

This year, discloses Finance's new Estimates, the tab for Parliament will will be a starting $14,611,325.

A "starting" figure, that is, because this is the "Main Estimate," with what they call the "Supplementaries" - - last minute costs they forget about the first time around - - still to come at two or even three batches.

Back in '49 when it cost that $3,878,505 to operate Parliament, MP's and Senators were still getting only $4,000 a year.

The Commons sat only five or perhaps six months a year, and being an MP was a pretty much of a part-time job.

And one you really couldn't afford unless you were a person of independent means.

Parliament in those days was still a kind of club for "gentlemen politicians" in the same sort of sense that a certain sporting and social type of farming us to "gentlemen farmers."

By 1955 when the annual cost of doing Parliamentary business here rises to $5,360,866, the MPs has become $10,000 - a - year men.

They were getting an annual indemnity of $4,000 and a $2,000 tax-free expense allowance.

And from that point on there was a difference.

Parliamentary costs.

Up to $7,007,515 in '56

Into the $9,000,000 climb in '57.

$11 MILLION A YEAR

At this new plateau of $11,383,220 it had more than doubled the $3 878,705 of '49.

It took 1958 to have to do it.

But as things have turned out, the increase in both time and money was worth it.

For three years the tab, while climbing by an annual 100,000 or so, held reasonably steadily - - steady, that is, in comparison of what was to come.

From the $9,262,220 of 1959 came the $8,538,300 in '62 and $8,-700,700 by '63.

Then with the new Prime Minister Pearson about conducting that $10,000 Parliamentary indemnity to the $18,000 plus fringe benefits now paid MP's, costs really took off.

From that $8,700,380 in '63 they rocketed to $12,500,220 in '64.

To $14,125,875 last year.

From $7,062,515 in '56 to $15,-091,125 currently is a doubling, and then some, in 10 years - - by far the greatest part of it, some $6,700,000, since '63.

What keeps it going up these past three years is that MP's salaries remained stable at $18,-000.

It's the "plus" of that $18,-000, the rising cost of Parliamentary travelling expenses and pensions and, of course, fringe benefits, all paid by the Treasury.

Conservative Leader Diefenbaker has claimed that it was the Liberals' theft which set off the cost spiral. He still says that when Parliament "put all restraints aside" and doubled its pay, thru the taxpayers collectively came to the conclusion that what was good enough for the politicians was also fairly good enough for the paying public.

And now look what's happened

Good Fishing

A total of 35,043,000 pounds, two thirds of all commercial fish landed in Ontario last year, came from Lake Erie, according to the Department of Lands and Forests.

City Authors' Work Is Praised

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

It is with positive interest that I have been privileged to read one of the first copies of "Mosaic of Belleville," produced by Mr. and Mrs. Nick Mika.

In my considered opinion this is one of the finest. I have spent many years I might be an authority on this subject I am now convinced I am only an amateur.

The silk screening is out of this world, the discourse is second to none, the indexing is away beyond my information, and I thought I had a lot of information.

As fairly new citizens to our fair country I think they have done a remarkable job.

I feel that the citizen of Belleville should have one of these books in his home, in fact I think so many of us should send them to our relatives and friends."

So many of us take so much for granted, but I maintain that we live in a city that we can indeed be proud, I am, and I hope you are.

With sincere best wishes to the fellow citizens and to Mr. and Mrs. Mika.

Local Developers Buck Red Tape

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

I wish to make reference to the news item in Thursday's paper concerning the proposed shopping plaza on North Front Street.

The principals have, after nine months of frustration, abandoned hope of obtaining an answer from the monolithic bureaucracy which terms itself the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board, or from its equally autocratic counterpart, the Ontario Municipal Board.

The developers have stated in evidence before them "there would be no point in investing money in Belleville."

Mayor Belleville Beavis defends his bureau by claiming that the O.M.B. is at fault. So it may well be, from April 30 until now.

But what happened between October 1, 1965 and October 1967 - Was Mr Beavis doing his best to prod that application through the mazes of red tape? or was he, for seven months, quietly booking it as a threat to his "green-belt fantasy" for North Front Street?

Now here we have an amusing situation: one local bureaucracy making it difficult, if not impossible, for one of our own citizens and taxpayers to create a business development; while another, the Industrial Commission goes about in cloak - and - dagger fashion to entice, via, to attract development to the area. A paradox! It would appear that a stigma attaches to being boy). Belleville and development - minded.

I would suggest that the Industries Commission, which has been spectacularly unsuccessful in spite of a fair budget, be wrapped in its stead, let there be created a "small" commission whose charge it would be to encourage, assist, expedite and in every way possible advance any attempts at development by citizens and firms of our own city.

Let the reward overtures of faith in our city, rather than permit this faith to be squashed by a handful of bureaucrats.

Know Your Antiques

Old Advertising Pictures Are Collector Items Now

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

Advertising antiques have begun one of the "hot" new interests among collectors. The boxes and signs of an earlier century are becoming more important. The unusual type styles on the pictures of unfamiliar places or people, and the general hard sell testimonial approach that differs from today's style makes old ads fun for collectors.

Early signs can be found printed on paper, cloth, glass, or tin. The boxes are made of metal or wood with paper labels or painted tin. It is the eye-catching appeal of the antique that gives it a value today, not the intrinsic worth of the product.

Q. Ten years ago I was given an old cast iron stove. We just moved and our unused stove is now on view in the family room. It is marked "W. Poultney, Ad Tight Parlour No. 1."

A. The first air tight stove was invented in 1836 by Isaac Orr of Washington, D.C. It could burn most fuels and gave off little smoke. Your stove was made about 1845.

Q. "Millenium plate" is what my mother always called our pink and white dish. A lion and lamb are pictured in the centre with the words "Peace on Earth." Is it old?

A. The millenium plate was made by Alfred Meakin of Tunstall, England, about 1840. It has been reproduced in the twentieth century. Many examples are to be found. The plate was made in blue, pink, black, or brown transfer pattern.

Q. "Honey gold" is a term I have heard. When was this sort of gold decorating done?

A. There were four general types of gilding done during the eighteenth century. Gold was applied to boiled linseed oil; ground into lacquer and painted on with a brush; burned on in a mercury gold mixture; or honey gold was used.

Honey gold was made by grinding gold leaf into honey. The sticky mixture was applied to the porcelain with a brush. Then, the dish was fired. The honey gold was applied as a tooled. It was used on fine English dishes that could later be Irish and French eighteenth century porcelain.

38 Homes for Unwed Mothers Now Operating Across Canada

The unmarried mother in a maternity home should be allowed to see the father and the baby, after it is born, says a Children's Aid Society official. Her views are outlined in this story by a reporter who has spent weeks in research on the problems of the unwed mother.

By DINY DALBY
of the London Free Press

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The stark reality of pregnancy often hits the unmarried mother when she first enters the maternity home.

Sister St. Madeleine of the Cross, director of Sunset Manor in Chatham, Ont., says: "I have seen girls at their first meal here break out crying at the dinner table.

"We know sometimes they will react with hostility, not so much toward us, as toward the situation. We don't scold them, we don't punish them, we accept them. This is our way of thinking."

There are 38 homes for unwed mothers across Canada. Each has its own method of working with the girls. The way in which the maternity home personnel think and talk about this relationship with the unwed mother can be more important to her than the physical set-up of the home.

The unwed mother is a highly sensitive individual. She can sense acceptance and understanding as readily as she detects disapproval or contempt.

Children's Aid Society workers, who visit the homes regularly, know what kind of atmosphere prevails and can advise parents when a home is best suited to their daughter's needs.

SOME RESTRICT VISITS

Some homes are better equipped to handle the rebellious girl or the disturbed girl who has problems other than her pregnancy. A. P. Bates of the Children's Aid Society of London says.

The staff must be able to determine the girl's needs; to share with her the experience of pregnancy, he says.

Some homes refuse to take the responsibility of allowing the unwed mother to see the father or her child. Mr. Bates feels the unwed mother should not be denied this opportunity unless their relationship is a very shallow one.

There are also mixed feelings among maternity home administrations as to how the unwed mother should relate to her child after it is born. Some refuse her the right to see the child; others force her to; the remainder leave it as a matter of choice.

Mr. Bates feels the unwed mother should be allowed to see and feed, even breast feed her infant, if she expresses a desire to do so. "If we take this right away from her, we are denying her her motherhood."

In other homes, there is a tendency to shield the girls from exposure to the outside world. Mr. Bates fails to see the reasoning behind this practice since the day is past where the unwed mother has to be shut away to serve her penance.

PROTECT PARENTS

"She must be given the opportunity of continuing close contact with society in general and to live as normal a life as possible," he says.

Why do pregnant girls seek the seclusion of maternity homes?

Mrs. Margarete Herrig, executive director of Armagh, a home for unwed mothers in Clarkson, Ont., has said the girls do it to protect their parents. "Parents are often more anxious to hide the girl's condition than she herself is."

Bethesda Salvation Army Home and Hospital in London accommodates 27 or 28 girls at a time. It is non-denominational and owned and operated by the Salvation Army.

During pregnancy, the unwed mother lives in the "home" part of Bethesda, set up in dormitory-style with a small number of girls in each cheerfully decorated room.

With the onset of labor, the girl is transferred to the hospital section where she stays for eight days following the birth.

All mothers, married or not, covered under the Ontario Hospital Insurance plan, have their stay in hospital paid. With the introduction of the new Ontario Medical Services Plan (OMSIP), a girl's medical fees will also be paid if she is enrolled in the plan the required length of time.

Mothers at Bethesda are allowed to see and feed their babies if they wish to do so.

Sunshine Manor at Chatham is operated by the Sisters of Misericordia of Montreal under the auspices of the diocese of London. It is non-denominational and can accommodate 21 girls.

Under the present arrangement at Sunshine Manor, the girl receives medical attention from a private doctor of her choice. She takes an assumed name and receives her appointment with the doctor as "Mrs." Usually, she wears a wedding ring.

When her labor begins, the girl is admitted to one of Chatham's two hospitals under her assumed name.

She has the same opportunity as the married mother to see and feed her child.

The average cost of operating a maternity home is $5 a day and their families cannot afford to pay it.

Brig. Ida Ellis, the social worker at Bethesda Hospital, says: "We determine the needs of the girl and try to serve them; I wouldn't like to see the time come when finances are stressed."

Monday: What does the the future hold for the unwed mother and her child?

Danes Endeavoring to Lure Tourists Into Countryside

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

COPENHAGEN, Denmark — For years now, the schmaltzy evening ensembles in the cafes have been serenading moist-eyed tourists with "Wonderful, Wonderful Copenhagen" over pickled salmon or Danish China, thanks to Danny Kaye and a promotion-minded Scandinavian Airlines sales executives now known to and beloved by all Wonderful Jorgensens.

The Danes have a king who walks the streets alone saying good morning to his subjects, who tip their hats, say "Good Morning, King," and pass on. Their queen shops in department stores and waits her turn in line, and the princesses went to public schools.

They have not the klog on their knees to genuflect, but Hans Christian Andersen, that ingenious and eccentric bachelor who loathed children, left us immortal fairy tales. Nor is any kiosk's statue holy most famous monument; only the Danes have Anderson's Little Mermaid. They even have Fairy Tale Tours during which an imaginative guide reads Andersen's stories to the accompaniment of the landscape.

This carefully cultivated curvy image, compounded of equal parts of Danish ham and Danish pastry, has been bringing more tourists to Wonderful-Wonderful than there is room for. Now the Danes are trying mightily to get them out of the city and into the country which has been going begging for them.

The Danes' Denmark really begins right in town, at Frederiksberg Park, where on Sundays busy little bees bunch, dawdle over aquavit and lager in the open beer gardens, and visit the zoo. They're a lot like us in the animals, or other tourists.

To the north lies the Danish Riviera, a ragged one to Riviera go, each stately Victorian villa rocking at the sea from behind lace curtains. Each outside town at Klampenborg stands a true fairy tale preserve, an oasis of nature almost in the city, known as the Deer Park.

It's a real deer park in a forest setting of towering beeches and elms, filled with more than 2,000 wild deer gamboling over 2,300 acres that constitute a fraction of the royal hunting grounds. For three dollars you hire a two-horse open shay for a nineteenth century turn around the grounds and its Viking burial mounds, country roads, and gabled, isolated Renaissance palace that is the royal hunting lodge.

Adjoining the preserve is a countrified minor league version of Copenhagen's more sophisticated Tivoli Gardens, a raucous fun house of an amusement park that runs the gamut from giddy carnival rides and fortune tellers to satire revues and strip joints, all of it a stone's throw from the peaceful deer park.

On the northeast point of Zealand Island, still keeping an eye on Sweden across the straits, stands Denmark's most renowned castle, Kronghong was Elsinore. But Kronborg was never when Shakespeare chose it as the setting for his rewrite of a story by an obscure medieval scribe named Saxtus about an equally obscure Viking prince named Amleth. Elsinore has been doing out on Hamlets ever since.

TOURIST'S DREAM

But the loveliest of Denmark's castles, the tourist's dream, is nearby Fredericksborg. Its towers and towers rise red and graceful from their reflection in the lake, and the castle houses treasures in royal furniture, silver paintings and tapestries.

Denmark's building king, Christian IV, designed it. Centuries later Frederick VII kept his coin collection there and wanted to keep the castle beautiful. Since this was before the day of thermostats, he overdid it one day and the castle burned to the ground. It was subsequently restored to its present handsome state by Carl Jacobsen, the millionaire brewer who gave away his fortune.

At Ledreborg, at the end of an imposing elm-lined drive, stands another of the baroque manors that dot the countryside. It is one still occupied by the noble family that built it. But almost the whole right, at Leire, is the other end of the Danish historical spectrum — a Viking village. It's not a real Viking village, but a curious do-it-yourself archaeological project, an attempt to recreate an Iron Age community. It is an experiment believed to be unique in the world.

VICTORIA WHEELER : MECHANICAL ENGINEER

"Be faithful to that which exists nowhere but in yourself — and thus make yourself indispensable." — Andre Gide.

This is the time of the year when careers are launched; when colleges abound with young men and sweet girl graduates.

And of the latter, we recently conversed over a cup of coffee with one — not capped and gowned as a month ago perhaps, but a lovely version in tones of brown: a linen suit matching pretty hair, and wide brown eyes.

These eyes innocently survey a world, at present not fully aware that she is the first girl to ever graduate as a mechanical engineer from the University of Western Ontario.

Belleville also shares this honor, for she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Wheeler, 308 MacDonald Ave., and whom you may know as Victoria or Vicky.

"When did you first realize you wanted to be an engineer?"

"I think it was while I was in Grade 13, at B.C.I., now that I think of it." The soft - spoken voice blends in with the quite feminine name of a really feminine girl. And for that reason, the words constantly surprise me. "If asked what I met with in my studies, and when I decided finally that I wished to take up engineering, I met with the same opposition, my teachers, my friends, and above all, my parents, gave me real encouragement.

"Some faculty members at the university however, thought I should think it over again. When they realized I wanted to stay by my decision, they gave me their blessing.

"In our graduating class of 49 boys, I was the only girl — the 50th member, (Vicky was also the only girl in a class of men taking a course in politics).

"Being a girl was no problem. I do not think being feminine has anything to do with brain power. From the first I was accepted as 'one of the class.'"

Since mental work should be balanced athletically, Vicky attended all football games — as a Majorette!

"I used to take lessons when I was a school girl in Belleville. When I was invited to join the majorettes — there were seven of us — I found I liked it, and took it up again. One of the girls was going through for a doctor position for an accountant and still another, who graduated with me, was the only girl graduating in Business Management."

"How sorry you must be to have university days over!" was our remark, for here indeed was a popular co-ed.

"In a way, yes, for it was a marvellous time. But once your course is over, it's over. As someone has said: 'In the world of the college, every generation is born, grows old and dies in four years.'"

Thus as a mechanical engineer, Victoria (who, looking very much like a teenage model is a shy 21!) leaves academic halls for industrial office walls in Toronto at IBM, to accept a position applied for by many applicants.

"Yes," she admits with modest elation, "I am most happy about it. Teaching does not interest me and I am pleased to be employed industrially. I want to go all the way as an engineer. I chose mechanical engineering rather than civil, mining or chemical, because for me, it is more concrete. Limitless modifications may be developed from basic shapes. This appeals to me."

Armstrong – Sexsmith

Barbara Gail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sexsmith of Tweed and Edward Michael Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Armstrong of Scarboro, were married by Rev. H. V. Kennedy in St. John's United Church, Tweed, on Saturday, June 11, 1966 at 1:00 p.m. Mr. Fred Porter played the wedding music and Kenneth Bronson was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of French boreaded satin with fitted bodice and rounded neckline and long sleeves. The modified bell-shaped skirt ended in a chapel train. Her four-tiered bouffant veil of imported illusion was worn over a Juliet cap of taffeta rosettes and petals with lace and pearl trim. She carried a cascade of yellow roses and white stephanotis.

Mrs. Melvin McNaughton, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a kelly green brocaded peau-de-glow floor-length dress with fitted bodice, bell - shaped skirt and matching headpiece of single rose petal and net. Mrs. Ronald Frizzell, bridesmaid and Miss Debbie Richards, niece of the bride, groom and junior bridesmaid, were dressed identically to the matron of honor. All carried bouquets of yellow daisies and white stephanotis.

Mr. Dick Richards attended his brother-in-law and the ushers were the bride's brother, Mr. Eric Sexsmith and Mr. Joe Church.

At the reception, held at Price's Log Cabin, Actinolite, the bride's mother received the guests dressed in an apricot lace gown with white accessories and a white gardenia and stephanotis corsage. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a blue lace dress with matching coat, white accessories and a corsage of a white gardenia and stephanotis.

On their return, the couple will live at 12114 Heale Street, Scarboro.

MR. AND MRS. NORMAN W. JOHNSTONE

Johnstone – Cronkwright

Rev. J. A. Payton officiated at the wedding ceremony in Grace United Church, Trenton, on Saturday June 11, 1966 at 3 p.m., when Sandra Lee Cronkwright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Cronkwright, Trenton was united in marriage to Norman William Johnstone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnstone, also of Trenton.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by organist Mr. Donald Burke who also accompanied the soloist Mr. Wayne Phillips, cousin of the bride as he favored with appropriate selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length bridal gown of white silk crepe and highlighted with lace appliques adorned with pearls across the bodice and on the three - quarter length sleeves. The bell-shape skirt was enhanced with a detachable chapel train. A veil of silk tulle illusion flowed from a crown of crystals and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Joyce McGee as maid of honour wore a mint green floor-length Empire styled gown with lace bodice and three-quarter length sleeves. Her headdress was a matching self bow with scalloped veiling. She carried a cascade bouquet of shaded carnations. The bridesmaids Miss Donna Mayhew, cousin of the bride and Miss Bonnie Johnstone, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Patti Cronkwright, sister of the bride were similarly attired in the maid of honor, but carried cascade bouquets of pink carnations. The little flower girl was Miss Jodie Johnstone, niece of the bridegroom who wore a floor - length white Empire styled gown trimmed with the same material as the other attendants' gowns. Her headdress was of pink carnations and she carried a petite basket of pink carnations.

Mr. Gary Mason was the bridegroom's attendant, while Mr. Derrill Johnston and Mr. Randy Johnstone, both brothers of the bridegroom were the ushers.

For the reception held in the church auditorium, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a two-piece rose pure silk shantung ensemble with matching hat, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations and pink roses. Assisting was the bridegroom's mother who chose an aqua sheath styled dress of silk lace over taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to points east, New York State and Niagara Falls the bride donned a two-piece pink and white lace suit, white picture hat, other white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Upon return Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone will reside at 30 Dominion Street, Trenton.

MR. AND MRS. STEPHEN B. WATTS

Watts – Clarke

Rev. William Lamb officiated at the ceremony which united in marriage Linda May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Richard Clarke of Belleville and Stephen Bernard Watts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lisle Watts of R. R. 3, Belleville. The wedding took place on Saturday, June 11, 1966 at 1:00 p.m. at Holloway Street United Church, Belleville. Mr. Angus Macleod was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon over satin with an Empire-styled bodice and long sleeves of Chantilly lace. The gown featured a train of matching lace, also edged with matching lace. Her shoulder-length tulle illusion veil was caught with a beaddress of small roses studded with pearls and she carried a fan-shaped bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Lorrainne Clarke, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a sheath dress of pink nylon over taffeta with Empire waistline and a pink rose headpiece with veiling. She carried a bouquet of pink Shasta mums. Mrs. Jean Chiconard of Stirling and Miss Georgina Clarke, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. They were mint green brocade dresses styled similarly to that of the matron of honor's, with matching pillbox hats. Their bouquets were of white Shasta mums.

Hubert A. Watts was groomsman and the ushers were Ronald Morgan and Ronald Chionard.

At the reception, held in Christian Hall, Holloway Street United Church, Mrs. Clarke received, wearing a powder blue chiffon sheath dress, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

To assist, Mrs. Watts wore a dress of old rose-colored lace with beige accessories and a corsage of red roses.

For her wedding trip to Niagara Falls the bride chose a two-piece powder blue knit suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

On their return, the couple will live at 24 West Bridge Street, Belleville.

F/O PAUL NORTHOVER AND MRS. NORTHOVER

Northover – Ross

Lynda Anne, daughter of Dr. Francis Raymond Ross and Mrs. Ross of Belleville, and F/O Paul Grange Northover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clinton Northover of Barrie, were united in marriage by Msgr. J. A. Carley in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, on Saturday, June 11, 1966, at 11:00 a.m.

Sister Mary Rosaria was organist and Adrian Vogt was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta, styled on Empire lines, with a bodice and teacup sleeves of re-embroidered Alencon lace. A scalloped panel of lace overlaid the raised waist to emphasize the A-line skirt. A mantle train of silk tulle over pure silk organza, re-embroidered with Alencon lace, fell to chapel length. Her veil of tulle illusion edged Alencon lace flowed a floor-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and white carnations centred with a white orchid.

The attendants were Sheila Casey of Belleville, maid of honor; bridesmaids Donna Walker of Centralia and Doreen MacLean of Ottawa; junior bridesmaid, Elizabeth Ross, sister of the bride and flower girl Heidi Northover, sister of the bridegroom. All were dressed alike in gowns of floral design in yellow and tangerine cotton organza, styled on Empire lines with A-line skirts and short puffed sleeves. They wore large picture hats of yellow organza and carried colonial bouquets of white carnations, and yellow sweetheart roses.

Peter Northover of Toronto attended his brother and the ushers were Richard Walker of Centralia, and Joseph Ross and Peter Ross, both brothers of the bride.

At the reception at the Officers' Mess, Canadian Forces Base, Trenton, the bride's mother received the guests wearing an aqua sheath of pure silk with jacket of imported lace, matching accessories and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses and a gardenia. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a gold sheath of lace over taffeta with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses and a gardenia.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a skimmer dress and jacket of pure silk Swiss rib with matching accessories and a corsage of red glamelias.

On their return, the couple will live in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Lines on Life

Work Makes Home Life

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

Flaubert said genius is only long patience and hard work.

Michelangelo is supposed to have said this: "If people knew how hard I work to get my mastery, it wouldn't seem so unusual at all."

There is much that we can learn from these masters. Nothing significant comes easily. We purchase cheaply only the allurements of life.

How true this is of all our real and lasting treasures. Start with our home life. Some couples strongly think love and family unity are possible without constant effort.

Bad coffee in the morning has been blamed sometimes for wrecked homes. A powder keg full of trivia, adding up to nothing, has blown up many a marriage.

But a good home, because it is the greatest work of art conceivable by man, takes time and patience. We never can take love for granted.

We have to keep polishing our loyalty and our devotion to keep them from tarnishing. We have to work at being good husbands and wives, sincere fathers and mothers.

We never reach a stage of knowledge or perfection. We can't rest on our laurels.

The moment we think we've achieved complete soul fit of understanding, we may be on our way to losing it. But fortunately for the normal man and woman, life affords many chances. If we've made mistakes — and who hasn't? — we can always try to rebuild the bridge. We can recapture love that has rusted by lack of use.

The trouble is that we imagine the tasks and challenges of life so formidable we never make a real start at tackling them. Broken homes often are not so much broken as they are deserted; deserted by people who refuse to expend the effort to solve their problems.

It's the first step that counts. Even a trip around the world begins by taking the first step. Once we're on the way, the road becomes easier and the direction clearer.

QUESTION: I have been making Strawberry and Strawberry-Rhubarb Jam for many years with the liquid certo with much success but the past two years I have had trouble in getting it to jell . . . L. S.

ANSWER: It was a pleasure to say your signature after a long lapse between letters. Irene, try using certo crystals (see below).

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

Southern Fried Chicken; Oven Potato Chips (see P.Pk.); Minted Green Peas; Shredded Cabbage and Carrot Salad with Homemade Dressing; Banana Cake with Crunchy Topping; Coffee.

STRAWBERRY JAM (Repeated from June 27/63)

2 quarts strawberries (approx.)
7 cups white sugar
1 box (1¾ oz.) powdered pectin (certo crystals)

In large preserving kettle mash ripe washed and hulled berries. You should have 4½ cups when mashed. Mix in pectin and bring to boil, stirring frequently. Immediately add sugar, stirring constantly, and boil rapidly 1 minute. Remove from heat, skim off foam and stir, skim for 5 minutes to suspend fruit in jam uniformly. Pour into sterile glasses. Cover with hot paraffin, adding second coat when first is set.

FROZEN STRAWBERRY JAM (Uncooked - stored in freezer) (repeated from June/63)

2 cups mashed strawberries
4 cups powdered fruit (berry) sugar
1 box (1¾ oz.) powdered pectin (certo crystals)
¾ cup water

Wash berries in sieve, hull them and drain well. In a flat bottomed pan mash them and measure 2 cups. Add the berry juice, stir very well and let stand 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile mix together the water and powdered pectin and cook stirring until they come to a hard boil and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Immediately add to fruit-sugar mixture and stir for 3 minutes. Pour into clean dry 8-oz. jars to within ¼" from the top to allow for possible expansion when freezing. Cover with lids at once. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours. Store in freezer. If this jam is to be used within 2 or 3 weeks it will keep in storage part of refrigerator — not frozen.

STRAWBERRY, PINEAPPLE AND RHUBARB JAM (repeated from June 27/63)

1 cup chopped raw pineapple
1 cup sliced rhubarb, ½"
1 cup crushed raw strawberries
4 cups sugar
1 box (1¾ oz.) powdered pectin (certo crystals)

Combine fruits in large pot and mash. Add powdered fruit pectin and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to a full boil, stirring constantly. At one stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into about 7 medium sterile jars and glasses. Cover jam at once with ⅛" hot paraffin, adding second coat when first is set.

Opp. Shop Will Close For Summer

The final meeting for the season of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary Opportunity Shop committee was held on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Frank Bowler, who conducted the meeting, which was held in the shop.

It was decided to close the shop for the summer on Saturday, June 25th at 4 p.m. and to re-open for the public on September 8th at 2 p.m. While the shop is closed work parties will paint and redecorate, and it is hoped some major improvement will also be made in time for the official opening.

Prior to the opening on September 8th and 9th from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. members of the committee will be in the shop to receive donations for this year season. The Opportunity Shop has had the most successful year ever and the committee is most grateful to all the friends and well-wishers whose co-operation has made this possible.

Club Activities

SENIOR CITIZENS

The Senior Citizens held their last meeting of the season in the Recreation Centre on Wednesday evening in the form of a potluck supper.

After supper the mid-month meeting was held, with the president, Mrs. M. Clapp, presiding.

The annual picnic will be held in Cobourg Park on July 13th.

The lucky draw was won by Miss F. Ayling Euchre winners were: Mrs. M. Ford, Mrs. L. Longhurst, Mrs. H. Pickers, Mr. Albert Johnstone, Mrs. A. Longhurst and Mrs. M. Robinson playing a man's card.

A Lift for Living

Fear Forces Man to Make Hurried, Twisted Decisions

By REV. HAROLD E. KOBN

We frequently misinterpret the facts of life because we see them through our distorted fears. Unhealthy fear warps vision and makes twisted judgments. It causes us to exaggerate difficulties and thus anticipate defeat and minimize our opportunities.

To the fear-plagued mind, even the best looks like the worst. Canon Hooper of India and his wife were staying overnight in an area reported to be infested with tigers. They went to sleep with their minds filled with stories of these dangerous, marauding beasts. In the middle of the night Canon Hooper heard sounds in the bushes outside the bungalow. He awakened his wife and asked her to listen. Sure enough, tigers!

Then their paralyzing fears were banished by joyous Christmas carols. The rustling they had heard outside their window was made by Indian Christians gathering to sing carols in the dark hours of early Christmas morning. The fearful had even scarlers may sound like tigers, and the best is sometimes pretied to be the worst.

Moreover, to the fearful opportunities look like impending disasters. One of the greatest migrations of men in history was nearly frustrated by this misinterpretation fear places upon certain facts Israel's spies discovered in the land of Canaan. Moses selected 12 spies to venture into the land of Canaan, "the Land of Promise," to find out what the country and the towns were like, whether the villages were fortified, and of what sort of pasture, woodlands and crops were to be found there.

MOST WERE DISCOURAGED

When the spies returned they brought back a glowing account of the countryside and showed the Israelites splendid samplings of the fruits of the fields as proof of the fertility of the land. But most of the spies spoke discouragingly to Moses and his people about the prospects for taking Canaan. Then Caleb, one of the spies, a man of courage & of faith, tried to overcome the effects of the dismal outlook that the other spies had pictured, saying, "Let us go up at once and occupy it: for we are well able to overcome it."

But others cried out, "We are not able to go up against the people; for they are stronger than we . . . All the people that we saw . . . are men of great stature; and we seemed to ourselves like grasshoppers, and so we seemed to them."

Had Moses and his followers believed the majority report of the spies they would have remained wanderers in the wilderness; or perhaps they would have returned to be a badge in Egypt, as some of the discouraged Israelites suggested they should. But Caleb and another man of courage, Joshua, had seen the same facts and interpreted them through eyes of faith. Moses accepted that interpretation, and ordered the people of Israel to march into Canaan.

And the history of religion and the world was changed, for Canaan later was the setting for the further development of the Hebrew faith, and it became the birthplace of Christiandom.

Like the anxieties and dread suffered by the majority of the Israelite spies, unhealthy fear seeping into the human heart is a poison that weakens faith, destroys inner peace, warps insight and makes us utterly unfit for the Promised Land of tomorrow).

Every challenge then looks like a terrible crisis. Every chance to serve our fellowmen then seems like an unjust claim upon our already over-taxed time and talents.

Fear concentrates so absorbingly on the thing that may happen that it prevents us from facing attention upon the thing that is happening now. We are so fearful of growing old that we do not enjoy middle age. We are so afraid we may not be promoted that we fail to perform well the task that belongs to our present job. We are so apprehensive that our children will not grow up to be good adults that we do not rejoice in their infancy and childhood. We are so frightened by "the giants" in the land of Canaan that we do not make an honest, objective estimate of our own advantages, or see the way the Lord has led us and is preparing us for great adventures, or sense His presence with us in the wilderness.

Is there any prescription that will prevent or cure such distorted interpretations of the facts of life? The only antidote for fear is faith. The answer to our unwholesome, fearsome insecurity is the God upon whose mercy and providential care we depend.

Those who count on God do not expect to be spared problems, risks and dangers. Their Promised Lands will be taken only after considerable struggle and hardship. Education will not come to them without study. Great decisions cannot be made without agonizing thought. Marriage will not be successful without sometimes making painful adjustments. Social life will not be builded without temporary reverses, defeats and discouragements.

Personal testing of character cannot be overcome without a fight. But in the midst of fearful circumstances the faithful can be fearless because they see their enemies as they are, and see that they are not alone in the struggle, for "the Lord is with us," as Caleb declared in his people.

"The Lord is with us" means that there is Wisdom beyond our comprehension, great plans beyond our little programs. Power beyond our small strength, and a Promised Land beyond our wilderness.

Lighting the Way

By Walter S. Cress

A VALUE OF A LIFE

In the Lost and Found column of a New York city newspaper, there appeared recently an advertisement which read, "lost, one grain of rice. Reward to finder, $1,000.00"

However, it was not just any grain of rice that was missing. This one had painted on it a version of Da Vinci's "The Last Supper" done in miniature by Jules Chadeneau, an elderly San Francisco artist.

The reward was offered publicly by the Hammer Galleries of Manhattan, whose director, Victor Hammer, said he was posting it in behalf of an unidentified wealthy client who had lost the grain in New York.

If a grain of rice can be so valuable because an artist has put his mark upon it, then one human life can possess infinite value when the image of God is stamped upon it. Our lives increase in value as, under the gracious influence of the Holy Spirit we become more God-like in character and conduct.

Old Order Mennonites Choose Deacon by Lots

By ROBERT TROTTER
in the Kitchener Record

ELMIRA, Ont. (CP) — Old Order Mennonites "made a deacon" here the other day.

The choice was made by the time-honored custom of choosing a man by lot. The method is based on Acts 1:26: "And they gave forth their lots; and the lot fell upon Matthias; and he was numbered with the 11 apostles."

More than 200 horses and buggies were tethered outside the meeting-house in Elmira, 12 miles north of Kitchener, for the selection, an important event in the life of the church whose people eschew much modern trappings as automobiles. Five were nominated for the office.

The deacon is in charge of congregation's welfare. He is the one who first interviews backsliders. He must see that enough food, clothing and assistance is available for less fortunate members of the congregation, the widows, the poor and the needy.

It is an onerous position, held for-life and there is no remuneration.

Any male member of the congregation in good standing may nominate a candidate. The names are presented to the bishop, other ministers and deacons the Sunday before the lots are cast. Only rarely is a candidate rejected by the bishop.

Ann Landers

Where to Draw Line In Teen Styles, Query

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter is 14 and driving me out of my mind because of her obsession with what she considers up-to-the-minute style.

ANN LANDERS

I have gone along with Lois up to now because I haven't wanted her to feel different from the rest of the girls in her crowd. But things have gotten out of hand. The girl is getting herself up to look like a comic. I feel I must draw the line somewhere — but where.

Lois has hemmed up all her dresses so that they hit her about four inches above the knees. She wants everything tight around the hips and the louder the colors and patterns the better.

She goes around both day and night wearing sunglasses as large as coffee cups. Her hair (which she irons on a board) hangs in her eyes and looks ghastly. I am happy that she is allergic to eye make-up and cannot wear it. For several months last winter she looked like a raccoon.

My husband and I have had some serious talks about what to do but we just don't know where to draw the line. Will you please print this letter not only for us but for other parents who must be equally baffled? — ADRIFT WITHOUT ANSWERS.

DEAR ADRIFT: Styles do change — and they will continue to change because it's good for morale and good for business. But some of the stuff I've been lately — not only on teen-agers, but on their mothers — may be considered fashionable, but it strikes me as positively indecent. The op look and the pop look and the ironed hair and the kooky glasses — o. k. if a girl keeps herself clean. But those skin-tight, thigh-high skirts are vulgar. There's nothing left for a girl to do to attract attention except to set her hair on fire.

Parents not only have the right but they have an obligation to say, "This far — and no further!" There comes a point at which respectability must take precedence over "trend" — and, so help me, over "what everybody else in the crowd is doing". When you feel that your teen-ager is getting too far out, step in and lower the boom.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was 18 when I fell madly in love with a married man. I waited for him three years, until he could get a divorce.

We have been married 14 months and have a son who is six weeks old. The baby is sickly and cries a lot. My husband says his other children never cried at night and he doesn't see why this one has to. According to him it is my fault.

He criticizes my housekeeping and says his first wife was wonderful that way and he isn't accustomed to anything else. He knew I hated housework before I married him but he said it didn't make any difference.

Last night he made a mean remark about my figure and it really hurt. I explained that it takes a woman about three months to get her shape back after a baby. He said his ex-wife got her shape back in three weeks on four different occasions.

I'm very unhappy and afraid he is, too. What happened to the most exciting love affair in history? — NO NAME.

DEAR NO: It was legalized.

minister could be strengthened.

Dr. Diefenbaker's handling of the Gerda Munsinger case is the subject of a current inquiry. The West German blonde, labelled a security risk, was alleged to have had liaisons with Conservative cabinet ministers when Mr. Diefenbaker was prime minister.

ATTACKS COMBINES

One of the strongest attacks on the combines matter came from Frank Howard (NDP-Skeena) who claimed the combines branch was being starved to serve political ends. It was not fulfilling its obligations because of influence exerted by friends of the Liberal party who hoped to control the financial affairs of the country.

Mr. Favreau said the act will be revised and more investigators hired. But despite its limited staff the branch was doing an enormous amount of work. Mr. Howard's charges were false.

The act imposes penalties on companies or businessmen who conspire to fix prices, undercut competitors unfairly or set up monopolies.

Later, Northern Affairs Minister Laing, piloting legislation affairs estimates, said the government plans to redouble its efforts to promote industrial development on Indian reserves.

Indian housing was also in a bad state. As a result the government had upgraded its program in this area to build 1,500 houses rather than the 1,150 planned earlier.

Mr. Laing's intentions drew a compliment from Mr. Diefenbaker, followed by the request for action to save the huge rock embedded in Saskatchewan soil that the Cree Indians once regarded as sacred.

The Historical Sites and Monuments Board had decided the rock was not of national historical importance, Mr. Laing disclosed. In the light of that the department could do little to save it.

However he would talk it over with the agriculture department which was considering a proposal to prove all or part of it out of the way of the Saskatchewan waters.

Mr. Howard said the royal commission on pilotage, appointed in 1962 to study urgent problems, had cost $800,000 and the report was not expected until the end of 1966.

WAS TOUGH JOB

Mr. Favreau said the pilotage inquiry proved broader and more complex than had originally been expected. The commission had heard 400 witnesses in 125 days of hearings and received 2,000 documents. More time was needed to conduct research, study the evidence and draft the report.

Mr. Diefenbaker brought the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism into the debate, too.

Had members of this commission made a trip to Puerto Rico? If so, why? How many went "to that very salubrious climate" to study biculturalism? Would the government be changing its mind about the formula for amending the constitution following the commission's report?

Mr. Favreau was just getting up to reply to this volley when Mr. Diefenbaker loosed another broadside on the Munsinger inquiry.

Had Mr. Justice Spence indicated when he would report? Would it be during the session or would it be "restrained" until a sunnier recess?

Mr. Favreau said he is not the minister in charge of royal commissions. Their estimates were part of his departmental estimates but it was not his responsibility to report to the Commons about them.

DOESN'T KNOW TIME

He said he did not know when the bicultural commission would report except that it would be "sometime at the end of the year."

As to the Munsinger inquiry, Mr. Favreau said "I have no indication of what work is being done or the date it is expected to report."

Mr. Diefenbaker bounced back with another bicult/ralism question. What about the "unusual questions being asked members of the armed forces" by the researchers? Why were they being asked whether they belonged to the upper, middle, lower or intellectual class?

Mr. Favreau seemed slightly irritated after this barrage and countered with a dry, five-minute reading of a detailed report on the bicult/ralism commission hearings across the country.

This failed to take the wind out of Mr. Diefenbaker's sails.

"I appreciate the Privy Council president's reading of his report but he still didn't tell us about that trip to Puerto Rico."

Despite

charged," he said. "Right now we'll just have to play it by ear and see what develops."

Highway Minister Mac-Naughton said farmers have a right to demonstrate as long as they are orderly and obey the rules of the road.

Transport Minister Haskett, whose department administers the Highway Traffic Act, said: "We will watch it of course. We are not afraid of it."

Mr. Langdon said he and Stan Dowd of Woodstock were named to a negotiating committee by area farmers Monday. He said the committee wants to negotiate with the provincial government.

He said "truck passing" was one reason for the demonstrations.

"We go to the county milk committee. They refer us to the Ontario Milk Marketing Board. They say they can't do anything and to go to the Ontario Milk Commission. They will send us back to the marketing board. The provincial government tells us it's a federal government matter. This has been going on for years," he said in an interview.

The farmers are also protesting because milk buyers have been deducting trucking costs ranging from 1¢ to 3¢ cents a hundredweight from a basic price of $3.25 promised April 1, Mr. Miller said.

The farmers want the provincial government to absorb the shippers' costs to guarantee them the $4 price.

Investors Pay Little Attention To the Market in General

By GORDON GRANT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Investors showed interest in specially attested issues on Canadian stock markets this week, but paid little attention to the market in general.

Speculative issues were all but dormant, although there was generally activity in the two issues which made news.

There were the usual reasons advanced for the markets' indecision — labor problems in Canada, a weak and vulnerable New York market and the war in Viet Nam. But it appears the summer doldrums, which usually hit markets in July, have come early this year.

Volumes in Toronto — Canada's busiest securities market —remained on the slim side.

Among industrials on the Toronto exchange, whose maker T. G. Bright, a closely-held issue, jumped $5 to $80 after increasing its dividend to 50 cents a quarter from 25 cents and reporting sharply increased earnings.

Chateau - Gai, another wine company, was unchanged despite showing earnings of 96 cents a share for 1965 compared with 83 cents in the previous year.

PAPER ADVANCED

Among foods, Salada jumped 2¼ to 12—it was up 1¼ Friday —on rumors that it will receive a takeover bid from Atlantic Sugar. Atlantic fell ¼ to 29.

Utilities were fairly active. Northern and Central Gas said it was considering a share-exchange offer, for Quebec Natural Gas and also received shareholder approval for a 2-for-1 stock split.

Northern and Central fell ¼ to 27 and Quebec Natural was up ½ to 14¼. Northern is also in the process of takeover of Canadian Industrial Gas and Oil which dipped ¼ to 13¾.

Northern Electric dipped ¾ to 33¾ after directors advised shareholders to accept an offer of $14 a share from Bell Telephone which lost ¼ to 52.

Toronto Iron A jumped 3¼ to 15¾ after the company proposed a stock reclassification, an increase in dividend and a 2-for-1 stock split. Under the proposal, class A shares would become common shares and the dividend would be increased to 80 cents from 60 cents on the old shares.

GRABBED SPOTLIGHT

Among speculative mining issues, Consolidated Halliwell grabbed the spotlight, sagging 18 cents to 90 cents after announcing an earnings decline for last year to $1,142,891 compared with $1,164,281 the previous year.

Selling was so heavy Friday, when the stock fell as low as 90 cents, that trading was delayed 17 minutes at the opening so some semblance of an orderly market could be maintained.

On index at Toronto, industrials were up .07 to 183.05, golds .20 to 175.36, western oils .53 to 104.31 and the TSE index is up to 154.71. Base metals were down .01 to 90.26.

Volume for the week was 14,272,000 shares compared with 12,951,000 last week. Dollar value of shares traded amounted to $40,040,719 against last week's $42,044,319.

In Montreal, industrials were up .13 to 161.61 and papers 1.95 to 115.36. Utilities dipped .34 to 142.79 and banks .30 to 119.83.

Thirty Per Cent of Pilots In Armed Forces Now in Non-Flying Jobs, Report

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — Thirty per cent of the pilots in the armed forces were engaged in non-flying jobs at April 30, a defence department spokesman said Friday.

This was one month after annual pay increases of up to $2,000 for pilots was announced by the defence department. The increases became effective Feb. 1 this year.

The spokesman said there were 2,752 pilots in the armed forces at April 30 and of these 1,918 or 70 per cent were on full-time operational flying.

There were 2,238 pilots in the RCAF, 1,580 of them on flying duties; 338 in the navy, 250 of them flying; and 195 in the army of whom only 88 were engaged in flying.

Informants said there is some bitterness in the armed forces that desk-flying pilots have received pay jumps.

In announcing the increases, the defence department said they were designed to counter bidding by commercial airlines for experienced pilots.

Officials said the pilot "establishment" now is being reviewed and indicated that pilots in ground jobs who have little chance of returning to flying duties will be taken off the pilot list.

Moreover, they said, pilot experience is required in some ground jobs.

EXPECT OVERHAUL

The entire pay structure of the armed forces is expected to be overhauled by Oct. 1 when, one informant said, there will be a "substantial", general pay increase.

Allowances for military personnel who have to travel away from home for short periods of time are expected to be increased considerably. Present allowances, established years ago, hardly cover a hotel room let alone meals and other expenses.

A committee is studying the possibility of granting a "disturbance" allowance. This name has been given to a plan designed to prevent financial loss for personnel when transferred. Such costs as electricians' fees for unhooking and hooking up stoves are not now covered.

Also being considered by the committee:

—Consolidation of pay and allowances. This would provide higher pensions, which are based on pay only.

—Extra pay for particular skills, as in the case of the pilots.

—Removal of differences in pay and allowances between married and single personnel of the same rank who have similar skills and length of service.

STILL DECLINING — Unemployment in Canada dropped to 247,000 at mid-May despite a less-than-seasonal increase in the construction industry. The monthly report by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the immigration department said employment continued its upward trend from last October. The mid-May unemployment was a decline of 51,000 from the previous month and 18,000 lower than May of 1965. (CP Newsmap)

Business Briefs

AUTHORIZE TRANSFER

The Quebec public service board has authorized the transfer of shares representing the controlling interest in Quebec Telephone Co. to Anglo-Canadian Telephone Co., it was reported Friday.

COMPENSATE SHELL

The Shell Oil Company, taken over by the Egyptian government two years ago, will get about $28,000,000 in compensation, the authoritative Cairo newspaper Al Ahram reports.

FARM INDEX DOWN

The index of prices paid to farmers for their produce declined in April to 278, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Friday in Ottawa. The March index was 279.2. The index is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100.

Unlikely Anything Official To Be Said About Missions

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The great diplomatic breakthroughs of the cold war have usually resulted from patient and painful negotiations conducted, strictly in private.

That is why it is extremely unlikely that anything, official or unofficial, will be said for a long time, if ever, about the missions of Canadian special envoy Chester Ronning to Hanoi.

More than two years after the event, the details of how External Affairs Minister Paul Martin set up the United Nations peacekeeping force in Cyprus have still not been disclosed.

For another example, which involved Mr. Ronning himself: In 1954, China-born Mr. Ronning, who speaks Mandarin fluently, attended the Korea political conference as Canada's member of the Canadian delegation. The conference itself failed, but Mr. Ronning persuaded the Communist Chinese to release RCAF Sqdr. Ldr. Andy MacKenzie of Montreal, shot down in Korea in 1952 and taken prisoner.

To this day, not a word on what transpired between Mr. Ronning and the Chinese has been divulged.

Mr. Ronning, 71, went to Hanoi in March on instructions of the Canadian government.

RETURNS TO HANOI

He has returned there, presumably to continue the exchange of views on the possibility of negotiations to settle the Viet Nam war.

Mr. Martin has confirmed that Mr. Ronning went to Hanoi a second time. Beyond that, nothing.

Officials in Ottawa said any possible success of the missions would be immediately destroyed if the nature of the talks or any details were made public.

The point here is that privacy permits the principals to change views and positions. Publicity can force the principals into public positions from which they often feel they cannot retreat.

The international truce supervisory commission in Viet Nam, of which Canada, India and Poland are the members, is the body which has easy access to all the principals involved in the war.

So far, that channel of communication simply exists. But, officials said, there's no telling when it might spring into sudden significance.

Mr. Ronning may be telling the Communist North Vietnamese: If and when you're ready to negotiate, the commission's channel is ready and open for use.

Ottawa at A Glance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

FRIDAY, June 17, 1966

Royal commissions, price-fixing and Indians affairs got a going-over in the Commons as MPs studied 1966-67 departmental spending estimates.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker called for a halt to commission inquiries "having essentially the characteristics of state trials"—an obvious reference to the Munsinger judicial inquiry.

Privy Council President Favreau said the Combines Investigation Act will be revised and more investigators hired.

He was answering critics who said the Liberal party is friendly with big business and doesn't want to see stiff fines for violators of the act.

Mr. Diefenbaker suggested an Indian day be staged during the 1967 centennial year.

Estimates of the Privy Council and Indian affairs were passed before adjournment.

MONDAY, June 20

The Commons meets at 2:30 p.m. to continue study of Bankruptcy Act amendments. The Senate stands adjourned until June 27.

REPORTS ON LOANS

OTTAWA (CP)—The finance department reported Friday loans to 30,418 students totalling $35,460,916 were authorized under the Canada Student Loans Plan between July 1, 1965, and March 31, 1966.

RISING TO NEW HEIGHTS — Principally due to extensive concrete pouring in the past few weeks, the new addition to Belleville General Hospital is showing evidence of progress. The workmen pictured here are working on the third floor level of the 8-storey block "A" of the addition.

Construction Roundup

Extensive concrete pouring has been underway on the construction site of the new addition to Belleville General Hospital.

To date, some 670 square yards of the basement floor of the main block of the addition have been poured, as has approximately one-third of the third floor level of block "A".

The placing of steel reinforcements, the erection of forms, and the pouring of concrete have now all been completed for columns from the second to third floor levels of block "A".

In block "B", to the south of the main part of the addition, 200 linear feet of wall from the basement to the first floor are now in place.

The masonry contractor has commenced erecting concrete block partitions in the basement and first floor areas of Block "A". Ductwork in this area at present being installed by the sheet metal subcontractor while the plumbing and electrical sub-tradesmen continue their "roughing in" work.

If the weather holds, the contractor expects to complete the pouring of the third floor in the near future, as well as erect columns to the fourth floor. It is anticipated that the pouring of the fourth floor of the 8-storey structure will also soon be underway.

Work on the new Centennial Secondary School on the Palmer Road is proceeding ahead of schedule. Most of the various areas of the school are "closed in" with interior work being carried on at a rapid rate.

Structural steel is being erected for the auditorium, which it was originally thought might not be underway until a much later date.

The prospects appear excellent that the portion of the school tentatively promised for use by the fall date of school opening will be available.

Besides building several homes in the area, Maurice Rollins Construction has been working for the past several weeks on the new Stockdale school.

Charles Lambert Construction Ltd., last week-been work on a new 12-suite apartment on West College Street.

Other Lambert projects include 4 houses in the West Park area, and two more homes about to be started in the new East Park subdivision East Park will eventually consist of some 36 houses.

Reduction of Credits Will Not Make it Easier for Students to Enter College

TORONTO (CP)—A reduction to seven from eight credits for Grade 13 diplomas and for admission to teachers' college was announced Friday through the department of education.

Education Minister William Lewis announced the moves, but said the action will not make it easier for students to enter university.

He said that universities base their requirements on the number of credits earned or courses taken, paying no attention to the certificate, officially known as the Secondary School Honor Graduation Diploma.

Language courses count for two credits and all other courses count for one.

The consensus of officials of the department, teachers' colleges and, university admission offices was that the moves were made to clear up confusion over the value of the biology paper.

In February last year, the department announced changes in Grade 13 examinations, one of which was that biology — a merging of the former botany and zoology courses —would count as one credit.

Some post-secondary institutions, including teachers' colleges, which require eight credits for admission, began to accept seven credits if one of them was biology.

In effect this gave biology a two-credit value.

Dr. Bain, principal of Toronto Teachers' College, said any increase in teacher college applications could only come from students "who had one subject in the bank without realizing it," plus seven-credit graduates from former years.

A spokesman for the department said that high school principals in the province have been advised the new policy will go into effect this year.

There has been increasing criticism of the work load for Grade 13 students as well as the examinations being the major determining factor in a student's success.

Many Ontario universities now require only seven Grade 13 papers for admission so the new education department policy eliminates the anomaly of persons being rejected for college admission without completing Grade 13.

ASKS INDIAN DAY

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative Lesder Diefenbaker asked the government Friday to set aside a national day in the 1967 centennial year to honor the Indian contribution to Canada. Northern Affairs Minister Laing said he could assure Mr. Diefenbaker Canada "must have a distinctive Indian day" in 1967.

EXPO COST UP

OTTAWA (CP)—Cost of an Indian pavilion at the Montreal world's fair has reached twice the original estimate, Northern Affairs Minister Laing told the Commons Friday. The government-financed exhibit was to have been built for $491,000. Now the price is "threatening $1,000,000."

It should be interesting to note how the "big brothers" of the National Hockey League treat their adopted next-of-kin when player handout time rolls around.

Reading between the lines of stories of the just-concluded NHL annual meeting in Montreal, there didn't seem to be any signs of bighearteedness as far as doling out help to the half-dozen fledgling managers.

As one fan points out, the new setup may be the men playing the boys — for the first two or three years. "I can't see too many of the Big Six of the east parting with even some of their players over the lumps and sparse of thatch."

Next year will tell the story when the "other six" knights of the round of hockey approach the King Arthurs of the East with hands out and purses open.

"The Movement for Youth" buffs are claiming expansion is the best thing in the world because it will give lucrative employment to some 140 additional junior players.

Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll says ever since the league announced its plans for expansion, people have been asking questions. They wanted to know why the league decided to expand when it had a good thing going for it, and then tried to answer their own question by asking if a television contract with one of the big U.S. networks was the reason.

You don't have to guess at the financial status of the six golden eagles roosting in the gilded cage of the NHL. Every club is sitting pretty with a pot of gold at the end of the seasonal rainbow, for lo, these many years.

I have yet to hear of cheques of any of the "Big Six" being returned marked "n.s.f."

Yet NHL prexy Clarence Campbell is quoted as saying, "Television is the new box office for every sport. In the NHL we are in a tighter straight-jacket than most sports because we can't sell more tickets. We're beginning at 81 per cent capacity and in the league's six cities. Selling tickets is not likely to be a problem for awhile."

What leaves us with a problem of where to get additional revenue. The only answer is television. Expension is not going to sell more tickets because we do not have more tickets to sell. Expansion means all but the only increase will be spreading for poorer teams and diluted the calibre of play. Television is the only way to increase revenue."

Increase revenue for what or whom? The National Hockey League never had it so good. Salaries have increased three-fold since the good old days. Positional and trophy bonuses have been upped. It is a far cry from the day when Joe Malone scored 44 goals in 22 games on a $1,500 a year salary to a 17-year-old youngster hiring a lawyer to arrange for a $50,000 contract.

Bobby Hull was reported as saying last year he would hold out for a $100,000 contract. I would hazard a guess he received nearly half that amount. And you can bet that figure will be upped considerably when contract time rolls around for 1966-67.

While expansion opened possibilities for many junior aspirants to realize a boyish dream, and some critics insist the television deal will sag the NHL dog, there is another reason for the inclusion of six more clubs.

Minor hockey league moguls on the Pacific Coast were champing at the bits. A top spokesman said the Western Hockey League was ready to close in becoming a second major league and competing with the NHL for players. It had happened in American pro football.

It is stated the younger executives of the NHL were more or less alarmed at this turn of events, and as one said, "We decided to make a move before somebody else did."

Some hockey people think expansion was hasty and ill-timed. In fact any hockey fan in Vancouver will tell you that.

Third Loss For Armbro Flight

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (CP)— Canadian-owned Armbro Flight suffered her third loss of the season to Al Adame Friday night.

Owned by Elgin, Ted and Charles Armstrong, of Brampton, Ont., Armbro Flight is next entered in the $100,000 realizer at Roosevelt June 25, and is due at Garden City Raceway in St. Catharines July 1 to qualify at Canada's entry in the $100,000 Roosevelt International, a race that brings together the top trotters of the world July 9.

A Noble Victory, owned by a syndicate which includes M. J. Webster of Brantford, was third to Al Adame Friday night.

The $3,750 earned by Armbro Flight Friday brings the four-year-old mare's lifetime earnings to $436,637, fast closing on the richest horse ever owned by a Canadian, E. P. Taylor's retired thoroughbred stallion Northern Dancer, which earned $540,406.

Giants Knock Dodgers Into Third

★★★★★ Pirates Climb

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie McCovey still has his home run touch, but Gaylord Perry finally has lost his.

McCovey slammed a tie-breaking three - run homer in the eighth inning while Perry scattered seven hits as National League-leading San Francisco Giants knocked Los Angeles Dodgers into third place, 4-1.

Perry, completing his first game since an ankle injury three weeks ago, brought his record to 8-1—the best in the major leagues on a percentage basis. And the big reasons for his amazing flip-flop from last year's 8-12 record is his home run record.

The 27-year-old righthander, who never has won more than 12 games in his career, has not allowed a homer in 11 games this season. Last year he was tagged for 31.

McCovey brought his homer total to 14 and combined with Perry to build the Giants' winning streak to six and their NL lead to 3½ games over Pittsburgh Pirates and four over the defending champion Dodgers.

The Pirates moved up with a 4-2 victory over Atlanta Braves, Philadelphia Phillies edged St. Louis Cardinals 6-5 and New York Mets swept Cincinnati Reds 8-6 and 3-1. Houston Astros and Chicago Cubs were not scheduled.

Perry was locked in a duel with Don Sutton until the Giants got a break in the eighth when, with one out, third baseman Jim Lefebvre fumbled a grounder by Tito Fuentes. One out later, Willie Mays walked and McCovey followed with his homer. That tagged Sutton, who allowed only five hits, with his fifth loss against seven victories.

The Giants scored their first run in the third inning on a single by Fuentes and Mays' double, but the Dodgers came back to tie it in the fifth on successive doubles by Lefebvre and Rosborro.

Matty Alou collected four of the Pirates' 13 hits, triggering a two - run first inning uprising and driving in the final run in the eighth inning with another single. Don Cardwell, tagged for a homer by Mack Jones, got the victory with relief help from Pete Mikkelsen and Woody Fryman. Mikkelsen was touched for a homer by Felipe Alou.

Tony Taylor pulled the Phillies into a 5-5 tie in the eighth when he singled, stole second and raced home on Hal Woodeshick's wild pitch. Then he sicpled home Rich Allen with the winning run in the ninth after John Callison had been thrown out at the plate trying to score from second on Allen's single.

Ed Bressoud, who slammed a three - run homer in the first game for the Mets, drove in their only runs in the nightcap with a bases-loaded single off wing. Flacher in the seventh inning. Flacher, acquired from Atlanta Wednesday, had the Mets shut out on two hits through six innings.

Bressoud's homer in the opener poled the Mets into a 3-0 lie. The Reds' pulled ahead but New York came back from behind and won if on Ron Hunt's two-run double in the eighth inning. Bob Shaw, acquired in a cash deal with San Francisco, won his second in as many starts for the Mets.

Minor Baseball Results

Sine Shell shaded the Bad Boys 6-5 in peewee while the Lions Club tykes trounced Little Oven Bakery 33-8 in a pair of Belleville Minor Baseball Association games last night.

Sine's won despite the fact they collected only one hit off the Bad Boy pitchers.

Gary Edwards and Rick Meagher combined to limit the two-hitter, fanning 13 and walking five for the winners. Brian Cousins and David Smith struck out eight but walked 10 on the losers' rubber. It was a pitching battle all the way with the lead changing hands several times.

David Wood had Sine Shell's lone single, while Danny Coulson and Brian Cousins hit Bad Boy singles.

Bad Boys ... 102 020 0—5-3-1
Sine Shell ... 013 202 x—6-1-3

It was a different story in the tyke game with Lions Club scoring in every inning, winning up with 13 runs in the sixth inning, just before the game was halted.

Ron and Don McTaggart hurled three-hit ball for the winners, fanning 11 and walking 12. Murray Bates, Mark Coates and Jerry Cunningham gave up 14 hits in defeat, whiffing nine and walking an unbelievable 26.

The McTaggarts also paced the Lion hitters. Don had two singles and a triple and Ron had three singles. Allan Whitney had a triple and double, Wayne Hardy a double and single, Peter Britt and Mike Evans a hit each.

Steve Cowan, Rick Bell and Jerry Cunningham singled for Little Oven.

Eight Teams

Report New Western Jr. 'A' Loop

CALGARY (CP)—Del Wilson, general manager of Regina Pats of the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League, says a new eight-team Western Canada junior circuit has been formed.

He said in an interview Thursday the circuit was established Wednesday during a meeting between the board of governors of the National Hockey League and a three-man committee of Western Canada junior officials.

The league will include teams from Edmonton, Calgary, Regina, Moose Jaw, Estevan, Weyburn, Brandon and Winnipeg, Wilson said.

He said another league—including teams from smaller centres such as Melville, Flin Flon, Saskatoon and Swift Current—also will be formed. A team from the secondary league will compete with the junior league for Western and Canadian junior championships.

The new league will allow boys to attend school and play hockey at the same time. Each club will play a minimum of 56 games, teams within the same province will play on weekdays, Wilson said, with inter-provincial games scheduled on weekends.

TORONTO (CP)—Bill Hanley, secretary-manager of the Ontario Hockey Association, said Friday that the possibility of another Junior A league in the OHA would be considered if applications were made.

He was commenting on a report that Ontario would have another Junior A hockey league in operation next winter, sponsored by the new teams in the National Hockey League.

Hanley said:

"We haven't heard a thing about this. . . . Naturally it will be considered, but that would mean the teams would have to make an application with us and that hasn't been done."

Tighten League Race

Jrs. Topple Bloomfield

PICTON (Staff) — Belleville Ellis Juniors grebbed a share of third place in the Belleville and District Softball League standings here last night by topping Bloomfield 3-1 in a fast, well-played contest. Bloomfield missed a chance to take over undisputed possession of first place and remains deadlocked with Trenton Motors at the eight-point level. Ellis Juniors and Belleville Bobcats are left with six points each and meet in a crucial game at the Alemite Park, in Belleville, tonight.

A pair of bases-empty home runs gave the Juniors their triumph. Gerry Bloomfield, pitcher Bob Ethier and his baseball mate, Carl Boomhower, connected for the solo circuit clouts. Ethier's blast came in the second inning and he stalked himself to a 1-0 lead with the long drive to centre field. Boomhower found the range with one out in the sixth, giving his team an insurance run when he ripped a shot down the right field line. In between the dingbanys of power, the winners put together back-to-back singles by Bernard Coughlin and Bert Sr. Dennis, a passed ball and Wayne Woods' hoist to right field for a second inning counter.

Bloomfield's only run was supplied by Warren Ostrander with two out in the seventh inning. Ethier had retired 19 men in order after giving up his first inning singles when Ostrander broke the spell by walloping the ball to deep left field and circling the bases. The Belleville left-hander then got the next five men in a row before Lee Dennis reached base on an error with two gone in the ninth.

There wasn't a walk issued in the game. Bloomfield's Ken DeMille and Ethier displayed plenty of control with the Belleville ace getting the win on a strong three-hitter. Denny Gilroy toured for nine safeties. Each pitcher chalked up 10 strikeouts.

Bloomfield got off to a good start in this one, but found its early success with the bat was negated by the bad. The first two men to the plate hit safely but lead-off man Keith MacDonald was tagged out and the third baseman's glove was out when he tried for two on Williams' hands in victory and for a while it looked like another Jean Beliveau Hill.

Dupree finally crawled back and threw a challenge at the now-departed Garvin. Promoter Roger Littlebrooke repeated the challenge and rel Williams accepted the word that Garvin would accept.

The terms are that the loser of the two falls, no-time limit bout, will leave this area and, according to Littlebrooke, never wrestle in Belleville.

The popular Monies took a beating in the first fall before he caught a six-way with all the good guys cleaning up.

In the preliminaries, Cash won a dull one from Fox, Garvin got a very unpopular but exciting win over Forster while Juan battled to an "Everything Goes" crowd-pleasing draw with Dupree.

As well as the challenge match next Friday, a mixed tag-team bout, with a midget and tall-sized wrestler on each team, will give local fans something new.

Fans Out To Watch Leafs Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Not too long ago, Toronto Maple Leaf were dead last in the International League and 1000 fans were considered an average crowd. Things have changed.

The Leafs, performing before 9,280 fans Friday night, got six innings of perfect pitching to defeat Richmond Braves 2-1 and take a straight hold on fifth-place.

Ed Rakow was the hero, keeping the Braves hitless into the seventh inning for his first victory of the season against no losses.

Elsewhere, George Scruges's two-run home run broke a 5-5 tie and gave Rochester Red Wings a 7-6 victory over Toledo Mud Hens, last-place Syracuse Chiefs shaded league - leading Columbus Jets 4-0 before losing the second game 3-1, and Jacksonville Suns defeated Buffalo Bisons 3-0 and 6-1.

Mike Andrews hit a homer for the Leafs.

The Red Wings scored five runs in the fourth inning and Toledo scored four times in the sixth.

Manny Jiminez and Arlo Brunsberg won the opener for Syracuse with two-run homers. A two-run double by Gene Michael gave the Jets the second-game victory.

Rookie Tom Seaver scattered six hits to lead the Suns to their first - game victory, and Ron Nischwitz won the nightcap on five hits.

Brooklin Beats Senior Petes

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Brooklin handed Peterborough Petes their second straight defeat Friday night in Ontario Lacrosse Association senior a action, edging out the league leaders 15-13.

Brooklin's victory moved the team into third place, two points back of co-leaders Toronto and Peterborough.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Gaylord Perry, Giants, scattered seven hits as National League - leading San Francisco defeated Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1.

Belleville Acme Shades Latta 4-3

Latta got the hits but Belleville scored the runs, enough to shade the visiting squad 4-3, in a South Hastings Baseball League game at the Fairgrounds last night.

Belleville Acme trailed 2-0 in the early going but made the most of seven Latta errors to knot it in the second frame.

Don Masters scattered eight hits in pitching the victory, striking out 11 and walking eight.

Lorne Cronkright, with help from Shaw in the eighth, hurled four-hit ball on the Latta rubber. They fanned 11 and passed three.

Glen Reynolds collected three of Belleville's four hits, one of them a triple. Roly Belanger had the other base knock.

Top-Seeded Players Win

HAMILTON (CP) — The two top - seeded players in the Golden Horseshoe tennis tournament had little difficulty Friday in gaining births in the finals today of mens singles action.

Don Fontana, seeded first, defeated fellow Torontonian Dick Brownlee, 6-2, 6-4, while John Sharpe of Toronto, seeded second, eliminated Dave Brown, also of Toronto, 6-4, 6-0.

The ladies singles final today will match Mrs. Louise Brown of Toronto and Inge Weber of Kitchener.

Mrs. Brown gained the final by default Friday when Irene Boyer of Peterborough couldn't get to the tennis courts on time.

In mens doubles, Fred Matthews and Barry Headland of Toronto defeated Robinson and Brown 6-2, 6-4. Fontana and Sharpe defeated Bob French and Terry Cahlenbock of Hamilton 6-2, 6-2.

Threatens To Suspend Jim Brown

CLEVELAND (AP) — It was uncertain Friday whether fullback Jimmy Brown will be on hand July 27 at Hiram, Ohio, when Cleveland Browns begin training for the National League football season. If he isn't it will cost him money.

Art Modell, Browns owner, issued a statement Friday saying that if Brown doesn't show July 27, "I will have no alternative but to suspend him without pay."

Brown is in England playing an important role in the filming of a motion picture about the Second World War. Shooting is scheduled until September.

A press release from the motion picture company earlier this month said Brown "hopefully doesn't know if he will play professional football this year or ever." the release added that he would make the decision about it until September.

One Blonde To Go

Garvin Riles Golden Boy

By GARRY ALEXANDER.
Staff Sportswriter

This territory is going to miss one blonde, and, maybe, wrestler type that is, after next Friday night.

As a result of last night's wild, six-man tag-team bout, Golden Boy Dupree and Terry Garvin now are on a definite parting of the ways.

Dupree was booked up with a couple other boxing members, Tito Montes and Billy Cash, against Garvin and his blody-handed sidekicks, Don Juan and Charlie Fox.

It made for a crowd-pleasing, action packed main event and led to next week's special challenge match.

Dupree was the victim of Garvin's under-handed tactics, cooling on Golden one and his pardners the last two falls after they had won the first.

Dupree was barked down from outside the ring by Garvin who was attempting to launch his famous flying attack in the second. Juan pinned his man while our heros protested, to no avail, to referee Jim Foy, the befuddled referee, Billy Williams.

Garvin refused to enter the ring against Dupree, or his mates, in the third fall unless Foy or one of the opponents down and almost out.

Finally, Dupree was heaved from the ring onto the arena floor where Garvin attacked him amid the howling fans. Du-

Nicklaus Burns

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 66th U.S. open golf tournament has developed into a match between Arnold Palmer's strength and the finesse of Billy Casper.

ARNOLD PALMER

They were deadlocked at 139 going into the third round today.

"Those two . . . are playing like gangbusters," said Byron Rodgers who carded a par 140 to deadlock for second place with Riven Siderowf, a rookie pro who shot a record-tying 64 on his second round Friday.

Palmer fired a four-under-par 66 Friday and Casper had a 68.

Meiber, from Midland, Tex., turned pro in Aug. 1. Casper won the Open title in 1959. Palmer took it in 1960.

Palmer, 36, and Casper, 34, are golf's top all-time money winners, Palmer with $994,867.62 and Casper, with $406,748.39.

Nicklaus Told: 'Speed Up'

Loses Temper, Tempo

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An outraged Jack Nicklaus Friday accused the U.S. Golf Association of ruining the tempo of his game with "speed-up policemen hanging around my neck."

"I have very seldom gotten as angry as I did out there," Nicklaus fumed after taking a 71 Friday for a 142 total after two rounds of the U.S. open golf tournament at the Olympic Club.

The crux of the matter is an order from the USGA to speed up play. Nicklaus blasted the option rules for this tournament, requiring a golfer to putt out continuously and allowing him to clean and mark his ball only once on the green.

But that wasn't Nicklaus' complaint.

"One of their officials came up to us and told us we were playing too slow and that we'd have to increase our speed," he said.

"If there was an official there," said Joe Dey, executive director of the USGA, "Nicklaus should put it on himself to slow play."

Nicklaus, who played with Dan Sikes, Orville and Larry Lema, said it took him four hours and 22 minutes to play the round.

Seeks One-League CFL For '67

MONTREAL (CP) — Ted Workman, Canadian Football League president, said Friday he hopes next week's semi-annual CFL meetings will produce the formula that will have Canada's Eastern and Western conferences operating as one league for the 1967 season.

Next Tuesday the Committee of One League steering committee will complete a final proposal that can be presented to the general sessions Wednesday for approval.

The committee's recommendations will cover the constitutional and financial alterations necessary to have the nine CFL clubs operate as one league instead of the EFC and WFC working as autonomous bodies.

"Each division must relinquish some constitutional and financial autonomy if it's to be successful," Workman said.

The final selection of a new CFL commissioner to succeed G. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg and choice of a location for new league headquarters will be the subjects of a report by a special committee set up to hire a successor to Halter.

The Winnipeg lawyer and commissioner has operated out of the manitoba capital since his appointment in 1958 and is to retire Dec. 31.

Workman said other items on the agenda include choice of a site for the 1967 centennial year Grey Cup game.

Ottawa Rough Riders will play host to the delegates Wednesday at a luncheon, at which time they will present their bid to hold the centennial year game in Canada's capital.

General managers will meet Wednesday to consider the 1967 schedule.

PLAY BALL BACK ON UPHILL SAND SHOTS

The big danger on uphill sand shots is that the clubhead will not get through all the sand in front of the ball. Even if it does get through, the loss of clubhead speed may cause the ball to fall short.

Thus, it is important that on such shots your clubhead enter the sand close to the ball, instead of six inch or two behind it as in normal shots would.

Play normal sand shots as I do — off the left heel (see dotted-line drawing) — and cut in well behind the ball. On uphill sand shots however, play the ball farther back in your stance (note solid-line drawing). This will cause your clubhead to enter the sand closer to the ball and the little clubhead speed it'll be lost before the ball is on its way.

Pedro Gonzales' error while playing second base gave Washington Senators an 11-inning, 5-4 victory over Cleveland Indians Friday night.

The winner came on Jim King's grounder with the bases loaded in the 11th and the game tied 4-4. Gonzales scooped up the grounder and fired to the plate. But the throw was low and Bob Saverine trotted across with the winning run.

In other American League games, Baltimore Orioles beat Boston Red Sox 5-3, New York Yankees defeated Detroit Tigers 5-2, Chicago White Sox topped Minnesota Twins 3-1 and California Angels trimmed Kansas City Athletics 4-2.

Frank King hit his winning grounder, the Senators loaded the bases on Saverin's double, a walk to Ken Hamlin and a wild pitch by Dick Lines.

McMullen's single, Chico Salmon put the Indians ahead 4-3 with a two-run homer in the eighth, but the Senators tied it in their half of the inning on Fred Valentine's run - scoring single.

Brooks Robinson hit a three-run homer and Frank Robinson connected with one on, giving Baltimore's Steve Barber his fourth victory in eight starts. Don Demeter and Carl Yastrzemski homered for Boston.

Mel Stottlemyre pitched a five-hitter, while Bobby Richardson led New York's attack with three hits. Richardson singled and scored in the fourth, then doubled across one run and scored another on Phil Linz's four-run fifth. Al Kaline hit a two-run homer for Detroit in the eighth.

Chicago beat Minnesota for the first time this season behind Tommy John's six-hitter. Fourth-inning singles by Don Buford, Tom McCraw, Floyd Robinson and Lee Elia accounted for two runs and helped stop the Twins' eight-game winning streak over the White Sox.

Willie Smith's two-run homer in the California seventh snapped a 2-2 tie between the Angels and Kansas City. Reliever Jack Sanford picked up his first victory in nine decisions for the Angels, who have won 6 out straight. Joe Nossek singled home Athletics' two runs in the second.

Pontiacs Nip Guelph 5-4

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Rookie shortstop Larry Rooks drove in the tying run and scored the winner on a squeeze bunt by pitcher Al Greenberg Friday night as Guelph Merchants 5-4 in a Senior Inter-county baseball game.

The victory moved the Pontiacs into a three-way tie for fourth place with Galt Terriers and Hamilton Red Wings.

Feuds Mark Race Start; Surtees Out

LE MANS, France (AP)—The Le Mans 24 - hour automobile race started today following a series of last-minute feuds.

Ford, challenging the dominance of Ferrari, was back in the line-up after threatening to withdraw its entries over the disqualification of a driver.

And Ferrari went into the race without its No. 1 driver, John Surtees, who left the team when a third man was named to the combination for his car.

Surtees was angry because he believed the addition of a third driver was an insinuation by Ferrari that he could not complete the gruelling 24 - hours. Surtees resumed racing this spring after a serious accident at Mosport 35 miles east of Toronto last fall.

Ford had threatened to pull out after one of its drivers, Dr. Richard Thompson of Washington, D.C., was disqualified for failing to stop at the scene of an accident.

Thompson barrelled into another Ford car driven by Dick Holquist of Pittsburgh in Thursday's final trial. He reported the accident at the pits, contending he was in no dangerous to stop at the scene of the collision.

Holquist was not hurt, but his car was badly damaged.

Despite Ford's protests, race officials barred Thompson from the circuit and Brian Muir of Australia was named to replace him in the seven-litre Mark II Ford. Graham Hill is Muir's partner.

Ludovico Scarfiotti of Italy and Mike Parkes of Great Britain were scheduled to drive Ferrari's P-3.

Cartwrights Home on Range Preparing for New Season

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Meanwhile, back at Ponderosa, they're already at work on the 1966-67 season of Bonanza, which has proven its name for NBC, its sponsor, producers and stars.

Those indominable Cartwrights are once more at home on the range — Lorne Greene ever the father image, Dan Blocker fat and sassy, and Mike Landon, the set symbol, though slightly grey-haired. Little Joe grey-haired? Yes, it's true, though the aging process has set in early. Observant Mike Landon remains the picture of youthful vigor, thanks to his daily sessions in the Paramount studio gym while others are feeding in the commissary.

Landon, like his fellow Cartwrights, exudes confidence about the coming season—the show's eighth.

"I hear that Garry Moore, our lovable host on CBS, is passing out sweatshirts marked Beat Bonanza," commended Landon. "It'll be more than that."

MOVIES TOUGHEST

The actor reflected on the number of opposition shows that have hit the boxoard and commented: "The best opposition we've had has been the feature movies. They would do much better if they weren't so long. . . .

"We're not planning anything new," commented Landon. "There may be more two-parters, which I don't entirely approve of. Experience has shown that the ratings suffer when we do them.

"Guest stars? I don't think we'll be using too many—unless the ratings drop. But experience has also proved that great stars don't help the rating to any degree. Of course, if Paul Newman were available. . . ."

Landon and his fellow stars have signed up for another five years of Bonanza, after which they should be able to buy the state of Colorado.

This Summer you can strip and scrub and scrape and seal and sand and patch and prime and paint.

Or free yourself for fun. Give your home the care-free permanence of Johns-Manville siding.

Let's face it, preserving the good looks and value of your home can be costly and time-consuming. So consider this: J-M asbestos siding, applied over the existing walls of your home, will help save your time and your money for more pleasurable pastimes.

J-M siding is fireproof, rotproof, totally weatherproof. Never needs paint to preserve it. Comes ready to install in an exciting range of built-in colors including gleaming white.

The indestructible qualities of J-M siding give your home permanent beauty with no annual maintenance problems. Ever.

See your local J-M dealer or contractor. He'll help you select and plan your siding requirements and introduce you to a wide range of J-M products to help make life around the house a happy, carefree affair. Year after year after year. JM

50 Horses Enter Irish Sweeps

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Fifty horses were entered today for the 316-mile Irish Sweeps Derby July 2. It is one of the biggest betting races in the world.

An official said $8,400,000 of sweepstake money would be riding on the race.

He said a ban on French and Italian horses entering Ireland because of an outbreak of swamp fever in France would cut the field drastically.

"Several horses trained in France and Italy have been left in the race," he said. "We hoped the ban will be lifted before the race, but that seems unlikely."

Chanteltown, owned by Lady Zia Wernher, won the English Derby May 25 by a neck from Pretendre, and on that showing is a red-hot favorite for the Irish race.

ARE NOT ENTERED

Pretendre and Black Prince, owned by Edward V. Benjamin of New Orleans, are not entered for this race over Curragh's 1½ course.

The exact prize money on the Irish Sweeps, will not be known until the final distribution on June 30—two days before the race.

But it's estimated the winning owner will collect about $140,-000 with second getting $30,000 going to the second and $19,000 to third.

Charlottown is an even money favorite with Sodium second choice at 8-1 and Right Noble, the disappointing favorite for the English Derby, third at 12-1.

Wooden Leg Fails To Slow Boy

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—For a boy with a wooden leg, 10-year-old Paul Mackie takes a lot of stopping.

He plays a hard game on defence for a minor hockey club, is catcher on a softball team and a keen competitor in lacrosse games.

Friday he was awarded $12,-500 in an out-of-court settlement for the loss of his left leg below the knee. He brought a Supreme Court action against his grandfather, Austin Mackie of nearby Oshawa which is also Paul's home town.

Mr. Justice W. J. Henderson heard that Paul's left leg was amputated after it was crushed by a golf cart owned by his grandfather. Paul and some friends were riding behind the cart when the machine started and his leg was crushed.

Outside the court, Mrs. Rose Mackie said that her son's loss has been a great challenge to him.

"He got the wooden leg in September of 1964," she said. "In December he was back playing hockey. He has an older brother, you know. I think this has part of it. He was the fast active pace and Paul doesn't want to be left behind."

Roy Emerson Wins Argument And Match

LONDON (AP)—Roy Emerson, Australia's Wimbledon champion, won an argument over a line call in a tennis net Friday and went on to s 6-4, 6-4, victory over American Dennis Ralston.

The incident was the first turning point in the men's singles final in the London tennis tournament where players are lining up for next week's Wimbledon.

Emerson claimed a service ace on Ralston's 0 the match game had passed through a hole just under the cord. The umpire overruled the net and ruled a fault. Ralston did not dispute the decision but his concentration crumbled.

Successful Living

Science Downgrades Biblical Teachings

DEAR DORIS: I hope you won't think my problem too trivial to bother with. It is regarding our children when they were growing up, how we tried to bring them up in the Christian way and now they are married most of them seem to have drifted from that way of life.

I would like to know where we have failed. — A GOOD FRIEND AND STEADY READER.

DEAR FRIEND: Trivial! Not a bit of it! Parents often ask themselves this question.

It seems that in these days of higher learning, scientific facts appear to downgrade Biblical teachings, And this is why our churches are making a terrific effort to catch up. (I am sending you the letter written by Dr. Howard W. Outerbridge, of the United Church of Canada, which discusses and explains The New Curriculum — and this may be had by anyone writing in and enclosing a stamped envelope and ten cents.)

Then, too, young people have the health and outlook to beat the world with their two hands. Remember how capable you felt at 20? It's when life catches up with us, when disappointment, illness, death of a loved one, perhaps, give us pause, that we look again for a Power higher than ourselves.

You haven't failed.

DEAR DORIS: I am a girl of 17. I lost my father in the second world war. Any time I see a baby I just want to run and get it and hold it in my arms.

I love babies so much that I have bugged my Mom to adopt one. Some of my friends said that you have to have both parents to adopt a baby and also that it has to be a happy family. Is this true? — LONELY GIRL.

P.S.: I love them so much I often cry at night.

DEAR LOVER: Hold everything! Who doesn't love babies! You aren't the first teener who wants a live doll to hug. Your kind of talk goes on at many a dinner table.

Let's suppose your mother did adopt a baby — for you. What happens next? You find your special Romeo and marry him before long, and mother is left holding the baby, without any help from the older sister to help her. Is this fair?

As for adoption, trained child care workers want to place babies in homes where they will have both a father and mother to care for them. Having both parents is too important to overlook.

P.S.: Dry your tears and start living.

* * *

TO HYPERTENSE: Far better to remove the causes of your tensions than to resort to drugs. The irresponsible use of tranquilizers and sedatives by college students has already led to needless tragedy. Stimulants which whip the tired horse to the point of exhaustion, or powerful depressants, should be avoided like the poison they are.

Take a look at what's wrong with your life and correct that — instead of dopping yourself into a disregard of simply everything that counts in the long run.

DEAR DORIS: I am reading a fascinating new book to my two girls (said thought others might like to know about it.

Any child of 8 to 12 years, young or old need horse to the rescue, who is interested in Canada at all, would love to read this book or have it read to them. — BOOKWORM.

DEAR BOOKWORM: Thank you. I'll be glad to pass on the name of the book and the author to anyone writing in for it. It's a real plenty of reading of this kind, and don't get enough of it.

* * *

DEAR DORIS: Last weekend a boy asked me out and my father promptly said no. Last night I went to the show and my father was convinced that I had gone with the boy, behind his back, which I hadn't done.

After a thorough lecture, in which he threatened to ground me, he agreed to let me write to you and said he would go along with your decision.

If I did go out with this boy, it would be only to a show. I am not allowed to go to dances. We would also be double-dating.

I earn money by baby-sitting and plan to get a part-time job. I feel that if I am old enough to earn my own money, I'm old enough to have a boy friend. Please help me. I really think he doesn't have to car. Can you help me? — IN GRADE MINE.

DEAR GRADE NINE: Not once did you mention what that age is! Some girls are ready for solo dating ahead of others, but the average seems to be around 16.

It depends on many factors. Does he have brothers; how mature you are; if mixed parties have been the rule since you were a babe-lo-arms; your intelligent understanding of the ins and outs of dating!

Even then the best skirt is in supervised group activities. Early daters do well to avoid situations which may turn into heavy necking sessions. Dad's the boss not; me.

DEAR DORIS: I have been dating a girl 17. She is shy. I have only kissed her once and that was at New Year's. When I take her home after a date she runs into the house and invites me in before I have the opportunity to kiss her goodnight.

I am crazy about her. I think she likes me but I can't figure her out. Maybe she thinks there is something wrong with kissing but I don't. Do you? I have tried to break away from her but I can't — COLD LIPS.

DEAR COLD LIPS: If she resists your kiss but invites you in, maybe it's a case of "Go away, come closer!" She thinks there's something wrong with kissing but nothing wrong with you, why don't you go along with the gag? Think up something more interesting to do.

* * *

(Doris knows Canadian resources and can guide you to the help you need. Write to her, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.)

Adolphustown Protests Rate Of New High School Levy

NAPANEE — Adolphustown is up in arms at its school assessment, and is threatening to withdraw its support of what its representative, Harold Allport, called "this multimillion dollar addition", when protesting at the regular meeting of the Napanee District Collegiate Institute Board this week. Napanee is planning an addition which will cost approximately $2,000,000.

The Board of Education had a lot of trouble preparing its budget this year, rejecting two before submitting the final one. The first was based on the country equalization factor and the final one on the provincial factor. Over the years Adolphustown has develop rapidly as a summer resort area, with the consequent big jump in its good price. As the provincial equalization factor is based on land sales, this has boosted Adolphustown's rate.

Adolphustown is asking for arbitration, but even though this will not alter the levy this year. Reeve Joseph Shelley states that Adolphustown Township plans to fight the levy. They will pay the approximately 18,000 required of them under the county equalization factor, but not more than the $20,000 required of them under the provincial equalization factor, he says. He plans to bring the matter before the Lennox and Addington County Council when it meets next week.

Asked whether the withdrawal of Adolphustown's support would put a stop to the addition, several members of the board said that unanimity would not be necessary, All that is needed is the approval of the majority of the board members.

The arbitration board would consist of the treasurers and clerk treasurers of the municipalities in the area. Should the municipality reject the rate set by the arbitrators, the Ontario Municipal Board would make a final decision.

Adolphustown feels it has a real grievance, as it is required to pay the rate of $871 for the 29 pupils. Silme other municipalities pay at the rate of $300 per pupil. However, the rate is not based on the number of pupils but on the assessed value of the district.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—Hugo Distlach, a former dishwasher from Calgary, turned into second place in Woodbine rider standings Saturday by guiding home four winners.

Distlach, Canada's leading driver in 1965, has ridden 11 winners at this meeting, five less than Avelino Gomez.

Dream Treatment owned by Lasnoe Farms, carried Distlach to victory in the first race. Then he teamed with Coast Lively in the third, Blue Mel in the fifth and Well Behaved in the seventh.

The daily double of Dream Keeper and Colonel S., winner of the second, was worth $33.20. In the fifth, the exactor of Blue Mel and Haven's Glory returned $44.30.

Around Town

MINOR ACCIDENTS

NAPANEE — Although there was a rash of minor accidents in the Napanee area since the weekend, all but one have been of a minor nature with no injuries and damage less than $100, the Ontario Provincial Police report.

The one exception was a single car scoridcot on Highway 401 near the Camden Road Tuesday at 9:15 p.m., when the driver lost control of his car, which left the road and rolled over. The driver, Jerry Dates of Port Credit, and his passenger, James Highfield of Oakville, both had minor injuries which were treated at the local hospital. They were discharged Thursday.

HOSPITAL LANDSCAPING

Miniature TV sets will soon be available for patients in the Lennox and Addington County General Hospital, at a cost of $125 a piece. The set is attached to an arm on the bed, and is used with earphones only.

Landscaping of the grounds of the hospital is progressing. It was delayed by patients and a delay in finishing the paving. This is now completed for the rest of the fiscal year. Parking space for staff, a memorial for visitors, and a smaller one for the emergency area.

Thursday a crew of men with equipment moved in with truckloads of sod, which will be used near the building. The work is being done by a Toronto firm. Many trees and shrubs have been planted, mostly by volunteers.

RECEIVES TRANSFER

W. E. Edwards of the Department of Lands and Forests has been transferred from Angus to the R. Williams Nursery at Williams, Ont. Mr. Edwards is well known throughout the county of Prince Edward, Hastings and Lennox and Addington, as he was in charge of reforestation for the Tweed district, with headquarters in Napanee, before being transferred to Angus about five years ago.

POWER DISRUPTION

Stores were dark, refrigerators defrosted, and cash registers refused to operate in the business section of Napanee Friday when some 20 to 30000 20 Hydro-Electric Power Commission poles located the trouble at the corner of Mill and Centre Streets, where a short circuit had shortened out the transformer at the substation on Highway 41, north of town.

ORIENTATION DAY

Friday was orientation day at the Prince Edward District Secondary School, with 450 grade eight pupils visiting the school to see what it has to offer.

Principal Froud estimates that 1,220 boys and girls will be on hand for the opening of school in September. The enrolment there will be 1,100. Fifteen new teachers have been hired, six additionals, and five replacements.

When the first collegiate opened in Napanee there were six teachers and 120 students, with the principal teaching practically full time. Next year there will be 64 teachers, a principal whose work is purely administrative, and two vice principals.

Mayor Stresses Meaning of Police Survey

NAPANEE — Mayor Lorne Smart is disturbed lost the public get the wrong impression because the police survey has called in the Ontario Police Commission to come to its assistance. "This is a survey of the organization and administration of our police department" he states. "It is not an investigation. 'Investigation' implies that we suspect wrong-doing on the part of the personnel of our police department, and this is far from the case at present. "We thing Chief Harry Bens and each member of the force are doing a fine job, and we know how to do it. But there may be better ways of handling traffic, and so we are asking for professional help. Every City Council department should welcome this opportunity to make himself a better policeman."

"It works both ways", the Mayor continued. "At present the police department is under the supervision of a police committee, with Deputy-Reeve Wilbur Gibbs as chairman.

"This is simply a conscientious effort on the part of the Napanee Town Council to give the town the best possible police protection," Mayor Smart remarked.

Should a police commission be set up, control of the police department will be out of the hands of the Town Council, and will be in charge of a committee consisting of a judge, a magistrate and a member of the council, usually the mayor.

The Trots

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Eric A Brac, the lone filly in a field of nine pacers, took the lead at the quarter pole and held on to win the $5,000 feature pace at Garden City Raceway Friday night.

Pacing the mile in 2:08 1-5, Eric A Brac withstood a stretch drive from Royal Gene to win by a length.

The owner of Protector Dodecido and Betsy Herbert paid $88 and the daily double of Amos Gladstone and Angelo Umbi returned $23.25.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A. M. Cuddy, a Strathroy poultry farmer, has been awarded standards and standardbreds in a small way, won in a big way Friday night when he took the $2,500 Invitation Trot at Western Fair Raceway.

Yellow Suit, a four-year-old mare owned by Cuddy and making her first start, left the post at 29 to 1 and went the favorite Wee Symbol, finishing a length ahead of the field to pay $42.80.

Scrapper chief's paid $35.20 in the second and combined with Miss Easter Van Who in the first for a $162.80 daily double.

Roy M. Stevenson wishes to express his sincere thanks to all those who have made the first two years of business so successful. To those, who have purchased their cars and trucks from us and to our friends, who have recommended their friends and business associates to us, we say a very special thanks.

We have a premise, a sales force, a parts department, a service department and an office staff, that we are very proud of, and the reactions of our customers give us every reason to feel justified in this pride. It is almost unbelievable to look back two years when we started with nothing and to realize our competitive position in Belleville today, in our large volume of Sales and Service work. For your faithfulness to us, we owe you the best in sales prices and service, and we now want you to meet our staff, who are anxious to fulfill our obligation.

We firmly believe that our success has been due to honest dealings, good service, and our company policy of going overboard in our used car reconditioning to give you pride of ownership when you purchase your car from us.

Freighter Under Technical Arrest After Collision

By IAN MacKENZIE

HALIFAX (CP)—The Liberian freighter Bordapian is under technical arrest in port here today after landing the four survivors of the Nova Scotia trawler Reliance which sank following a collision between the two vessels in thick fog early Saturday.

A search for the remaining 12 crew members of the Reliance in an area 40 miles southeast of Sherburne off Nova Scotia's south shore was called off Sunday afternoon. The men are presumed dead.

D. A. Sibley, Halifax County deputy sheriff, boarded the Bordapian after she docked Saturday and nailed a writ of summons from the Exchequer Court's admiralty division to the side of Capt. Felix Iribar's cabin.

The writ specifies a claim of $750,000 by Allen Trawler Co. of Lunenburg, N.S., owner of the 298-ton trawler, against the 5,711-ton Bordapian.

PLANE SPOTS RAFT

The search was called off when an RCAF Albatross aircraft returned to base Sunday afternoon. The Albatross had spotted the raft and several life preservers in the search area.

The Canadian Coast Guard cutter Rally, which reached the fog-shrouded area at 4:30 a.m. Saturday after the Bordapian notified authorities of the collision four hours earlier, was recalled at dusk Saturday.

The cutter found three dories, an uninflated life raft and a number of mattress buoys of the type used by fishing vessels.

One of the survivors, deckhand Arnold Adams, 20, of West Dublin, N.S., said:

"I've no idea what happened, it came so sudden. I had time to get clear. I guess I was in the water about two hours, but it's all hazy."

Capt. Walter Langille of First South, N.S., who normally sailed as first mate, said he was on the bridge when the collision occurred.

The other survivors are the chief engineer, Gardner Corkum of Middle Lahave, N.S., and deckhand Roger Zwicker of Mahone Bay, N.S. All were in good condition.

SURVIVORS ARRIVE — Capt. Walter Langille of the sunken trawler Reliance is helped down the gangway of the freighter Bordapian after her arrival in Halifax Saturday. Following Langille (bottom to top) are Roger Zwicker, Arnold Adams and Gardner Corkum, who survived the sinking along with Langille, and Robert Allan, owner and regular captain of the Reliance. Capt. Allan who missed the ill-fated voyage because of injuries, met the survivors on their arrival. Twelve of the fishing vessel's crew were lost in a collision with the Bordapian in fog off Nova Scotia's south coast early Saturday. (CP Wirephoto)

Ky's Hold Tightens On Hue

SAIGON (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's troops tightened their hold on Hue today and sealed off the hospital room where the leader of the northern Buddhist revolt continued his anti - government, anti-American fast for a 13th day.

While the rebellion led by the militant monk Thich (venerable) Tri Quant appeared to lose more ground, Ky's military regime pushed ahead toward promised civilian elections Sept. 11.

Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu signed a decree setting the election date and providing for a 108-seat constituent assembly to draft a constitution. The government also rejected a rejected the proposal of its electoral commission to allow the assembly to transform itself into a governing parliament.

The decree also showed the junta's determination to remain in power well into 1967 by requiring a second round of voting for a national legislation three weeks to six months after the first to approve the constitution.

First Break In Seamen's Strike Seen

LONDON (Reuters) — The British seamen's strike today enters its 6th week with the first signs of collapse in union solidarity and the government planning for the emergency measures to avert chaos.

First signs of revolt in the strike, which has laid up 947 British ships in home ports, came Sunday night at the Engish Channel port of Dover Haven where seamen voted in favor of negotiating for a return to work.

This week, the other 33 branches of the 62,500-strong union will be meeting throughout Britain to observe the executive's decision Friday to continue the strike despite peace appeals by Prime Minister Wilson.

Peking Rejects Bid to End Bomb Tests

PEKING (Reuters) — Peking today rejected as a "big fraud" a reported American proposal that China should end its nuclear bomb tests in exchange for a U.S. guarantee not to be the first to use nuclear weapons.

Father Shoots Four Children Then Kills Self

HELENA, N.Y. (AP)—K. Wesley Sturgeon left his home Father's Day to take his four gaily dressed children, aged 3 to 8, for a ride.

Hours later, a worried Mrs. Sturgeon, with supper on the stove, went to look for them in the family's second car.

Just down the road, near Massena and five miles from the Canadian border, she found them—shot to death in a field in what police theorize were four murders and a suicide by the 33-year-old father.

Police said they believed, from the placement of the bodies, that the children were shot

De Gaulle to Talk But Sign Nothing On Moscow Visit

By FRED COLEMAN

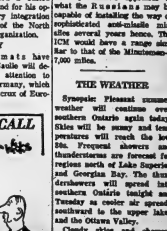
MOSCOW (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said today he hopes his visit to the Soviet Union will make it possible to agree upon action to provide European security and assure general peace.

The French president was given an enthusiastic reception on arrival for an 11-day visit that will take him to Novosibirsk, Leningrad, Kiev and the Second World War battle site of Stalingrad.

Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny said Russia "attaches great significance to the coming talks." The Soviet Union and France "have a common approach to a number of problems of international affairs," he said.

Podgorny and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin greeted de Gaulle at the airport.

In Moscow and while travelling with Kosygin, de Gaulle is expected to discuss European security as well as the two countries' growing economic ties.



Authoritative sources in Paris said de Gaulle would sign no treaties during his talks with Kremlin leaders. But Western French sources predicted that the Soviet Union and France might reach new agreements in the cultural and technical fields.

Moscow newspapers all carried an official statement Monday welcoming the French president and praising his government for making an independent effort to establish East - West detente. A formal portrait of de Gaulle appeared on all front pages.

The Soviet press has long praised de Gaulle for blocking the movement within the Common Market toward a United States of Europe and for his opposition to military integration of the members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

GERMANY'S KEY

French diplomats have stressed that de Gaulle will devote considerable attention to the problem of Germany, which they regard as the crux of European security.

More Moon Probes Planned

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) Shit beaming over the successful soft-landing of Surveyor I, U.S. scientists are preparing two more moon probes for launching in the next three weeks—aiming to put them in lunar orbit.

On June 30, an interplanetary monitoring platform is to be launched toward an orbit ranging from about 800 to 4,000 miles above the moon's surface. It is to study radiation, magnetic fields, micro-meteoroids and other scientific properties in the vicinity of the moon.

On July 11, a spacecraft called Lunar Orbiter is to be fired into an orbital path intended so pass as close as 28 miles to the moon. It carries television cameras to photograph potential manned landing areas.

Hopefully, Lunar Orbiter will obtain pictures of the two areas in the Sea of Storms where Surveyor I and the Soviet Union's Luna IX made soft-landings. Such pictures would provide lunar detail well beyond the range of the photos made on the surface.

The Ocean of Storms is considered a possible touchdown spot for American astronauts. Luna IX sent back nine pictures while Surveyor I totalled more than 10,000 transmissions that revealed a rock-strewn plain apparently firm enough to support a manned expedition.

LUNAR X IN ORBIT

The interplanetary monitoring platform's assignment will be similar to that of Luna X, which slipped into a 27-by-621-mile high orbit about the moon April 3. Luna X is the only spacecraft ever placed in orbit about the moon.

Before Luna X's radio voice ran final the moon's magnetic field May 30, it relayed information that revealed a weak magnetic field is weak; micrometeoroids are not numerous near the moon and there is little irregularity in the moon's gravitational field.

The interplanetary monitoring platform is expected to expand on this knowledge, operating for at least a year.

Lunar Orbiter is equipped to send 194 pictures during a 30-day period.

Ten areas of the moon have been selected as photographic targets. They are located in a narrow band stretching across the moon's equator and include examples of all major types of lunar terrain.

U.S. Plans Evasive Missiles

NEW YORK (AP)—In the face of mounting evidence that the Russians have started to deploy a far-flung missile defence, the U.S. Air Force is pressing work on a new generation of giant missiles, the New York Times says today.

The Washington story reports that sources in the defence department have started to design a far-flung missile defence, the U.S. Air Force is pressing work on a new generation of giant missiles, the New York Times says today.

The Washington story reports that sources in the defence department have started to design a missile that would be designed to penetrate even the tightest Soviet defence.

The story also says in part: The missiles would also be able to propel several times the payload of present Minuteman and Polaris missiles towards targets in the Soviet Union.

Most of this increased payload would be designed to trick enemy defences rather than carry appreciably larger warheads.

The purpose of developing an entirely new weapons system would be to make sure that the United States continued to be able to destroy the Soviet Union even after absorbing a surprise attack. Such capability is regarded by administration leaders as the best deterrence to attack and the key element in maintaining the present precarious strategic balance of power.

The new weapon, known by the initials ICM—for improved capability missile—is viewed as the long-range answer to the most passimistic appraisal of what the Russians may be capable of installing the way of sophisticated anti-missile missiles several years hence. The ICM would have a range similar to that of the Minuteman—7,000 miles.

Cross-Canada Survey
Organized Labor Wins Large Gains in Man-Short Economy

By BEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Organized labor is flexing its muscles this year in a militant attitude that hasn't been matched since the wage push of the late 1940s.

Bargaining from strength in a booming, labor-scarce economy, unions across the land are pushing harder and winning bigger gains than ever before.

Strikes and the threat of strikes dominate the front pages of newspapers, some politicians are crying alarm and experts on both sides of the labor-management fence are attempting to diagnose the various causes and effects.

A Cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press at mid-year shows that most of the country's major labor disputes still lie ahead.

Already in 1966 there have been serious strikes among Ontario truck drivers, St. Lawrence River longshoremen, Quebec school teachers, Western Canada oil workers and a host of construction unions.

Walkouts that would have crippled Air Canada and the vital St. Lawrence Seaway were averted last week only by 11th-hour settlements.

But potential strike situations now are developing among railway employees, West Coast longshoremen, in the steel, nickel, aluminum, meat-packing and forest industries and in a variety of mining groups.

Wage demands in the area of $1 an hour, once an exception, now have become the rule. And where unions only two years ago were content with gains of 12 or 20 cents an hour, the settlements are running three times as high.

In the railway industry three separate union groups are seeking a variety of wage-benefit packages that the big railways estimate to be worth an average of $1.20 an hour extra for each of their 100,000 non - operating employees.

Back in the summer of 1964 the same unions agreed to a boost of 20 cents to an average $2.25 an hour over a two-year contract.

Just about every competent labor observer is predicting a railway strike before August unless the federal government acts to prevent it.

The chances of railway unions accepting a wage increase on the 1964 pattern felt to have lain Thursday night when the federal cabinet endorsed a settlement for 1,200 straight workers that will jump them to $3.31 an hour next Jan. 1 from their present basement level of $2.36.

B.C. Labor Troubles Take Turn for Better

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's myriad labor troubles took a turn for the better Sunday when 1,300 Vancouver outside workers voted to end their seven-week strike.

However, the strike is still not over.

City council was to meet Tuesday to vote on wage proposals recommended by a provincially-appointed conciliation officer. Aldermen indicated Sunday night they would go along with the recommendations.

Jack Phillips, secretary of the Civic Outside Workers Union, said his men would return to work as soon as the city agrees to sign a contract.

Meanwhile, picket lines will remain at the city dump, civic buildings and Vancouver parks. A strike for higher wages by some of the province's 36,000 coastal lumber workers continued.

The International Woodworkers of America union had asked its members to return to work until Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz of the B.C. Supreme Court, a provincially-appointed industrial inquiry commissioner, had made his report this week.

Forty-eight-hour strike notice had been served by the union on 120 timber companies early last week, but the IWA executive assured Mr. Justice Nemetz they would await his report before ordering a strike.

But what started out as an apparent unrelated walkout at a Fraser Valley mill at mid-week gained momentum and by Friday 14,000 workers were on strike.

Saturday, 800 members of the 4,000-member Alberni local on Vancouver Island voted to return to work this morning. But the 3,000 members of the Duncan-Nanaimo local voted Sunday to remain on strike, tying up 25 mills in that area of Vancouver Island.

The IWA wants a 30 - cent hourly increase on a base rate of $2.36 plus another 30 cents in fringe benefits. The timber companies are pressing for guarantees against wildcat strikes.

'Gonna Get Some of That Whole Blood' Mississippi Marcher Exhorts Negroes

BELZONI, Miss. (AP) — Encouraged by an enthusiastic welcome from local Negroes, the Mississippi civil rights marchers planned a walk to the courthouse today to promote increased voter registration among Negroes.

Dr. Martin Luther King was due back in Jain the march after flying to Detroit Sunday for a speaking engagement.

Nearly 1,000 local Negroes—most of them dressed in their best—marched out Sunday to meet those coming down dusty state Route 7.

When the two marching groups met, Willie Ricks, a Negro worker for the Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee, hopped on the top of an auto.

"The white folks of Mississippi have been getting away with a lot of stuff," he shouted. "We're letting the white folks know that for every killing, every black person they put in jail for nothing, they're gonna have to pay.

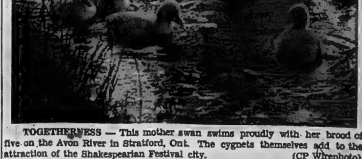
"From now on, it's not gonna be all black blood.

"We're gonna get some of that white blood."

Each statement was cheered.

The group marching from Memphis to Jackson—the route established by James H Meredith—spent the night in tents beside a Negro church. The campsite was under tight security during the night after a few minor incidents involving local whites and the marchers.

During Sunday's 16 miles of plodding, the marchers were ordered off a plantation by the white owner after they spilled off the road and into the yards of three of his Negro sharecropper cabins.



Meredith began the march with a few companions June 5. He was shot and wounded the next day, shortly after crossing into Mississippi. Civil rights groups took up the march after Meredith was wounded.

In Washington Sunday, Meredith again indicated he might be armed when he returns to resume the march this week. He said there was no other choice if officers refuse to meet the "responsibility for maintaining peace and order . . . I think a man should never be helpless."

Meredith, first man Negro to graduate from the University of Mississippi, said he is satisfied with the way the march has been going. He made the statements in an interview on the NBC television-radio, Meet the Press program.

King said in Detroit that Negroes should reject violence and goals of "black supremacy" in the civil rights movement. He spoke at a fund-raising rally that drew about 12,000 persons at $1 a ticket.

King, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said racial problems in the north "have worsened in many areas" while progress is being made in the South.

Court Clerk Is Acquitted After 4-Day Theft Trial

Marjorie M. Labey, 44, former court clerk and court reporter in Madoc, was found not guilty of theft of Ontario government funds at the end of her four-day trial Saturday in Hastings County Courthouse.

The jury, composed of 10 men and two women, deliberated almost two hours.

Miss Labey was charged with theft of nearly $5,000 from Magistrate R. C. Bowerman's court office in Madoc over a period of 28 months, between December 31, 1962 and November 1, 1965.

Following the announcement of the verdict, Judge Wilfred S. Lece of Picton told the jury he didn't disagree with their verdict. "I might have found a different verdict had I been trying her alone, but I'm much relieved at your verdict."

Miss Labey buried her face in her hands and sobbed quietly to herself when the verdict was announced. Speaking to her, Judge Lane said she had better be more careful in her future employment.

He told the jury, "I think in your collective wisdom you have probably come up with a verdict that's more in line with justice than the verdict I might have made."

CHARGES FURY

In his charge to the jury Saturday, before the jury deliberated, Judge Lane said the evidence in the case was basically circumstantial.

He told the jury its function was "to find the facts of the case. Nothing is a fact until you have found it so and you must find it so on the basis of the evidence that has been presented here and nothing else."

Judge Lane said he had no quarrel with inspector R. Ferguson's evidence but Opl. Adams "refused to me to be an eager beaver." He said he was left with a set of pre-conceived ideas. But again, that's for you to decide.

"It's not distasteful for me to comment on Magistrate Jackson's evidence, but I feel it is my duty."

"You saw him give evidence here. You saw how evasive he was. You saw how his memory didn't serve him if the question might have been embarrassing."

"I leave it to you whether you accept or reject his evidence."

At one point in the charge, Judge Lane levelled a blast at two police officers who were testifying while he was addressing the jury.

Judge Lane said he was disturbed by the evidence of Honor in his trial. "It would have been better had that evidence not been on the record at all."

WAS IN CHARGE

Speaking of the admission of responsibility Miss Labey made to police, he said, "I suggest to you that that admission simply suggests she was the person in charge of the office and anything that happened in the office came under her jurisdiction."

He told the jury to come to its own conclusions without regard for any indication he may have given of his feelings in the case.

In his argument to the jury, defence counsel R. E. Nourse of Picton said, "There is not a particle of evidence that Miss Labey took anything other than that for which she received receipts."

He said there were a number of witnesses who should have been called and weren't.

Crown Attorney Bruce Affleck of Oshawa argued that Miss Labey has no unusual memory. "She remembers things that help her in her evidence, and forgets things that may be detrimental to her case.

"I think there is only one reasonable conclusion you can draw, and that is that this accused is guilty and guilty beyond all possible doubt."

Mr. Nourse said it was ridiculous to charge this woman in the first place considering the sparsity of the crown's evidence.

County TB Assoc. Reports On Activities

The management committee of the Hastings County Tuberculosis Association held their regular monthly meeting recently at the home of Mrs. N. Haham with an excellent turnout of Board and Associate members. They were thanked by the new president, Wm. H. Hinkle, for this fine showing of interest.

The usual business was transacted and accounts presented for payment.

The chairman of Social and Rehabilitation, Mrs. Elaine White, gave a detailed report of her activities with the patients since the last meeting. Visits were made to patients visited at Ongwanada Sanatorium during the month of May, and again in June, and May and June cards were looked after. Local newspapers are supplied to patients as well as toiletries and other small items. Materials for the therapeutic treatment of patients is supplied. The shut-in ex-patients have now been completed, and they will be contacted during the year for a booster shots. She also reported on a proposed visit to patients at London and Kingston during the summer months.

During the past year, it was the decision of the members that the Mobile X-ray Unit from Ongwanada Sanatorium would be hired at a cost of $1.00 per film to take x-rays of employees in industry, on an experimental basis, as an added service to the community. This unit was then used at the Belleville, Tweed and Shannonville Fairs. Employees at the following businesses have been x-rayed through these clinics: - Rite-way Store, Canadian Oil Limited Refinery (Belleville Division), Bell Telephone, Lannings Ltd., McFarlane-Hudson, Ontario Hydro, Vagden Mills, Avon Jewellery, Wilson Concrete, American Optical, Corby's Distillery, Black Diamond Cheese, City of Belleville Police Department, Fire Department, Electronic Controls Ltd., Morch Manufacturing Ltd., The Intelligencer, and Bata Shoe Co. Ltd.

This service covered approximately 2,000 employees in Hastings County, plus the citizens covered at the fairs. Any abnormalities resulting from these x-rays were then given a larger x-ray at the Provincial Chest Clinic. The association is pleased to report that to date no active tuberculosis has been discovered as a result of this survey.

OFU Promises Tractor Parades To Be Enlarged

PORT ELGIN, Ont. (CP)—Tractor demonstrations that applied up traffic on some western Ontario roads last week will be expanded if the provincial government does not reach agreement with the Ontario Farmers' Union, the union decided Sunday night.

After a series of closed meetings in this town 20 miles west of Owen Sound, Walter Miller of Lyn, OFU vice-president, said the demonstrations will be expanded across the province at 1 p.m. Monday if the Farmers' meeting with Agriculture Minister William Stewart do not result in settlement.

Meanwhile in London, Ont., Premier Richer, OFU area representative, said more than 300 farmers from Essex and Kent counties supported the demonstrative today between Chatham and Windsor, along about 40 miles of highway.

The announcement came after a four-day truce called Friday after Labor Minister Martin's appeal for industrial milk.

Mr. Miller said the Ontario Federation of Labor has promised full support of its membership if tractors are only partially designated a picket line.

COULD SLOW TRUCKS

Government officials have indicated they will leave it up to police to make sure motorists do not unduly impede the demonstrations.

Mr. Miller said the OFU will present other demands at the meeting with the minister Tuesday. They are in a brief first released in April.

The brief asks the government to establish a province-wide milk pool so all Grade A milk will bring the same price. It also asks that the price the farmer can receive as much as $3 a hundredweight for Grade A milk from a bottler and as little as $3.25 if he sells it for other purposes.

Better Living Survey Ready To Present

TRENTON — Mrs. R. H. Smirlie, chairman of the Better Living Survey, conducted recently by the Community Association, announced last night the findings brought out by the survey were now in the summary stage and this would be taken to the Ontario Welfare Council in Toronto when completed. Trevor Pierce, executive director of the council will assist the association members in drawing up recommendations to come out of the survey and these will be presented to town council by the association members.

Mrs. Smirlie's asks that anyone who has not yet mailed in their survey sheets, mail them to her at 272 Dufferin Ave.

Meanwhile, the association's used clothing depot on Front Street, (two houses north of Mildred Street) is now open for business. Donations of clothing or household items may be made there.

News in Brief

TRENTON — Steven Noise, 19, of 83 McGill Ave, Hamilton Park Is in Trenton hospital being checked for possible fractures, as a result of an accident on Dundas Street East Saturday evening.

Police said the youth ran from between a line-up of traffic into the path of a car driven by Wayne Foley of Deseronto.

William Field, 26, of 231 Dufferin Ave. was treated in Trenton hospital Sunday for a broken collar bone, suffered when his Honda went out of control on Dundas Street West at Front and threw him to the pavement.

Trenton's regular and volunteer firemen added $300 to their benevolent fund at a result of Saturday's auction sale of used household goods on St. Peter's schoolyard.

Of the 83 boats locked through Lock No. 1 since navigation's opening on the Trent Canal, not one has been American.

Over the weekend, eight boats were locked through.

Man Charged After Organist Hit by Car

COBOURG, Ont. (CP)—Kathleen Warner, 77, organist for 35 years at St. Peter's, Anglican Church here, was killed Sunday when struck by a car while on her way to the evening service.

Miss Warner retired last year but had resumed playing at the church recently for the summer months.

Cobourg is 36 miles east of Oshawa.

Two Teenagers Hurt in Crash

Two teenagers from the Quinte area, injured in a motorcycle crash on Highway 62 between 2 and Foster Ave. Saturday night, are reported in satisfactory condition in Belleville General Hospital. Robert Thompson, 17, of R R 1, Carrying Place, driver of the motorcycle and his passenger, Suzanne Case, R R 1, Foxboro, suffered cuts, bruises, abrasions and scrapes in the accident. Miss Case is also reported to have suffered a fractured ankle in the mishap.

Driver of the car involved in the accident was 23-year-old Jack Insley, 10 Bocage Street, Trenton.

Honda Proves Virtually Unbeatable

Honds does it again! In the Steel City Scramble recently held at Lyndon Track near Hamilton, and sanctioned by the Canadian Motorcycle Association, Honda S-90's finished one-two-three in the competition for bikes up to 100 cc. The Hondas were ridden by Fred Pistone and Fred Christiansen of Hamilton and Derek Brown of Toronto.

In another race held in connection with the Trillium Trophy, Mike Sinclair of the city of Toronto ran away with the combined results of the first 200 cc. with a Honda 90 and a Honda 160 Super Sport. In the Ontario Motorcycle Grand Prix at Harewood on Victoria Day Mike Manley set the pace in the 160 cc event.

Whether you're interested in competition or just riding for pleasure, you can't beat a Honda for performance and reliability. The four cycle engine gives smooth power, long life and economical operation.

If you would like to know more about the outstanding features of these popular motor bikes, drop in to Booth Radio and Cycle Limited, 1001 opposite City Hall, Belleville.

Belleville, Mich. Kiwanians To Visit With Local Club

Belleville Kiwanis Club will be playing host to a 40-member group from the Belleville, Michigan Kiwanis Club tomorrow. The visitors are expected to arrive at Canadian Forces Base Trenton at about 10:30 a.m. where they will be met by members of the local club and RCAF pipers. Extended the welcome on behalf of his club will be Kiwanis president Friedel Beiefeldt.

A cavalcade of cars will carry Kiwanians of both clubs along Bridge St. E. to William along Bridge St. E. to William Street where they will go to the Kiwanis Centre. The visitors will be in charge of the program at the noon meeting.

In the afternoon, a brief tour of the Black Diamond Cheese Company is scheduled with a tour of the countryside to follow. Later, a number of boats will transport the group from the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club to the RCAP Yacht Club on Sager Island. A reception will be held at the RCAP Yacht Club at 7:30 p.m., the visiting Kiwanians will be guests of the aircraft for the flight home.

400 Acres Marginal Land Being Added to Authority

The Moira River Conservation Authority will add another 400 acres of marginal land to the more than 13,000 acres which it now owns.

At a meeting of the Authority executive committee this month it was voted to purchase an additional 400 acres, 200 acres in two plots in Hungerford township, 100 acres in the ninth concession of Tyendinaga, and 30 acres in Elzevir township.

Cost of the 400 acres will be $2,700.

Plans for the proposed Deercock Lake reservoir dam on Partridge Creek in Kaladar township are still under discussion by the authority with application having been made to A.R.D.A. for a capital grant. A brief setting out the need for water control projects on the Moira waters-shed has been submitted in support of the application for the A.R.D.A. grant.

Subject to government approval of the A.R.D.A. water control brief, the Authority executive have recommended that negotiations be entered into with property owners to be affected by the proposed dam.

Also, subject to A.R.D.A. approval of grants, the Authority will proceed with arrangements for detailed engineering plans of the dam to be prepared by Kilborn Engineering.

Old Beaver Dam Collapses, Gardens, Laneway Flooded

High water pressure in the upper reaches of Sulphide Creek caused an old beaver dam near No. 7 highway to collapse Sunday night resulting in minor flooding of downstream flat lands.

At the village of Sulphide northeast of Stoco Lake a few gardens and a laneway were flooded by the rise in water.

Reports are that the beaver have not been active in the area during the past few years and have allowed their dam to deteriorate. The heavy rains of the past few weeks caused the accumulation of water behind the dam to build up and some time during Sunday night the dam gave way.

Department of Lands and Forests officials from Tweed this morning investigated the reason for the recent flu- fic and reported the beaver dam broken.

IN MEMORIAM

SMITH — In loving memories of my brother, Evert Burton Wyrie Smith, who died suddenly June 30, 1964, two years ago today.

There are things in life you cannot do,
A gift that is real and true,
The love of a wonderful brother
It made me glad to be
You were with me summer, now summer has gone,
But memories remain with the love you gave,
And loving memory burst sweet
With a silent love without regret
Which sometimes comes to me
Sadly missed by sister Dalma, brother-in-law Bob, Norma and Darrel.

GALLINGER — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Ernest Gallinger, who passed away seven years ago, June 30, 1959.
Sleep on, dear one, we let him sleep,
He would no more return.
Sleep on, dear one, your work is done,
We loved you well.
And now we have to mourn,
We miss you in your vital pain he bore,
We did not see him die.
We only knew he closed your eyes,
And left you here to sigh.
Sadly missed by wife, Edith; son-in-law Margaret and sons Stanley, Wayne and Ernest.

SALDWIN — In memory of a dear brother Major George Reginald Baldwin, who died suddenly June 30, 1948 and a loving father who died June 30, 1961.
Lovingly remembered,
Sister Ethel and Lee Denyer and family, Port Hope.

Hasty Pees Hold Exercise With Montreal RCAF Group

A combined operation, code named "Top Dog" which took place in Belleville and Point Petre over the weekend was the culmination of a year of training for the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

Troops from the Hasty Pees set up a perimeter defence around Belleville Airport on Saturday while three Otter aircraft from 438 Sqn. RCAF Aux., Montreal, made several trips, airlifting the Regiment to Picton where the unit transport waited to move them to Point Petre.

After setting up a defensive position on Point Petre, the Regiment sent out "Advance to Contact" patrols during the night, which were engaged by other members of the unit acting as enemy troops.

On Sunday morning, while the Regiment was advancing in companies, 438 Sqn., acting as Air Observation, took pictures of the "enemy" positions and terrain. The pictures were flown to Armed Forces Station, Trenton, where they were processed and then flown back and dropped by parachute to the troops on the ground.

The exercise ended after lunch which was prepared by the regimental cooks and dropped by parachute to the waiting troops. Observers were very enthusiastic in praising the efficiency of all personnel.

Field Officer Is Appointed

A new field officer has been appointed to work with the Moira River Conservation Authority.

He is Mr. Tony Lawson who has been transferred to the Quinte area from Western Ontario.

In addition to working as field officer for the Moira Authority, Mr. Jennings will also be associated with the Prince Edward Conservation Authority, and also with the Napanee Authority.

Around the Kitty

Members of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club were busy over the weekend and came out of competitions with a lot of honors. A rink of Ken Ashley, William Van Tassel and "Jerry" Hyde journeyed to Ottawa and won three games at the Elmdale Club. There were 48 rinks in competition and the Belleville rink finished fourth. Mr. Hyde who is president of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association was warmly welcomed by the eastern bowlers and was asked to say a few words.

On Saturday on the local greens a three-game jitney was played topped off by a pot luck supper and it was one of the best events held at the greens in a long time. Percy Graham the organizer had forty bowlers out and a lot of fun and good bowling resulted. Mr. Graham believed in winning the first place if he had to do the bulk of the work and with Mi-chael Fitzgibbon, Mrs. Millie smith did it in grand style. Mrs. Kay Moreau, Miss Marg Fairbairn with Jack Avery as skip succeeded in winning the two-game high while Mrs. Irene Trudeau, Mrs. Thelma Pringle-wen with Bob Semple as skip won the one-game high count.

A rink of Jack Avery, Ralph Tuck, Austin Watkin with "Jerry" Hyde as skip journeyed to Kingston on Sunday to take part in the district playdowns for rinks but was defeated by a Trenton rink of Cecil Newton, L. Chouinard, Ken Peacock with Bill Fuller as skip. The score was 22-15. Trenton then took on the Kingston rink of Eddie Dennison, William Duncan, Sr., Harold Bock and William Duncan Jr. and were defeated 19-18. The Trenton rink was down 15-4 in the early stages and fought back to be two up coming home but the Kingston rink scored a big three to win the match and district honours. The doubles and singles will be played in Kingston next Sunday. The Colt rink from Belleville of Jack Torrey, Roy Hall and Frank Morrell lost in a Kingston rink.

Mrs. Grace Clapp and her rink of Mrs. Jessie Hunter and Mrs. Lil Mascaro won the district playoffs at the local green on Sunday against rinks from Belleville, Trenton and Kingston. In the first round a Belleville rink of Mrs. Rita Goetler, Mrs. Betty Vince with Mrs. Carm Mott as skip defeated Mrs. Kay Fuller and her rink of Mrs. Louella Chouinard and Mrs. Pearl Clapp from Trenton 17-10, while Mrs. Grace Clapp and her rink won over Mrs. Vivian Matthews, Mrs. Muriel Stringer with Mrs. Kitty Dyers as skip 15-14. This was an exciting match as Mrs. Clapp had to "run the rat" nearly in ditch to count three and win by a 15-14 count.

In the second draw Mrs. Anne Avery, Mrs. Phyllis Graham with Mrs. Millie Smith as skip won over Mr. Mott's rink by a big count and in the final game, one of the best of the afternoon, Mrs. Clapp edged Mrs. Smith by a 15-12 count.

Orientation Program Conducted by 3 Schools

All grade 8 pupils in the Bay of Quinte High School District are today being oriented for high school entrance next September.

An orientation program for the above students was underway this afternoon at each of the secondary schools — Belleville Collegiate Institute, Moira Secondary School, and Quinte Secondary School.

Since the new Centennial Secondary School will not be ready until September, students who will be entering Grade 9 at this school assembled at Sir Mackenzie Bowell School on Leland Ave., where they were greeted by their principal W. J. Musgrove and some of his staff members.

In the other schools the pupils toured the buildings and were given information about courses, textbooks, supplies and other matters about which they will be concerned next year.

Any students in the district planning to attend high school next year and have not yet submitted a registration form, are urged to contact the principal of the appropriate school immediately.

Pupils entering Grade 9 for the four-year and five-year programs are registered as follows:

Students living in Ameliasburg Township and in the City of Belleville west of McDonald Avenue, south of the CNR tracks and east of Cedar Street will attend Bellevile C.I. and V.S.

Students living in Batawa, Frankford, Sidney Township and in Belleville west of Cedar and James Streets and south of West Moira Street will attend Centennial Secondary School.

Students living in Belleville east of McDonald Avenue and south of the CNR tracks and those in Thurlow Township adjacent to or south of Highways 2 and 401 or on Elmwood Drive, will attend Moira Secondary School.

Those residing in Belleville north of Moira Street or the CNR tracks and those in Thurlow and Tyendinaga Townships north of Highway 2 (except Elmwood Drive) will attend Quinte Secondary School.

All pupils enrolling for the five year Program will attend Belleville Collegiate Institute. Those accepted for the Occupational Program have been allocated to one of the other three schools in which this course is being given.

Fire Destroys Rhodes' Store At Marysville

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed Rhodes' General Store yesterday at Marysville. Chief A. G. Fraser of the Deseronto Fire Department said this morning that investigations are continuing and an accurate estimate of the damage is not yet available.

Formerly known as Alpine's General Store, the building, with living quarters above, was reduced to ashes and rubble by the fierce blaze that was first noticed about 11 a.m. Chief Fraser said the fire was well under way when he and 11 volunteer firemen arrived on the scene. Belleville Fire Department responded to a call for assistance about 11:20 and dispatched two pumpers. Firefighters were successful in preventing the spread of flames to the Marysville Hotel and the Mcallen residence on either side of the store. Damage to the two neighboring buildings was confined to blistered paint and cracked windows.

During the height of the blaze, the wells were pumped dry and additional water had to be drawn from a quarry about one-half mile north of Highway 302. "We pumped about 10,000 gallons of water out of the quarry," reported Chief Fraser.

Firemen were on the scene from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and "watering down" operations resumed again from 7-9 p.m.

Sleeping Sickness Sufferer Dies After 8-Month Illness

A young Canadian Army private from Frankford who has lain in a partial coma since last fall when he was struck down with a form of sleeping sickness has died in military hospital at Ottawa.

Private Warren Keith Weese, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Weese of Frankford, died early this morning at Ottawa and will be buried at a military funeral on Thursday.

Private Weese had been in the Army for only three months when he was struck down with the disease at Camp Petawa, three days after the Thanksgiving holiday weekend last October. For most of the time since he had been in a coma.

The body will arrive by train from Ottawa this evening.

Surviving besides his parents are two brothers, Donald, 17, and William Robert 13, and two sisters, Judy Anne, 15, and Janice Eleanor 8.

Jaycees Hold Conference Near Orillia

About 250 presidents and vice-presidents of Ontario Jaycee Units attended a weekend conference at Lake Couchiching, north of Orillia. Alex McLeod, president of the Belleville Unit, and Jim Dunlop and Bill Rattray, president and vice-president of the Picton Unit were in attendance.

The Jaycees took part in discussion periods designed to provide information on the various units represented and Val Swain of Kingston spoke on the subject "Why Jaycees." There were special discussions involving units in each district and Ontario president Arthur Turner spoke briefly.

Continuing Problem

Belleville's continuing problem with regard to attracting new industry is a matter for concern.

One industry apparently was lost recently because of a lack of readily available sewage facilities. Now, "sooning and planning red tape" at city hall have been cited as the reason for the loss of a new North Front Street shopping plaza.

The parting statement of the developer is one that hurts. Announcing that the site of the proposed development at the corner of North Front and Donald streets was being put up for sale, Sidney Spiegel said: "We wanted only a simple six-store shopping plaza, but because of the delays and fighting with city hall, we are no longer interested and feel there would be no point in investing money in Belleville."

City hall views the issue differently. Mr. Spiegel had mentioned that Planning Director P. J. Beavis favored certain areas along North Front being reserved as green belt with commercial ventures located on side streets. On this, Mr. Beavis replies that final agreement on project plans was signed with Mr. Spiegel April 15 and was forwarded to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval April 22. At the same time, in an effort to expedite the matter, the OMB was asked if it would waive the customary period for the hearing of objections.

The Municipal Board went until May 27 to reply, saying it could not waive the procedure of waiting for objections and that no decision could be made until June 16 (a decision which apparently is still being awaited.)

Thus a project which has been under negotiation for 9-months has come to nothing.

Industrial activity is flagging shy of Belleville, or simply ignoring it. Clearly some new approach is necessary. Some time ago we mentioned a system adopted in Britain — principally in developing areas like Northern Ireland — which might be followed here.

We refer to the building of "advance factories," together with sewage and other necessary facilities. The plants are then leased to any industrialist who may be interested in expanding his operations.

In this way Northern Ireland has attracted many new industries from Britain, Europe and the United Seates. On a local municipal basis, such as here in Belleville, it could be tried on a small scale first — perhaps with the erection of one "advance factory." Such a plan might succeed where others have failed in recent times.

Optimist

Federal Labor Minister Nicholson either must be a super optimist or else he is very naive.

Of the Seaway settlement, which increases the wages of seaway lock keepers from $2.35 an hour to $3.21 as of next January 1, Mr. Nicholson was quoted as saying it should not be looked upon as a pattern.

"This was a special situation," he said, with an eye probably to negotiations pending in the railway industry.

The trouble is, there is a pattern, clear and unmistakable, on the Canadian labor scene. With the cost of living reaching new heights, the trend across the country is demand for higher wages.

First it was the construction workers at the Expo project, then the longshoremen in Montreal. Now the Seaway operating employees have won the day. Across Canada a host of other groups is engaged in similar negotiations, and the list is growing almost daily.

Yet Labor Minister Nicholson has the temerity to suggest that the settlement should not be looked upon as a pattern. Apparently the minister would like to make fish of one and fowl of another.

Golf Gems

"Trudy, didn't you hear me? I said, 'I broke a hundred.'" Thus spake hubbie to a harnessed Trudy (of the fashion) in the midst of the washing . . . the ironing . . . squealing children and so on.

There must be as many jokes about golf as there are golfers who are duffers and wives who are golf widows.

Like the one in Punch magazine some years ago. The marriage ceremony over, a new husband strides from the church, and with the best man heads for the golf course.

"But this is a very important engagement," says the husband to his startled bride.

We were reminded of these golfing gems by a picture of a Portland, Oregon, pair — Dan McKean and Susie Brice — who were married on a golf course.

Said the picture caption: "Dan is mad for golf, and Susie, who knows she will be a golf widow, said at least she could be with him for the ceremony."

A smart girl is Susie!

But much less of a joke — to the professional golfer at least — was the experience of Gary Player, The South African, who has won all the major titles of golf, missed seven putts of four feet or less for a 78 in an early round of the U.S. Open at San Francisco last week.

Meals on Wheels Study in City

Editor,
The Intelligencer
In the past week or so there have been references in two Toronto newspapers to the "Meals on Wheels" service sponsored by St. Christopher House.

Do any of your readers feel that the elderly citizens of Belleville, who are unable to shop or prepare their own meals, could benefit by a service of this nature?

The meals are paid for by the client, but the charge is kept as low as possible. In order to do this the service needs a considerable number of volunteers.

A committee has already been set up to look into the nutritional problems of the senior citizens here in Belleville, and would be glad to hear from anyone interested in a "Lunch Club" or "Meals on Wheels" service.

Mrs. J. E. Utley,
40 Applewood Drive.

N.Z. Butter For Canada?

Peterborough Examiner

In the dairy farming areas of Ontario it must come as something of a surprise that New Zealand is contemplating the export of butter to Canada. Canada has been a large exporter of butter, and at one point in the not too distant past, it had enough butter all in storage to grease a very slippery path for the butter substitute industry. In fact, dairy interests in Ontario successfully bamboozled the Ontario Legislature into passing a statute that makes margarine look so offensive that only the dogcraftiest cookie could face the sight of it at the table.

This legislation must be about the silliest of a great many foolish acts of the Legislature. In view of the butter shortage and the inability of the industry to supply Canadian needs domestically, there is every good reason to repeal it, but it is the customer decide for himself if he wants butter or margarine. To us however anyone with a ferocious shade of yellow imposed by a rural-dominated chamber of representatives is a unfair & crude practice as could be devised.

One might as reasonably require the manufacturers of cream substitutes for coffee to color their wares pace.

Inflation Is Wide-Ranging

Montreal Gazette

In matters of competitive foreign trade, inflation is something to be considered. If any nation allows inflation to run comparatively high, it is at once at a disadvantage with nations where inflation is lower.

Recently, at the annual meeting of the Canadian Exporters' Association, the president, Mr. S. T. Paton, pointed out that Canada has lost the relatively advantageous position it had in the first half of the 1960s. During that period, as a whole, Canada's record for price stability was matched among the industrialized nations of the world only by that of the United States.

But now Canada ranks somewhere in the middle of industrialized nations, where inflation is concerned. The Canadian inflation is outstripped by Belgium, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Sweden and Japan, but is now significantly higher than in the United States, Italy and France.

In the last quarter of 1965, half the increase in the Canadian GNP consisted of higher prices. Consumer prices, running 4 percent ahead of year-ago levels, are rising at the fastest rate since the Korean War.

Inflation is often considered as something that affects the cost of living in Canada. This it certainly does. But it also affects the saleability of Canadian goods in other markets. The fear of Canadian inflation could become a new hazard to foreign trade.

Flag Etiquette

"It is becoming quite prevalent that the (Canadian) flag is raised (over public buildings), stays up over night, remains flying until it is tattered . . . The flag should be raised at sunrise and lowered at sundown which is the custom in our country"
— H. W Herridge (NDP Kootenay West).

To Your Good Health
'Having a Refraction' Just Testing of Eyes

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is refraction of the eyes and why is it done? — Mrs. F. B.

Refraction is the bending of light as it passes from one transparent material into another. When swimming, haven't you ever looked down into the water at an angle? You see a stone on the bottom. When you reach for it, you find that it isn't exactly where you thought it was. That is because the light is refracted, or changes direction — somewhat, as it passed the surface of the water.

This same thing — refraction — is what makes a lens work. Light, as it reaches and enters the glass, is bent or refracted. It bends again on the other side, as the light rays leave the lens. If the lens is ground to the proper shape, the light rays will focus. Depending on the type of lens, the image can be made a bit larger or smaller than the image that goes into the lens.

Now let's get back to your eyes. At the pupil of each eye is the lens of the eye. You see things because the light from an object travels to this lens of your eye. Perhaps you are looking at a horse, a house, or even a mountain. The lens of the eye focuses the light rays into an image small enough to enter the retina, or sensitive screen inside your eye. The light rays on this screen have an effect on the tiny network of nerves — and that is what we mean when we say we see something.

Now suppose the lens of your eye has not the exact shape it ought to have. Light still comes through, but it does the shape, various jobbies. You still see, but things are blurry or distorted.

This is why we wear glasses. The glasses are shaped so they compensate for the faulty lens in the eye. If light rays bend too much, the glasses compensate by making it bend a little less.

When you visit an eye specialist for a refraction, he will find out how much error there is in each of your eye, and will then know the exact shape of glasses which will correct the error.

In practice, this is done by having you look through an instrument which somewhat resembles a pair of field glasses. By substituting different combinations of lenses in this instrument, he soon finds the exact combination which lets you see most clearly.

Then glasses are made for you which have the same effect as this combination of lenses.

If you are told that you "should have a refraction," and are concerned about it, don't worry. All it means is that as you look through this instrument and the doctor finds out what kind of glasses will be best for you.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does brain damage cause other organs of the body to not function normally? Like the glands, the stomach, or the lungs? — Mrs. G. H. N.

It can, but this depends on what part of the brain is damaged. The cortex or the upper or "thinking" part of the brain can be damaged severely, yet if there is no damage to the lower portion of the brain which controls the more "automatic" functions of the body, then those functions will continue normally.

Dear Dr. Molner: Should one with diabetes in mild form refrain entirely from alcohol? — G. F.

It is best to do so. For diabetes in other than mild forms, alcohol should be avoided completely.

Note to MRS. M. O.: Inverted nipples do not cause cancer; in some instances, however, they can cause a nipple to invert, but that is quite different.

Historical Accuracy

The Globe and Mail

Whether you feel that history is a pageant, a distillation of rumor, the witness of the times, the light of truth, or just bunk, you probably disagree with the way it is presented in the schools. Almost everyone does.

Several members of the Ontario Legislature have had an opportunity to express their personal opinions. Vernon Singer, (L, Downsview) felt school history was waiting too much time on the early explorers at the expense of "the struggle for responsible government"; Robert Nixon (L, Brant) demanded a better deal for the Indians (historically speaking); and Kenneth Bryden (NDP, Woodbine) was troubled by conflicting Quebec and Ontario versions of how Confederation came about.

Each of them could lead us into difficulty if he had his way. If the word "victorious" can be chipped off the legend on Wolfe's monument, almost anything can happen.

Control of Water Resources

Montreal Gazette

In the last few years water has suddenly become a natural resource of great concern in North America. No longer is it taken for granted that this the wide publicity given to shortages of clean water in the larger Americ cities, the U.S. public perhaps is more conscious of the importance of it than we are in Canada.

But there is one person in the last few years who has been doing his best to alert Canadians to the primary importance of our water resources, and he is Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, for 30 years (until his retirement in 1958), Canada's chairman of the International Joint Commission.

Gen. McNaughton spoke out again this week in Sherbrooke, Quebec, at the meeting of the Royal Society of Canada. His words were blunt and the message he delivered all the more forceful because of his experience in dealing with Canadian-U.S. problems and his knowledge of Canadian waterways.

Gen. McNaughton made two principal points in his speech. The first is that Canada should move cautiously in making any agreement with the United States — either their governments or private concerns — which would re-direct waterways.

The former IJC chairman has been critical of the Columbia River Treaty. He has pointed out before — as he did at Sherbrooke — that one part of the Protocol and the Sales Agreement, allowed Canada to make use of waters of Canadian origin for consumption purposes at any time.

While this country has not yet had reason to use this clause, Gen. McNaughton said it could be an important point of conflict in the future. The clause was agreed to by the Executive of the United States, but the reservation was not included in the ratification by the U.S. Senate.

His second point is that the U.S. really has an abundant supply of water but what is scarce is clean water. He maintains also that clean water could be supplied in the U.S. "at less cost by proper administration and pollution control than by importation from Canada."

The final point is inclined to believe that in the long run, perhaps one of the most unfriendly acts Canada could do to the United States would be to offer our water at bargain prices. Because if we did this attack on pollution might then be postponed until the problem was no longer acute.

The final point certainly adds an ironic twist to the problem in those days of rumours about American investment in Canada, of guidelines and "choices" for Canada. The pressures from south of the border for Canadian water is going to increase, not decrease, and Canada ready to face up to the pressure?

The "Beat" Generation

Windsor Star

Today's younger generation should stop and take a good hard look at themselves. Their apparent ambition to prove to their elders that they are a-beatnik is now getting far beyond reasonable limits.

Not a day passes without a news story from some city in North America where teen-agers in beatnik costume have participated in demonstrations or riots. The long - haired, bearded beatnik is no longer confined to certain areas of a city; they are located in college campus and secondary school grounds. These individuals who dress in blue jeans, sweat shirts and sandals establish themselves as leaders.

Not only is the leadership of these so-called anti-social misfits cf critics of today's society questionable, their attitude toward the law and government leave something to be desired.

Throughout history, it has been the nonconformist, the misfit people, and especially students, to be non-conformists. But today's students have carried their desires too far.

By their own appearances and dress they lose the respect of their elders. Wearing a beard a haircut sad clean, tidy clothing and the girls should discard their jeans and comb their hair. Many should be introduced to soap and water.

There is no question that youth should be heard and their feelings on government and education matters should be heard but can be accomplished without debasing themselves or intimidating and disrupting the rights of others.

The moment has arrived for the non-conformist to study his or her case individually and when doing so remember they are part of today's society and should not provide the leadership of tomorrow.

Leadership was never and will never be accomplished through mass demonstration or by groups who expect to draw attention to themselves by dressing or wearing their hair differently.

I should like to read, or hear, just once, about a man with a deuce up his sleeve, a man who was alive and kicking, a man who was not all things to all men, a man who was at death's window, and a man who was not Grand as well as Old.

And, just once, about a distance of a mile and a half, or miles, an inauspicious occasion, a battle that is not-royal, a plot of land that is not square, a broad path, a regal congratulations, a dog that is let out of the bag, a heavy fanatic, and an elephant's share.

And, just once, a lock and a stock without a barrel, a baby without a fowl, a flash in the pot, a cake that is either eaten or kept, a fine kettle of fish, cooks who improve the broth, penetrable darkness, a direct hand in the matter, and a power before the throne.

And, just once, a document that is signed and sealed but not delivered, a five-foot-pole for touching a long - handled ones we wouldn't touch with a 10-foot-pole, and 1 person who is cool and calm but not collected.

And, just once, a flat car or a bee that is of a fly in the ointment, a fool's interval, a charge that is not buried, a new car that is not unveiled, a single-dyed yarn, a cup that depresses, a fully-fleshed corpse in the closet, and a tale that does not lose a hare.

And, just once, a heart that is worn on the lapel or the pocket but not on the sleeve, a welcome with closed arms, a sheep in wolf's clothing 80 winks, food for thoughtlessness, an unlucky star, love that is not blind to every cake, and too little of a good thing.

And, just once, an ounce of flesh, midwinter madness, an undisguised blessing, wheels that are not set in motion, a contest that is papered or twigged but not feathered, an analysis that is not followed by a post mortem, a healthy eyes, a character that is only silver-plated, and time that limps or creeps or runs but does not march on.

Deadweight

London Observer

The deadweight of tradition that the British penny is how worth nearly twopence, for its copper content, is a classic example of how long we must be burdened with the heaviest coinage in the world. A coin like this, a Swiss cent, which for practical purposes could replace it, would save 90 per cent in weight, and add immeasurably to our convenience. The conversion of slot machines is mechanically quite feasible and will in any case, have to be undertaken when the new coinage is introduced in a few year's time, simply the weight of our pennies cannot be an essential status symbol.

Many Attend Steam Engine Exhibition at Fair Grounds

CAMPBELLFORD — The annual exhibition of steam engines this year was held at the Campbellford Fair Grounds, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The large crowd attending is indicative of the growing interest in this particular type of exhibition. Members of the Campbellford association worked hard to make the event a success.

About twenty steam engines of large size as well as many others were shown, restored in detail by the owners. A parade was arranged through the town on Saturday afternoon and another around the fair grounds on Sunday afternoon.

Taking part in the parade was Frank Stapley, 86, of Stirling driving a 1906 steam engine used at one time for threshing, cutting wood and lumber and conveying a threshing machine of about 1900 vintage adapted and modified to later use.

The Kawartha Shrine Club engine followed. This machine is looked after and maintained by W. C. Stapley, Campbellford. This engine has been shown in many parts of Ontario.

The old steam roller of the town of Campbellford was taken out of ten years' storage and restored by Wallace Stapley and driven by Frank Brown who had operated the machine many years ago when in use by the town.

MANY ANTIQUE CARS

Antique cars interspersed the parade of engines; a 1904 Buick owned by Ronald Fawcett of Whitby, a 1911 Model T by Sherman Stapley of Campbellford, a 1930 Packard owned by Jack Clarke of Campbellford, a 1932 Model B pick-up truck, and a 1929 Model A owned by Mr. Murphy of Roseneath. Others were in evidence not shown in the parade.

Clarence Coons and sons of Lakefield had three steam engines on display. Mr. Coons' sons also have about 20 antique cars.

Other steam engine exhibitors were Payne Bros. of Warsaw, 1918 model of Waterloo machine; Mr. H. Butters of Cobourg and Mr. T. MacArthur of Norwood; Douglas Stapley of Campbellford, an Eagle machine made in Waterloo and operated by Miss Howe of Trenton and a 1920 Hart Parr owned by Ray Bell of Cobourg.

Old tractors were also much in evidence; a restored Rumley, of 1957 shown by Glenn Crapp of Lakefield, a Lang tractor manufactured in Germany before World War I owned by Edwin Little of Campbellford.

THRESHING MACHINE

Harry Lansey of Port Hope had a 3 h.p. steam engine operating a home made threshing machine made entirely of wood and which had been in the family since 1896 still in working order.

Mr. Charles Campion of Marmora operated an old threshing machine still in working order and with which he threshed 26,000 bushels of grain last fall and worked at 28 farmers' barns. The steam engine operating the thresher was also an old machine still in excellent working condition. This is an operation desired by some rather than modern combine methods.

SMALL GAS ENGINES

Smaller gas engines were also on display used previously for sawing and cutting wood, and operating milking machines. Ray Bell of Cobourg and Edwin Little of Campbellford were the largest exhibitors of this type of machine. Each exhibitor showing six or eight units.

Also shown was an apple cider press, a portable saw mill cutting large logs and an old shingle mill.

Dealing with fire departments, Millbrook had an attractive display mounted on a float showing a hand operated fire hose 1814 and a chemical extinguisher of 1910. An old hand operated machine was also on display from Stirling. Campbellford fire department showed the new modern pumper.

Mr. Percy Gelsthorpe was on hand with his model train, complete with track and on which many children enjoyed the ride. Mr. Gelsthorpe's train is a masterpiece on which he spent 18 months of construction. It is a New York Central model scaled to proportion and finished to perfection. It operates on a special small gauge track.

Mr. Reg. Barton of Campbellford had a fine display of upright engines which he has obtained over the years from places where they were no longer used, one from Bush Point cheese factory, one from the Ontario School for the Deaf in Belleville, one from Denbigh saw mill and a fifth one from Crow Bay factory. These machines are all in good operating condition but are no longer practical for the use for which they were originally intended. Mr. Barton has them as a hobby. Another exhibitor of a similar engine was Charles Kennedy of Hastings.

DISPLAY IN BUILDINGS

Displayed in the building on the Fair Grounds were miniature models. One a scale model of a threshing engine made by Mr. O'Brien, a double amputee, and now owned by Mr. A. Nichrel of Petawawa. A price of $1,400 has been refused for this model.

A model threshing machine scaled two inches to the foot owned by L. Scrimshaw of R. R. Bellevile is a model of the machine now being used on the Scrimshaw farm and can actually be used. Many other exhibits were shown, a model of the Stanley Steamer car; an engine carved entirely of wood, an engine for a bicycle still in the experimental stage. Other exhibitors of models were Percy Gervais of Petawawa and G. H. Dirlam of Toronto.

In addition were two child cradles, one very ornate having been in the Stapley family for three generations; also a huge carved dining room table and cane bottom chairs of the Stapley family, grain cradles and rakes, ax yokes and many other items.

Visitors at the exhibition were Gas Hees M.P., Russell Rowe M.P.P. and Mr. Alex Carruthers M.P. fro Durham County.

Members of the Campbellford Steam Union Association expressed satisfaction at the result of this event, their hope sponsoring of an exhibition of this nature.

2,000 Cars at Outlet Park As Summer Crowds Return

PICTON — Early season campers and weekenders turned out in force at Prince Edward county provincial parks on Sunday with an estimated 2,000 cars passing through the two entrances at Outlet Park.

Approximately one half of the 400 campsites at the same park were filled.

With the return of the summer crowds, minor pilfering has been reported at the big lakeside park. Foodstuffs were reported taken from campsites, and a few bathing suits are also missing.

Provincial Police and park attendants are on the lookout to prevent a recurrence of the epidemic of pilfering reported last season.

Two minor vehicular accidents were reported in the park area and two lost children were quickly found after being reported missing by parents.

Major Damage To Yacht Club Is Averted

PICTON — Major damage to Picton's Prince Edward Yacht Club was narrowly averted Sunday morning. The Picton Fire Department was called to the scene shortly before 9 a.m. by visiting boaters who were docked for the weekend near the clubhouse.

Firemen discovered on arrival that the fire had been started by smoldering cigarettes, which had been dumped on a verandah and left on a table the night before. A hole was burned through the table, through the hardwood dance floor, and through the subflooring. Flames became evident just as the Picton Fire Department arrived.

The clubhouse was closed at the time of the discovery of the fire and a dance had been held there the night before.

Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze to keep the damage minor. The Prince Edward Yacht Club was extensively renovated two years ago.

An automobile belonging to Larry Van Wart, 172 Main Street, caught fire in front of Pete's Bowling Alley at 7:00 p.m. Sunday. The blaze was quickly extinguished and damage was minor.

Sale of Wheat To Russia Worth $800,000

MOSCOW (CP)—Sale of $800,000 worth of Canadian wheat and flour to the Soviet Union was announced here today.

Delivery will take place over a three-year period.

The gigantic sale, largest single commercial wheat transaction in the history of international trade, was announced by Canadian Trade Minister Robert Winters.

Agreement was signed Sunday by chief commissioner William MacNamara of the Canadian wheat board and Leonid Matveev, president of the Soviet grain import agency.

Winters told a press conference: "The import of this record sale will extend throughout Canada. It will be felt not only by wheat farmers and millers but by grain handlers, longshoremen, elevator companies, railways, shipping companies and the economy generally."

The sale will boost the total Canadian wheat and flour sales to Russia in the last four years to $1,200,000,000.

Thinks Late Dates With Steady Are Cute

DEAR DORIS: I am terribly concerned about my son's daughter of 18, who has been going around with a man of 22. They have been having dates since she was 13 and he was 18. Her mother thinks it is cute when they date and play out lists. When her father says she is seeing too much of George the girl tells him it is none of his business.

She flares up at the slightest criticism. She was allowed to let her hair at 13 and wears a lot of make-up.

Once her father said to me that he thought her affair with George would have blown over before this. But he does nothing; just kids her about him. — CONCERNED.

DORIS CLARE

DEAR CONCERNED: The damage was done four years ago. It is tragic, rather than cute, when a girl 13 is encouraged to masquerade as a young lady. She may appear physically mature, but at that age she is far from emotionally or socially ready to handle dating; let alone going steady.

By doing nothing but hope that this relationship with a grown man would blow over, the two parents evaded an issue; and it appears to me this has been their way with their girl since babyhood. Else why the uncontrolled temper?

Boys and girls are not born knowing how to act; growing up is a process of training and loving discipline which develops inner controls. The parent who lets a child "just grow up, like Topsy," is committing a crime.

Your son and his wife need to understand this first and last and they need professional guidance now, if they are to do anything to really help their wayward girl.

* * *

Confidentially to UNFAIR TREATMENT: Maybe your friend is jealous; maybe he has learned to be afraid of women. If you find yourself at fault at all, is there a way you could re-open negotiations?

Many promising relationships have come to an end just because the two people involved are each too stubborn to make the first move.

Coats Show New Design

By LINDA CRAWFORD

MONTREAL (CP)—A changing silhouette appeared in a series of all-weather coats that opened Lydia Fashions' preview of fall and winter sports clothes Friday.

The coats—in corduroy, water-repellent velvet, cotton suede and fake furs—were shaped in at the waist and had short flared skirts.

The low back belt, popular with railwear designers, was moved up to, or just below, the waist.

Most coats were double-breasted with wide lapels. Loose coats were shown belted.

Colors included regal blues, emerald greens, burgundies to purples and browns.

MATCHED FABRICS

Hats were bobbies or helmet variations and high boots of matching fabric were worn with the coats.

Fake furs included black Russian broadtail, fox and mink.

Vinyl, still popular and not quite so stiff, was used for a number of serviceable rain coats.

A new nylon stretch fabric from France was used for shiny crinkle patterned coats that looked quilted.

These came in red and black designs and in a black, purple and pink pattern.

Show-stoppers came gold and silver tinyl. In gold was an intrigue-type coat with fur. Silver was a fox-trimmed jacket and pant set. Both came with matching boots.

Ski and after-ski clothes included plaid blanket ponchos with and without sleeves, an astronaut's suit of black vinyl, bell-bottom ski pants and a white ensemble with turquoise crocheted cuffs and collar.

BRAID USED

Colorful braid trims were used for many ski costumes and set off the series of mini skirts meant for the slopes.

Skirts were two to three inches above the knee and were meant for wear with leotards or textured stockings.

One mini-skirt set came in bright orange with black military fastenings. The welt seams of the skirt were also bound in black.

A red ski jacket came in a lightweight nylon basket weave. Another nylon jacket was in a paisley print and looked like plastic.

PICTURES STARE

If an artist represents the eyes of a portrait as gazing directly forward, they will appear to look directly at an observer standing at any point in front of the picture.

MR. AND MRS. J. E. ROBITAILLE

Robitaille – Ward

Rev. A. M. Lauder officiated at the recent wedding ceremony in Christ Church, Belleville, when Marlene Anne Ward, daughter of Mr and Mrs. J Ward, Foxboro and Mr. Ward united in marriage to Joseph Edward Robitaille of Kingston, son of Mr. Alric Robitaille of Midland and the late Mr. Gertrude Robitaille.

Mr. John Withers, organist of the church, rendered traditional wedding music.p

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full bridal gown enhanced with an overlay of French Alencon lace. The fitted bodice was highlighted with a scalloped neckline which followed through to a V in the back, and long fitted sleeves. The thrag-ler skirt of matching lace was accented at the back with a detachable train. A bouffant illusion veil flowed from a scalloped headdress of tiny pearls and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of full mums sprayed pale yellow, pink and pink.

Miss Judith Ward, cousin of the bride as maid of honor was dressed in a floor length gown of aqua chiffon over taffeta having short sleeves and small matching bows at front, and a long lace train flowed from the shoulders at back. Her headdress was a cluster of flowers dotted with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of full mums tinted aqua shade. The bridesmaids, Miss Sherry Brugman in pale yellow and Mrs. Lorraine Ward in pale pink were dressed identically to the maid of honor. The little flower girls Miss Mary Teresa Russel who wore a white floor-length gown of yellow chiffon over taffeta with long lace train extending from the shoulders. She wore a headpiece of one large white rose. She carried a basket of full 'mums sprayed the same as the bride's bouquet.

Mr. Charles Robitaille, brother of the bridegroom was groomsman, while Mr. Gerald Michaud and Mr. Donald Ward were the ushers. The ring-bearer was Master Kevin Scott.

A wedding reception was held at Club Canera, where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a turquoise sleeveless dress with matching jacket, while accessories and a corsage of pale pink Sweetheart roses. Assisting was the bridegroom's stepmother who wore a powder blue sleeveless dress, white and beige accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

For the wedding trip to the Laurent...ans, the bride chose a two-piece pale yellow linen suit with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and white feathered carnations.

Upon return from the honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Robitaille will reside at 85 Beverley Street, Kingston.

Every Unwed Mother Faces Hard Decision With Respect to Child

Every unwed mother faces a hard decision: whether to give up her baby or to keep it. In this story a reporter who has made an intensive study of the problems of the unmarried mother tells how she is helped to make up her mind on what course to follow.

By DINY DALBY
of the London Free Press

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A Children's Aid Society official says he has seen unwed mothers discard their babies "as if they were used kleenex."

However, they are the exception. Marital status makes no difference in the way a mother feels about her child. Most unwed mothers say the pregnancy was unwanted, not the child.

During the eight days a mother spends with her child in hospital, she may develop a genuine attachment to him. Knowing what he is like, touching him, feeding him might add to the anguish of making a decision about his future.

Yet experts know it is better for her to get to know her baby. To make a realistic decision, she must know what she is giving up.

Most of these girls are very young and until this time have known little of life. Now they must reach the level of maturity where they can make a wise decision for their future, as well as the baby's, is at stake.

DECISION NOT RUSHED

A spokesman of the Children's Aid Society of London says the majority of unwed mothers in this area are assured that suitable adoptive homes will be found for their babies. If a child is considered not readily adoptable, the mother is advised of this. "She is entitled to this information because it may influence her decision," he says.

The CAS gives temporary care to the infant while the mother is making up her mind. This may take from three to six months. If she needs more time, it is granted, within limits.

To allow the mother to weigh the advantages and disadvantages of either choice, she is counselled by a qualified social worker after the baby is born.

But in the end, the decision to keep or give up her child rests entirely with the mother. If she is not allowed to make it without outside influences, she could be guilt-ridden for the rest of her life.

If the mother decides to place her baby for adoption, she may sign a consent.

If facts in the case require it, the CAS may apply to juvenile court for Crown wardship of the child. Then the mother relinquishes all rights to her baby.

RIGHTS UPHELD

Each case before the court involving an unwed mother is handled privately and with dignity. the mother's rights are safeguarded at all times and she is given every opportunity to change her mind at the last minute. Reactions to court appearance differ.

One promiscuous teen-ager is suddenly struck by the tragic consequences of her way of life. She breaks down and can't bring herself to answer the questions put to her. Her case is adjourned.

Another, whose illegitimate child resulted from a second affair, answers with calm rejection. her pregnancy has had a sobering effect on her. She admits that her outlook on life has changed and that she has learned her lesson. She also knows her social life will be more difficult from now on.

But, she said, "I'll be careful. . . . I know fellows with cars around for what they can get."

When the baby is adopted, the mother, on request, is told as much as possible about the adoptive home, without revealing the identity, of the new parents.

The young woman who decides to keep her child stands virtually alone. "She has no guarantee of receiving the mother's allowance and usually she can't earn enough to support herself and the child," Mr. Bates says.

"I think we should accept, as we did in wartime, the necessity of mothers working," he says. "we should provide day nurseries so the unmarried mother can make use of these."

The alternative would be a hostel arrangement, says Mr. Bates, where mothers and babies live together.

The unwed mother makes a sacrifice, no matter which course she chooses. And she suffers.

GIRL GUIDE, BROWNIE NEWS

SOUTH EAST DISTRICT GUIDES

The 1ST POINT ANNE GIRL GUIDES and Rangers recently held their third annual mother and daughter banquet at the Point Ann United Church.

Proficiency badges were presented to Debbie Derushie, who received her keep fit, athletic and trucker badges; Bonnie Branigan, trucker; and Vicki Sedore her cook's badge.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. H. C. Brown of R.R.1 Belleville, who spoke and showed slides of her recent trip to Hawaii, Fiji, New Zealand and Australia.

Captain Russell of COMPANY 2 BELLEVILLE recently enrolled three new Guides: Ann Lybeck, Karen Hurst and Lynn Mc Cormick.

A picnic at Captain Russell's cottage at Stanrille was enjoyed by the Guides. Included in their day's activities was a hike for the rangers and display and class badge and trail laying.

Proficiency badges were awarded to Pamela Thornton, cook, retrowoners, little house emblem, needle craft, home makers, and keep fit. Cathy McDonald received her little house emblem, Somersaults, keep fit and athlete. Both of these girls expect to be awarded their first class badge before the end of June.

Captain Mrs. G. S. Smith's COMPANY 3 GUIDES also held a recent enrolment at which time Valerie Brickell, Nancy Burkitt, Marilyn Cooper, Vickie Donovan, Annette Gunoulus, Violet Hodic, Cathie McCormick, Shirley Quast, Debbie Sullivan, Mona Woodend and Edith Woodend were enrolled.

Company 3 Guides are very proud this year to have earned their player's certificate as a company. A full two-hour program was presented by the girls.

Mrs. R. Howard of the Theatre Guild was the tester.

These Guides have not neglected their Guide work, for second class badges have been earned by Sherry Graham, Janice Ackerman, Beverly Parcells and Sharon Pinkham.

Proficiency badges earned were: Karen Bateman, laundress, child care and cook; Inez...less, Sherry Graham and Beverly Parcells; cook, Carole Lennox and child care by Barbara Boyd, Sherry Graham, Carole Lennox, Beverly Parcells and Sharon Pinkham. Mrs. A. W. Hume gave the six weeks child care course to the company, and the girls from other companies in the district.

TUNA RICE CASSEROLE

The triple-duty recipe I have for you today will be welcomed by three divisions of our audience: the casserole cooks, the freezer owners and the last-minute hostesses.

It has another virtue. It calls for tuna and will be a dinner for those who serve a meatless meal on Fridays. Still another advantage is that most kitchen cupboards can produce the staple ingredients it calls for.

Having heralded its benefits I will get on with the details.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

by Mary Moore

Meat Loaf; Onion Gravy; Fluffy Potatoes; Buttered Whole New Carrots; Cabbage and Chive Slaw; Rhubarb Upside Down Cake; Tea.

TUNA RICE CASSEROLE OR PUFFS (serves 6):

2 cups cooked rice (see below), 1¼ cups flaked tuna, drained, 1/3 cup minced onion (or 1 or 2 teaspoons bottled onion), 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 2 eggs, well beaten, 1/3 cup 18% cream (or milk), 1 can cream of mushroom or celery soup, 2 tablespoons diced pimiento.

Cook rice. If you are using minute rice measure 1 1/3 cups boiling water with a shake of salt. When boiling add 1 1/3 cups minute rice, let come to boil, cover, remove from heat and stand 5 minutes. If using regular raw rice bring to boil 1¼ cups water with ½ teaspoon salt. Add 2/3 cup raw rice, cover, bring to boil, turn off heat for 5 minutes, turn heat on low as possible and cook 25 minutes longer until all water is absorbed and rice is flaky and tender.

In large bowl combine cooled rice with flaked tuna, onion, cheese and seasonings. In another bowl beat eggs and add cream (or milk). Pour over rice mixture and combine. Turn into buttered loaf pan or medium casserole. Or, better still, spoon into greased 12-cup muffin pan (which is what we did) or 12 greased custard cups. (If custard cups are used stand them on a cookie sheet.) Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 30 minutes.

Serve with undiluted mushroom or celery soup heated with chopped pimiento.

NOTES:

1) If baked in muffin or custard cups serve two "Puffs" to each person.

2) If served in loaf pan, carefully loosen edges and turn out on prebeated platter. Each slice should be topped with hot soup sauce.

3) If baked in casserole spoon from casserole and top with soupsieve.

4) Freezer owners can double this recipe, bake it in two freezerproof, ovenproof casseroles .use one for the current meal and cool and freezewrap and freeze the second one.

Claims She Can Judge Person by His Name

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend of mine has a theory that may sound nutty on the surface, but the more I think about it, the more I believe there is something to it. This friend says she can tell what a person is going to be like before she meets him just by hearing his name.

For example, she says all men named Burt are penny-pinching lightweights. I know of two fellows named Burt and she is right about them. On the other hand she claims that she has yet to meet a cheap Larry. She says, "All fellows named Larry are very generous with money and will fight for the check no matter who is around."

ANN LANDERS

Chaunceys are prissy and Bobs are virile. Elliotts are names' boys and any man named Frank can have his choice of women. This friend insists she has never met a guy named Albert who wasn't a jerk.

Joannes are sexy and Esthers are stupid and cow-like. Girls named Faith, Hope, Charity, Prudence or Honor, she insists, are over-righteous or downright phony. According to her, names like that give a girl two strikes in the credit.

The flower girls, as she calls them, (Rose, Lily, Violet and Daisy) talk a lot and are bores. Girls with boy's names like Jackie, Mickey, Johnnie and Jo are good company full of pep and well-liked.

Before you say my friend is out of her tree, go through the names and check them against people you know. I'll bet you will find she is right most of the time. How about it? — FORMER NON-BELIEVER CONVERTED.

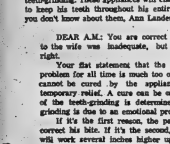
DEAR CONVERTED: I was rather enjoying your friend's theory — until I came to Esther. That just happens to be my name. Furthermore I didn't like what she said about Mr. Einstein, either.

* * *



DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your reply to Mrs. Countdown, the wife who was being driven crazy by her husband's grinding of teeth, was frivolous, unenlightened, facetious and when you get right down to it, of no earthly help whatsoever.

There are appliances on the market which can prevent teeth-grinding. These appliances will enable the woman's husband to keep his teeth throughout his entire life span. It's too bad you don't know about them, Ann Landers. — A.M.D.S.

DEAR A.M.: You are correct when you say my reply to the wife was inadequate, but yours, sir, is only half-right.

Your flat statement that the appliance will solve the problem for all time is much too optimistic. Teeth grinding cannot be cured by the appliance. It will provide only temporary relief. A cure can be effected only if the cause of the teeth-grinding is determined and corrected. Most grinding is due to an emotional problem.

If it's the first reason, the patient needs a dentist to correct his bite. If it's the second, he needs a doctor who will work several inches higher up in the head. And this reply comes straight from my dentist's mouth.

THE ALL FABRIC LOOK

Don't re-finish it, don't paint it, don't antique it. Give it the all fabric look.

The thing to do this year with a piece of tired-looking, small-to-medium-size furniture is to take glue or tacks to hand and cover it from its top to with a lovely length of fabric.

Do you still have that old kitchen chair that was too sturdy to throw out? Camouflage it in chintz or plaid left-over from a party material and give it a place of honor in the guest room that is just for young daughter doesn't claim it first.

A small chest of drawers for a boy's room, a box file for the study; these are the items that respond so beautifully to this latest treat to do-it-yourself decor.

... and here is he nicest part of all. The field is not restricted to those with talent and money — we can all participate.

* * *

Our own experience has taught us that, as a beginner, it is wise to experiment on something small, with simple lines, such as a waste paper basket. Secondly, if we were working on a chair for instance, we found it better to concentrate on one section at a time — say the seat —and improvise a paper pattern to fit. Then use the pattern to cut the fabric to the approximate size. Final trimming can be done later.

Apply rubber cement to the wood. It holds cut edges so they won't unravel. As always, follow directions on the tin.

Stretch, smooth and fit the fabric perfectly as you go. After glue is thoroughly dry, finish off the edges with a razor blade. If you don't have a holder for the blade, cover it straight across and two thirds of the way down with tape so as not to cut your fingers.

Tightly woven, firm, tough fabrics are suggested.

Wax should be removed from wooden surfaces (with alcohol or turpentine) and a light sanding will create enough of a roughened surface so that the material will adhere more readily.

If new cloth is being purchased, try to choose 45 inch to 54 inch wide yardage — it is more practical than the 36 inch width.

Corners can either be pleated or mitered.

Overlap material, if you wish, where necessary, except for the edges of drawers and doors. If material is not trimmed and here with a razor blade, they are apt to fit too tightly.

To protect bright colors, the finished products may be sprayed or brushed with varnish, plastic or shellac. Remember to work outside or in a well-ventilated room when using sprays.

Let yourself go. The most sophisticated decorators give us the green light about mixing designs and patterns in one room. That is, as long as we obey the rules. Symmetry and continuity of color must be maintained — Susanna

VOILE IS BACK — Summer is a-comin' in — and bringing voile with it. Voile has been out of the picture since the turn of the century but is making a comeback. For summer wear it is often combined with dacron. Simpsons-Sears offers a summer smock dress and a ruffled blouse in a flower print. Slacks are (CP Photo) pink cotton.

Two Fabrics Now Return To Invade Fashion Field

By MARGARET NESS

TORONTO (CP) — Two fabrics, one long out of fashion, are invading new fields as spring gives way to summer.

Voile, which hasn't been in style for so long that it's almost like a new fabric, has entered the sportswear field. Old-fashioned blue denim, a favorite for some years in sportswear, now takes its place as an unexpected fabric for late-day wear.

Voile, an airy sheer or semi-sheer fabric, has turned up even in pants for sportswear, blood of course. At the beginning of the 20th century, voile was a popular bridal fabric. After that it had little popularity until a few months ago.

This spring it appeared again in bridal gowns, especially Galey and Lord's Swiss voiles. It has also shown in flowered dresses, blouses, lingerie, even in beachwear as a charming cover-up over a swimsuit and on little girls' party frocks. It is charming in an old-fashioned shirtwaist, newly back in fashion favor.

Voile belongs to the cotton family but is also popular this season combined with some of the no-iron man-made fabrics like dacron. It is extremely popular with the young crowd who like Simpsons-Sears addition of ruffles around the bottom of a printed voile top and around the long sleeves.

RUFFLE TRIM POPULAR

There is a sort of companion dress, in the same gay flowered print, actually a smock shift, sleeveless but with a high Peter Pan collar. And for sportswear, one of the young American designers has created a crazy combination of sheer voile with a western influence in a purple voile floral print shirt with purple voile dot hip pants.

Sturdy denim also belongs to the cotton family. For a long time it was regarded entirely as a workman's fabric, and always in a faded blue color.

That utilitarian viewpoint has disappeared, except for fun costumes such as this season's interest in railroading with a railroad man's striped denim jacket, to wear with a bra and hip hanger pants or the "Casey Joan," a coverall with open sides in hickory denim with brass buttons, complete with an engineer's hat.

And while light blue denim is still the favorite color, denim does burst exuberantly into white, pink, turquoise, yellow and even occasionally into multi-colored stripes.

Tough work-a-day denim also has made its way into the late-day market, even teaming with ruffles of Val lace. At the New York fashion showing, Castle and Beckey showed a denim backless evening gown, with rhinestone buckles, and a navy denim with red ruffles over the shoulders and down the back of the skirt.

Naturally most of the denim does appear in sportswear. Cole of California even teamed a pink denim blazer and slim pants with a blue voile shirt. Then there are combinations like the navy denim wrapskirt trimmed with white leather and worn with a red calico shirt.

Also included in the denim range are a western skirt with frontier pockets front and back, knee-knockers and a kangaroo-pocket top with fringed cap sleeves. For surf-board addicts and for beach wear, denim dress up in white as ballet and short pants, the latter ruffled and lined in a colorful print.

Of course there will always be blue jeans in denim. The 1958 edition is a spruced-up version of the classic, with pockets and leather tabs. Incidentally, you will be hearing the word "scrubbed" as applied to denim. It merely means that it's brushed for a softer and almost worn look. But it's the new effect and likely to be popular with the younger set.

Y's Menettes Entertain at Potluck Meal

Mr. and Mrs. R. Clarke once again entertained the Belleville Y's Menettes and Y's Men at their family summer home on Lake Ontario.

Mr. L. Bachus extended thanks to the Y's Menettes for a most attractive potluck supper.

Mr. Dell Kendy expressed appreciation to hosts Norma and Robbie Clarke.

Mr. Peter Hoffman, presented a going-away-gift to Mr. and Mrs. J. Graham Geldart, who are moving to Sault Ste. Marie this summer.

Mr. Glen Salter, president of the Y's Mens Club presented Jim Barton with the Clubs past president's pin and a service gift.

Club members enjoyed a game of court whist.

Dry-Cleaning Fluids Said Poisonous

OTTAWA (CP) — Dry-cleaning fluids are poisonous, and because of the popularity of coin-operated dry cleaning establishments, the public should be aware of the necessary safety measures, says the occupational health division of the department of national health and welfare.

Breathing the fumes may cause dizziness, headache and nausea. For this reason, clothes should not be removed from the dryer until they are completely dry.

Heavily - padded materials such as sleeping bags or garments containing plastic foam should not be cleaned in these machines. They will hold a considerable amount of the solvent which will not all be removed in a normal drying cycle.

Dryers should not be overloaded for the same reason.

Fumes given off by freshly-cleaned clothes are especially concentrated in a car with all the windows closed, or in a closed closet.

If you are going to drive 20 miles or more with these clothes in the car, experts recommend closing up the car with the clothes inside for a few minutes. If you can smell the solvent when you open the door again, the fumes are strong enough to be a positive health hazard.

Tempestuous Past Recalled

Split Between Rome and Canterbury Dates Far Back Past King Henry VIII

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP RELIGION WRITER

A tempestuous past forms the backdrop to the modern court-ship between Rome and Canterbury.

Born brothers, they became foes, in strife and bloodshed over temporal dominion.

The rivalry that drove them apart goes far back into antiquity, long before King Henry VIII's marital troubles in the 16th century, which are popularly cited as the cause of the breach.

It is a tangled story, almost as ancient as England.

When Pope Paul VI, head of the Roman Catholic Church with its 500,000,000 members, and Archbishop Michael Ramsey, primate of world Anglicanism with its 45,000,000 members, recently embraced and pledged their fraternity, they were assuaging tensions nearly as old as Christianity itself.

Basically, it pitted emergent British nationalism against the bygone imperial links of Rome. Both church and crowns mingled in the struggle.

SPARKED WARS

It sparked wars, and continental conquest of the island domain.

It brought English sovereigns to their knees, in penance.

At one time, it reduced all England to a feudal domain of Pope Innocent III in 1213, leading to the edicts which produced the Magna Carta.

It alternately arrayed native clergy against foreign bishops, nobility against kings, kings against bishops, bishops against popes, popes against kings, and people against one another.

Henry VIII, and his divorce (technically, an annulment on grounds Catherine of Aragon previously was married to his deceased brother) was but one skirmish in a chain of British clashes with papal jurisdiction.

The king himself had been a stern enforcer of Catholic orthodoxy—so much so that the Pope had dubbed him "defender of the faith for his repudiation of Martin Luther's rising protestant movement in Germany.

Even after his break with the papacy, his marriage to Anne Boleyn and other achievements, Parliament in 1536 made him head of the English church, Henry continued to execute Protestant heretics as well as Catholic opponents.

MANY RESTORED TIES

It was not until after two succeeding reigns, including that of Queen Mary who in the 1670's finally restored the ties to the papacy, that the lasting cleavage occurred under her successor, Queen Elizabeth.

The continuing co-existence both of Catholic and Protestant elements in the global English church, which beholds Episcopalians in the United States, is a legacy of these contending forces in that period.

Many of the early dramas centred around the chief English see of Canterbury, which became a place of pilgrimage so that 'canter' entered the language to describe the gait by which people rode there.

Among the graphic scenes in the long panorama of conflict:

—With the backing of Pope Alexander II, William, the Norman conqueror, invades England in 1066; kills King Harold at the Battle of Hastings, confiscates estates for French barons and replaces English bishops with foreigners.

—Facing public outrage and papal censure, King Henry II, whose knights had murdered Archbishop Thomas A. Becket in 1170 for resisting increased state legal power in respect to clergymen, walks barefoot to Becket's tomb at Canterbury to submit to ecclesiastical penance.

FORCE JOHN TO SIGN

—Incensed English barons gather an army, and with support of clergy and Londoners dressed in warlike array, confront King John at Runnymede in 1215, and compel him to concede the parliamentary and legal rights of the Magna Carta, despite its denunciation by the pope.

—The English priest, John Wycliffe, an adviser to King Edward III, in 1374 supports parliament in reducing property and tribute claims of Pope Urban V, and asserts supremacy of scripture over ministerial authority in church. Under papal condemnation, he also sponsors a translation of the bible into English.

—England's Cardinal John Fisher and Sir Thomas More, former chancellor and friend of King Henry VIII, are beheaded on his orders in 1535 for refusing to subscribe to his asserted supremacy over the British church.

—With the revival of papal jurisdiction in the reign of Queen Mary, she replaced about 2,000 churchmen with supporters of her policies, and sends approximately 300 Protestants to the stake.

—The former Archbishop of Canterbury, Thomas Cranmer, who compiled the English Book of Common Prayer, is burned to death in 1556 in Queen Mary's reign, as are bishops Hugh Latimer, John Hooper and Nicholas Ridley.

—In the long reign of Queen Elizabeth, 1558 to 1603, Protestant influence revives, with the Queen steering a middle course in church matters between it and Catholic traditions, but with the execution of many Catholics loyal to the Pope, both priests and laymen.

—After the repressive Elizabethan penal laws made attendance at Roman Catholic mass an act of treason and barred papal supporters from civil office, Pope Pius V in 1570 declares the Queen deposed, and frees all Roman Catholics from allegiance to her.

CROMWELL SEIZED LANDS

—The Commonwealth dictatorship of Oliver Cromwell, victorious in the civil war against Charles I, takes over in 1649, favoring the Protestant forces, seizing vast tracts of Roman Catholic lands in Ireland, and sending King Charles I and the Archbishop of Canterbury, William Laud, to the block.

—Charles II, regaining the throne in 1660, restores the English episcopacy and the Book of Common Prayer, and imposes harshly discriminatory legislation against dissenters. All office holders are required to receive sacraments of the English church.

—Fears of a restoration of Roman Catholicism result in the revolutionary ouster of James II, last of the Stuart line, and his expulsion from the country. William III of Orange and Mary II assume the throne. Repressive laws against Protestant dissenters are eased, but are tightened against Roman Catholics.

—Under King George III, in 1791, the first steps were taken toward official toleration in England, with the repeal of many disabilities against Roman Catholics, including laws that had barred them from universities, courts, the armed forces.

—Fuller repeal came in 1829, under George IV—the Roman Catholic Emancipation Act, under leadership of Robert Peel and the fiery Irish orator Daniel O'Connell, "the liberator." Elected to Parliament, O'Connell as a Catholic was legally unable to take office, until the act was passed.

A few remaining restrictions against Roman Catholics were removed in 1926.

ATMOSPHERE CHANGES

Thus, the political entanglements of church and state, which had caused the problem in the first place, were largely dispelled by this century, making way for the churches—of various stamp—to live, and let live.

When Pope Gregory the Great in 597 sent Augustine to the British Isles, Augustine at first turned back in discouragement from that dangerous territory. The Pope sent him on again.

King Ethelbert granted him land for a monastery at Canterbury, ever after to be the seat of the English primate. But his claims to supremacy over all British Christians, by virtue of his Roman commission, were rejected in a hot-tempered conference with native Welsh clergy.

That marked the beginnings of overt conflict between the English church and Roman church.

Boy, 16, Proves Sensation In Debut as Bullfighter

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A lad so young he shaves or vote but old enough to face death is Mexico City's latest celebrity.

The boy is Eloy Cevazos, 16, fifth child of a low-income family in the northern industrial city of Monterrey. He is a bullfighter of some promise.

Eloy, dubbed The Kid From Monterrey and The Boy Bullfighter by newspapers, made his debut in Mexico City's huge Plaza De Toros last ring as a novillero — apprentice matador —last Sunday.

Now he's flat on his back in the city's Bullfighters Hospital, recuperating from a goring he suffered from his second bull of the day.

His debut was a sensation and bullfight critics here are enraptured with the diminutive toreador.

SHOWERED WITH FLOWERS

Eloy out two cars from his first bull—something a full matador is quite pleased to do—and made two tours around the ring as the aficionados in the stands showered him with sombreros, coats, veils and flowers.

Eloy was headed for another success with his second bull until he was gored in the right thigh making the kill. The bull died as the youngster was being carried to the ring's infirmary.

The youngster was almost born with a cape in his hand. His father was a guard in the Monterrey bull ring for 11 years and Eloy spent much time at the Plaza.

Eloy's doctor said it will be about two weeks before the boy can leave the hospital and another two or three weeks after that before he can fight again.

BEAVER DISPLEASES

The flesh of a beaver, though edible, is rather unpalatable.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

The youngest hockey-wise moppet in the world will tell you that the junior "A" ranks constitute the feed-box of the National Hockey League. And if you wait until he finishes his ice cream cone he'll add that expansion or junior "A" will follow as does the dawn after dark, the branching out of the big boys loop.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has told the NHL it is terminating their agreement, with a year to run, because the pro body broke the contract by creating a draft of amateur players and paying the money to the clubs instead of the CAHA.

A group of Western Canada junior operators, headed by Frank Boucher, manufacturer of the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League has taken the junior expansion ball by the horns and submitted a plan to the NHL, which could bring peace to all concerned. Or could it?

Boucher met the NHL governors last Wednesday but the story was not "broken" until Saturday. The new setup is said to have included a junior "A" and junior "B" league in each of the British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Thunder Bay areas. They asked the NHL to sponsor this body of 53 clubs by furnishing a money pool which would assure each club an adequate sum from year to year.

A universal or common draft has been recommended which would do away with the negotiation fist.

Edmonton Oil Kings president Bill Hunter said "we received favorable response from the governors. We're business people and we want to run junior hockey in the same sound business basis, the way the Ontario Junior Council OHA does. We want financial help from the NHL in return for which we will run a solid operation which will develop players for them.

"We don't want to alienate ourselves from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association," Hunter said. "Their interest is in adolescent hockey. Ours to run the clubs. The CAHA has no business attempting to run clubs."

Another expert says the big problem facing the NHL and the CAHA is the latter's demand for a universal draft which, would destroy the sponsorship system on a club basis. If this problem is not resolved, the NHL may break away from the CAHA and institute its own amateur substructure, a move that would divorce the pros from the amateurs on a wide scale and heap criticism on the NHL.

The Boucher plan calls for the NHL to draft players "as they become overage juniors at 20 years and some months. They would also have the right to draft any boy who, at the age of 18 or 19 seemed capable of playing in the NHL.

If the boy couldn't make it in the NHL, he would return to the junior club from which he was drafted. He would then continue in junior hockey until he reached the age limit of 20 years plus. He would not be available to a professional senior hockey league as long as he was eligible for junior hockey.

The expansion bug apparently has not bitten the OHA junior council. Bill Hanley, secretary-manager was quoted as saying when asked about the matter - "the possibility of another junior "A" league would be considered if applications were made. We haven't heard a thing about this. Naturally it would be considered but that would mean the teams would have to make application — and that hasn't been done."

Percival Case

Urge Immediate Action

SASKATOON (CP) —Wallace Stinson of Saskatoon, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, says he has written to all branch executives regarding charges made against Lloyd Percival of Toronto.

Stinson said in an interview Saturday he has urged them to vote on a recommendation that athlete - doping charges against Percival be heard before a judge or magistrate "as soon as possible."

Percival, coach of the Don Mills Track Club in Toronto, has been accused of giving drugs to his athletes.

An executive meeting is now scheduled until next month and "I would use the matter of extreme urgency," Stinson said. He added:

"I am expecting a letter from the AAU executive to back up a telephone call I got earlier. I am taking this other action (communicating with the branches) in the interim. This situation certainly has to be cleared up before the Commonwealth Games trials start.

"My main concern is for the athletes. Doping, as such, is not spelled out in the international rule book. But it says athletes are forbidden to use anything for the purpose of improving a performance or dulling a sense of fatigue.

"A supplier of such a substance would be barred from international competition for life."

Win Pro-am Tournament

BOWMANVILLE, Ont. (CP) Bobby Breen, professional at Pine Valley Golf Club in Toronto, teamed with Mazie Yourth, a local amateur, to win the first annual Pro-Am golf tournament at Bowmanville Golf Club Sunday.

Breen's team won professional honors with an even par 72 while Yourth won low amateur net with a 78.

George Hilbrecht, professional at Peterborough Golf Club, carded a 75. Joe Bien from Forest Hills, Toronto, and Wilson Patterson from Thunderbird Golf Club, Whitby, shot 76s.

Stargell Bludgeon Moving Pirates Up

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Stargell's leadoff homer in the 11th inning gave Pittsburgh Pirates a 2-1 victory over Atlanta Braves Sunday and gave him the National League batting lead over three teammates with a .328 average.

Stargell is in a tight battle with three other Pirates—Matty Alou at .325, Manny Mota at .324 and Roberto Clemente at .322—but is the last two years, tied with Houston's Joe Morgan at .321.

Stargell's homer, his 12th, lifted the Pirates to within 1½ games of league - leader San Francisco Giants who were beaten 2-1 by Los Angeles Dodgers.

Elsewhere, St. Louis Cardinals swept Philadelphia Phillies 1-0 and 5-1, Cincinnati Reds took two from New York Mets 5-0 and 4-2 and Chicago Cubs crushed Houston Astros 9-3 and 8-2.

Saturday, Cincinnati edged New York 3-4, the Astros walloped the Cubs 13-3, Pittsburgh downed the Braves 9-6, the Cardinals defeated the Phillies 2-1 and Los Angeles edged the Giants 3-2.

Bob Veale got the victory for the Pirates, his seventh against five losses, with a five-hitter. He had a shutout until the eighth when Hank Aaron led the game 1-1 with his 23rd homer.

The Dodgers won it in the eighth when pitcher Don Drysdale started the decisive rally with a pinch-hit single. Maury Wills' sacrifice and a single by Willie Davis brought the winning run home.

The Pirates hit a homer in each game for the Cardinals; his first in the sixth inning of the opener giving Ray Washburn the run he needed in his duel with Jim Bunning. Washburn checked Philadelphia on two hits.

Bob Gibson, now 10-6, limited the Phillies to three hits in the nightcap. The Cardinals put it out of reach with a three-run fourth inning built on Curt Flood's single, a double by Francoul and Jim McCarver's homer.

Mit Pappas scattered seven hits for the Reds' opening-game victory in bringing his record to 9-5. Tony Perez drove in three runs with a triple and single to secure the win.

Sammy Ellis gained his third victory against 11 defeats in the nightcap, and his first since May 16.

The Cubs showed their power against the Astros with Ellsworth Williams driving in four runs in the first game with a double and homer and adding another homer in the nightcap.

The Cubs broke the nightcap open with a six-run fifth built on two run doubles by Lee Thomas and Byron Browne and a two-run homer by Randy Hundley.

One-Man Show

Campaneris Halts Angels 7-Win Streak

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bert Campaneris was a one-man show against California Angels during the weekend.

Campaneris scored the only run in the opener, then came back and scored the tying and winning runs in the nightcap Sunday as Kansas City Athletics swept the Angels 1-0 and 3-2 and stopped their seven-game winning streak.

In the ninth inning of the scoreless opener, the Cubas shortstop beat out an infield single, was sacrificed to second and dashed home on Danny Cater's single.

The Athletics trailed 2-1 in the second game until Campaneris reached first on Frank Malzone's error in the eighth and raced home on Mike Hershberger's double.

Then, with two out in the 10th, Campaneris lashed a double to left field and went all the way around when Willie Smith threw wildly trying to get him at second.

Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore Orioles defeated Boston Red Sox 5-3 before bowling 8-2, Washington Senators nipped Cleveland Indians 2-0, Detroit Tigers edged New York Yankees 3-1, Minnesota Twins trimmed Chicago White Sox 8-4.

In Saturday's action, Minnesota edged Chicago 9-8, Cleveland defeated Washington 7-2, Detroit shaded New York 4-3, Baltimore swamped Boston 10-4, and California downed Kansas City 7-3.

Campaneris' first-game run gave Lew Krausse a six-hit victory over Clyde Wright, who scattered seven hits. The Athletics built a 2-1 lead in the nightcap behind Joe Adcock, who singled home a run in the first inning, then doubled and scored in the fourth.

Two errors by Boston third baseman Joe Foy gave Baltimore three unearned runs in opener, two in the second on Dave Johnson's sacrifice fly and Dave McNally's double and one in the third on Boog Powell's single.

SOX CAME BACK

The Red Sox came back in the second contest behind George Scott, who rapped three hits, including his 19th homer in the fourth that put Boston ahead to stay. Brooks Robinson hit a two-run homer for the Orioles.

Washington's Mike McCormick stopped Cleveland on four hits as Washington won on home runs by Fred Valentine and Ken Hamlin. The Indians scored in the fourth on Chico Salmon's triple and Rocky Colavito's sacrifice fly.

Dick McAuliffe brought Detroit a victory with homers in the third and the eighth of Jim Bouton. Dave Wickersham pitched a five-hitter, allowing the Yankees a run in the fourth on Mickey Mantle's triple and a single by Roger Maris.

Harmon Killebrew hit two homers and Don Mincher one as Minnesota defeated Chicago. Killebrew's second homer tied the game 3-3 in the seventh and Mincher's blast in the seventh set the inning pat the Twins ahead. Ken Berry homered for the White Sox.

HORNUNG SIGNS

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)— Paul Hornung, the Golden Boy of the National Football League, signed Saturday for a ninth season with Green Bay Packers.

Canadian Record For Nancy

CLEVELAND (CP) — Nancy McCredie of Brampton, Ont., set a Canadian native record for women's shotput Sunday with a toss of 52 feet, 6¼ inches to win the event at the Eastern United States women's track and field championships.

Miss McCredie set the former Canadian record at the Tokyo Olympics with a throw of 52 feet, 1½ inch.

Jenny Wagerson of Toronto placed second in the shotput with 48 feet, four inches. She also won the long jump with a distance of 18 feet, 7¼ inches and placed second in the 80-metre hurdles behind Mamie Robins of Chicago. Both were timed in 11.1 seconds.

Cats Defeat Juniors 4-1

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Bobcats' Bob Loti stopped Ellis Juniors on four hits at Alemite Park Saturday night, leading them to a 4-1 Belleville and District Softball League win before another big crowd.

The victory gave Legion's Tabbies a three-way share of first place, with Bloomfield and Trudeau Motors. Each have eight points but Trudeau and Bloomfield have a game in hand.

Saturday's winners took advantage of a shaky Ellis infield to grab a 2-0 lead in the second. McKibbon popped a single to start it. Rookie Mike Healey and Don Gardiner, at first and second, had trouble on infield plays, making two errors and allowing Zakos and Merew to beat out infield hits, each driving in a run.

The Cats made it 3-0 in the fourth. Lott drove home his own insurance run with a double after a hit batter and a wild pitch.

The Juniors made the scoreboard with their loner in the fifth. Walmsley walked a double, stole third and raced in on a throwing error on the same play. They threatened again in the ninth when Moon doubled and Lott gave up a two-out walk. Chair Leahy was brought in to replace Lott and got Wellsley on a liner to short to wrap it up.

Zakos' two-bagger and twin bobbles plated the Bobcats' fourth run in the seventh.

Lott struck out ten and issued only the one, walk in his four-hitter.

Bob Ethier once again pitched well but lacked support. He gave up seven hits in defeat, striking out 10 batters. He also walked but one.

Paul Zakos had a big night with the stick for Bobcats, cracking two doubles and a single. Bob Lott also doubled with base hits for Hugh Brennan, John McKibbon and Paul Merew.

Bob Moon's double and single sparked Ellis'. Terry Wellsley also doubled and Carl Boomhower got a base knock.

The Juniors announced they were playing the game under protest, in the bottom of the eighth, after Ellis' Wayne Woods was thrown out of the game by first base umpire Bruce Nickle. Woods had just been called out on a play down the baseline. Junior coach Harold Reid came over from third base and was also given the chemb in the early argument.

'Moe' Beats Homenuik

CALGARY (CP) — Moe Norman of Toronto won the $30,000 Wilmot Park pro-amateur golf tournament sunday, finishing with a 54-hole score of 206, four under par.

Norman fired an even par 71 Sunday after opening Friday with a 71 and shooting a four-under par 67 in the second round Saturday.

Wilf Hamecourt of Winnipeg, current Canadian Professional Golfers' Association champion, was second, three strokes back with 72-73-67—202.

EIGHT ROWERS

BOSTON (AP)—Two British paratroopers trying to row to England were sighted Sunday about 170 miles southeast of Cape Cod.

Three Drivers Killed In Cup Regatta

Unlimited Hydroplanes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three drivers were killed in two separate accidents at speeds estimated at more than 150 miles an hour in the President's Cup Regatta for unlimited hydroplanes Sunday.

Dead are Rex Manchester, 39, of Seattle, Wash., runner-up for national honors in 1956; three-time national champion Ken Muscon, 36, also of Seattle; and Don Wilson, 37, Palm Beach Fla., substitute driver.

Manchester, driving a Notre Dame, and Wilson, piloting Miss Budweiser, were killed in the championship heat in the approach to the second turn.

Muscon had just finished the first lap of an elimination heat when his radically designed Miss Bardahl exploded in front of the judges' stand.

Manchester, who had become tired of running second, third and last week he was going to be a winner this season and expected his good fortune to begin with the President's Cup. His prediction came true.

MANCHESTER WINS

Officials ended the race immediately after the Manchester-Wilson collision and later declared Manchester the winner, based on points earned through the best preceding the double fatality.

The results of the race with order of finish and points:

1. Notre Dame 3000; 2. Miss Budweiser 700; 3. Tahoe Miss, driven by Miss Slovak of Reno, Nev., 600; 4. Gale's Roostertail, piloted by Bill Cantrell, Detroit, 525; 5. Miss Chrysler Crew, Bill Sterett, Owensboro, Ky., 495; 6. Miss Rapco, Warner Gardner, Detroit, 450.

"I never won a race last season," Manchester said in an interview last week while testing his craft. "It was a case of almost doing it every time.

"We'll stop that business this year, maybe in Washington."

The men were driving boats that averaged 30 feet in length, weighed 6,000 pounds, and all were powered by aircraft engines from the Second World War except Miss Chrysler Crew, which had an auto engine.

They were built to soar over the surface of the water, much like skipping stones.

Musson, last year's national champion, was driving a new boat. He sat in front of the engine, 10 feet from the bow of the boat, instead of behind the power plant.

He was competing in the afternoon's second elimination and was in hot pursuit of the boat driven by Wilson, subbing for regular Miss Budweiser driver Bob Brow who was injured in Tampa.

As Musson completed the first lap, the craft took off from the water, bounced, then soared skywards once again. It came down on its nose and exploded.

At the time of the accident, near - perfect water conditions prevailed.

Manchester, who had never won an unlimited hydroplane race although he had been successful in the limiteds, and Wilson were the favored drivers at the start of the final heat.

Wilson, in Miss Budweiser, came out in the first turn in the lead. Manchester raced along side Miss Budweiser and, just before the boats were to slow for the second turn, Notre Dame skewed upwards, skidded along the starboard side, then collided with Wilson's boat, which was on the inside. Both boats exploded.

The three deaths were the first in the unlimited hydroplane racing since 1952 when Bob Hayward of Embro, Ont., was killed while driving Miss Supertest.

First Three Places
Fords Win Le Mans Marathon

LE MANS, France (AP)—Ford is the first American auto maker ever to win at Le Mans—much less take the top three places in the 24-hour marathon race.

Arch-rival Ferrari took humiliating eighth and 10th places.

Henry Ford II glowed with pleasure Sunday as he handed victory bouquets for Ford drivers Bruce MacLaren and co-driver Chris Amon, declared winners in a computer-figured finish.

These two New Zealanders and their team - mates in 12 other starting Fords ground the Ferraris out of contention within 10 hours, leaving only two low finishers, a far cry from the six straight victories Ferrari had captured almost automatically since 1960.

Ford's troubles ran the gamut from a rear hood that blew off to an engine that flew to pieces. A few of the American cars began pestering out.

TROUBLE HITS P2s

Then the Ferrari camp ran into difficulties. One of the P-2s the small two-liter Dino Ferraris dropped off fast, leaving the small - capacity category open to the Porsches.

Ford came on strong as daylight broke. Ken Miles of Hollywood, Calif., was first across the finish line.

Another Shaken Up
Driver Hurt In Track Spill

One driver was seriously injured and another shaken up in a two - auto spill at the Quinte Driving and Riding Club harness meet Saturday night.

Don Gallinger of Kingston is in Kingston General Hospital suffering from head and body injuries. Hugh Kemp of Napanee was taken to hospital and later released.

The accident occurred in the fourth heat when April Linda, driven by Hugh Kemp, owner of both horses, tripped and fell. Tripp driven by Gallinger, piled into the sulky.

Luckily the horses were bringing up the tail of the field when the mishap occurred.

Gallinger, hurled across the track was unconscious for several hours after the accident. The extent of his injuries was said to be improved although under intensive care.

The horses were scratched from the race but it is reported two injuries were not known.

The meet attracted the pacers who sent $10,804 through the pari-mutuels.

Prices were the best of the young season, Bellefox paying $20.10; $10.40 and $12.00 in the first heat.

Todd Byrd paid $26.30 and $16.40 to win the third heat but finished fifth in the seventh behind Minor "B" ($2.70).

Magic Charm won the fifth ($16.00) but finished second behind Direct Dillard ($16.10) in the sixth. This was the fastest heat of the night 2.12 3-5.

Dilly Direct and Scotsch Laird split the honors in the second and sixth dashes, paying $9.80 and $5.10.

Jackie finished first under the wire in the fourth heat paying $17.80 but was content with third in the eighth.

The daily double paid $41.40 and the quinellas $6.80 and $41.40.

It was reported the Driving Club has been granted extra meet nights. Originally it was limited to five.

Tied With Casper

Palmer Blows Seven-Stroke Lead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"I'll be eating buffalo meat before long," Arnold Palmer said.

He had just blown a seven-stroke lead in the final round of the United States open golf championship and fallen into a tie at 278 with Billy Casper, the one-time fat boy who lost 36 pounds on an exotic diet of bear meat, buffalo steaks and blueberries.

They met in an 18-hole playoff, the fourth in the last five years for the Open title, starting at 7:30 p.m. EDT today.

Both Palmer and Casper pointed to the 17th hole as the key in the weird final round Sunday. Palmer, with seven holes to go, had a six-stroke margin "and I was playing for second," Casper said.

"Arnold thought he was going to shoot a 274 and I did, too. It looked like he had come and gone with the tournament."

Palmer, golf's all-time leading money winner, dropped a stroke with a one-over par at 13. On 15, Casper ran in a 20-foot birdie putt and Palmer was in a trap, wedged out and two-putted to go one over again.

HITS TREE, TRAP

That cut it back to three, and it went to one on 16 with another Casper birdie. Billy dropped in a 15-foot putt, while Palmer hit a tree, was in a trap and two-putted.

Casper parred the 17th and Palmer was in the left rough, then the right rough, and two-putted from seven feet to fit. They parred the 18th, Palmer two-putting from 35 feet and Casper from 20.

Palmer finished with a 71 and Casper with a 68 for the par 70, 6,917-yard Olympic Club's Lakeside layout.

Jack Nicklaus, the Masters champion, finished with a 74 for 283. Tony Lema and Dave Marr, the present PGA champion, tied at 286. Lema with a 71 and Marr with 73.

Phil Rodgers was sixth with a 74 for 287, while four-time champion Ben Hogan qualified for next year's Open with a final round 70 for 291. Defending champion Gary Player of South Africa finished far back with a 293 after a final-round 69.

The playoff will be nationally televised by ABC-TV, starting at 4 p.m. EDT.

If they are still tied after 18 holes, they return to the first tee for a sudden-death playoff. Palmer has been in 20 playoffs during his career, winning 12 of them. Casper has been in five, winning three.

Toronto's George Knudson, the only Canadian in the Open, finished with 75-76-77-300 and collected $697.50.

A STRONG MAN WEEPS — Arnold Palmer is virtually in tears as a putt for birdie stays out of the cup on the 14th green during Sunday's final round of the U.S. Open in San Francisco in which he and Billy Casper wound up in a tie for first at 278. Palmer lost a seven-stroke lead in the final nine holes. (AP Wirephoto)

Quinte Cup Won By City Team

A one man team from the Bay of Quinte Country Club won the Quinte Cup yesterday beating the host club Napanee by one point.

The Belleville team made a clean sweep of its afternoon matches to collect a total of 20 points for the day, Napanee had 29 points, Trenton 30 and Picton three.

Points are assessed by two points for a win and one for a tie in the match competition.

Yesterday's win was the local club's second in a row after a period of 18 years without a win. The Quinte Cup has been an annual event since 1933

Representing Belleville was John Woodcroft, team captain, Al McCallum, Dave Jones, Claire Eloy, Roger Ling, Dennis Kerrum. Abe Tobe, John Gee and Ivan Hilborn.

Pearce Jones, 77, of Picton played on the event yesterday. He had not missed a Quinte Cup match since 1925.

Next year, the matches will be held in Picton.

Track Meet At Trenton Tomorrow

TRENTON (Staff) — Events for boys and girls will be included as an Invitational Track and Field Meet to be held tomorrow night at Trenton High School. The Trenton Track Club is host for the meet. Starting time is 6 o'clock.

There are three classifications for boys and twelve girls. Boys under 18 the day of the meet will enter events in the Midget grouping; under 16 Juvenile and 15 and over, Open. Girls under 16 will be classed as Junior and those 16 and over will take part in Open events. Ribbons will be awarded for first, second and third place finishes.

Events for Midget and Juvenile boys include the 100, 220, 440, 880, mile, shot put, high jump, long jump and triple jump. All those events are listed for the boys' Open with the addition of a two-mile race.

In both girls' divisions, the events are 60-yard dash, 220, long jump and triple jump. Added to the girls' Open is the high jump. Peter Howe of Trenton High School is convener for the meet. He reports that athletes may enter an event in a higher age class if it is not scheduled in their own class, and he adds: "To enter an event, just show up when and where it is called."

'Eldon' Was Rendezous Prize Boat

The good ship "Eldon" proved the best bet for participating crewmen and ladies in the annual rendezous of the Bay of Quinte Power Squadron yesterday.

Navigating conditions were said to be near perfect and the "powerboats" were favored with ideal weather.

Don Hickson in the "Eldon" won the Wilfred Stevenson Memorial Trophy while the Ed Smith Trophy was won by Valerie Barrett in the "Windy."

Mrs. Grace Marshall skippered the "Eldon" to take home the Teddy Bear Trophy.

The Mead Johnson Trophy for the "predicted log" event went to Dr. John Clarke also aboard the "Eldon."

CITY WINS STATUETTE

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP)—An anonymous resident has given this small Ontario city a small statuette of Sir John A. Macdonald.

Famous Hockey Star
No Money For Meal, Jail

VANCOUVER (CP)—Through prison bars he doesn't look much like the man who handed Russia her greatest defeat of the cold war on the sport front.

Nor does he look like the National Hockey League's Rookie of the year in the 1941-42 season nor British Columbia's Athlete of the Year in 1950.

Through prison bars, Grant Warwick looks like a beaten little man—scarred, confused, pathetic.

Grant (Knobby) Warwick, who guided Canada's national hockey team to the world championship in 1954, downing defending champion Russia 34-2 in the final, was locked up last week because he couldn't pay $2.35 for a meal he had eaten at a restaurant.

"This is my first time in jail, even on a visit," Warwick said in an interview at Oakalla provincial prison.

"It will be my last."

HAS MANY PROBLEMS

Clad in prison blue, his once-proud head bowed in embarrassment, Knobby Warwick talked of family problems, of hockey, of liquor problems.

But his eyes became bright when he mentioned his son at university and his own days in hockey.

Warwick said he had been involved in an altercation in a New Westminster cafe and had also eaten without the money to pay for the meal.

"They sent me to jail on five days because I didn't have the cash," he said on the telephone that links prisoner to visitor as they look at each other through heavy glass in the prison.

"It's quite a comedown from the top of the world.

"That championship was too much for me, I guess. It took a lot out of me, the pressure and all. I've had five-sigthts of my stomach removed because of ulcers.

"Tie that with family problems and this is where I am."

BASEBALLER KILLED

VOORHEESVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy playing centrefield for an American Legion baseball team was killed Sunday when he and another player collided as they converged on a fly ball. Kenneth Johnston of the Albany suburb of Westmere was pronounced dead of head injuries. The second boy, Michael Brodie, 16, of Albany, suffered possible head injuries.

Long Auto Races Are Not Very Exciting to Watch

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Between its live broadcasts of the Le Mans auto race in France and the U.S. open golf tournament in San Francisco during the weekend, ABC certainly tried to live up to its boast of being "the sports network."

The 24-hour Le Mans grind did not seem worth all the effort and expense. ABC used a French TV transmission relayed to the United States by the Earth Bird satellite.

The climax, as two American cars apparently won first and second place, came in the middle of a thunderstorm with the drivers prudently slowing down. And there seemed to be general confusion among the reporters about the outcome of the race. Even racing car driver Phil Hill, ABC's guest expert, wondered out loud what was going on.

Generally speaking, long auto races, when all is going well, are about as exciting as watching a chess match played by mail.

On the other hand, the U.S. Open, which ABC covered Saturday and Sunday with 17 cameras including one in a hovering blimp, produced real drama even for non-golfers. In the final holes, Billy Casper went ahead and Arnold Palmer dropped behind to produce a tie for the lead. The playoff is today.

PATCH JOB?

NBC, also in an outdoors mood, premiered a summer series Sunday afternoons called Sportsman's Holiday." It looks like a half-hour patch job or some available nature film.

Most interesting was film of animals in their natural habitat on the slopes of Mount McKinley in Alaska.

The film of the grizzly bears, caribou and mountain goats was reminiscent of, but not as well organized as, Walt Disney's nature studies.

Friday evening's produced on CBS the first of a series of hour shows originally made by the comedy team of Abbott and Shuster for the CBC. It would have been kinder to have left them there.

The Canadian comics appeared in tuxedos as the unaccustomed hosts of a show abandoned their own jokes. They showed instead, snips from old Bing Crosby-Bob Hope Road pictures. Between excerpts, they made forced conversation, all blustering, about the famous team. They even tried to explain the jokes.

The import was pabel stuff even for a low - budget, hot-weather time-filler.

AT THE BELLE — Wednesday and Thursday of this week Belleville will be the scene of some unusual activity when a group of Canadian Forces Reservists will be taking part in a one-day mock battle. The exercise, called "Exercise Thrust" also was a constant disciplinary problem to co-star Ronald Russell, the Mother Superior, coming to the Belle Theatre, Belleville, on Wednesday, in gorgeous color.

Latta Rallies To Shade Shannonville

A four-run explosion in the top of the ninth inning carried Latta to an 8-7 South Hastings Baseball League victory over Shannonville, on the losers' diamond, Sunday afternoon.

Shannonville had scored three runs in the eighth to grab a 6-4 lead but was able to net only one in the bottom of the ninth.

In the Latta ninth, a single and two walks loaded the bases before two were out. An error on a fly ball scored two runs and Smith's two-run double shoved Latta ahead 8-6.

Bob Smith was the winning pitcher, taking over from Howard Meeks in the sixth. They gave up six hits, struck out nine and walked 10.

Chuck Rowbotham started, gave way to Bill Barbercheck in the third who in turn was replaced by loser Larry Lewis in the ninth. They allowed ten hits, fanned seven and passed five.

Bob Smith also paced the Latta attack with a double and two singles. Doug Rollins had a two-run homer, Doug Chisholm and Ross Parks had two hits each, Bill Hunter and Lynn Reynolds one each.

Bill Barbercheck slammed a Shannonville triple and single, Dave Lewis two singles, Larry Lewis a double and W. Sager a two bit.

Latta 002 000 026 8-10-2
Shannonville 000 021 031 7-6-3

Batteries: H. Meeks, B. Smith (6) and L. Reynolds; C. Rowbotham, B. Barbercheck (3), L. Lewis (9) and B. Hill.

T. and S. Softball

Halloway outslugged Centerton by 15-7 in a T. and S. Softball contest on the weekend.

Ron Denyes pitched the win, giving up 10 hits. Wes May and John Bateman hurled for the losers and were tagged with 15 hits.

Don Harris headed the Halloway attack with a grand-slam homer and single. Ron Denyes stroked a double and pair of singles and Gale Allen lined a triple and base hit.

Woman Wins $176,719 On 70-Cents Bet

LONDON (AP)—An unidentified woman hit the jackpot at the Ascot race meet Saturday, winning $176,719 on a 70-cent bet.

It was one of the biggest individual wins on the British tote —and nobody knew who the bettor was. Big-shocd the bet in a tote office at Ipswich.

The jackpot, which builds up on an accumulation of winning bets, was not won at all at Ascot Friday. That meant that $81,500 was brought forward to swell the total of Saturday's jackpot.

The woman was the only bettor to pick five winning horses. The woman hit the Quintet Top of The Pops at 11 to 2, The Knack at 25 to 1, Greek Streak at 100 to 8, Lomond 6 to 1 and Queen Dido at 6 to 4.

TV ENTERTAINMENT

MONDAY

- The Nature of Things returns to the CBC with a series about aspects of summer, in which experts take an informally scientific look at some of the pleasant and unpleasant things about warm weather and holiday life in Canada. The first program examines some of the common and mystical aspects of sun worship, from the rituals of the Egyptians and Mayans to modern bikini-clad sun-bathers — channels 11 and 13 at 7.30.
- Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster pay tribute to the great comedians and sex queen Mae West in yet another one of their "affectionate looks." Film clips of the long-time "svengalies" of Hollywood back Miss West, and she is expected to Cary Grant the memorable line "Come up and see me sometime" — from 9 till 10 o'clock, channels 11 and 12.

Six Tijuana Brass Albums Now Listed in Top Fifty

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There seems to be no limit to the phenomenon of Herb Alpert and his Tijuana Brass. Latest evidence: Of the top five albums on the selling charts, three are Alpert's. And six of his albums are listed in the top 50, an unprecedented feat.

His latest single record, Work Song, sold 500,000 copies in one week.

The Tijuana Brass recently drew $54,000 for a single performance in Baltimore.

Even the modest trumpeter-leader is amazed at his good fortune.

ESTIMATES TAKE

"Almost every hour of every day I have to stop and make sure that it's all happening," he says. "This year our take from the whole enterprise—the records, the music publishing company, the Baja Marimba band and our new Latin band, Brazil 66 — will be estimating conservatively, $30,000,000."

The 32-year-old Alpert strives constantly to improve the Brass's sound.

"That was my intention when I started the band: to continue to explore new kinds of music," he says. "For instance, our new record, Work Song, is actually a jazz tune; it was written by the brother of Canonball Adderly. Jazz is such a rich vein of music that I sometimes think it should be put into form that is appreciated by the entire public, not just the jazz fanatic."

The Tijuana Brass puts on its own concerts without other acts and Alpert is constantly experimenting, humor and special bits. The emphasis is on enjoyment, on both sides of the bandstand.

"I think that may be one reason for our success," he said. "Ours is happy music. It was welcomed by the public after the flood of protest songs."

Helene Gagnon Wins Over Miss Bourassa

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Helene Gagnon of Arvida, Que., defeated Jocelyn Bourassa of Montreal, 3-on, on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff Sunday to win the Eastern Provinces Ladies Golf Tournament.

Both golfers were tied after 18 holes with four-over par 80s and both went one over par on the 19th hole. Miss Gagnon parred the par-three 20th while Miss Bourassa took a four.

Playing at the Cataraqui Golf and Country Club, Miss Gagnon defeated Mildred Robinson of Kingston 3 and 1 in the match play semi-final while Miss Bourassa won 2 and 1 over Catherine Cartwright of Kingston.

Sharpe Defeats Fontana

HAMILTON (CP) — John Sharpe, former Australian living in Toronto, captured the men's singles title at the Canadian Horseshoe tennis tournament here Sunday by defeating Jop Fontana, top seeded in the tournament, 6-4, 6-3.

Mrs. Lorna Brown of Toronto retained her ladies singles title when she overcame 13 doubles finalist Dorothy Inge Weber of Kitchener 6-2, 6-1.

Sharpe and Fontana combined to win the men's doubles, 6-3, 6-1 over Fred Matthews and Barry Headland of Toronto.

Mrs. Marjorie Hayes-Gold, son Dave, a student at the University of Indiana, took the mixed doubles title by stopping Dick Robinson of Toronto and Miss Weber 3-6, 6-4, 6-4.

In ladies doubles, Inez Freiday of Hamilton and Miss Weber had little difficulty disposing of Joan Mulvaney and Mary Pearce of Hamilton 6-1, 6-2.

Chuvalo, Cassius At CNE?

Ungerman would like to match Chuvalo against former Canadian National Exhibition. Clay scored a unanimous 15-round decision over Chuvalo here in March.

"Clay was hooked to fight Karl Mildenberger in Germany, but I'm told this is falling through because of security problems," said Ungerman. "With a $200,000 guarantee, I could get Clay here in September."

Chuvalo is training in the Catskill Mountains for his June 23 fight against Eduardo Corsino of Argentina at Madison Square Garden in New York.

There's Another Robinson

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

There's a guy named Robinson in the International League. His name is Bill and during the weekend he proved just as proficient as Brooks and Frank of American League Baltimore Orioles as he led Richmond Braves to a three-game sweep of Toronto Maple Leafs.

While Frank was holding his American League lead in both batting and home runs and Brooks remained tops in the runs batted in department, Bill belted a homer, a run and batted in two more as Richmond downed the Leafs 12-4 Saturday. Then Robinson went more hits and drove in four runs as the Braves defeated Toronto 10-4 in the first game of a double header Sunday, and singled in the winning run in Richmond's 2-1 victory in the nightcap.

Elsewhere, Buffalo Bisons won the first game 7-6 Sunday before losing the second 5-3 to Jacksonville Suns. Toledo Mud Hens edged Rochester Red Wings 7-6, but lost the second 4-0, and Syracuse Chiefs swept both ends of a doubleheader 6-3 and 8-1 from Columbus Jobs.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

QUESTION: We are going to Baxter State Park in Maine. Could you please tell us if there are camping facilities or cottages, and what would be the best way to drive there?—Mrs. R., Belleville

ANSWER: There are camping areas at the park to the extent of lean-tos, fireplaces, drinking water. This park is quite a well-known area, and well known for its Mount Katahdin which is the highest point in Maine. There also are further accommodations at sporting camps on Dockery Kidney and Trout Ponds. The best way to get there is on Highway 401 to Valleyfield, then Hwy. 3 to Hwy. 2. That's about 10 to 23 and down 23 to 201 to 15 and on 15 to Rockwood, then to Greenville, then north to Derby Bay and on to Baxter Park.

QUESTION: We would like information on the Provincial and National Park in Florida. Could you give us some information about it, as we would like to go June 30.—Mr. and Mrs. L., Trenton

ANSWER: Everglades National Park, Flamingo, South West and Royal Palm Ranger Station, is at the end of State Road 27. There are 14 camp and trailer sites, toilets, firelaces, drinking water, shower booth available and electricity. There is camping all year, but in December to April, 14-day-limit, subject to change. No reservation is accepted. Primitive camping is permitted in back country; campfire permit is required from park headquarters or ranger station. There is substantial annual and plant life, boat trips, nature study, swimming and fishing.

QUESTION: We are going to the Cape Cod area this year and as we are on a budget, as we have three children, we would like to know if there are cheaper accommodations than regular motels and hotels? — Mrs. C., Belleville ANSWER: There are lower-priced accommodations in addition to Cape Cod. These are the small wooden cabins that are still in existence along the back ways. They don't have the elegance of the new, modern motels but are good for a night's rest to sleep or rest his weary bones. The price of these cabins is about half that of the modern motels. Some old hotels in larger towns offer good accommodations for a night's rest but you could also try tourist homes.

QUESTION: Our family is interested in farm vacations in Canada and the United States. Could you please give me any information you can on this subject, as it will be very much appreciated. — Mrs. A., Belleville ANSWER: There is a booklet put out by Farm Vacations, 36 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022, called "Vacation Guide to Recommended Dude Ranches, Lodges, Campsites and Trailer Parks in 35 States and Canada." Price $1.00.

QUESTION: Could you tell me through your most interesting column if there is a booklet which lists factory tours in the United States, and if so, where one can be obtained. — Mrs. L. N., Napanee

ANSWER: Write to Guild Book of Plant Tours, P. O. Box 8626, Washington, D.C. This booklet lists over 500 free plant tours for many of the country's top industrial firms many by land by coaching to the plant, across the sum of $1. Some of the things visitors can see at the plants are skilled craftsmen performing molten glass into beautiful objects, the refining of sugar and the manufacture of toys.

QUESTION: Would you please tell me the date of the Queen's Plate, and at what Woodbine track it is run in Toronto? — T. P., Belleville

ANSWER: North America's oldest annual thoroughbred horse racing event, the 100th Queen's Plate will be run on June 28 next at Woodbine Track, Malton, near Toronto's International Airport. The Queen's Plate from 1883 to 1882 was shifted from town to town, until its present home was found in Toronto. It was run at Guelph, St. Catharines, Whitby, Picton, London, Hamilton and Ottawa. It has never been run outside Ontario.

QUESTION: We are driving to California with our trailer this summer and would like to know if the Ontario Motor League can get us towing a trailer in the USA. Could you advise where this information can be obtained? — Mr. M., Belleville ANSWER: We do have the information at the Ontario Motor League Office. As it would take too much space to print it here, we advise you to contact us personally. Or you can write to Travel Bureau, Deputy Director, 2060 Normal Street, San Diego, California, for a summary of trailer coach regulations.

The Trots

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Canadian Roger White drove Lady Ludella to victory in the $10,000 invitational pace at Liberty Bell Race Park Saturday night to cap a weekend in which Canadians swept honors.

White also drove two of the twin Filion of Angers, Que., Herve Filion of Angers, Que., to victories, including the featured $15,000 millionaire pace.

White, driving Timely Knight in the feature, took the lead in the final 100 yards and was clocked at 1:59 4-5 for the mile. Timely Knight won $3,400 and $2.40. Oro Sho was second, paying $6.00 and $3.40. Royal Dodge was the early leader, paid $3.00 to show.

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Openshaw, owned by Max Webster of Brantford, won the $7,125 Canadian Maturity trot at Garden City Raceway Saturday night with a length verdict over Penn Tom.

Trotting the mile in 2:05, Openshaw paid $3.40.

Other winners were Joan Herbert and Eagle Ambro paid $18.90 in the daily double of Miss Todd Riddell and Meadow Wave returned $38.60.

OTTAWA (CP) — Earlykes John, owned and driven by Earl Dickson of Elgin, Ont., set a track record for the mile at Rideau Carleton Raceway Saturday night in the Fathers Day invitational pace in 2:02.

The five-year-old son of Mr. Johnston led from the first turn and paid $2.70, $2.20 and $2.10. Second-place Wesley G Grattan returned $3.20 and $2.10 while Odois was $3.20 to show.

E. Luck Leads Newly Formed B. and P. Men's Association

NAPANEE—At the last meeting of the Napanee Town Council, a letter was read from the secretary of the Ratepayers' Association, asking that the town people be allowed to decide on the length of office of the council by having the question placed on the ballot at the next election. The present term of office is two years.

When making the motion to table the letter, Reeve Claude Knight spoke strongly against the one-year term, and is seconding the motion, Deputy-Reeve W. R. Douglas was equally emphasic in opposing a return to the old practice. Both seemed to feel it took at least six months for a new councillor to feel at home and to be able to be really useful as a councillor. A three-year term would be an improvement, they believed.

There was no further discussion and the motion was carried unanimously.

Since that time there has been dissatisfaction on the part of the ratepayers, who seem to feel that their suggestion was treated lightly, and that there should have been more discussion. A letter to the local paper from the president, William McAllister, speaks of discourtesy, and states that "the manner in which the letter was dealt with leads one to believe that the letter was read and discussed before a regular meeting of the ratepayers."

Commenting on this statement, Mayor Lorne A. Smart said that probably every councillor had read the letter and that when it was received and opened by Clerk-Treasurer Garson Graham and had no doubt discussed it with other council members.

The mayor made it clear that the twin Ratepayers' suggestions made by citizens or by organizations, He wished he could carry out all ratepayers' suggestions without raising the taxes.

Traffic Violations Will Receive Heavier Penalties

NAPANEE — Magistrate R. C. Jackson is making it clear that he will brook no serious breaches of the Highway Traffic laws, and that those who break those laws are going to answer for it.

Four men who appeared before him for Friday in Napanee Police Magistrates Court pleaded on them, a fine of $100 and costs in each case, and in three cases their driving licence was suspended for six months. In the fourth case, that of Orval Ray Edwards of R. R. 4 Belleville, the charge was that of driving while the licence was under suspension. Jack Edwards, McGregor of Newburgh was found leaving the scene of an accident, Angus Maxwell of Kingston of impaired driving, and Donald William Brooks of Desoronto of driving without having. Kenneth Earl Simpson of R. R. 2 Napanee, found guilty of driving without a licence was remanded in custody for a week.

The magistrate issued a warning that he will be hard on drivers operating their cars in a noisy manner. Such people are often charged with careless driving when in reality they should be charged under the section forbidding excess noise in a motor vehicle, he said, referring particularly to those drivers who squeak their tires and make themselves a general nuisance. Such offenders should have their licences suspended and be in line for a heavy fine he added.

Thirty traffic violations were listed at the court Friday, most of them for speeding and settled out of court.

DESERONTO — The new spirit which has awakened in Deseronto was strengthened last week when almost 50 per cent of the business and professional men of the town formed an organization whose purpose is to promote the town. They plan to advertise its advantages through letterbox, by placing a sign near the northern exit of the Quinte Skyway Bridge, and to operate a booth at the Belleville Fair August 13 through 18.

The meeting, held at the Lucky Strike Bowling Lanes, was called to order by Jack Edwards, who welcomed those present, including Bill McUen and Tom Brooks, business and promotion representatives of TV station CKWS, Kingston; and Edward Closkey, councillor, and chairman of the town's publicity committee. After he had introduced those present and given the business association, Mr. Layfield turned the meeting over to Ernest Luck, who requested that Max Lush should act as secretary.

Mr. Luck explained that his business had profited through co-operation with other businesses, and in establishing promotion booths at area fairs. Mr. Brooks and Mr. Uens upon request, explained the mechanics of TV advertising, including special announcements and spots, and the use of Napanee, a commercial artist, explained the advantages of advertising through posters and outdoor signs in strategic locations.

The meeting adjourned in order to permit refreshments while those present enjoyed refreshments served by Mr. Luck, Mrs. Lott and Mrs. Tebbs, through the courtesy of a number of merchants present.

On motion of Mr. Luck, a motion was passed that those present form an organization for the purpose of promotion and development of the Town of Deseronto, under the name of Deseronto Business and Professional Men's Association. Officers were elected with Ernest Luck as president, Donald Hubbs as vice-president, and Ruth Clendenning as secretary-treasurer. The board of directors will consist of all paid-up members.

The charter members are: Jack Layfield, Ernest Luck, Canada Cycle and Motor, Lyons, K J Gardiner, Hawley Bros. Barney Motor Sales, Desoronto Glass Centre, Bell Telephone, Max Lush, Lush's Bakery, A Leonard Wilson, Deseronto Public Utilities, and White and Morris. Several others have since joined.

After discussion, a motion was passed that the new association as its initial effort to undertake Project Belleville Fair. A booth has previously been taken an option on a booth 10' by 40' at a cost of $200, and the association will confine this carnival area with the Belleville Fair Board. Together with Mr. Layfield and Jack Lush, a field wiu form a committee to see that this project is carried out.

With Mayor Gerald Lolt as chairman, Donald Hubbs and Ernest Luck were appointed to look into the erection of the signboard near the Quinte Sky Bridge exit.

Councillor Edward Gardiner agreed to supply the Association with 1,000 copies of the Deseronto advertising folders, and to arrange for the town to supply a suitable backdrop for the Association's Belleville Fair.

Ky's Troops Take Fasting Buddhist Leader From Hue Hospital

SAIGON (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's South Vietnamese soldiers seized the extremist Buddhist leader Thich Tri Quang in his hospital room in Hue today. The slight, robed monk waited out of the building by the 5th day of his hunger strike.

With the four-month Buddhist uprising crumbling under the military junta's firmness, Tri Quang's chief rival, the moderate Thich Tam Chau, appealed to Ky to "assure the life and liberty" of the Venerable Tri Quang and all other monks who led the struggle" against the regime.

A police officer in Hue said that Tri Quang, 43, had been put in protective custody to shield him from the Viet Cong.

The government's action against the chief of the Buddhist struggle movement showed its confidence that it had all but smashed the militant Buddhist minority's campaign for an immediate restoration of civilian rule.

In Saigon, troops and police kept several hundred monks and their followers bottled up inside the Buddhist Institute for the fourth day despite their plea to the International Red Cross that they faced epidemic and starvation.

After four days of talks with Ky and other government leaders, Lord Walston, Britain's undersecretary for foreign affairs, told newspaper men he foresaw a military victory for the allies within 20 months.

Lord Walston's prediction echoed one made by Ky on the first anniversary of his rule Sunday, but Walston added: "I cannot see a real backing up of a peaceful democracy here for a very long time indeed."

He said the shooting and bombing "will slowly fade away" and the number of terrorist incidents gradually decline. He said North Viet Nam had become convinced it could not win a military victory but he saw no immediate prospect that Hanoi would sue for peace.

On a strip of beach along the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, U.S. seamen unloaded 320 tons of Chinese rifles and small ammunition from a gun - running trawler intercepted Monday as Viet Cong sampans were about to pick up the cargo. U.S. military authorities said it was probably the biggest arms pickup of the war.

The trawler, which bore no markings, was believed to have come from the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong. The crew fled with the guerrillas after a battle with U.S. Coast Guard cutters, planes and ballcapters.

Prairie Grain Belt Gets Bonanza in Sale

OTTAWA (CP)—An $800,000,000 Canadian wheat sale to Russia has sparked domestic hopes for higher international prices and a flurry of market talk about delivering the huge order on time.

First word of the bonanza for the prairie grain belt came Monday from Moscow, where Trade Minister Winters announced the three-year contract for 336,000,000 bushels of wheat and wheat flour. About a third will be shipped in the next crop year starting Aug. 1.

Finance Minister Sharp, responsible for the Canadian Wheat Board, made his own announcement later in the Commons. Agriculture Minister Greene later told reporters he was "tickled pink."

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said the Liberals criticized his government when it inaugurated wheat sales to Communist countries several years ago.

Mr. Winters flew to Moscow to negotiate an extension of the Canada-Russia trade agreement to April 37, 1969. The original agreement was signed in 1957.

Moscow bought $7,900,000,000 worth of Canadian wheat and flour since 1963, including the latest deal.

Mr. Greene said the massive sale will not be made at growers as much as it should unless the world prices go up to the line set by Ottawa.

RECEIVE HIGH PRICES

He expressed the hope that trade negotiators in Geneva would agree on a new international wheat agreement with "economic prices." Canadian farmers will get about the maximum prices under the current international agreement.

Government officials predicted that the sale will boost the whole economy and encourage the United States to demand higher prices for its own wheat exports. Canadian officials have felt for some time the U.S. in its role as a major exporter has placed an unofficial ceiling on prices.

The Russian sale brought another increase in the price of Canadian wheat. The wheat board, which has been lacking flo the past few months because U.S. reluctance to follow suit, put it up another two cents.

The new quotation means that the price of No. 1 Manitoba northern to more than $2.05 a bushel at the lakehead. That is the top grade of spring wheat on which world prices are based.

Film Industry Aided

By PAUL DUNN

OTTAWA (CP) — Students, farmers and Canada's feeding film industry drew the attention of the Commons Monday.

The box score at adjournment:

—Debate on an amendment to the Canada Students Loans Act, increasing the loan fund to $38,000,000 from $42,000,000 and giving the finance ministe greater discretion in doling it out, was adjourned and is scheduled to come up again this week.

—A resolution proposing establishment of a Canadian dairy commission to operate the present milk subsidy program, control marketing and promote consumption of dairy products was approved.

—A resolution to help found a feature film industry in Canada through establishment of a Canadian film development Corp.—with initial resources of $10,000,000 — was approved.

John Turner, minister without portfolio, supported the student loan bill but looked ahead to the day when university tuition might be abolished.

He hoped the loan scheme could eventually be broadened to include high-and part-time students. It might some day become a scholarship program.

At present, aid is made at provincial request based on provinces' populations in the 18-to-24 bracket. A student may borrow a maximum $1,000 a year up to a top of $5,000 during his undergraduate years. Rates repaid after graduation at bank interest rates.

Under the proposed amendment to the Loans Act, the finance minister could pay out up to 30 per cent of money in the fund above a province's allotment at his discretion.

Brezhnev Takes Over Talks As Kremlin Woos de Gaulle

By SIDNEY WEILAND

MOSCOW (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle discussed European security and the German problem for three hours today at the start of talks in the Kremlin.

Leonid Brezhnev, general secretary of the Soviet Communist party, swept diplomatic protocol aside to talk to the general face-to-face. Normally, as party leader, he does not take part in detailed negotiations with Western visitors.

A French spokesman said the first negotiating session since de Gaulle arrived Monday for an M-day visit began with an opening statement by Brezhnev, followed by a statement from the French leader.

As they broke up, both de Gaulle and Brezhnev stressed the considerable importance of close consultation between France and Russia, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said de Gaulle told the Russians that his journey to Moscow, his first for 16 years, was to be a visible manifestation of France's desire for East - West consultation.

KEY EXAMPLE

De Gaulle was quoted as saying that negotiations between countries of West and East were a good thing and that the example should be followed by other European nations, namely that West Germany should have such talks with the Soviet Union.

Russia's leaders were reported to have stressed the possibility of contacts between European nations and France.

Normally talks with Western leaders are held in the Kremlin's Catherine Hall.

De Gaulle's theme of one Europe from Atlantic to the Urals was echoed today by Moscow radio. A French-language broadcast said:

'NEED NO BLOCS'

"There is only one Europe in the world. For centuries in the history of mankind its fates have been ravaged and devastated. Latins, Scandinavians, Germans and Slavs have been of military blocs. They need peace to work, to help each other and live in friendship."

In talks with his Russian hosts de Gaulle was expected to discuss Soviet - French security.

Id a Kremlin banquet speech Monday night, de Gaulle set the tone for his talks by calling on Russia to join France in breaking the "harmful spell" of confrontation between East and West.

NATO 'Not Military Hangover,' Will Still Do Job--McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today the pressures for cutting U.S. forces in Europe are legitimate and must be seriously considered.

But he said the United States has no plans to reduce its European combat capability "in the present circumstances." And he told senators worried that U.S. military strength is being weakened on this:

". . . The United States is capable of maintaining its combat capability in Europe while continuing to meet planned troops deployments to Southeast Asia."

McNamara testified before Senator Henry M. Jackson's subcommittee on national security today.

In his prepared statement he said NATO "is not a military hangover from a different period." He praised its potential for playing "a vital role" in Europe's political evolution and said France's moves "will be in no way disabling" to the alliance's military posture.

The moves forced by France's action to pull out of NATO's military structure will only cause "some short-range destruction, inconvenience and expenditure."

Farmers' Union Delegation Meets Agriculture Minister

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario Farmers' Union delegation, met today with Agriculture Minister William Stewart to discuss provincial stabilization of prices of farm products, especially milk.

John Dzinkar of Corbetton, president of the OFU, said members' plans for an increase in farmer tractor blockades will "depend on the outcome of the meeting."

It was expected that the OFU brief presented to the government last April would be discussed at today's meeting. In that brief the farmers' union asked the government to set up a province - wide milk pool so that all Grade A milk will bring the same price.

The farmers say whole milk for use as such sells for as much as $5 a hundredweight but milk for processing can bring as little as $2.25.

Rates representing the government at today's meeting were Education Minister William Davis; Deputy Agriculture Minister Everett M. Biggs, Dr. J. K. Reynolds, chief economist officer in the prime minister's department, and George McCague the chairman of the Ontario milk commission.

Tractor parades by farmers protesting what they say are low milk prices spread Monday with threats of even bigger demonstrations if talks today do not result in action.

About 300 tractors in Essex and Kent counties slowed traffic between Windsor and Chatham Monday while 30 farmers patrolled Highways 6 and 30 near Owen Sound.

Six tractors took to Highway 401 about 30 miles east of Peterborough.

The protests started June 13 with demands for a firm price of $4 a hundredweight for milk but now the OFU is seeking a clear-cut government policy to bring price stabilization to the industry.

Says U.S. Not Seen as Peaceful

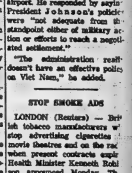
CLEVELAND (AP) — Governor George Romney of Michigan says recent actions, even including our allies, no longer consider us dedicated to peace."

His text Monday night for United States can still "find r honorable solution" in Viet Nar while will put the people ' that unhappy country in conf of their own destinies—without a veto—and hopefully with a short one."



Romney — frequently mentioned as a possible 1968 Republican presidential candidate addressed a dinner meetin of the National Conference o Christians and Jews.

Romney was asked to comment on the Soviet Union when reporters met him at th airport. He responded by sayin President Johnson's policies were "not adequate from th standpoint either of military ac tion or efforts to reach a negoti ated settlement."

"The administration reall doesn't have an effective policy on Viet Nam," he added.

STOP SMOKE ADS

LONDON (Reuters) — Brit ish tobacco manufacturers will stop advertising cigarettes in movie theatres and on the radio under present contracts expir Health Minister Kenneth Robi son announced Monday. Th will also limit newspaper, newspaper and poster advertising during the next six months.

Bombers Collide, 8 Die

HAMPTON, Va. (AP)—Rescue and salvage workers dug through a devastated suburban neighborhood today for possible additional victims from the flaming crash of 3 U.S. Marine Corps attack bomber that hurtled into the area picked up in-flight collision Monday night.

Police said two persons—a mother and her infant son—were killed and 40 were injured. Eleven remained in hospital today.

Police Chief L. M. Nicholson said: "We have gone through all the destroyed and damaged homes with a fine tooth comb and found no additional bodies. I don't believe we will find any more. We have no reports of missing persons."

Nicholson said "it is a miracle that the death toll was so low." The majority of the people in the area were at home, he added.

19 HOMES DESTROYED

Ten of the modest, two-bedroom homes were demolished and 17 others damaged to some degree in the Aberdeen Apartment near Buckroe Beach, a Chesapeake Bay resort town.

The two-seater A-6A Intruder attack bomber plowed into the development from the south at 8:37 p.m. Seconds earlier, it had collided at 400 miles an hour with another Intruder at 2,000 feet.

All of the four marines aboard the two aircraft ejected safely and landed near the second bomber in Chesapeake Bay off Norfolk. Three were picked up by a U.S. Coast Guard helicopter, the fourth by a private boat.

The crash occurred not far from the big Fordham shopping centre and the homes of many air force and navy men from nearby Langley Air Force Base and Fort Monroe.

Witnesses said the aircraft came down at a 45-degree angle just off Sergeant Street, where its engines buried it in a huge crater.

The wings and portions of the fuselage landed contained one with parts of the Stol tanks—for two blocks, mowing down homes as they went and setting some of them on fire. Bits of the plane were found 5 blocks away at the shopping centre, where a wheel plunged through the roof of a bowling alley and injured three persons.

U Thant Says Viet Nam War One of Most Barbarous Known

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—UN Secretary-General U Thant described the fighting in Viet Nam Monday as one of the most barbarous wars in history" and he called for greater efforts to find a way to end it.

"The longer we wait, the more difficult the situation becomes," he told the UN Correspondents' Association. "The situation is very urgent, very critical."

The secretary-general said he has made no new recent proposals to settle the Vietnamese crisis. He added, however, that his three-point plan for ending the conflict still is applicable.

They are:

1. A cessation of the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam.

2. A scaling down of all military activity in Viet Nam.

3. A willingness by "all sides" actually participating in the fighting to enter into discussions.

These steps alone can create conditions conducive to a peaceful solution of the Viet Nam problem," Thant said. "They still are as applicable today as they were six months ago."

Turning to other topics, the secretary general said he believes the United States and the Soviet Union soon will reach an agreement on procedures for the banning of the use of the moon and other celestial bodies for military purposes.

He is scheduled to visit Italy at the end of the month and then will go to Switzerland and Ireland before returning to UN headquarters July 8.

That, therefore, deferred at least until mid-month a pronounced announcement of his decision regarding a second five-year term as head of the world organization. He said he would rather wait until he returns from Europe before making a decision. His term expires in November.

That said he would be "very happy" if the UN Security Council appointed a new man as secretary-general.

Doctors Examine Nun Dead 342 Years To See if Body Miraculously Undecayed

MADRID (Reuters) — The body of a Roman Catholic nun who died 342 years ago is being medically examined here because of a legend that says it has remained undecayed through the centuries by a miracle.

The body, about four feet, six inches tall, has been on public display in a chapel since Friday—the face covered by a thin veil and only the shrivelled, dark brown hands and feet showing from beneath a white shroud.

Thousands of persons have filed into the chapel to view the body of the Blessed Mariana of Jesus, who was mother superior of the convent of Don Juan de Alarcon in central Madrid.

An official medical report, expected to be made public sometime this week, was being prepared to find out whether a miracle has occurred.

According to local legend, the nun's body gave off a sweet fragrance when she died and she was said to have had visions of the Virgin Mary during her later years in the convent.

Centuries ago, Spanish church officials asked the Vatican to have her named a saint but there was no decision.

Now a new petition is to be made to the Vatican if the medical report indicates that a miracle has taken place, church officials said.

The body was removed from its sealed coffin above a side altar at the convent Friday after special permission was obtained.

It had been removed from the coffin once before—in 1934. Two nuns who were present at the time attended the removal last week.

They told doctors the body was in the same state as when they saw it at its first removal. A spokesman for the convent said the body's eyes were in fact but the face was badly discoloured.

When the report has been completed, the body will be transferred to Madrid Cathedral for veneration and by the end of this week will be sealed back in the coffin.

Whether it has decomposed will be weighed in the church's official acceptance of the existence of a miracle, a determining factor in cases of canonization.

Unrestricted Hours Of Sale for Gasoline In Force Six Months

Commencing July 1st and for a six-months trial period, Bellevile service stations will be able to have unrestricted hours of sale for gasoline.

City council yesterday at its final regular meeting before the summer recess voted to amend the present restricted gasoline sales by-law to allow unrestricted hours.

At the end of the six months trial period the matter will again come before council when it will be decided whether service stations will be allowed to remain open at all hours.

Yesterday's vote by council brought at least to a temporary end, a long controversy between the service station factions — one wishing to remain open and the other favoring the present seven a.m. until seven p.m.

The matter had been in and out of council on many occasions with spokesmen representing the service stations outlining reasons for objection or approval.

Yesterday two council members, Aldermen T. A. Carruthers and Jack Deacon refrained from voting on the issue because they have an interest in local service stations.

Council Doesn't Feel Signal Cost Warranted

The Canadian National Railways wants to upgrade the present level crossing protection at Cannifton Road but the city doesn't feel the cost is warranted.

The cost of adding two short arm crossing gates and modernizing of the signal circuits has been estimated at $16,700 with an estimated maintenance cost of $800.

The reason for the proposed upgrading of the crossing is the fact that CN proposes next year to add a new fast non stop train between Toronto and Montreal which could pass through Belleville yards at speeds up to 60 miles per hour.

POLICE CHIEF CONCURS

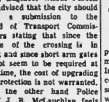
City Engineer Wilbur Purcell has advised that the city should make a submission to the Board of Transport Commissioners stating that since the future of the crossing is in doubt and since short arm gates do not seem to be required at this time, the cost of upgrading the protection be not warranted.

On the other hand Police Chief J. B. McLauchlan feels that because of traffic in the area the proposal of the railway should be accepted.

Eventually it is expected that a subway beneath the tracks will be constructed on Cannifton Road but this is still several years in the future.



Council is unsure of what effect its objection to the crossing upgrading may have with the Board of Transport Commissioners.

It may still be that the upgrading will be approved and the city assessed with its share of the cost.

Mosquito Film Taken Here To Be on TV

Some of the work that is in progress at the Canada Department of Agriculture's Research Institute here on new ways of controlling mosquitos is the subject of a half-hour CBC television production, to be titled "Biting Flies," the program is one of the series "Venture" on CBC-TV. It will be broadcast from CBC-TV stations on Monday, July 11, at 7:30 p.m. It was filmed last week by a CBC team in the laboratories of the Belleville Research Institute and outdoors at the Institute's field station in Sidney Township.

Will Represent Kiwanis Club At Portland

Belleville Kiwanis Club will be represented by L. A. Kells, Lieutenant-Governor of Division 6A and J. J. Trafford, club vice-president at the 51st annual convention of Kiwanis International, July 1-15 at Portland, Oregon. Both men plan to combine business with pleasure, taking advantage of the trip to Oregon to make it a holiday excursion with their families.

Since all Lieutenant-Governors have been requested to arrive at Portland earlier than the main body of Kiwanians, Mr. Kells expects to get started on the journey Thursday, Mr. Trafford plans to begin the trip Saturday.

It is expected more than 15,000 people will be attending the convention with visitors from Canada, the United States, Mexico, the Caribbean, Western Europe and the Far East represented. President of Kiwanis International is Edward C. Keefe of Oklahoma City.

Included in the list of speakers are John Fisher of Canada's Centennial Commission; Harold D. Eadinger of London, Ont., president of Circle K International; The Honorable Lawrence J. McCarthy, United States Senator from Minnesota and The Honorable Mark O. Hatfield, Governor of Oregon.

Council Finally Approves Day Nursery Care in City

Ending a city wide controversy existing since the announcement of the 1966 budget city council yesterday gave approval for establishment of a day nursery in the city.

Yesterday there was only eleven members of the day nursery with other councillors stating that with 20 per cent government subsidy they could not see why there should be any opposition.

Alderman Jack Allin said he would vote for the day nursery only with the city becoming a supporting welfare state, while Dr. J. Russell Scott said the complete cost of the nursery should be government paid.

"I can't see that any part of the cost should be borne by local taxpayers," he said.

FEES SET UP

Operational policies for the day nursery call for the nursery to be supervised by trained personnel under the direction of the welfare director.

Fees assessed with range range from $21.00 per month to $5.00 per month with provisions for the fee being waived in certain circumstances.

Admission policies of the day nursery will be:

(a) Children from homes which are being kept together and maintained chiefly through personal efforts of mothers; the fathers being out of the homes for various reasons, death, illness, separation, desertion, etc.

(b) Children from homes in which both mothers and fathers are present but where the fathers' incomes are either insufficient or too insecure to meet current living expenses without the mothers also working.

(c) Children having individual and urgent needs for health or social reasons which can be met satisfactorily through the provisions of Nursery or Day Care Centres.

(d) Children from homes in which both mothers and fathers are present but in which special or urgent situations can only be met by the mother's employment is available in that the father's is contingent upon the securing of Nursery Care or Day Care Centre for their children.

Careless Driving Count Brings Fine of $100

Thomas Damon Hinchey, 28, of R R 2 Shannonville, pleaded guilty in court today to a charge of careless driving and was fined $100 and costs.

Police testified that at 12:23 a.m. on May 8 they were called to investigate a accident on MacDonald Ave. in front of house number 146. Upon arriving they found a hydro pole on the west side of the street.

Hinchey told police after the accident that he had been travelling south and met a car coming down the wrong side of the road. He said he'd swerved to miss the car and struck the pole.

Police said an independent witness saw the accident and said there was no other car on the street.

There was $750 damage to the car and $150 damage to the pole.

Hinchey had been drinking. He told police he had consumed three beers.

He has a long traffic record dating back to 1963. Today's conviction was the seventh against him and the second careless driving conviction. His licence is currently under suspension because of an accumulation of points against him.

$30,503 Will Be Spent On Sidewalks

The city will spend $30,503 in concrete sidewalk replacement and repairs this year.

A contract for this amount was approved yesterday by city council but council was told the contract did not include construction of the proposed new concrete walk on Dundas Street West.

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell said tenders for this new walk would be called in the near future.

The question of using asphalt for sidewalk repairs came under discussion with at least two aldermen stating they had received complaints about the use of asphalt.

The city engineer said however, that the asphalt was used for economy reasons and usually only in cases of emergency repairs. He said he was prepared to go along with the idea of using a mineral additive to give the asphalt a lighter color.

A native of Lakeside (near London), Ontario, Dr. McCorquodale graduated from the Ontario Veterinary College at Guelph in 1950 and spent two years at Woodstock before coming to Belleville in 1952. During the last war he served five years as an aero mechanic in the RCAF.

Dr. McCorquodale plays golf and curls. A member of Holloway Street United Church, he and his family live at Palmer Road.

The new Rotary president takes office next month. He succeeds Ernest Burnham.

Easter Seals Proceeds Are Divided

Two cheques totalling $2,489 from Easter Seals' projects were handed over on Monday to Rotary luncheon in the Hotel Quinte.

Of the total, $2,409 was collected in the Belleville campaign, while $80.50 was from the collection in Deseronto organized by the Napanee club. In each case the amount was half of the total collected in each centre. The other half — a like amount of $2,489 goes to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children headquarters in Toronto.

Bill Riley of the local Easter Seals committee handed over the cheques to Rotary President Ernest Burnham.

Mr. Burnham announced that Open Day at the Crippled Children's camp at Merrywood on the Rideau is Sunday, June 26, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Ladies' Night is Monday, June 27, at the Bay of Quinte Country Club, when the speaker will be Dr. William Swinton of the Royal Ontario Museum.

New Norwegian Ambassador Well Acquainted With Canada

OSLO (Reuters) — Norway's new ambassador to Canada has more than a diplomatic interest in the North American country.

Torfinn Oftedal, who leaves for Ottawa June 23, is married to the granddaughter of Alexander Graham Bell and the couple used to spend vacations at Bell's summer house in Cape Breton.

The 57-year-old Oftedal, who has served in Canada before, is a 30-year veteran of the diplomatic service, a career he chose after engineering.

It was while he was a student at Trondheim Technical University that he became associated in international affairs. He recalls spending long hours in the library on foreign policy with socialist students, including O. C. Gundersen, who later became minister of justice, at meetings of the student association.

Oftedal, a life-long Liberal, was elected the association's chairman after first being defeated by Gundersen.

"I have never regretted that decision back in 1936," he says of his choice of a diplomatic career. "The years have been interesting and now I have a position I've always wanted."

WORKED IN WASHINGTON

Oftedal's first tour of duty abroad was as secretary to the Norwegian embassy in Washington from 1938 to 1941. It was during those years that he met his first contact with Canada. In 1942 he married Gloria Grosvenor, who resides being great-granddaughter of the inventor, is a daughter of the late Gilbert S. Grosvenor, president of National Geographic magazine.

They have two children, a daughter 18 and a son 17.

NEW AMBASSADOR — Torfinn Oftedal, who becomes Norway's new ambassador to Canada this month, started out as an engineer but wound up as diplomat. He made his first contact with Canada after posting to Washington in 1938. He married the great-granddaughter of Alexander Graham Bell and began spending his holidays at Bell's summer house in Cape Breton Island.

Guilty Plea Registered, Fine Is $50

A Belleville woman pleaded guilty in magistrate's court today to a charge of careless driving and was fined $50 and costs by Magistrate T. F. Wills.

Mary Stella Price, 48, of 150 Farley Ave., was driving her husband's car east on Dundas St. E., April 19 at 2.35 a.m. when she left the road and struck a hydro pole in front of Deacon Brothers. Police said the car went over the curb and travelled 48 feet before striking the pole.

Mrs. Price received cuts to her right arm and lower lip, and her husband, Francis Carl Price, was cut over the right eye and on the knee. Both were treated for injuries in the Belleville General Hospital.

There was $700 damage to the car and $700 damage to the hydro pole and underground cables in the accident.

Fire Fighting Agreements Are Reached

New fire fighting agreements between the townships of Thurlow and Ameliasburg and the city of Belleville have been approved by the respective councils.

The new agreements are on the basis of a 30 per cent increase in rates effective July 1st of this year, and a further 10 per cent increase effective next January 1st. The agreements will terminate December 31st, 1968.

New fire fighting agreements are still to be made with the townships of Sidney and Tyendinaga.

Alderman Jack Allin, as chairman of the special committee on the new fire agreements, expressed his appreciation for the co-operation of township officials from the two municipalities with which new agreements had been reached.

No Changes Necessary -- Wishart

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Arthur Wishart told the legislature Monday that no changes in Canadian law are necessary to protect accused persons from incriminating themselves by answering police questions.

Mr. Wishart was replying to Eddie Sargent (L—Grey North) who asked what steps were planned in Ontario as a result of the United States Supreme Court's approving the "constitutional principle that the accused does not have to incriminate himself by answering questions of police without presence of counsel."

In other legislature business:

—Matthew Dymond, Ontario health minister, said a conference will be held Thursday among experts to decide the course of treatment of a 10-year-old Welland boy, who has been confined in an adult ward of the Ontario Hospital at Hamilton since May 17. The boy's name has not been revealed.

—In reply to a charge by Opposition Leader Andrew Thompson that the CPR is disregarding its obligation to Ontario residents, Premier Robarts said the government is watching closely for CPR applications to alter service which would adversely affect Ontario interests.

—A. R. Lawrence (PC—Russell), speaking during the debate on university affairs department estimates, asked if it might be worthwhile to explore" the possibility of the state paying a salary to university students as well as their tuition.

—Mr. Wishart said "much has been accomplished" so far this year in combatting fraudulent business practices in Ontario. He said the federal authorities have been "a great deal of help."

—The attorney - general also said he has suggested to the federal government that the law on lotteries should be reviewed.

—Ross Whicher (L—Bruce) said during the university affairs department debate that Ontario students should be discouraged from moving to the United States. He said the students should be required to stay in Canada for up to five years after university graduation.

—Robert Nixon (L— Brant) said the government should abolish tuition fees at the university level and increase financial assistance to under-graduates. He said "the fact is that rich youngsters get to university and poor kids don't."

—A bill introduced by Reg Gisbert (NDP — Wentworth East) would amend the Public Schools Act so that it would be possible for school trustees to, be "school visitors" in their own area. He said the act says that judges, clergymen, municipal councillors and MPPs are "school visitors" but does not mention school trustees.

Grants Made For Hastings County History

TORONTO — A lasting record of the County of Hastings' past is the latest publication to enterprise to mark Canada's 100th birthday.

Writing and publishing a history of the county will cost $15,000 shared equally by the municipal, provincial and federal governments.

Approval of this and two other grants, totalling $20,840, was announced jointly today by Hon. Judy LaMarsh, Secretary of State and Minister responsible for—Centennial Affairs, and Hon. Samuel Apps, QC, Minister of Tourism and Information and chairman of the Provincial Centennial Committee.

The Township of Ameliasburg will make an addition to its municipal hall and improvements to recreational park, the $24,140 outlay aided by a Canada Winter Works grant of $1,500, an Ontario Centennial Centres Act grant of $4,560 and matching centennial awards of $5,913 from Queen's Park and Ottawa.

The Township of Huntingdon will also construct an addition to its municipal hall at a cost of $6,000, assisted by equal contributions of $1,208 from Ontario and Ottawa, the township bearing the balance.

INDIANS DECLINE

The Abenaki Indians, estimated to number 3,000 in 1850, now are less than 700.

Tax Collector Is Attacked By Big Dog

Beware the dog!

Working for the city appears only has its dangers—apparently if you are a by-law enforcement officer.

This can be attested to be Gary Reid of the city treasurer's office, who recently was attacked by a dog while in the performance of his duties.

Mr. Reid was canvassing in the residential area of the city making business tax collections. His range had come door bell but receiving no answer, decided to try the back door. But as he was at the door, the side driveway he was attacked by a big dog which ripped him on the arm and tore his suit coat and shirt.

Fortunately the dog's owner was on the scene and pulled the dog away.

Yesterday there was a bill for $43 to council for replacement of the city employee's clothes.

The bill was okayed but it still hasn't been decided just what department to charge it to.

Shoplifting Costly for Woman Shopper

A $4.96 pair of shorts cost a local woman $25 plus $3 court costs and now she didn't even get to keep the shorts.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills found the 36-year-old woman guilty of shoplifting on her plea in magistrate's court this morning.

Police testified that the woman was seen June 16 by a security officer in the Fairweather Store on the Belleville Plaza as she picked up three pairs of shorts from a display counter, went into the fitting room, then came back and put only two pairs of shorts back on the counter.

She was apprehended as she left the store. She had the shorts in her purse. It was her first offence.

The woman and daughter from Picton were appeared in court today on charges of theft of merchandise valued at over $50 from the Fairweather Store. They were remanded for trial until August 2 in Belleville.

Five-Roomed Public School Is Approved

The city's proposed five room public school to be built in West Belleville received final approval yesterday as the debenture by-law calling for a loan of $325,000 was given third reading by city council.

The original borrowing by-law for $715,000 was given two readings last February but when tenders were opened costs were higher than expected.

The lowest tender received was for $719,000 which was reduced to $701,870 by the elimination of certain items from the school plans.

Total cost of the school, including equipment, architects fees and other contingencies will be $725,000.

General contractor for the school construction is Wieger DeJong Construction of Stirling.

The new school will be of slightly different design than the conventional building. The classrooms will be square instead of oblong and shorter corridors will be the rule.

Commonwealth Parley May Be at Ottawa

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP) — The timing of the next conference of Commonwealth prime ministers on Rhodesia now is virtually settled for September but its venue is in doubt, it was learned today.

Some Commonwealth diplomats believed they believe Britain would like to see the conference held in Ottawa even though there has been no encouragement from Canada for the idea.

British sources, however, disclaimed knowledge of any pressures for Ottawa. The consensus appeared to be between London, the usual place, and New Delhi, sitting in favor of London.

Barber Pete Belnap Prepares To End 54 Years of Haircuts

After 54 years of barbering on Front St. in Belleville, (with time out for duty with the 43rd Battery of the 3rd Division in World War I) Pete Belnap retires at the end of this month. In business at 282 Front St., next to Loblaws, for the past 39 years, he says "I guess it's about time I had a rest."

Since he purchased his first shop in 1915, about the only time he's taken a day off is when the stores are closed for regular holidays from time to time. On these occasions, he hangs a sign on the door, informing the public "I've gone fishing". Soon he'll have plenty of time to enjoy his favorite hobby and he likes to hunt, too. Mrs. Belnap (Frances) is also an ardent angler.

Mr. Belnap has seen plenty of changes on Front St. during his years in business, and observes that there aren't many businessmen remaining who were here when he got his start. He learned his trade under Jim Worham, who had a shop in back of Penn's Tobacco Store in the Corbett Building, across the street from his present 'location. His three-year apprenticeship began in 1912. When his employer died in 1915, he bought the business but the next year, he joined up and went overseas, while George Casement ran the shop.

In 1919, he was back in Canada, expecting to take a six-month holiday before getting back to work but, after two weeks, he decided he'd had enough leisure and returned to barbering.

MOVED IN 1927

When A. E. Wonnscott bought the shop in 1927 and opened it with repair and jewellery store Mr. Belnap transferred his operation to the rear of the store and he's been there ever since.

He enjoys recalling the old days when the barbers were also in business when he started.

"I've seen a lot of barbers come and go in that time", he says. Reg Arnott and Harry Penn are still barbering and some of the others around in the early days were Mr. Griffin at the Quinte Hotel, Mickey Haines, Tom George, the Conley Brothers, Rightmeyer, Argour Bennett, Jimmy Skinner, Fred Wilson, Candy Langabeer and Jack McCourt, who was known as the "Mad Barber" for some time.

"Forty-five years ago, my hands about $12 per week and the shops open from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Closing time on Saturday was midnight.

"I've had a lot of good times in this business. I'd miss the discussions over the city of hockey and the elections. At one time, the barbers had a ball team and we had some great games, too."

Mr. Belnap's shop will be revovated and a book store is moving in. Right now, he is looking forward to a rest. But don't be surprised if he turns up in one of the other shops in the city, working a day or two a week. He may find the lure of the barber-shop too great to overcome.

Bob Bateman Of Sudbury Given Post

The Sudbury board of control Wednesday endorsed the appointment of assistant recreation director Bob Bateman as Urban Renewal Co-ordinator.

Mr. Bateman, born and educated in Belleville, is the son of Mr. Frank Bateman of this city. He is also the son-in-law of Mr. Harold Whalen, a member of Don Whalen's local realty firm.

Mr. Bateman will be "on loan" from the parks and recreation staff, subject to the approval of council and the parks and recreation commission.

As co-ordinator, he will supervise Sudbury urban renewal staff, and advise on all agencies and persons involved in the city urban renewal scheme. It will also be Mr. Bateman's responsibility to prepare schedules and progress reports, and to liaise with public relations man for the project.

FRONT STREET BARBER Pete Belnap, in business here since 1915, relires at the end of this month. Mr. Belnap has operated a shop at 292 Front Street for the past 39 years. Eleven-year-old Gary Dempsey of Albury is a steady customer.

Commons welcomes news of 238,000,000-bushel Russian wheat order worth $800,000,000 for three-year delivery.

The huge sale, some say, may force up world wheat prices despite U.S. pressure to keep them down.

Both countries also extended their general trade agreement on a most-favored nation basis for three years.

Prime Minister Pearson says the cabinet today will discuss the question of federal aid to the Nova Scotia coal industry.

The Commons debated a government bill for a 20-per-cent increase in the student loan allotment and John Turner, minister without portfolio, hoped the plan soon day would be broadened into a scholarship scheme.

Mr. Turner also hoped that eventually there will be a gradual move towards elimination of all student fees at all education levels.

A government resolution to establish a corporation to promote a Canadian feature film industry was debated.

The government won Commons approval for a pre-legislative resolution proposing establishment of the Canadian dairy commission to oversee the marketing of dairy products.

Agriculture Minister Greene said the commission will work closely with provincial marketing boards and will be financed largely through licences and levies in the dairy industry.

The Commons gave quick approval to a government resolution proposing reduced premiums and extended coverage for the farmer under the federal-provincial crop insurance program.

TUESDAY, June 21

The Commons meets at 2:30 p.m. to debate a government resolution proposing the establishment of the Canada Assistance Plan.

Queensboro Man Freed On Charge

Jonas Kelly, 24, of Queensboro, was dismissed on a charge of criminal negligence in Madoc County Court yesterday because of a conflict of testimony of two crown witnesses.

Kelly pleaded not guilty to the charge in connection with the wounding of Wanda Young, 16, of R. R. 3, Tweed, early in May.

Defence counsel Robert Temple moved for dismissal of the charge after hearing the evidence.

Cecil Wright, 64, of Madoc, owner of the house in which the wounding of Miss Young occurred, testified that Kelly had struggled with him for the gun. He said still struggle resulted in the wounding of Miss Young.

Miss Young testified that Kelly didn't touch the gun until after she had been shot. She said at that time, she and Kelly grabbed the gun from Wright.

Wright who testified with the same offence, but his charges were dismissed earlier because of lack of evidence.

Will Panel Vestibule At City Hall

First impressions gained by a visitor on entering Belleville's city hall are slated for an improvement — but an effort will be made to retain the distinctive oak entrance doorway.

City council yesterday agreed that the front vestibule at city hall should be panelled, but it drew the line at replacement of the front door assembly at an estimated cost of $750. Cost of the vestibule panelling will be $373 with T. and C. Construction currently revamping the former opportunity shop area, to do the job.

New chairs for the city hall council chamber are also in the offing. The suggestion is to purchase 14 chairs for use by aldermen and others officials during council meetings.

Purchase of the new chairs has been referred by Alderman Jack Deacon as a committee of one.

Tyendinaga Twp. Council

At the June meeting Tyendinaga Township Council gave tentative approval for the issuance of debentures for a proposed new nine-room public school. Estimated cost of the construction is $238,400. Township officials have applied to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval of the proposed expenditure.

Council accepted the resignation of Mr. Wm. McKechnie as Building Inspector. Mr. Alex Mechan is moving out of the township. Mr. Lorne Weese, former assessor for the township, was appointed the new Building Inspector with duties to commence July 1.

The Council authorized the purchase of a tractor, loader and backhoe from Wm. Willian Pascoe of the township.

Mr. John D. Lewars, Township Auditor, presented the audit report for 1965. The year's operations ended in a surplus of $1,812.86.

dents without proper academic qualifications were finding it easier to enter universities. There was a waste of time. The stress should be on improved university facilities and better pay for teachers.

Maurice Allard (Ind - PC—Shefford) said the loan bill was unconstitutional. The provinces are responsible for education. Premier Jean Lesage didn't mind the scheme but Quebec wanted to be mistress over education.

Herb Gray (L—Essex West) said 91,000 students had taken advantage of the dairy year in its inception two years ago.

Agriculture Minister Greene, who introduced the dairy commission resolution, said the new agency would have three main functions: to operate the existing milk subsidy program, control interprovincial and international marketing and promote consumption of dairy products.

PAY PRICE SUPPORTS

The board would co-operate closely with provincial dairy marketing boards. Dairy price supports and the commission's administrative costs would be paid by the federal government. The commission would pay for other services through licences and other levies on the industry.

Theogene Ricard (PC — St. Hyacinthe-Bagot) said his party supported creation of the commission which was three years overdue.

(Present subsidies for manufactured milk products are low and well below the promised level of $4 a hundredweight.

Real Caouette (Ind — L—Beauce) said the commission would be able to provide much the same service to eastern dairy farmers that the Canadian wheat board now gives western wheat farmers.

With the exception of Ralph B. Cowan (L—York Humber) MPs were generally satisfied with the proposed Canadian film development corporation.

Mr. Cowan thought it improper that the government would spend $10,000,000 on the film industry but would not raise the monthly old-age pensions of $75 from $75.

Earlier Monday the Commons gave final reading to amendments to parts of the legislation in Bankruptcy Act. The legislation increases the power of the federal superintendent of bankruptcy to investigate fraudulent bankruptcies.

SHE HELPED

BRANTFORD (CP) — Jessie Sahagian, 27, of Brantford, testified Monday she helped four men steal $2,000 from a bank here following the Nov. 20 theft of a coin collection appraised at more than amount. She was a Crown witness in the case against Richard Yvonne, 24, Harold Farrell, 28, Roy Sager, 23, and Daniel Harker, 24, all of Brantford, who are charged with the armed robbery of the collection from the home of J. O. Trepanier, a Brantford lawyer.

Mayor Ellis Outlines Street Lighting Program

Following a recent survey of the city to determine street lighting and priority needs, a stepped up program of street light installation is expected to be carried out by the public utilities commission.

Yesterday Mayor J. R. Ellis, as chairman of the Utilities Commission presented a street lighting report to city council with recommendations as to what streets should have top priority and others which could be classed as "urgent" and which should be done "soon."

Utilities Manager E. L. Burnham said that the report would be submitted for approval to the commission at its next meeting but that in the meantime it was quite possible the program would be proceeded with.

Unner the existing policy sections of the city have been placed in various categories, in some instances being based on the lighting requirements for elderly people to walk in great detail, and in other areas for the prevention of crime and juvenile delinquency.

COMPLAINTS HISTORIC AREA

"It was our thought," the mayor's report read "that all other things being equal, subdivisions with street lights serviced had been paid for in cash instead of local improvements should be given priority in the event that further felt that our policy should be to light all streets in the historic area, a program before upgrading and changing the type of lighting."

Mr. Burnham said, however, with entirely inadequate, naked bulbs should be given priority.

The commission intends to complete the Hillcrest area as a priority, but using a senior lighting standard. Centre Street and part of Safe Blvd. in the Hillcrest area, have already been serviced.

Certain areas of the city now classified as "urgent" recommended to be done immediately include — included the eastern limits of Bridge Street and parts of Newberry, the new road west from Palmer Rd. to the proposed public school, Palmer Road, Frank Street, Bell Blvd., Clifford Street, University Ave., Wellington and Herman Street.

URGENT AREAS GIVEN

Listed as "urgently" needing lights and for completion this year if at all possible, were St. James Street, for its entire length, George Street south from Dundas, John Street south from Dundas, Frank Street from Moira north and also Elmer Siret and Wallbridge Street, Elm Street and portion of Baldwin Street and portions of Dundas and Church and portion of Baldwin Street.

Utilities Manager Burnham said it was hoped that these streets could be done this year although the availability of materials was to be taken into consideration.

Also listed were a number of streets classified as needing new lights "soon" and another series of streets in approximately the same category but with lighting presently deemed to be inadequate.

The streets in the latter referred to above, Pinnacle street will be completely relighted this year from Dundas to Station street.

Mr. Burnham said the new lights were on order and should be received within a month.

The new Pinnacle street lights will be mercury vapor vapor lamps of the same type as were installed at the Bridge and Pinnacle street intersections some time ago.

Prairie

basis paid by the Russians was also announced. However the wheat board policy is to sell to all comers at the going rate.

ONE ALL PORTS

Mr. Sharp said the wheat shipments will be made from all Canadian seaports including the Hudson Bay port of Churchill, Man. Russian ships are expected to handle the bulk of the shipments as in the past, leaving the rest to chartered vessels.

Mr. Sharp said Canada agreed to a Russian demand for a ceiling price per bushel, varied according to wheat grades, for the duration of the contract.

The prices set for the first year were "slightly below the ceiling," but he declined to give figures. Prices for the ensuing two years would be negotiated later.

The agreement calls for "substantial" flour shipments, some of which likely will be diverted to Cuba as in the past, but exact amounts will be worked out later.

Mr. Greene said the deal gives western farmers assured sales for the next three years, but the task of moving the huge wheat off the Prairies on time would be "a national problem."

This theme was echoed on the Prairie farm harvest.

Doug Galbraith, an official of the Farmer's Union of Alberta, at Edmonton, said the Russian sale will tax Canada's grain handling facilities severely.

He was sure the federal government to keep the grain moving. The flow had been hindered this year by harbor strikes and a shortage of boxcars.

Ray Atkinson, president of the National Farmers Union, said wheat farmers should get $2.25 a bushel and more per bushel.

MAY COST MORE

There were many predictions that increased wheat prices will lead to higher prices for bread, cereals, dairy products and feed grain. The latter boosts would result from a switch to wheat from feed grains now common in other lines.

The trade agreement with Russia provides for "most favored nation" tariffs between the two countries. Such tariffs are the lowest in the schedule, apart from Commonwealth tariffs.

The two governments also agreed to facilitate business trips and trade in commodities other than wheat.

Russian negotiators said they want to send trade experts to Canada. Russia has purchased 78,000,000 bushels of wheat from Canada this month, always for cash on delivery.

China and Communist countries in Eastern Europe also are frequent customers, taking advantage of short-term credits. Russia has expressed the hope that returns to wheat farmers will increase, since production and living costs had gone up considerably.

Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) said Canada could suffer from higher transportation costs, caused by wage boosts to longshoremen, railway workers and railway employees.

DUN DUNNED

"Dun" in the sense of requesting payment for a bill was derived from the surname of Joseph Dun, an English petty official hated for his success in collecting debts.

Where Credit Is Due

An astonishing thing happened in the House of Commons the other day. The leader of the Opposition and praise for measures being taken by Northern Affairs Minister Laing to raise living standards among the Indian population.

In the light of what has been happening in Parliament of late, this is a notable departure from custom and one which the public surely will welcome. Criticism — even probably constructive — is one of the main tasks of the Opposition. Criticism for its own sake, however, is a tiresome as it is transparently "political."

The Munsinger affair was a classic example of criticism (not to mention character assassination) being exercised beyond reasonable bounds. With the scars of that unhappy period in Canada's affairs still unhealed, it is all the more remarkable to observe any opposition spokesman give credit where credit is due.

The exchange took place when Northern Affairs Minister Laing was presenting estimates for his department. The minister had indicated that the government plans to redouble its efforts to promote industrial development on Indian reserves, and he went on to say a housing building program for the Indians was also being stepped up.

Mr. Laing's statement drew a compliment from Mr. Diefenbaker, who went on to deliver an eloquent plea that the government save the Mistassini Indians from ending up at the bottom of the lake being formed behind the South Saskatchewan River dam.

The shrine is a huge rock embedded in soil which the Cree Indians once regarded as sacred. A chunk of the rock, weighing 1,000 tons, Mistassini weighs about 400 tons. The Indians believe it was dropped by a giant eagle in the middle of the prairie. To this day ceremonial dances are performed around it.

Geologists in the shrine's hand say the rock was carried 200 miles uphill from its original site by glacial movement about 500,000 years ago.

Legends are very important facets of mankind's spiritual wellbeing. The Indians have always been far closer to the earth and the white man, and in tune with mystic rites beyond the white man's perceptive powers.

Such beliefs should be respected. There is a parallel in Egypt where rock carvings and statuary from ancient times are being moved from areas being flooded by the Aswan dam.

According to Mr. Laing, the Historical Sites and Monuments Board has decided the rock is not of national importance (we wonder if the Board bothered to ask the Crees for their opinion?), but the agriculture department (of all groups) is considering a proposal to have the rock moved.

Meanwhile it is interesting to note that Folk singer Buffy Sainte-Marie recently gave a performance at the University of Saskatchewan to raise funds to have the shrine moved. Her birthplace is the nearby Pia Pot reservation.

Memories

In a busy commercial world, one that is bounded by the daily routine of work and family life, there is little time for communing with nature. Evenings, of course, are good for working in the garden or for a quiet stroll (weather and mosquitos permitting), but by day life tends to discourage anything unconnected with the economic scene.

Strolling, though, how even during the workaday week memories intrude — of places, sights, sounds, unrelated cameos that flash into the conscious mind, scenes that bring release in times of stress, a sort of yoga without tears.

Like the Chelsea Flower Show and others like it, the big marquees and the heady scent of the blooms; horses and jumping competitions, men and women in riding habit; point-to-point race meetings; the friendly atmosphere of the River Dee and the wooded slopes around Balmoral Castle, and ocean and lake vistas and tropical nights, from the Ontario - Minnesota shore of Lake Superior to the incredible beauty of Tahiti and Moorea as the sun comes up over the South Pacific.

And gardens in Belleville and church bells on Sunday morning (it has a name, we have just discovered — Tintinnabulation," this ringing of church bells), and the soft soft sand on the banks near Picton as the sun goes down and the crowds melt away, and the last rays play among the dunes and the lake is deep blue in the distance and there is nothing but silence and the self.

And there are memories of the artist's brush, of the lonely prairie scenes recorded by Rolloff Beny (in his books and privately) with the camera and achieved international fame), of the obsolete machinery of farms on the tableland with the big sky above; the past and the present all in one, an admixture of modern methods and the implements that no longer serve a useful function.

And there is one recollection from the recent past — a landscape by the Israeli artist Mordechai Ardiel. A dream of woodland and water and uncomplicated artistry, it was part of a recent exhibition in Belleville library.

Memories of other places, some recent and some in the long ago. We all have them — and need them, when the world is too much with us.

Low Pay Behind Service Dropouts

Editor,
The Intelligencer

Your editorial concerning service dropouts followed the same old line. Please be advised that the recent integration of the armed forces has no bearing whatsoever on the steady stream of personnel from the ranks. It is a matter of dollars and cents and nothing else.

It is true that morale has dropped to an all time low. In fact it may never be the same again, but this too, is a direct result of one hundred thousand men trying to do a good job for rates of pay considerably lower than their civilian counterparts.

The service has always held the trump card for some career fields. There is no comparable civilian occupation for a gunner's mate on a destroyer, a tank commander, or an aircraft radio officer, but the situation is changing for other jobs, and John Q. Serviceman goes where the money is. An 18-year-old can make more on the assembly line in Oshawa than a corporal with 15 years service.

Recently the Vancouver gargagemen went on strike for more money than the service-man makes in the lower ranks, many with large families to support.

The thousand dollar bonus, which was designed to lure the prospective dropout into not leaving, did nothing at the bottom of the lake being formed behind the South Saskatchewan River dam.

The shrine is a huge rock embedded in soil which the Cree Indians once regarded as sacred. A chunk of the rock, weighing 1,000 tons, Mistassini weighs about 400 tons. ## Long Hair Is Old Hat!

Peterborough Examiner

We have been looking over photographs of staunch Peterborough lads taken at the turn of the century, or thereabouts. One particular picture, contained the likenesses of some very worthy citizens today, who were in the Knocker Hockey Team of Peterborough in 1907, but we implied comment for today. Each of the boys has a head of hair which would send a modern high school principal in Peterborough into foaming outrage. The pedagogical axiom is that long hair on boys is, clearly, a modern phenomenon accounted for (possibly) by the fact that today's school principals receive their formative training in the service of one Mr. Hay. Ancestry is armed forces. The idiocie requirements of drill sergeants with short hair, is, of course, legendary. And, it might be added, largely concerned with such keeping hats on the heads of soldiers, sailors and airmen.

It is no accident that cropped hair is associated with slavery, penitentuaries, warfare, and humiliation.

Democratic Progress Was Plotted

Regina Leader - Post

What is happening in the city of North Battleford smacks more of South American dictatorship than an English tened North American democracy.

The council of North Battleford met recently for what was to have been a meeting of the committee of the whole council. Normally, under the North Battleford procedure, the press, banned from such meetings.

After they had assembled, with the press absent, the council decided to hold a formal meeting. They pushed through city business. Questioned afterwards, Mayor Roy Dean is reported to have said: "The press was our last concern."

Last week, when Mayor Dean was questioned on another matter — the city's 1966 budget — he was quoted as declaring the detailed budget would not be made public unless council is given a reason to do so.

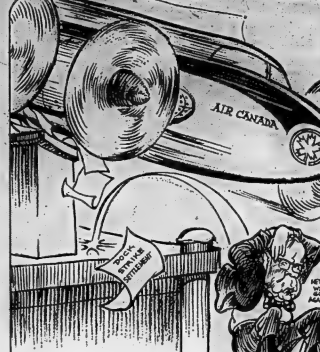
It is not difficult to find a valid reason. It is obvious, surely, that since the North Battleford council is spending the money of the city's taxpayers, they have an inalienable right to know how it is being expended, item by item.

We would have a parallel of the North Battleford situation were the Pearson government to request Parliament to vote a lump sum for this year's expenditures, without Finance Minister Sharp dabbing the spending estimates and unveiling the budget for the year.

The tendency of some elected city officials to treat their city's affairs as a closed corporation is beyond comprehension. The democratic principle that it is apply to senior governments, should be applicable equally and fully to the local governments, the city councils, rural councils, and education boards.

Freedom of the press is somewhat of a misnomer. What it actually means is that the public has a right to be informed through the news media. Thus, in essence, it is a right which rests not with the press, but with the people. The news media simply are the means whereby this right is exercised.

Freedom of the press in its essence is an obligation on the part of the news media to carry out their function of keeping the people informed.



So, when Mayor Dean asserts "the press was our last concern," he is effect declares "the public be damned." His arrogance in refusing to release the city's 1966 budget, item by item, is a cut from the same cloth.

Why citizens tolerate such arrogance in the handling of their affairs bedevils a logical explanation.

Tie Fashions

Portland Oregonian

If the wide tie is coming back, as reported in a story from New York recently, then the wide lapel is almost certain to follow. A wide tie would be highly congruous with the narrow lapel and pigeotoe pants which have been fashionable the last few years.

To Your Good Health

Pericarditis Affects Sac Surrounding Heart

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is pericarditis? How dangerous is it? What causes it and how long is a patient affected by it? — A. B. F.

* * *

There's a protective sac around the heart called the pericardium. The word comes from "peri," meaning around and "kardia," meaning heart.

The inner lining of this sometimes becomes inflamed, and that is pericarditis.

There are all degrees of seriousness. It may be quite dangerous; it may be the opposite, and of relatively little peril although obviously inflammation in such an area should be corrected as quickly as possible.

Infectious are a major cause of pericarditis: rheumatic fever or other bacterial infections; secondary infections as from pneumonia; virus infections; tuberculosis for instance is involved, if it inflames the pericardium, it's pericarditis.

Irritation of the membrane at the site of a heart attack can also cause pericarditis.

The rheumatic, viral or heart attack types of irritation usually subside as the original disease is corrected. The other types, however, tend to cause fluid to accumulate in the sac, either clear or pus-filled. Such cases are usually more prolonged and may call for lopping of the pericardium to draw off the fluid.

* * *

In some instances scar tissue forms. This is called constrictive pericarditis, since the sac by then tightens up like scar tissue, and this, obviously makes it more difficult for the heart to function. In turn, circulation can be impaired with such consequences as swelling of the abdomen, liver and legs. This constrictive pericarditis is usually helped by surgical release of the adhesions resulting from the scar tissue.

For acute pericarditis, the symptoms embrace fever, pain in the region of the heart, cough, shortness of breath.

Since the consequences of pericarditis can be very serious, I don't want to say anything to lead people to take it too lightly. At the same time, when it is quickly treated and the patient is wise enough to follow carefully all of the physician's instructions, the outcome can be excellent.

Certainly when the heart is struggling to throw off an infection, precautions must be taken not to impose any needless demands on it. If your doctor tells you to rest, then do it. If he confines you to bed, obey unlikely. It's for your own good.

Dear Dr. Molner: Could worms hurt my unborn baby? I have them and am too ashamed to tell my doctor. — J. S.

There is no more reason to be ashamed of worms than of catching some other parasite — like the viruses that give us colds.

Pin worms won't harm your unborn baby, but if you are past the second or third month of pregnancy, medication to eliminate them is in order.

The important thing is to get rid of them, because if you don't, they can be transmitted to the baby after it is born.

How Long Must Canadians Tolerate Chicago Bosses

By RICHARD JACKSON

From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Governments may come and governments may go, but the mighty power of James Caesar Petrillo goes on forever.

Mightier than any government — at least any Canadian Government.

James Caesar Petrillo, as even the swinging kindergarten set must know, for years was the powerful president of the American Federation of Musicians.

And while, over this past century, the Liberals could kick the Conservatives and the Conservatives in turn whip the Liberals, neither could lay a glove on James Caesar Petrillo or his heirs.

It is turning out exactly the same now as it did in 1941.

Back those 25 years ago when Senator Charles Gavin "Chubby" Power was Minister of National Defence for Air, it was the first Canadian confrontation with the dictatorial Caesar of the AFM.

Air Minister Power, the man who built the RCAF from a cavalry of open cockpit biplanes into the Fighter, Bomber and Coastal Commands that helped to crush the Nazi Reich, was proud of all who wore wings. But the apple of his eye was the Central Band.

BUT HE DID

It was then, and still is, along with the mainland band of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, one of the very finest bands in Canada.

Air Minister Power wanted his famed RCAF Central Band to be the CBC radio network for a special "Canada Carries On" program and so did Gene Telazar Television Network boss Ernest Bushnell, then a wheel in the CBC Executive Suite.

But the AFM president James Caesar Petrillo said no.

And kept right on saying it, even although "Chubby" Power was raging in the Canada's Commons in the letter's finest, change that up to yes "or else."

But Central Band's radio date was scheduled for the very week sales campaign of War Savings Certificates and War Savings Stamps.

(Remember those stamps — thousands of dollars worth of them are still outstanding; having long gone astray in bureau degwers, coffee cans, tea pots, and other places where such things are squirrelled away, forgotten, but not never cashed.)

The Air Minister, in making the war effort was sulphurous when he raised the issue in the Commons crying: "We are-and-so-of-a-so-and-so is going to tell me where my band can or can't play."

But the so - and - so - of - a - so - and - so did just that, and all the king's fusiliers and all the king's men in the Canadian Parliament assembled couldn't get the band on the Canadian radio network.

AND AGAIN

Just the other day, that old Socialist, New - Democratic MP Bert Herridge, "Baron of the Kootenays," told the Commons he "nearly vomited" when the Officer Commanding the famed 48th Highlanders had to get permission from Caesar's heirs in Chicago before the regiment's band could play at the "marriage ceremony" some years ago at the CIO and CFL into the CLC.

Now, finally, any question as to who might be boss in the music world — the Canadian music world, mind you — has been settled beyond any lingering doubt.

For weeks, Labor Minister Nicholson and Solicitor General Larry Pennell have been trying to wangle permission for the internationally famed RCMP Band to make a recording for next year's Centennial.

The record, to be made by a Canadian company, of course, had government blessing. It could have been played at a thousand Centennial celebrations across the land, not excluding Expo '67 where the band would give a "live" performance of it.

From time to time, Mr. Nicholson, negotiating with the AFM and Mr. Petrillo, assured the Commons talks were going well and the situation was improving.

But the last word, as it always has in these cases, came from Chicago.

James Caesar Petrillo had schooled his heirs well.

The answer was no — a Canadian company couldn't record the RCMP Band even for the Canadian Centennial.

"The Minister of Labor used his good offices," Mr. Pennell reported to the Commons, "but with negative results."

The RCMP Band, like the Central Band, didn't belong to the AFM. Simple as that.

Yesterday, somebody, someone has got to get tough and get it across to Chicago that Canada isn't the 51st state of he Union.

Cornwallis arrived, with 2,500 volunteers and others with their families at the site on the shores of the harbor which the Micmac Indians called Chebucto, "the great long harbor." The British government decided to found an imperial military and naval port there in order to counter to pacify New England. Named after the Earl of Halifax, president of the board of trade and plantations, the port remained an imperial, military base until 1906, participating in all the wars of the British Empire, 1756—The American constitution came into force.

1843—The Royal College of Surgeons, London, was founded.

Trunk Sewer Links Will Be Installed

TRENTON — Trenton council last night gave first and second readings to a bylaw which will permit the installation this year of sanitary trunk sewer links on Front Street from the new bridge area north to Seabead Street and south of the area to Middle Street. The "middle" link will be done by the bridge contractor, under Department of Highways arrangements.

Cost of the northern link will be $34,000 gross . . . $20,000 to the town after grants; the south link, $38,000. . . $31,700 to the town.

Council plans to issue 15-year debentures at an interest cost to the town of $3,320 for the work.

If the work was done under Ontario Water Resources Commission arrangements, using sewer rates, the monies would be required in 20 years, which would be more of an overall cost to the town.

Road work, in connection with the project, will cost an estimated $30,000 and a bylaw authorizing this phase will be passed later on.

The first bylaw must now be approved by the Ontario Municipal Board before the third reading. The money has been provided for under the 1966 phasing of the town's five-year capital budget plan.

Councillors are anxious to have this work done this year so that the street will not be in a state of disruption during Centennial Year.

Old Issue Revived in Town Council

TRENTON — Old issues (in Trenton) never die . . . they just keep cropping up again.

Last year's newspapers were full of the dispute between ex-councillor Gerald A. Weaver and ex (at that time) councillor D. R. Fraser, re Mr. Weaver's need to enter upon property in downtown Trenton, owned by Mr. Fraser and Hugh O'Neil, to affect repairs to his adjoining building. At that time, Mr. Weaver asked council repeatedly to pass a permissive by-law, by the terms of which one owner may enter upon a neighbor's property to do such repairs. Council declined to be brought into the dispute.

Last night, three members of council voted to have such a by-law prepared, (Burst, Grisham and Kinney). Councillors Edward Todd and Paul Tripp voted against it, explaining that their attitude hadn't changed. Councillor Fraser, now chairman of finance, was absent from the meeting.

The issue was revived by Mr. Weaver and the Quinte Realty Company writing to the Toronto Dominion Bank to refuse entry or to properties owned or optioned by them, either side of the temporary bank premises at the corner of Front and Klein Street, which the bank will occupy until the bank building further south on Front Street is renovated.

The letter suggested the bylaw could be easily passed to everyone's advantage.

Councillor Burt couldn't see any good reason for not passing it. Councillor Kinney thought it was time people in town forgot old animosities.

Eight Charges Involve More Than $400,000

TORONTO (CP)—Two former presidents of the now bankrupt Racan Photo-Copy Corp.—one of them in hospital under police guard—Monday were remanded to July 11 on eight charges involving more than $400,000.

Elias Y. Rabbiah, 43, who collapsed following a brief court hearing Saturday, and Kenneth George Rennie, 39, will face a preliminary hearing on eight counts of fraud, uttering and conspiracy.

Hospital officials said Monday they have been unable to diagnose any illness or injury of Mr. Rabbiah. They described his condition as satisfactory.

Rabbiah collapsed in a police van taking him to jail after a court appearance in which Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow refused to reduce Rabbiah's bail of $100,000. Rennie was allowed bail of $10,000 cash or property.

Council Briefs

TRENTON — Trenton council agreed to a proposal brought forward by the township council of Murray last night that Fire Chief Cecil Ellis be asked to drive out to the township to investigate grass fires before sending fire fighting equipment to the scene.

Murray council offered to pay the chief $300 for this service. But if the chief does the job, he won't get the money, the town will.

Councillors Ross Burst, C. V. Graham and Douglas Kinney thought the money should go to the town. Councillors Paul Tripp and Edward Todd thought it should go to the chief.

Murray, having paid the town upwards of $3,700 for fire fighting services last year, is anxious not to decrease fire costs.

STILL IN BLACK

Councillor Douglas Kinney, chairman of recreation and community services, reported to council last night that while the community gardens showed a net loss of $500 in May, operations were still $300 in the black, on the year's operations.

Mr. Kinney said that he and his committee had investigated the circumstances surrounding the firing two weeks ago of market clerk Jack Hill. Council had brought no recommendation to council. He said, however, a recommendation would be made eventually.

Clerk Comptroller O. W. Lacey said the public works' union had filed a grievance about the dismissal, but since Mr. Hughes is still employed, the grievance signified nothing, in his opinion.

Realtor Gets New Position in Guelph

TRENTON — A well-known Trenton realtor, Herbert Simpson, leaves town this week to become vice-president of the Paul Starr realty company of Guelph.

Mr. Simrod came to Trenton in 1956 when he became the representative of Joyce Real Estate of Belleville. He opened his own business in Trenton in 1961 and a branch office in Belleville in 1965.

Mr. Simrod, married with three children, is a past vice-president of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce, a former president of the Trenton Real Estate Board, a former member of the Trenton Rotary Club and the Masonic and Elk lodges.

PROVINCIAL WINNER — Dianne Willet, 14, daughter of P/L and Mrs. M. S. Willet, 181 Lorne Ave., Trenton, received Legion cup last night symbolic of the Ontario Remembrance Day Essay Contest championship for grade 7 to 10 entrants. Lou Knack, Branch 110 Poppy chairman, who organized the competition in Trenton, made the presentation.

Councillors Critical of State of Weeds

TRENTON — Trenton's "million Dollar Mile," (Dundas Street) has a crack running down its centre.

At last night's meeting of town council, Councillor Ross Burst asked town engineer Eric Aldersey to find some way of correcting this.

Mr. Burst also asked the town solicitor, Roderick Campbell, to investigate the height of hedges around town, and particularly the hedge at 13 Water Street.

He also asked that warning signs and a cross walk be installed in the vicinity of the Victoria Park playground.

Councillor Paul Tripp asked that the weed inspector investigate the size and profusion of weeds on the former Senator Fraser property on Dundas Street West, the south side of Wilkins Street and on Dundas Street West, again, beside Dr. Hallett's, where the weeds, to quote the councillor, are "like the Amazon Jungle."

Solicitor Will Give Report On City Status

TRENTON — Will the town of Trenton achieve city status by Centennial Year?

In his inaugural speech in January, Mayor James MacDonald said he would like to see this and the Centennial Planning Committee has asked council to put the wheels in motion.

However, ex-mayor and veteran councillor Ross Burst isn't sure it would be an advantage for the town to change from "separated town" status to that of a city.

Town solicitor Roderick Campbell told council last night that the change would hinge on a number of things. One is population. To achieve city status, the town should have at least 15,000 residents, and Trenton hasn't. Another way of doing it would be to appeal directly to the Minister of Municipal Affairs.

Mr. Campbell said the town would lose in welfare grants but—gain in the per capital provincial grant.

Councillor Edward Todd brought out that there would be a change in council set up and in that of the school board.

Mr. Campbell said the City of Brockville, which had also been a separated town, had prepared a report on the subject, with a several man committee working on the report.

Mr. Campbell, who was deemed "smarter" than the several man committee of Brockville by councillors, has been directed to prepare a similar report by himself.

May Enlarge Public School At Tweed

TWEED — The S. H. Connor Public School will likely be enlarged to accommodate more students in September 1967 when the new Hungerford-Tweed Public School Area comes into effect.

For the past number of years Tweed and Hungerford Township have operated a consolidated school in Tweed with students coming from the village and nearby sections of the Township. The new project will see all students in the Township brought by buses to the enlarged public school in Tweed. This could mean about 200 more students at the S. H. Connor School. A new unified school board will have to be elected at the coming municipal elections to administer the enlarged district.

Boy 'Plucked' From Swift Waters of Trent by Copter

TRENTON — A 15-year-old Trenton youth, Dana Perry of 12 Elizabeth Street, took his first helicopter ride yesterday . . . but he did it the hard way.

Dana was "plucked" from the swift gaining waters of the Trent River just below Dam No. 1 by the crew of a Rescue RCAF whirly-bird after he had stood waist deep in the current for more than an hour.

"Fireman Milo" Mills was sent out from the east bank of the river attached to 400 feet of heavy rope, which became very soggy with the water, but was unable to reach the youth. Meanwhile, from the west bank of the river, James Howard, the lockmaster at No. 1 also went into the river on the end of a rope, but was also unable to reach Dana.

Dana and a friend, Wayne Cooney, 16, had started to walk across the river in the shallow part but the current forced Dana out into the water. He managed to regain a foothold and hang on until rescued. Wayne made it across the river on foot.

After the helicopter picked him up, it nonchalantly deposited Dana at the filtration plant grounds, just a few blocks from his home, and Dana walked home.

SAFE AND SOUND after two-hour ordeal, youth was rescued from rapids by turbine-powered helicopter landing in dangerous swift-moving water. He is the youngest son of Cpl. and Mrs. J. R. Perry, 12 Elizabeth St., Trenton.

French Teacher Glowing Example of New Look

By MARILYN ARGUE

OTTAWA (CP)—Members of Parliament learning to speak French undoubtedly have only the purest motives but it doesn't hurt to have a teacher who is charming and attractive.

Huguette Robineau, 36-year-old former primary teacher in Canberry's French school system, is a glowing example of the new look in schoolmarms.

She's slim and chic with hazel eyes, swinging brown hair and an aura of Gallic charm and French perfume.

And after only a few months she has her class of MPs speaking French.

"It's really surprising, considering some of them couldn't understand a word of French when we began in March."

Miss Robineau is one of 32 language teachers in the schools run by the Civil Service Commission. She's the only French teacher on Parliament Hill but has a counterpart who teaches advanced English to five French-speaking MPs.

It's difficult to keep attendance when your pupils have parliamentary committees and conferences jostling for timetable space. Miss Robineau has about 30 students—she doesn't know how many from each party and would rather not know.

USE FILMS

Her morning classes meet in a darkened room in the West Block. The darkness is part of the technique—a film strip is projected on a portable movie screen and matching dialogue comes from a tape recorder.

No English is spoken. Students have to figure out whether the dialogue means "Have you got a match?" or "Filthy weather, isn't it?" from the scene on the screen.

Then they repeat the line until they get it right. Miss Robineau thinks those who didn't speak a word of French may have had an advantage because they had no bad pronunciation habits to shake.

They're not the exhausting for them—sometimes they'll have to repeat a phrase 10 times before they realize what mistake they're making in it."

The method requires teachers to supplement action on the film strip with some illustrative role-play-acting of their own. "It's fine if they understand the picture right away, when they don't, we really have to be actors, to show what the line means."

The course is a voluntary self-improvement project. Miss Robineau has been impressed with the level of interest.

MAKE UP CLASSES

"If they have to miss some classes, they usually attend both their own and another class the next week to catch up."

When she joined the language school last summer, her training program included some German classes taught by the same method. "I can't speak a word of German, so I know just how some of my students feel." She does speak Spanish, which she studied in her degree course at Canberry's Laurentian University.

She got her BA in two years, taking six courses in regular-term and summer courses every year. "I thought I was finished with summer courses, but I have to attend one for language teachers at University of Montreal this summer."

She's an enthusiastic supporter of the film strip method. "It's a lot of work, hard work, because learning from a textbook you have to think twice as hard—but in English and then in French."

Her students agree. "It's a wonderful course," says one MP. "My family pressured me into it. I didn't even know the difference between 'je' and 'vous'."

He says that after only a few months he has many times had an advantage because they had no bad pronunciation habits to shake.

First Guide Rally Held by Belleville Division

Belleville Girl Guides enjoyed a day of fun and group competition at their first rally, held on Saturday at Park Dale Community Centre. Belleville Division sponsored the event, attended by 120 girls.

Nine companies competed for the first place plaque, which is now up for competition every year. Company 5 was the winner and the runner-up was Company 13.

Events, including compass, relays, knots, whistle and hand signal, first aid and life line games, were based on Guide work and gave each company an opportunity to prove its competence in first and second class test requirements.

The rally began at 9.30 a.m. with inspection by Mrs. D. Stewart, Division Commissioner and Mrs. T. R. Colden and Mrs. A. Bannon, District Commissioners, of the Guides, who were drawn up in a triple horseshoe formation. Mrs. Stewart cut the ribbon to signal the start of games. All participants enjoyed a box lunch at noon, followed by more events until the afternoon. A campfire, conducted by Betty Lalande, O.S.D. captain, concluded the day. Plaques, prizes and ribbons were presented to the participating companies before they were dismissed at 4.30 p.m.

Company 13 formed the color party and seven members of the St. John's Ambulance Corps were on hand during the day to attend to the girls' welfare.

St. Michael's Studio Presents Music Recital

On June 19, the students of St. Michael's Convent Music Studio, pianists and vocalists, presented a musical concert in St. Michael's Academy Auditorium. In a setting of ferns, peonies and roses, the young musicians entertained a large and interested audience with a varied program of dancing, accordion selections, piano solos and duets.

ST. MARGARET'S W.A.

The June meeting of St. Margaret's W.A. was held recently in the church hall when 18 members and three guests enjoyed a potluck supper.

After a short business meeting, educational committee, Mrs. Mile's introduced the guest speaker of the evening Mrs. J. E. Utley, formerly of Trenton, but now living in Belleville.

Mrs. Utley has held many offices in the W.A., and before retiring held the office of Diocesan social service secretary for five years. At present she has been invited to act on the central committee for social service for the Dominion.

Mrs. Utley prefaced her talk by reading the Basis of Policy of the Social Service Office. Her topic for the evening "Meals on Wheels," dealt with nutritional needs of the elderly in Belleville, and how women within the W.A. may help in this worthwhile effort, which is as yet, only in the planning stage.

She spoke on the aims and ideas of this project, and stressed the fact, that it would not be welfare, but a service to some of the senior citizens living alone, who may be shut-ins or disabled persons. A lively discussion period followed.

Miss Jessie Dovson thanked the speaker, and presented her with a small token of appreciation.

Meetings will resume again in September.

Artist Uses Traditional Oil Paints on Photos

By SABRINA SIMCOCK

STELLARTON, N.S. (CP) — Wayne McGrath is an artist with a difference.

She uses the traditional oil paints—but instead of canvas, she paints on photographs, adding color to portraits and landscapes.

Although she has been doing portraits for more than 20 years, the Stellarton resident and mother of seven now is devoting more and more time to landscapes of her native Nova Scotia.

Her paintings of local landmarks — everything from Halifax's Citadel to scenic Peggy's Cove—begin with her small box camera. She has the prints enlarged to the desired size and starts work with her oil paints.

The finishing touch is a line of poetry added to the framed picture, and here Mrs. McGrath enlists the help of her family. They look for an appropriate verse, which, once chosen, is reserved for that particular scene.

Although she paints only in her spare time because of her family, Mrs. McGrath said in an interview she finds more time to paint now her youngest child, Susan, is 10.

STARTED WITH POSTERS

Within a few years, Mrs. McGrath said, she hopes to establish a studio for painting and teaching and possibly the sale of arts and crafts. With teaching in mind, Mrs. McGrath recently enrolled in a correspondence course in painting.

Her early training included work at the Nova Scotia College of Art in Halifax. She had been working—"as a rank amateur"—on posters for the Halifax YWCA when an anonymous benefactor offered to finance her training at the college. Mrs. McGrath said she still has no idea who her benefactor was.

Now her landscape paintings are a familiar scene in Nova Scotia. Mrs. McGrath hopes to establish a reputation in Ontario. Her initial plans include a camping tour of Ontario this summer when she will take photographs to work on during the winter.

Mrs. McGrath is convinced that the comparatively old art of hand-colored photographs will never be completely replaced by color film. She says, however, there are few persons still working as color artists.

Colored portraits are returning to fashion, she says. She does these on commission from several studios, working from color descriptions, locks of hair and sometimes swatches of material.

KING GEORGE SCHOOL GRADUATION DINNER

The closing meeting of King George Home and School Association was held Friday evening in the form of a Grade 8 party and closing exercises.

Parents were invited to a short assembly in the decorated auditorium, the decor following in a space-age atmosphere. The decorations were made by the students of Grade 8 under the supervision of Mr. John Smith and helpers.

A short program was presented with a processional of the graduating class followed by a welcome by Mrs. Earl Scott; a presentation of athletic awards, donated by the Home and School Association were given to Flora Koutsoubis, and Gerald Gatley. A piano solo by Sharon Kelly followed. Valedictorian address was given by Donald MacDonald and several members by Grade 8 choir under the direction of Mrs. Ragnow.

After the recessional march of the graduating class the students enjoyed dancing followed by lunch served by the Home and School executive which brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

Burning of Mortgage Will Take Place at Waupoos Guide Camp

An auspicious event in the history of the Quinte area Girl Guide movement will take place at the Waupoos Girl Guide Camp this coming Saturday, June 26 at 3 p.m., when the burning the mortgage ceremony will take place. The camp, which held its official opening six years to the day, had a crowd of approximately 2,000 attend, and it is hoped that this event will be even bigger and better.

Much has been done since the purchase of the site in 1959 and Mrs. W. D. McArthur of Picton, the Camp area chairman of camp development has written a descriptive account of what has been accomplished during this period.

The article reads as follows:

Early in 1959 Eva Baker, Quinte Area Camp Advisor was authorized to look for a suitable camp site. After driving hundreds of miles investigating each suggestion and not being successful, finally one evening Mike Finnegan. It was with little enthusiasm that an investigation was made.

On a rainy day the writer, Mrs. W. D. McArthur, Eva Baker, Mrs. Marion Moore and Mrs. J. E. Packer, formerly of Picton, drove to the site and were not really impressed until they came to the beautiful pine trees, even in the rain. It was something special and all decided to take it to the area executive for approval. The price was $30.000 and it comprised 202 acres with 1,200 feet of Lake Ontario shoreline, with many beautiful trees and a ten-room house on a maintained highway — all the essentials the group had hoped for.

After much discussion and many rejections, the executive representatives from each Division was held in Picton in December, 1959. Mrs. Packer, Chairman of the Area Commissioner, was being succeeded by Mrs. Spear in Lena Haig of Belleville and it was decided to raise the necessary $5,000 for this down payment. This was not an easy task as many were skeptical including the National Organization which is the only group authorized to hold the deeds to Girl Guide property.

The method of financing was to assess each member of the Guide population $1.00 so that time — five dollars each and after the down payment, to pay $1,000 per year plus six percent interest to be completed in 1975. Most people thought this was impossible but this is all paid, along with another $10,000 spent on necessary improvements.

BROWNIE HOUSE

The Brownie House was a shambles and each Division was responsible for restoring a room. These included: Peterborough, the kitchen; Bath and Northumberland, the infirmary and Guides' retreat; Kenora-Lakefield and Prince Edward, the bedrooms upstairs. Most of the rooms had to have plaster removed and covered with wall board and in no time the house was renovated and completely furnished due to the hard work, all voluntary, and the generosity of many people in the area, but chiefly with enthusiasm and cooperation.

In June 1960 the official opening was held when about 2,000 people from the area attended. That summer 200 Guides and Brownies were able to use the camp and enjoy it.

One of the first essentials added was the building of 18 toilets and with the help of Mike Finnegan and Gordon Congdon they were made with Ed. Dostis.

In the spring of 1961 a water system was installed and water was piped from the lake —this necessitated power as hydro was then run down to the waterfront. The house was painted and a chlorinator was donated by Mrs. T. V. Wills of Belleville. Through efforts of the area a fine sewage was built on the Brownie House.

In 1962 a camp house was erected by Mr. and Mrs. Moore of the Peterborough Division and this has been in constant use each summer since that time.

Much credit is due Mr. A. Taylor of Picton for 1964 when Mrs. Yoaker for their constant hard work and devotion to the camp for the first year of camping. They made it their headquarters for the summer and were constantly finding things to improve the property.

BUILD SHELTERS

During 1965 it was necessary to build a small house to shelter the motor at the waterfront and another to store the refrigerators in the field, as these were needed when Guides were camping. Also, we had more incinerators as well as grease pits.

The Belleville Division through the courtesy of the Rollins Construction Company erected a shelter which is in constant use since that time. The Belleville Kiwanis Club provided tables and chairs for the dining room and the Brownies built the benches.

Also during the woodshed attached to the house was converted into a laundry and a new office for the Guides in charge.

At the time of purchase Dr. E. Edson of the Department of Lands and Forests inspected the property and his report was remarked it was the most beautiful he had seen having a few pockets of pine trees which were almost extinct. He asked permission to inspect and use it as a natural conservation woodlot. He has also been most helpful and has given frequent advice. This spring 500 trees were planted with these to be transplanted for the Centennial in 1967 under his supervision.

A few acres of land have at a time been plowed and cleaned up and now there are 300 acres of the farm in fair condition to be leased. Mr. John Duncan has given much needed assistance in growing experimental crops of oats, peas and winter wheat. Mr. Ivan Bell of the Department of Agriculture gave valuable advice. Mr. Fred Lightfoot has also contributed much time and use of equipment.

With the help of Art Hamblin a useful room was restored from a house situated about with help for this project under his supervision coming from Picton Heights, Bloomfield and Picton.

VARIOUS CONTRIBUTIONS

The down payment of $5,000 was made up in various ways. Of this $1,000 was loaned by the Picton Rotary Club for a month; along followed a donation of $1,000 from Mr. J. H. McFarlane with which this loan was repaid. The Province of Northumberland raised $1,000 through a local from the Trenton Rotary Club and from Belleville groups borrowed $1,000 from the Kiwanis Club and the remainder was borrowed and repaid as the Division sent in their quotas.

Each Div[i]s[i]o[n] raised its money in various ways. Quinte and Addington Division had a bottle collection, a rally, hot dogs and pie sale and many contributions. Prince Edward was most fortunate in receiving many contributions from individuals and organizations; but the Guides did raise a sum of money by holding a glass collection, a sale of pennies which totaled $200, a collection of cans, hangers, baskets, bags and the sale of Yule logs.

Mr. Gordon Walmsley Q.C. looked after all the legal procedure necessary to complete the purchase, and after the discharge of the mortgage.

There is still much to be done, but it is hoped to complete that further progress will be made so that the camp at Waupoos will be a real credit to the Girl Guide Movement.

GOLD CORD AWARDS

Wednesday was a big night in the life of the 12th Belleville Guide Company of Christ Church, when five girls received their First Class Badges, and three of these girls also were presented with the Guide All Gold Cord.

Mrs. Dan Stewart, Division Commissioner for Belleville 11-6, presented All Round Cords to Elizabeth Ford, Judy Settle, and Cheryl Stewart. Receiving the Gold Cord, a Guide must earn her first class badge, the Mitre house emblem which is a symbol that a girl has passed the six homecraft badges, and also five other badges which are selected from a choice covering badges designed to foster the ability to serve others, to attain physical fitness, participating in outdoor activities, proficiency in handicraft, and any special activity of the girl's own choice.

Mrs. H. W. Hunter, former District Commissioner for Belleville West, pinned First Class badges on Catherine Ford, Elizabeth Ford, Suzanne Foster, Judy Settle and Alice Foster, signifying that these girls had finished proficiency in such activities as home nursing, first aid, swimming and rescue work, laundering, cooking, needlework and cooking, and had a knowledge of the history and aims of Girl Guiding, and participation in the practise of good grooming, and an ability to use the patrol system in Guider activities.

PRESENT EMBLEMS

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation of recognition awards to Commissioner R. B. DeBlois Wright presented the senior emblem to Nancy Bell, Mrs. Dan Stewart presented junior emblems to Cathy Gallivan, Mary Sullivan, Sandra Foster, Carol Rogers and ebbie Stapley.

Gail Sprogeon received her homemaker and needlewoman badges, swimmer badges went to Elizabeth Ford, Suzanne Foster; life saver badge to Judy Settle; first aid badges to Cathy Gallivan, Judy Settle, and artsman badges to Heather Howard, and Norma Waters.

SOUTH EAST DISTRICT GUIDES

COMPANY 9 girls were most fortunate to attend a long weekend camp at Camp Kawartha at Waupoos under the leadership of Captain Mrs. D. Kirkman, Lieutenant Mrs. Ford and Mrs. learning the various kinds of camp craft and gadget work necessary to a Guide camp. Many of the newer Goldna found cooking their own meals and cleaning up after-cards a different experience.

Anne Hilmert and Anne Brad-ford have earned their second class badge.

Proficiency badges were awarded: hostess badge, Judy Meeker, Anne Bradford, Brenda McLauchlan, Debbie Johnson, Karen Russell, Darlene Kirkman, Barbara Glover; writer, Barbara Glover; child care, Marlene Adamson, Heather Kirk, Anne Adamson, Heather Kirk, Anne Hilbourn, Donna Henry, Donna Kirkman, Karen Russell, Margery Fraser, Barbara Glover; swimmer, Karen Ford, Carol Hall; Marion Brinkman; Religion and Life badges were: Margery Fields; cooks, Barbara Glover, Brenda McLauchlan, Debbie Johnson; earned her musician and skater.

Captain Mrs. B. Smith's COMPANY 34 Guides recently held a hike. The busy Guides in this company earned ten child care, three health, three needlewomans and 22 Religion and Life badges which were presented at a special ceremony by the Rt. Rev. J. A. Carley of St. Joseph's parish.

A "get" party at the Tops Motel and cookout afterwards has been planned by the company.

The local association executives of Guide and Brownie mothers held their spring meeting at the home of District Commissioner Colden.

It was decided that $25 be given to the Brownies to assist with their visit to the Brownie Revel at Waupoos.

The Commissioner asked that the blanket badges be ordered. These were to be given to Cecil Roy Pearson, the district secretary, who is leaving the city, and to Mrs. W. H. C. Munroe, the badge secretary.

WOMEN'S EDITOR'S APPLE CAKE

Women's Editors have to be Jills-of-all-Trades much like mothers of large families. At their home one of them served her Apple Cake to my sister and Doris thought so highly of it she asked for the recipe for me.

After studying the typewritten recipe I discovered it was quite different and made it. I want to recommend it to those of you who are looking for a recipe that goes together in jiffy time. We served it hot from the pan cut in squares for dessert. In plum season I am going to make it often substituting plums for apples.

APPLE CAKE (courtesy Women's Editor):

¾ cup cooking oil, ¾ cup sugar, 3 eggs, 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons single-acting baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 3½ to 3 medium apples, ½ cup sugar (second amount), 3 teaspoons cinnamon.

Into your beater bowl measure the oil, sugar and eggs and beat until thoroughly blended and light. Sift together the sifted flour, baking powder and salt and beat into creamed mixture for about 2 minutes. Pour nearly two-thirds of batter into buttered 9 x 9 x 2 or 8½ x 8½" square pan. Pare and slice apples. Mix together ½ cup sugar and cinnamon and measure out 2 tablespoons and reserve. Dredge apples in remaining sugar-cinnamon mixture using all of it. Arrange in neat layer over batter in pan. Cover evenly with remaining batter.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Toad-in-a-Hole (Sausages baked in Yorkshire Pudding) Gravy or Chili Sauce; Mashed Potatoes; Green Peas; Radishes and Carrot Sticks; Cherry Cobbler with Ice Cream; Coffee.

Sprinkle reserved 2 tablespoons sugar-cinnamon mixture evenly over top. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 45 minutes or until when touched with finger tips cake springs back.

This is at its best served hot or warm. If any is leftover you could warm it up for serving it a second time.

NOTE.

If you would like to make this a little more elaborate serve it as a pudding dessert with Lemon Sauce: One-quarter cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, shake of salt, 1 cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice grated rind of ½ lemon. Mix sugar, salt and corn starch. Add boiling water; stir and cook until there is no raw starch. Remove from heat, add butter, lemon juice and rind.

Queen's Summer School Has 1,200 Enrolment

KINGSTON — More than 2,500 persons will be on the Queen's University campus this summer.

Largest group will be the 1,200 students who are expected to attend the Queen's Summer School which will run from July 4 to August 26.

The Ontario Department of Education teacher training program is expected to attract between 800 and 900 persons.

Vernon S. Ready, dean of the MacArthur College of Education in Kingston, reports that enrolment in the first year course of the two year program will be in excess of 500 — which is two considerably more than previous years.

Another 60 to 75 persons are expected to take the course for principals which is also conducted by the Ontario Department of Education.

MAXIMUM ENROLMENT

Enrolment in the School of English will be 120. This is the maximum number that can be accommodated and Miss Kathleen Healey, assistant director of extension, reports that "a great many" applicants had to be turned down.

Also being offered this summer is Part III of the professional education course. The second part was given last winter and the first part the previous winter.

Many secondary school teachers are expected to take the special course in chemistry in the department of extension is giving for grade 13 teachers. Last year the department conducted a course for biology teachers.

And, again this summer, the university will offer three new courses, each of two weeks duration.

Hubby's Pouting Upsets Facing Forty

DORIS CLARE

DEAR DORIS: I hope that you can print something to help give husbands an insight into some women's emotional instability during forgotten — and not to judge them as harshly as perhaps they may have done during pre-menopausal days.

Some posts for days after a sharp word from me. By the time he finishes his pouting I am really in an upset state because, according to him, my original outburst was a joke for days of non-communication. I might add that once I have worked off my original steam I have forgotten the whole incident, this is a matter of one good housecleaning and a few hours or less.

But he won't let it rest there. I must apologize. This has gone on for years. I realize one of the partners must be the first to make overtures of reconciliation but this gets harder and harder for me to do. — NO NAME.

DEAR NO NAME: In the mail to you is my ten-cent booklet "Pouting Forty."

Insight and poise of a superior kind are called for when a spouse is the butt of a sharp tongue. These things hurt, whether or not they come of upset glands.

Far better is the marriage combination which makes possible a quick retort and a flare-up — with all forgiven and forgotten soon after. Some couples manage things so that one is always able to laugh a little, good-naturedly, when the other sounds off.

But the guy who stores it up is made that way. The hurt festers and the wound grows great proportions. And there is no peace until things come out in the open. It would be a step in the right direction if he could even bring himself to say, "What you said just can't help it if I can't talk to you for a while after you say such things!"

Improved communication is the answer. To understand is to forgive — both ways.

DEAR DORIS: "In Hope" wrote and said that her sister's boy friend broke their engagement because he found out she had a child out of wedlock.

The boy I plan to marry started going with me when I was four months pregnant. I told him on our fourth date. In March I lost the baby. We are planning to be married within the year.

Please print my letter and let "In Hope" know that there is someone who will be grateful. — GRATEFUL.

DEAR GRATEFUL: We do have some happy endings — or rather happy beginnings — don't we? "In Hope" will be happy to hear.

* * *

TO IT CAN'T HAPPEN HERE: Don't let false modesty drive you to write to Doris. If you suspect a lump in your breast, don't write me a letter. Get to your doctor. The great majority of lumps prove to be benign; but wouldn't it be good news to Mary for one of them to be? And if it isn't, early detection can make all the difference to a cure.

(Note to readers: Information about self-examination for breast cancer may be obtained by writing to The Canadian Cancer Society, 100 Bay Street, Toronto, Canada.)

WATCH THOSE OILY CLOTHS

Dear Susanna: I am amazed at you.

The suggestion from one of your readers to separate the dusters that have furniture oil or polish on them, from the clean cotton cloths, by storing them in a pillow case is a very dangerous one as spontaneous combustion can occur causing fire.

All should be rescinded immediately.

All oily cloths should be kept in an open space to prevent fires. — Mrs. T. H. Smith

Wait a minute, Mrs. Smith, please let me explain!

In our dreams today, we have good guys and bad guys. On the one hand, furniture oil and polish in general for dusting are the good guys, because they are usually made with a non-combustible, non-oxidizing mineral oil base. Which means the cloths used to apply them do not present a fire hazard.

To be more specific, the chemical engineer with one of the leading manufacturers of lemon oil, pointed out to me that their product is made with a non-oxidizing mineral oil base, and that he doesn't know of any products made specifically for dusting that do contain an oxidizing agent.

On the other hand, oily paints and bad guys in spades! They all have oxidizing bases; with boiled linseed oil being the really tough actor in the group. It is highly combustible.

However, dear reader, I do appreciate your concern, and since boiled linseed oil is often recommended as a base for furniture refinishing, and just to be on the very, very safe side, I will gladly rescind that letter.

Lay those oily cloths outside to dry (pets, etc.) dispose of them in the best garbage pickup — just in case. — SUSANNA

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

The following letter vividly illustrated how, in good faith, one can find himself in a very unenviable situation when selling his home. It should help you avoid similar situations which are common in the marketplace.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I know many readers closely follow your column to avoid trouble when buying or selling, so my experience can be an object lesson.

I signed an exclusive listing with a real estate broker. After about 30 days he presented an agreement for my signature at the specified price, but the down payment was only $100. He explained that the buyer was temporarily financially embarrassed, and would have the required funds at settlement. I signed.

When the settlement date arrived, the buyer could not raise the money required. I consulted an attorney who advised me to cancel the listing agreement and secure the services of another broker. This I did. The house was again sold in less than two weeks.

The first broker then sued for his commission. Not only did he win, but he also collected a year's interest. The result was I paid two commissions and a large attorney's fee. Where did I go wrong? — Cost Me Over Twenty Per Cent

ANSWER: The sad experience of our correspondent may caution readers to avoid similar situations.

When an agreement is signed, and owner should expect that he will become obligated for a commission; although this is not always true. Therefore, it follows that the minimum acceptable down payment should at least be equal to the commission.

A buyer unable to complete settlement is not uncommon. When this happens a broker usually will resell the house and charge only one commission. Prudence should indicate that this is not the time to throw the broker off the job and antagonize him.

It has been my experience that when one is in a tight situation, it is not the time to become morally indignant and assert one's rights. Often, we discover that the other fellow has rights also.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I've just come from settlement. The broker charged me $200 (one per cent of $20,000) for obtaining the mortgage and a $30 consulting fee. I paid after much protest. I've asked friends and they tell me that they never paid such fees when they bought their homes. Was I taken?—Neophyte

ANSWER: Among the services a broker usually provides in the sale of a property is arranging for the financing and advising the buyer. Normally, most brokers include these services with the commission for selling. This is why your friends did not pay a financing and consulting fee.

However, since the broker is the agent for the seller, he may adopt the viewpoint that obtaining a mortgage for the buyer is not part of his obligatory services. If the buyer therefore needs a mortgage and instructs the broker to obtain such financing, he may make a charge for services rendered.

The charges can be avoided if a buyer insists that a mortgage clause be inserted in the agreement of sale. Then the broker is required to obtain a mortgage as specified without charge to the buyer.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: As the summer approaches, our family is back to the perennial swimming pool argument — shall we or shall we not install a swimming pool?

We bought our house three years ago for $16,000 and are happy with the property and the location. The pool, with accessories, will cost a minimum of $4,000 and probably as much as $5,000. I am told that this is a wise expenditure for it will increase the value of our property proportionately — thus we will have the pleasure of the pool and it will cost us nothing in the long run. Has this been your experience? — Don't Want To Take a Dive

ANSWER: A swimming pool sometimes is like a double-edged sword — it works two ways on marketability. In affluent neighborhoods and in hot climates it is an asset. In colder climates, where zoning brings problems, or where a pool creates an "attractive nuisance" for children, its affect on value is questionable.

In any case, a $5,000 pool is too rich a luxury for a $16,000 house. Under the best circumstances, your $5,000 pool will add about $2,000 to value, under ordinary circumstances about $1,000 to value, and under unfavorable conditions may even be responsible for a lowering of value.

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

Wilson Rocks House With Hints of 'Redism'

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson rocked Parliament and the striking seamen's union Monday with the charge that Britain's shipping strike is being prolonged by Communists who want to damage the nation.

He didn't use the word "Communist" but there could be no mistake about the meaning of the carefully-chosen words in his statement to Parliament on the shipping strike, now in its fifth week.

He said a tightly-knit group of "politically-motivated men" had put pressure on "a select few" of the 42-member national executive of the seamen's union, who "in turn have been able to dominate the majority of that otherwise sturdy union."

Sources said later that the government did not believe any of the executive were Communists, but that a Communist group was meeting regularly and dictating sinister policy to the executive with the threat that any show of weakness would mean defeat in union elections.

Wilson told Parliament: "This group holds views which failed to secure any representation in this House at the last election, but their backstage views have had effect."

He also said plans were being made for a Royal Air Force airlift to deliver important exports and carry backdrop mail to Northern Ireland. The Royal Navy would be used to get supplies to outlying islands.

The prime minister, who has been rebuffed by the seamen in his personal attempts to win a settlement, called William Hogarth, general secretary of the union, to a meeting at 10 Downing St.

Hogarth is believed to be a moderate, and Wilson is said to have urged him to take a stronger lead in the union executive.

Hogarth's only comment on the meeting and Wilson's statement was that it indicated a toughening attitude by the Labor government.

Militants among the seamen quickly rejected the charges and said it was the prime minister who was turning a strike over economic issues into a political struggle.

RED REPLIES

John Gollan, general secretary of the British Communist party, accused Wilson of "McCarthyite smears and innuendos" against leaders of the seamen's union.

In a statement after Wilson made his Commons speech, Gollan said the 36,000 - member Communist party opposes the government's wage - restraint policy as "a barefaced fraud" and blames Britain's economic difficulties on "crippling military expenditures at home and abroad."

The rest of Britain's trade union movement has largely sided with the government in calling on the seamen for a settlement. But chances of a serious split in the sailors' ranks seemed slight after votes Monday at six major ports supported the executive.

Trenton Man Fractures Leg In Fall at New School

A 22-year-old Trenton man is in the intensive care unit of Belleville General Hospital recovering from injuries sustained this morning in a mishap at the construction site of the new Centennial Secondary School.

Scott Duncan, of 34 Fairview Crescent in Trenton suffered a compound femur fracture and a severe scalp laceration in the accident at the Palmer Road site that occurred about 9:30 this morning.

Duncan fell while connecting a structural steel beam some 25 feet above the ground, landing in an area strewn with steel angles, rocks and diverse forms of construction rubble.

An "improver apprentice" with Central Bridge steel company of Trenton, Duncan's presence on this particular job was somewhat of an accident. The laborer regularly assigned to the job of connecting the beams while aloft did not show up for work this morning, and Duncan was called upon to take his place.

The mishap was the second of a serious nature to occur at the high school in recent weeks. A Roslin man is still recuperating in Kingston General Hospital from an accident 15 days ago when his skull was pierced by a nail, while he was installing sheet metal.

You'll see the world at Expo 67. Here's what the world will see of Canada.

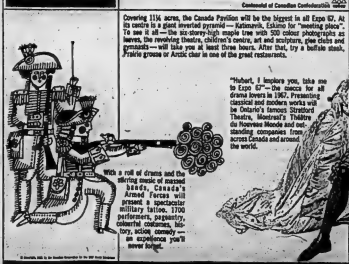
Next year, every town and village in Canada will be celebrating. But the biggest whoop-de-do of all, the great get-together for all Canadians from all the provinces (and half the world as well) will be . . . Expo 67, at Montreal. With over 70 foreign nations coming to help make Expo 67 the biggest, most imaginative exhibition ever staged here, obviously Canada couldn't be left behind. And it won't be. At Expo 67, the sweep, the flavour and the achievements of this vast country of ours will be on show for all the world to see. Our history, industries, culture, and our future, will come alive in a series of soaring pavilions, and a whole season of exciting events. You won't want to miss it, any more than you'd miss your own birthday. Plan now to visit Expo 67. Meet the world, and discover your own country. It will be a wonderful time to be a Canadian.

Your Expo 67 Passport will admit you to all the Provincial, National and Theme Pavilions, and is good for unlimited rides on the Expo Express. Save by buying now at the reduced advance prices. A Daily Passport costs $1.50, a Weekly Passport (7 consecutive days) $6.50. There are also Season Passports, and Youth Passports for the 13-21 age group. Children 2-12, half price. (Ages as on April 28, 1967). Available at banks, travel agencies, department stores, or wherever you see the official Expo 67 sign.

The day Expo 67 opens, Shipwrights from down East will lay the keel of a schooner. They'll go on building, clinging, until the ship slides into the water 25 months later. That's just one of the fascinating features of the Atlantic Provinces exhibit.

The whirl of French Canada's colourful dance spectacle, les Feux Follets, will be seen throughout the six-month Expo 67 season. Other visitors will include the National Ballet, Winnipeg Ballet, and folk and ethnic dance groups from all over Canada.



The Ontario Pavilion will take the form of multi-pyramids, covered in vinyl and fiberglass. It will include a 350-seat theatre, an outdoor cafe, a floating restaurant, and a nursery for children.

In a glade of giant Douglas firs (real ones), with the whirr of lumbermen's saws in the aromatic air, you could be at a B.C. tree farm. Instead, you'll be in the Western Provinces Pavilion, presenting a panorama of the great Canadian West.

Centennial of Canadian Confederation

Quebec's Pavilion will be unique, in that it is to be constructed almost entirely of glass, and built over water. Amongst many exhibits will be a fascinating glimpse of Quebec in the year 2,001.

Covering 1134 acres, the Canada Pavilion will be the biggest in all Expo 67. At its centre is a giant inverted pyramid — Katimavik, Eskimo for "meeting place". To see it all — the six-storey-high maple tree with 300 colour photographs as leaves, the revolving theatre, children's centre, art and sculpture, pier clubs and gymnasia — will take you at least three hours. After that, try a buffalo steak. Prairie growns or Arctic char is one of the great restaurants.

With a roll of drums and the stirring music of massed bands, Canada's Armed Forces will present a spectacular military tattoo. 1700 performers, pageantry, colourful costumes, history, action comedy — an experience you'll never forget.

"Hubert, I implore you, take me to Expo 67"—the caucus for all drama lovers in 1967. Presenting classical and modern works will be Ontario's famous Stratford Festival, Montreal's Theâtre du Nouveau Monde and outstanding companies from all across Canada and around the world.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

For many years one of this city's most spectacular and enjoyable events was the annual March extravaganza of the Quinte Figure Skating Club. For a city this size the productions were on a lavish scale. The costuming was excellent; the music tuneful and lively and the skating executed by well-known guest stars drew well-deserved ovations.

This year saw the first gap in a long line of these enjoyable productions. Many figure-skating aficionados were disappointed. This department received many inquiries regarding the non-presentation. The Quinte Figure Skating Club show, one said "is not a city event — it is an institution."

I will go along with that. Down through the years the Quinte "spectaculars" have climaxed the efforts of a number of devoted members who planned, arranged and presented productions that have been among the "tops" over a far-flung area.

And I understand that not a few of the young stars developed by the club and its professionals have performed in outside ice facilities.

And Quinte can note with pride that it is the foundling club of two attractive young professional skaters, Jane and Peggy McCutcheon, who I understand are now back in the city after their inaugural tour along the monied trail.

But circumstances are no respectors of persons or clubs in sport or any other phase of life.

I understand that two of the reasons why the club did not hold a show were the temporary absence of trained membership and the fact the club pro, through no fault of her own, would not be available for training purposes.

"It was too late in the season to train new members to the point where we could present a show comparable to those of previous years," a club spokesman said.

However veteran and other members of the club are not discouraged by the temporary setback in these affairs of the organization and I understand plans are or soon will be in the talking stage for a gala presentation next fall — one that will feature Canada's Centennial Year.

This should be a fitting colorful addition to the city's centennial plans and should not prove too difficult a task for the veteran executive and members of the club whose work is well known in the district.

However it will mean a lot of hard work — and co-operation on the part of sports-minded citizens. Membership is one of the big items — training is another.

Next winter's activities I presume were discussed at the Annual Dessert and Coffee Party held by the club in the attractive home and on the beautiful grounds of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Scott, 159 Dufferin Avenue a few days ago.

The party was a record success, according to the club spokesman. Lawn tables were attractively filled during the late afternoon and evening. The tables were pictures of floral beauty which later was raffled and won by Miss Clara Wilson. Dessert and coffee were served by club members Evaline Pallaca and Paulette Coghlan and those lovely pros Jane and Peggy McCutcheon. Men and boys members of the club served coffee.

At the coffee tables were Alderman and Mrs. Don Williams, Recreation Commission; Mr. and Mrs. George O'Brien, Bay of Quinte Skating Club executive; Mr. Harold Craig and Mrs. Craig, Bay of Quinte Yacht Club and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maund, Quinte Curling Club.

The youngsters had a field at the fish pond and some lucky person will be the winner of a $50 government bond come Wednesday.

Figure-skating is a clean wholesome form of recreation, one that can be enjoyed by "those under three and over 90". The Quinte Figure Skating Club hopes that parents and others will aid the club drive for membership when plans for winter recreation are being discussed.

City Hotel Turns Back S. Warner

The defending pennant-winners, City Hotel, took another step up the Commercial Softball League ladder last night, knocking off the first-place Stewart Warner squad 11-6.

It was City's second win in a row, tying them with Black Diamond, after the club lost seven of its first eight starts.

Gerry Genereaux checked Stewart Warner on six hits over the route on the City mound. He struck out four and walked four.

Junior Day started and gave way to Doug Ellis in the second for the error-troubled losers. They gave up seven hits, fanned three, all by Ellis, and walked two. The club made six errors.

City erased a 3-3 deficit with a trio in the second and made it 7-4 with two in the fourth.

Doug Hull sparked City's attack with a brace of doubles and Bucky Ettler rapped two singles. Gerry Genereaux had a triple, McGuire and Doug Moreau a single each.

Gerry Day had a lead-off homer for Stewart Warner while Keith Bertram singled twice. John Prendiville doubled and base hits by Doug Ellis and Flori Gogean completed the attack.

| City Hotel | 220 200 x — 7 7 4 |

Batteries: J. Day, D. Ellis (3) and C. Carr; G. Genereaux and T. Coolen.

Tykes Defeat Port Hope 12-1

Scoring all their runs in the first three frames, Belleville Boot Tr's whopped Port Hope 10-1 in an EOBA tyke division game, at Port Hope, last evening.

The EOBA midget game, Belleville at Peterborough, was washed out.

Booth's scored three runs in the fifth, four in the sixth and a fina. five in the seventh while the losers' loner came in the eighth.

Jim McTaggart pitched strong three-hit ball for Belleville and got perfect support afield. He blew third strikes past 15 and did not walk a man.

Jiggins gave up 10 hits, striking nine and walking four.

Tom Coughlan poked a double and two singles to spark the Booth hitters. Terry Ray got one single and one double. John Venutti two doubles, Jack Forster two singles and Murray Daley one.

Taylor, Watson and Hodgson singled in defeat.

Minor Softball Results

In a pair of Belleville Minor Softball Association games last night Barrett's Yankees scalped the Woodland Braves 2-1 while Bonisteel Motors and ANAF Vets 11-10 in a close one.

Only one run apiece was turned in to publicity chairman Keith MacDonald. In that game, Canadian Legion trimmed the Kinsmen Hawks 10-4.

MacDonald also announced that a sixth team has entered the day-long tournament being held here this Saturday. Entries now are Belleville Rec-ky's, Springbrook, Baltimore, Oshawa, Westwood and Zion.

Would Have Paid Fine For Brother

EDMONTON (CP)—Bill Warwick of Edmonton said Sunday that if he'd known his brother Grant was in trouble in Vancouver "I'd have paid his fine rather than have him go to jail."

The Warwick brothers—Bill, Grant and Dick—won fame for their exploits in hockey.

A report from Vancouver Sunday said Grant Warwick, the man who guided Canada's national hockey team to the world crown in 1954, landed in jail last week because he couldn't pay $2.35 for a meal he had eaten at a restaurant.

Bill Warwick said his brother has been "in and out of hospital for the last eight or nine years."

"The last I heard was that the Hockey Benevolent Association at the coast had taken him under their wing."

Bill said a statement by Grant that the brothers aren't on speaking terms is "nonsense."

Slumping Drysdale Loses 5 In Row

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Somebody plagued Taps for the Braves at Atlanta, but they buried Don Drysdale in Houston.

Drysdale, of Los Angeles Dodgers, admitted after his fifth straight loss—a 4-3 National League defeat by the Astros Monday—that every loss was getting him deeper in trouble.

"When they got you down, whether you're a pitcher or a hitter, they try to bury you," he said.

"But it's just one of those things. You just try to battle out of it."

Meanwhile at Atlanta, a fan in the centre field seats pulled out his trumpet during batting practice and played taps for the Braves, who had lost three straight games.

The Braves rapped later with two homers from Gene Oliver and one from Joe Torre to halt Philadelphia Phillies 7-5.

St. Louis Cardinals knocked off New York Mets 4-3 in the only other National League game.

Oliver hit his first homer during a three-run, fourth-inning rally and Torre collected three runs batted in with a homer in the second inning and a single in the fifth. But the Cardinals battled back to tie it in the seventh on a three-run double by Bill White.

The Braves went back to work in their half and put it away when Felipe Alou beat out an fielded hit and Oliver rapped his second homer.

Lou Brock's single, his steal of second, an error by shortstop Eddie Bressoud and a wild pitch by Dick Selma gave the Cardinals their final run in the seventh.

Queen's Plate Favor Taylor-Bred Titled Hero

By JIM CRERAR

TORONTO (CP) — If Titled Hero, the 3-to-2 choice to win Saturday's 107th running of the Queen's Plate, comes through as expected, Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor will have at least one consolation—the winning horse was bred on his farm.

Titled Hero was purchased two years ago by Peter Marshall of Toronto for $15,000 at the pre-yearling sale at Taylor's Windfields, operated by Taylor annually.

Taylor's Windfields Farm has a horse entered in Saturday's 1¼ mile classic for three-year-olds bred in Canada. He is Arctic Prince, who scratched last year who is second to Titled Hero in the odds list at 9-to-1.

But Joe Thomas, the Windfield's racing manager, thinks Arctic Prince is better than last year's record indicates.

As a two - year - old, Arctic Prince won one, was second once and third twice. In the four starts this year, the horse has two firsts, a second and a fourth.

The difference, says Thomas, is he's Arctic Troops spent most of last season recovering from a pair of bucked shins.

WON SIX TIMES

Taylor has considered Canada's leading breeder of thoroughbreds and it has paid off handsomely with six Plate victories in the last nine years.

And Taylor has offered some excellent horses as yearlings. Among them have been Canadian Champ, winner of the 1956 Queen's Plate and Horse of the Year who was bought by Bill Ritchie of Toronto, Blue Light, 1961 Plate winner who went to Col. K. R. Marshall of Toronto, and Titled Hero.

A lot of top thoroughbreds have been overlooked too, including Northern Dancer, Windfields offered him as a yearling but there were no takers, so he stayed under Taylor colors and two years ago won the Plate, the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

Other horses passed up by prospective purchasers include Canebrake, 1963 winner, Fleeting Page, who won it in 1962, Victoria Park, the 1961 winner, New Providence, tops in 1960 and Lyford Cay, who took it in 1957.

The starting field for the Plate won't definitely be known until Thursday when each owner must make the final eligibility payment of $1,000. At that time, post position will be drawn.

The race, scheduled to get off at 5:12 p.m. EDT at Woodbine race track on the northern fringe of Metropolitan Toronto, is expected to produce a record purse of more than $81,000. The existing record of $80,039 went to Canadore, a Taylor horse, in 1963.

The race will be carried live on CBC television.

Loses Third To Angels

Mudcat Sad; May Sue For Non-Support

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Mudcat doesn't have his Kitten anymore, but he still has reason to howl.

California Angels tamed the Mudcat Grant, for the third time this season as they defeated Minnesota Twins 5-3 Monday night.

Grant was not happy with the decision that dropped his record to 5-6, a far cry from his 20-7 record last year that helped put the Twins into the World Series and himself on the stage with a musical act called Mudcat and the Kittens.

"I think I've pitched better this year than last, and I think my earned run average proves that," said Grant. "But you see what happened—it's happened to me a lot this year."

Manager Sparky Tony Oliva dropped a fly ball with two on in the seventh inning, giving the Angels two unearned runs.

Grant, 30, is correct as far as his ERA is concerned. His present mark of 3.38 is lower than his 3.44 ERA in 1965 and the 3.63 he had at this time last year when he also had a 6-2 record.

HELPED CLINCH PENNANT

The righthander pitched the Twins to the American League pennant and won two games in the Series.

His bad break Monday night came after Tom Satriano and Paul Schaal singled with one out in the seventh. Pinch hitter Willie Smith then belted a long fly to centre field, but Oliva dropped it, and two runs scored for a 3-3 tie.

Smith wound up at second and was credited with a double.

Oliva, who had been batting .333 before the game, went hitless in four trips to the plate.

Grant's record against the Angels is now 1-3 in the city after their inaugural tour along the monied trail.

TORONTO (CP)—John Patterson of Vancouver, Ont., rolled a 10-game total of 2,787 to take the Canadian open men's five-pin bowling tournament and first prize of $1,000.

He held a 27-pin margin over second-place Russell Davidson of Fort Erie who won $700.

Wilf Knight of West Hill was third with 2,735, one pin ahead of Corky Miller of Toronto.

Lightfoots Set Down Pointers

Lightfoot Construction grabbed a anare of third place from Point Anne in the Consumercial Softball league last night, downing the Pointers 5-2.

The losers managed to hold a slight 1-0 lead until the fourth and fifth frames, when Lightfoots notched three runs.

Rick Rosebush slammed a homer in the second to give Point Anne their momentary margin.

Joe Clapp tied the contest with a lead-off homer in the fourth, and Frank Murray of Lightfoot singled and rounded the bases for another run. Don Wood moved to third base next inning and stole home to make it 3-1.

The winning pitcher was Don Smith, relieving only four hits while whiffing one and walking three.

M.urrs Kimmett threw for the losers, giving up three hits, striking out five and walking three.

For the winners, Joe Clapp homered, Frank Murray slashed two singles, and Don Smith had a safety.

Kimmett had two base hits, while Rosebush homered and Mike Cook singled for Point Anne.

Japanese Loom As Car Rivals

PARIS (Reuters)—A French newspaper quotes Henry Ford II as saying that Ford's biggest rivals in sports car races will soon be Japanese.

Reporter Roger Constantin of France-Soir interviewed Ford here Sunday night, and asked him which European manufacturer would be giving Ford the toughest sports car competition in the future.

Ford II were placed one, two and three at Le Mans Sunday, ending the reign of the Italian Ferraris in the gruelling 24-hour race.

Constantin quotes Ford as replying that he fears mainly the Japanese, who had acquired a remarkable authority in Formula 1 speed events in only a few seasons.

Will Skip British

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Newly - crowned United States Open golf champion Billy Casper will pass up the British Open next month to play in a church event.

"My wife and I were recently converted to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon), and it has brought me a new in n e r strength," the 34-year-old champion said after winning the championship Monday.

Casper changed his religious affiliation late last year and on Jan. 1 was baptized by the Mormons. After tying Arnold Palmer with a tremendous comeback Sunday, he made an 80-mile trip to take part in a church Sunday program at Petaluma, Calif.

He plans to play in the Mormon tournament at Salt Lake City, Utah, which precludes his going to Muirfield, Scotland, for the British Open July 6-8.

Casper captured his second Open with some great putting for a one-stroke win in Monday's playoff, while Palmer duplicated his collapse of Sunday and shot a 73 after leading by two strokes at the end of nine holes.

Their last roundup tied at 279 Sunday.

That brought a $25,000 top prize for Casper plus $1,500 as his share of the playoff proceeds, and he'll give 10 per cent to the church.

Palmer took a stroke lead on the par-four fourth hole when he dropped with an 18-foot putt. Casper lost another stroke on par four fifth hole when his drive hit a tree. A six-foot birdie putt cut the margin to one at the par-three eighth, but Casper three-putted the par four ninth, the first time he had done it in the tournament.

The key to victory came at the 430 - yard 11th, where Casper dropped a 25-footer for a birdie to even the match while Palmer missed from four feet.

Then at the par-three 13th, Casper rammed home a 35-foot putt for another birdie and took a one-stroke lead.

Palmer's collapse reached full proportions as he went four over par on the next three holes.

"The 11th where I bogeyed and Bill made the putt was the turning point," Palmer said.

"This round was an experience I'll never had. I thought I was not hitting bad shots but getting bad results."

"When Arnie dropped on Sunday, I was charging and ready," said Casper. "When he let the door close a crack, I was able to slip in."

Palmer, 36, collected $12,500 plus the $1,500 for the playoff.

CFL Committee

May Name Commissioner Wednesday

WINNIPEG (CP)—The ticket scheduled to end Wednesday night, but Grant is The meeting is scheduled to said it easily could be ex- available to us." tended until some time Thurs-day.

Speculation has been that Senator Keith Davey is the leading candidate for the post, which becomes vacant when Halter resigns at the end of this year.

Rod Grant, coach and general manager of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, said a three-man committee charged with finding Halter's replacement has kept its own counsel through most of its search, "but we certainly expect some additional information during the next few days."

A meeting of the committee members—put Maclean, Hal Gagary, Don McPherson of Regina and Jake Gaudaur of Hamilton—is scheduled today.

A statement to representatives of the nine CFL teams is anticipated Wednesday.

Grant said he does not know the names of others who might be considered rivals to Davey for the post.

Largest obstacle to Davey's possible appointment, it was added, is the fear that his obligations in the Senate might conflict with his duties as commissioner.

"I think the first question almost anybody would ask would be: How much of his time will be occupied with this other position."

Grant looked forward to another step toward implementation of recommendations that the CFL form an autonomous league, rather than Eastern and Western divisions with separate constitutions.

"A big stumbling block in anything like this is the recommendation that television and gate revenue be split evenly," Grant said.

"I don't expect the full report by the Committee of One League to be adopted at this meeting, although I don't know what progress has been made.

"The committee has held private discussions since our annual meeting (in Calgary in February) and the basic thing we expect here is a report on progress."

The COOL report, discussed at length in Calgary, calls for establishment of a central office in Toronto; an equal split of television revenue; a gate equalization plan based on the system now in use in the Western conference and expansion of the CFL pension plan.

Grant said the agenda lists several internal details of no immediate importance. Discussions of 1967 scheduling and the three-year television contract recently signed with CTV also are on the schedule.

Grant said he has no firm idea what form the discussions of television will take, but CTV sports officials are meeting here this week "and we've been told television people will be

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

Exclusive Healing Substance Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids.

If you want satisfactory relief from "Itching Piles"—here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance that promptly relieves the burning itch and pain—actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. In gross-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In case after case "very striking improvements" was noted, even among cases of long standing. And this improvement was maintained over a period of months!

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—which quickly helps heal injured tissue and stimulates growth of new tissue. Now Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation "H". Ask for it at all drug stores—satisfaction or money refunded.

Minor Baseball Results

Bad Boys notched six runs in the final inning to break up a 1-1 tie and defeat Park Dale 7-1 in peewee last night. In a Tadpole tilt, the Jets bombed the Rockets 14-2.

Brian Cousins and David Smith nuried the peewee win, giving up four hits, fanning seven and walking four.

Dean Lang and Wayne Andrews pitched for the losers. They were combed for seven hits, win three strikeouts and seven walks.

Dave Smith, Brian Cousins and John Gorman pasted two singles each for Bad Boys. Dan Coulton had a safety.

Fred Lynch, Mike Hayes, Austin Wilson and Jim Stather all singled for the losers.

In the Tadpole scrap, Greg Maclaine and John Templeton combined on the winners' mound. They gave up only two hits.

Peter Hall threw for the losers, allowing 12 hits.

Paul Weeks smashed a homer and triple to lead the winners. Other hitters were Roger Lapp, John Hipwell, Ted Coates, Randy DeGenova, Mike Burke, Billy Bell, Stephen Coates and Greg MacInnis.

Mark Porter and Neil Wilkie got the losers' hits.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Tilted Hero, the 3-to-2 favorite for Saturday's 107th running of the Queen's Plate, came through as expected in the division of the plate trials Monday at Woodbine race track.

Tilted Hero, owned by Peter Marshall of Toronto and a heavy choice to win Saturday's 1¼-mile test-of-the classic for Canadian-bred three-year-olds, won by 5½ lengths in the second division of the trials.

But the future of Burning Lake, another strong Plate candidate, was clouded after the horse, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Cerullo of Buffalo, N.Y., limped off the track following the first division of the trials. Burning Lake, listed at 8 to 1 for Saturday's race, finished second in the trials to Bye and Near, owned by Conn Smythe of Toronto. Bye and Near won by 3¾ lengths.

Burning Lake broke a wing bone in his right forehoof running in last October's Grey stakes at Woodbine, but was rounding nicely into shape this year. The Cerulios bought him from breeder Doug Davis of Versailles, Ky., last fall for a reported $25,000.

BEAT TITLED HERO

Bye and Near's time over the 1 1-16-mile distance was 1:45 flat.

Tilted Hero made his move at the head of the final turn of the second trial race, pulled ahead of Doubling Thomas and won in a breeze. Avelino Gomez was aboard the winner who was timed in 1:47 2-5 over fifths of a second off the track record.

Bright Monarch, owned by Mrs. Frank McMahon of Vancouver, was second.

The daily double returned a whopping $208.20 when Miss Orleans, owned by former Hamilton Tiger-Cat football star H. C. (Peter) Burton, won the first race and Sun Hash, owned by Mrs. Frank Merrill of Toronto, took the second. Miss Orleans, ridden by Jerry Harrison of Orlando, Fla., returned $80.80, $18.80 and $12.80. Sun Hash, ridden by Frank Barroby of Ravenscrg, Sask., paid $22.60, $6.90 and $4.

Red Sox Defeat All-Stars

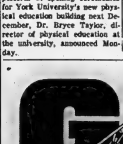
TORONTO (CP)—Boston Red Sox, last place team in the American Baseball League, defeated the International League All-Stars 4-2 Monday night at Maple Leaf Stadium.

The Sox took a 3-0 lead in the first inning and added five in the sixth.

Larry Maxie, who started the game and went 1 1-3 innings for the All-Stars, was tagged for the loss. Maxie, a pitcher for Richmond Braves, gave up six hits and three runs.



The All-Stars came back in the bottom of the sixth with four runs off Borton reliever Dan Osinski.

Dave Morehead, Boston right-hander who started the game, was credited with the victory. He went five innings, allowed one hit and struck out five.

The attendance of 2,684 was the lowest of the 21-year history of the league All-Star game. The previous low—4,513—was in Buffalo in 1964.

USSR GYMNASTS DUE

TORONTO (CP) — Russia's national gymnastic team will perform at opening ceremonies for York University's new physical education building next December, Dr. Bryce Taylor, director of physical education at the university, announced Monday.

THE ARNOLD Palmer Method

by GOLF'S 4-TIME MASTERS WINNER

PUTT WITH EYES DIRECTLY OVER THE BALL

It is very easy to incorrectly sight putts after you are over the ball; but ask Jack Nicklaus.

During this year's Masters championship, Jack discovered that his putts were finishing to the left of the hole because his head was positioned too far outside or beyond the ball. He changed his positioning so that the ball was directly under his eyes and went on to win.

I think it is very important that you position the ball on putts so that it is directly under your eyes (see illustrations). Such positioning allows you to get a true sighting when you look from the ball to hole and vice-versa before putting.

There are many things about putting that vary from individual to individual; however, positioning the eyes over the ball is one fundamental that I feel all golfers should adopt.

Departmental Softball

Public Utilities again failed to find the winning formula in the Departmental Softball League, dropping a close 8-5 decision to the Fire Department.

Craig Rump pitched the Firemen's victory. Frank started for Utilities with E. MacCormack taking over in the fifth. Rump fanned five and walked two with the losers owning a 3-3 record.

Jerry Miller had three of the winners' hits while Bob Lloyd and Cra'g Rump each hit a home run and Al Ryan a double.

Jay Sulker and Ron Morgan collected two hits each in defeat. It was Utilities fifth defeat in as many games.

The Trots

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — George Hawke of St. Catharines drove his 10-year-old gelding Perry Hinter to a half-length victory in the $800 sixth race at Garden City Raceway for his second win of the night.

Floyd's Honor ran the mile in 2:11 and returned $6.80, $2.50 and $2.20. Hinter was second and Brother Dillon third.

Hawke drove Jerry Farooq to a half-length victory in the third for a $4.10, $3 and $2.50 payoff.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Jiggs McFadden drove Flash Fire C to a photo finish victory in the $700 featured race at Western Fairgrounds Raceway Monday night.

It was the second victory of the evening for McFadden and marked his total is 11 for the meet.

Duke Johnston and Miss Dixie Dale won their first and second races respectively for a $23.50 daily double. The exactor in the fourth paid $20.60.

OTTAWA (CP) — Dave Barton took an early lead and held it to the wire Monday night to win the featured ninth race at Rideau Carleton Raceway.

The six-year-old bay gelding covered the mile in 2:07 3-5 and returned $2.80, $2.40 and $2.70. Gloamings King paid $4.30 and $4.00 for second while Sage Valley was $3.80 to show.

Ortiz Saves Title

PITTSBURGH (AP) —Carlos Ortiz, cut over the right eye, saved his world lightweight boxing title by stopping Johnny Bizzarro, a bouncy hit-and-run artist, in 2:29 of the 12th round Monday night at the Pittsburgh Civic Arena.

Referee Ortiz, faced with the possible loss of the 135-pound crown, swarmed over the Erie, Pa., challenger in the 12th and dropped him for the mandatory eight-count after pounding Bizzarro around the ring.

When Bizzarro came up wobbly and took two more punches from Ortiz, referee John (Bucky) McTiernan stopped the bout. It went as a technical knockout.

All three officials had Ortiz in front by a slight margin. Referee McTiernan had it 51-49, Judge Ernie Sisto 52-50 and Judge Paddy Grimes 50-49.

No Song Before Dance

NEW YORK (AP)—Preparations for Thursday night's Beaux Arts Ball honoring Caruso Bonavera and Canadian champion George Chuvalo of Toronto hit a low note Monday when the South American champion was refused permission to play a musical instrument at the Madison Square Gardens ring.

Bonavera's request to play a mandolin while singing the Argentine national anthem plus a song he recorded before leaving his native country last month was turned down by Local 802 of the Musicians' Union.

Bonavera said he would not sing unless accompanied by the mandolin, a Gardena spokesman said.

RICHARDSON WINS

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)— Blair Richardson, British Empire and Canadian middleweight champion from South Bar in Nova Scotia's Cape Breton, won a fifth-round technical knockout over Paul Christie of Boston in a non-title bout Monday night. The fight was halted at 2:33 in the fifth with Christie suffering a badly cut lip. He weighed 158 against 160½ for the Cape Breioner.

Don't Gamble Life With Balky Wipers

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

Rain always adds driving dangers — and it multiplies them especially if you've been shortsighted about windshield wipers. During a downpour, just one balky wiper can change a car into a hearse.

Usually, the blades themselves are the troublemakers. It seems they're more or less expected to last forever. Far from it. Blades wear with use and very often become damaged by grit, oil, mud or careless handling.

Instead of cleaning off rain and road spray, they smear and smudge the windshield, half blinding vision.

Here's a quick "don't" list for safer windshield wipers: Don't let your wipers over a dry windshield (blades and glass will suffer); don't use an oily rag on cloth or the windshield; don't shine the windshield with a wax or other glass polish that wipers will streak and smear; don't expect dirty blades to do a good job; don't wait for rain before checking wiper operation.

T. B. asks: "On a trailer with 7.50-10 tires, is 55 to 60 lbs. of air enough for hauling a full load? I've gotten two different answers from mechanics."

No. The recommended safe inflation is 70 lbs.

Frost C. L.: "What causes brakes to become so sensitive that just a light touch on the pedal results in a jolting stop?"

Three which come to mind are: grease-coated linings, improper adjustment, or scored drums.

K. W. writes: "My '62 V-8 engine misses at high speeds and I've been told that one or more valves must be sticking. Do you agree?"

At the risk of being disagreeable . . . we don't. There are too many other possibilities. Points, plugs, carburetor, fuel pump, coil, cables, distributor — practically any ignition or fuel system part could cause high speed miss.

E. H. asks: "Returning home yesterday after driving two hours, I saw smoke coming from my left front wheel. And it felt red hot. What caused this?"

Probably a burning brake lining or a dry wheel bearing.

Sam Levenson Says Kids Only Want to Be Amused

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Television took immortal Sam Levenson out of the New York public school system—but show business obviously failed to take the teacher out of Levenson.

Father of a teen-age child, Levenson today frets about the relationship of television and education, and is critical of parents, newspapers and commercial broadcasting.

"In 100 years of free compulsory education we have never prepared most children to be readers and thinkers," Levenson says. "We have laid a fat egg in turning out millions of kids who just want to be amused."

Levenson believes that it is essential a child be taught how to watch television.

"Why don't all the schools supply the students with 'preferred viewing lists'?" he asked.

Levenson surprisingly does not worry about that familiar spectre: Violence.

"I grew up with TV breeds violence," he continued with considerable fire. "I think it breeds nothing. When kids see real violence, it seems like something they've seen on a TV show and instead of coming to me, they just watch quietly and wait for the commercial, knowing that it will turn out right in the end with the good guys winning."

FULL AMUSEMENT

The evil in television, as Levenson sees it, is that practically all the motivation in viewing is amusement.

"Does the industry—commercial—right now have a right only to 'amuse?'" he asked. "Maybe they have. But on the other hand, I'm a father, have the right to refuse to let them educate my children."

Levenson, who is disturbed by TV's incidental role in children's education, but the record indicates that the fact-documentary - school children has grown more sophisticated during a 15-year period.

In a study by Paul Witty of Northwestern University (conducted before the advent of Batman) it was found that the most popular children's shows last year were The Man from U.N.C.L.E., Bewitched, Shindig, The Addams Family, and among all-time Favorite Martian—every one, it should be noted, produced for family viewing and particularly for young children.

Fifteen years ago the five favorite programs were Howdy Doody, Rabbit, Hopalong Cassidy, Wild Bill Hickok, Howdy Doody, and Uncle Miltie, all designed for the very young.

Levenson, who still does today keep his hand between occasional TV guest shots, has written a book, Everything but Money, which will come out in September. It is essentially a chronicle of his Harlem upbringing, wellspring of most of his monologues. But he winds up with some tart observations on modern home life, education and television.

Child's Body Found Floating Under Dock

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—The body of 17-month-old Stephen Lukenda, missing since noon Monday, was found today floating under a dock in front of his family's cottage at Lake Louise, about 16 miles west of here.

RCAF search and rescue units and Sault Ste. Marie police were joined by private aircraft and boats in the search.

The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lukenda.

Writer Accepts Assignment And Finds Himself a Wife

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Example of how one thing can lead to another: Writer Richard Warren Lewis accepted a magazine assignment and found himself a wife, Joan Patrick of Windsor, Ont., a former Miss Canada.

It all started last month when Lewis was delegated by TV Guide to write an article on The Dating Game, a daytime show on ABC television. The gimmick of the show is to present a single man or woman with three possibilities for dates. By interrogation — but without seeing the three prospects—the contestant picks the likeliest date.

Lewis selected Joan, an actress. Twelve days later they were engaged. They plan to marry Aug. 27.

Still stunned by the sequence of events, they explained how it all happened. Miss Patrick, 27, in recent times has appeared on television and films. Warren, 33, a New Yorker born in Bellow's Falls, Vt., has been a successful magazine writer.

"When I was assigned the story on The Dating Game, I thought I might get a different approach by appearing on the show itself," he said. "I was one of those people who like to give single men a chance to date. She chose one of the others, and I found myself on the sidewalk parking lot with a consolation prize of a bottle of cologne under my arm.

"I felt frustrated, and I wanted to try again, this time as the one seeking a date."

ARRIVES FOR FILM

"I didn't want to do the show but my agent said I would be barred from the studio for life if I didn't take the role," she recalled. "So I flew out here, arriving at 4:30 a.m. At 10 that same morning, ABC called with an offer to appear on The Dating Game. It had to be fate."

Her fellow contestants for a date with Warren were a Playboy Club bunny and Italian actress Luciana Paluzzi.

"I figured the way to a man's heart was through his stomach," she said. "He asked us if we could cook, and I told him I had a special recipe for rock cornish game hen stuffed with wild rice and cooked in white wine.

"She has since cooked it for me, and it is excellent," added Warren.

Joan and Warren awarded a dinner at a swank Beverly Hills cafe and an Art gallery opening. They were to spend the evening together two weeks after the show, but Warren operated more swiftly. He asked for a date that night.

Twelve days later he proposed.

There's Speculation About What Part of Middle East Will Explode in Conflict

WASHINGTON (CP) — With official gun-running at a new peak in the turbulent Middle East, there is speculation as to what part of the area will explode in conflict next.

The Soviet Union, the United States, France and Britain have been busy lining up arms deals in a race partly on East-West lines and partly on regional ones.

The abiding hostility between Israel and the Arab bloc creates an opportunity for arms merchants.

Another is the deepening rift between Premier Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria and Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic (Egypt) and Syria on the one hand and the more conservative Arab nations, such as Lebanon, Jordan and Saudi Arabia, on the other.

King Feisal of Saudi Arabia, heavily backed by Britain and the United States, is making a state visit to the United States, this week. On the occasion of Feisal's trip, Nasser is trying again at right-wing Arab elements, further ruffling the Saudi conservatives in effect for more than two years.

Nasser's relations with the United States have been difficult, as he continues to try to make what capital he can out of the cruelty fantasy between the United States and the Soviet Union.

He remains heavily dependent on the United States for wheat and flour, however, and the United States is taking its time about meeting this aid, which expires June 30.

In any event, arms sales are brisk and have been made by the United Arab Command was formed more than two years ago to recover some of the investment into military hardware for the weaker Arab countries.

These events include:

King Hussein of Jordan, on Israel's north and east flanks, told Washington the German chancellor Nasser was offering Soviet arms at bargain prices. Washington coughed up 50 more tanks, armored vehicles and guns.

Israel spoke up next and got 200 U.S.-built tanks via West Germany. But then, amid international headlines, the Germans balked on the deal and they were sent directly from the U.S. Jordan then applied for and got another batch of weapons.

So did Israel.

Jordan, after sounding out France and Britain, has obtained 36 reconditioned fighters from the United States.

Israel has been buying from France in the past but is believed to have an option now on 30 American bombers.

Soviet arms continue to flow into Egypt and Syria, where left-wing regime may be the next to go, some think, despite the appointment recently of more pro-Nasser officials.

Britain and the United States have sold Saudi Arabia an air defence system costing more than $300,000,000.

Israel is not believed to be too worried about Egypt, bogged down still in the Yemeni civil war against Saudi Arabia and much troubled with other internal matters.

However, Jordan has been developing a lot of military muscle and, as observed by the New Republic magazine, Jordan "could, at least in theory, concentrate some 300 tanks at a given point near the Israel border—one short drive and Israel would be cut in two."

It adds: "Naturally, the Israelis feel they need an additional armored brigade or two." So, another trip to Washington is predicted.

Business Briefs

©COPYRIGHT PROFIT UP

Corporation d'Expansion Financiere (Corpex) reported in Montreal Monday net profits were $2,324,000 or $2.68 per share for the year ended Dec. 31, 1965. This compares with $2,157,000 or $2.56 per share for the year ended March 31, 1965.

STORE SALES RISE

Department store sales during the week ended June 4 were 10.2 per cent higher than in the same week last year with all provinces sharing in the gain, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Monday in Ottawa. The Ontario gain was 2.3 per cent.

Ann Landers
Hearing Aids Not Right Answer for All

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why do you keep recommending hearing aids for everyone who has a hearing problem? Would you recommend glasses for everyone who has a sight problem? A hearing aid makes about as much sense for the near or totally deaf as glasses would make for the blind.

I happen to be about 90% deaf and I tried a hearing aid 10 years ago. It did absolutely no good. I now manage, through lip reading, to lead a fairly normal life. But whenever a letter appears in your column about hearing aids I am nagged anew by my children and friends to try again.

ANN LANDERS

Please set the record straight. Unless, of course, you own a hearing aid company. Thank you. — B.D.

DEAR B.D.: I received hundreds of letters from readers who expressed the same point of view, and I do want to set the world straight. You complainers are right. I am enthusiastic about hearing aids — perhaps too enthusiastic — because I have learned from several people who have been brightened up considerably by a hearing aid. I tend to forget there are folks who cannot use them at all.

From now on I'm recommending an ear specialist for those with hearing problems. Let him tell them what to do.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 17-year-old kid who thought it would be smart to use a phony I.D. card. I don't think that way any more.

I bought a phony I.D. card for five bucks from a creepy looking character who hangs around the hamburger joint. I won't go into detail but I really did get myself into a peck of trouble. But it didn't end there. I was hounded by several people, and the man who owns the tavern. The cop said they should have known better than to serve me liquor because the card looked like a clunker and I didn't look like I was 21.

I embarrassed my family and my girl isn't speaking to me anymore. Please tell all kids everywhere that it isn't worth it.— SORRY.

DEAR SORRY: You told them — and well. The traffic in phony I.D. cards has been a serious problem for authorities who are trying to keep teen-agers out of trouble.

You can do society a big favor by co-operating with the authorities and telling them all you can about the creep who sold you the card. Everyone will be better off if he (and other such crumbs) is put where he can't prey on kids like you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: At first I thought I was imagining things but now I'm sure my brother's wife is too darned interested in my husband.

The girl is 23 and comes sex appeal from every pore. She calls my husband "Big Daddy" and he eats it up. Last night at 6 of us went to dinner and she managed to sit at the table next to my husband's lap. When we arrived at the restaurant he didn't want to get out of the car.

My husband has never been a women chaser but it's awfully flattering for a 45-year-old man to be fussed over by a 23-year-old siren.

DEAR NO: You are in a position to give Big Daddy a lot more attention than your sexy sister-in-law. A smart wife takes a page out of the siren's book. Fuss over him. Keep him happy — and tired.

Campbellford News

Mrs. Pearl Butterford, 38 Ranney St.—Tel. 653-3822

Article Read Re Indian Affairs at I. O. D. E. Meet

CAMPBELLFORD — Bennetsyde Chapter I.O.D.E. held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. D. Carswell on Thursday evening with the Regent, Mrs. G. Vandervaeter, in the chair. Thirty-six members were present.

Plaques had been placed on the tables in Queen Street Park with the I.O.D.E. name.

Educational secretary Mrs. F. Fisher reported having presented the awards to top students in Grade 8 to Jo Anne Hird, Robert Jacques and Faye Irwin. At the same banquet Mrs. A. Burgis presented her personal award for top history standing to Kathy Salkeld and Geoffry Weaver.

The rummage sale for the hospitality fund under the convenorship of Mrs. E. Craighead amounted to $100.

A donation was received from the Hon. J. R. Cooke Chapter in Stirling to attend the district dinner in Stirling in October.

Of the five groups, two have completed their projects, one has an auction sale in the immediate future and two are having rummage sales in September.

Mrs. R. Fox reported having visited the nursing home. Visitors for July, August and September are Mrs. J Gay, Mrs. Flora Graham, Mrs. Fegan Grant, Mrs. S. Hopping, Mrs. A. E. Hendricks and Mrs. L. Hogle.

Some discussion took place regarding a centennial ball but plans will be discussed in the fall. A card party is being arranged for October to supplement the Community Centre pledge of $300.

READS ARTICLE

Mrs. Peggy Grant read an article by Mr. Powless of the Indian Affairs Department regarding status of the Canadian Indian. Mr. Powless says the Indian is an intellectual on a par with any other and the Indian does not feel himself inferior. Mr. Powless does not believe the Indian emigrated from any other continent, that they were always native of Noth America.

The Six Nations Indians of Oswegan have contributed 52 teachers, 18 doctors and scores of other mechanics and technicians. The Indians want better liaison on the reserves with the National Employment Service so that more jobs are made available to Indian men. Mr. Powless does not think the Indian Affairs Branch of government should be a part of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration.

Mrs. D. Meyers, Services at Home and Abroad convener, asked that articles to be contributed to headquarters be turned in as soon as possible so this committee can complete sending by the end of June.

The meeting closed in the usual manner, with the table of hostess for the first time.

There will be no further meeting until September.

Pencil Marks Put on Backs Of 26 Ballots

ST. HYACINTHE, Que. (CP) Pencil marks placed on the back of 26 voting slips by a returning officer in the Otterburn Park polling station nullified the votes cast there, gave Nouvelle riding to the Union Nationale candidate.

Mr. Justice Victor Chabot of Quebec Superior Court ruled Monday after completion of his judicial recount that Paul Yvon Hamel had defeated Liberal candidate Francois Boulais by five votes, thus reversing the original result.

The UN victory gives Premier Daniel Johnson 56 seats, with the Liberals holding 50 and independent members elected in two others in the 106-seat house.

Judge Chabot said he had been "obliged to act aside these ballots according to law."

Final figures released by the judge show the UN candidate with 6,080 votes to 6,075 for Mr. Boulais.

Ronning Reports On Mission To Hanoi

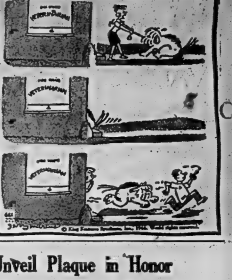
OTTAWA (CP)—Chester Ronning, retired Canadian diplomat, was reporting to Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin Monday on his special peace mission to Hanoi.



Opposition Leader Diefenbaker asked in the Commons whether it was true that Mr. Ronning, 71, a China expert, had encountered "frigid conditions" and "inconsistent leadership" in North Viet Nam.

Mr. Martin said it would be premature for the government to reveal details of the Hanoi discussions. Mr. Ronning had seen him Monday morning and would meet Mr. Pearson later in the day.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked whether Canada has made its views known in Washington regarding the United States' announced intention to intensify air and naval attacks in North Viet Nam.

"The Canadian government has been in touch with the United States," Mr. Martin replied, without elaboration.

Unveil Plaque in Honor Of Campbellford Founders

CAMPBELLFORD — The unveiling of the plaque to the founders of Campbellford took place on Saturday afternoon in the Queen St. Park.

The parade of steam engines passed the park as an opening ceremony headed by an antique car in which was Geo Hees M.P., Russell Rowe M.P.P. and Mr. Jesse Locke.

Seated on the dais were Mr. Locke, Rev. Barrow (substituting for Mayor Tanner), Ken Parr, Reeve of Seymour, Russell Rowe M.P.P., George Hees, M.P., Dr. Morris Careless, Mr. Ken Ferguson of the Dept. of Tourism and Information.

Rev. G. Barrow welcomed those attending, to the town and Mr. Parr extended a welcome on behalf of the township of Seymour.

Russel Rowe M.P.P. spoke briefly of the founders, the Campbell Bros. and commended those who had instigated the ceremony.

Geo Hees spoke briefly bringing greeting from the Prime Minister of Canada, the leader of the Opposition and of the government in general.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker of the day was Dr Morris Careless chairman, Department of History of T. and co-chairman archaeological and historic sites board.

Dr. Careless was introduced by Mr. Ken Ferguson of the Dept. of Tourism and Immigration.

In his remarks Dr Careless said historic sites are being completed each year and this year Campbellford was chosen by the board for recognition.

The pupil friends of Mrs. Fred Bennett who had instigated the research some years ago. Mrs. Bennett was present at the ceremony. In the research for information, Dr. Careless had found correspondence of the Campbell Bros. in the crown Lands records.

He outlined the history of the part Campbell Bros. had played in the founding of the town.

UNVEILING CEREMONY

The plaque was unveiled by Mr. Jesse Locke whose grandfather had purchased the town and from David Campbell.

The property had been in the Locke family ever since.

Mr. J. R. Connor president of the Campbellford Chamber of Commerce was program chairman.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For June 22

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Much activity around you. Gain most through practical approach. Emphasis on creative endeavors. Break through mass of red tape. You progress . . . if you take initiative.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Appreciate beauty around you. You can make the most of assets. Express appreciation to one who has shown kindness. Follow through on basic beliefs.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): If serious in purpose . . . you gain. Otherwise, day involves much activity, very little accomplishment. Outline program. Make resolutions regarding relatives. In-laws. Then live up to them!

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Finish project. Check assets. Friend could surprise you with announcement or gift. Think before you speak. Don't jump before all facts are available.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Cycle continues high. But you must allow courage of convictions. Persons in authority appear to be facing dilemma. Do not back down without good reason. Maintain dignity.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Avoid appearing harsh. You learn much by listening. Key is being discreet. Not wise to reveal all. If friend has confided in you . . . keep that confidence.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Major emphasis now on desires. Realize there is a budget to consider. Applies especially in dealing with members of opposite sex. Your potential is great . . . but you must make added effort.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Check detail. Be thorough. Study fine print in order to avoid self-deception. See persons situations in realistic light. One is authority observed. You have chance to impress."

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Day features opportunity for change. Study various courses. Look to future. Obtain help from Libra message. Fine time for discussing vacation plans.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Home duties, family matters dominate. Now you can uncover facts which could add to your account. Be perceptive. Be alert to current opportunity, gain is indicated.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Partnership contracts, legal papers require attention. Be more listening than talking. By being a careful observer, you make progress.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Be aware of special requirements. No need to stir up if you utilize knowledge. Gain shown from past experiences. Accept added responsibility as constructive challenge.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you are basically independent, creative . . . are willing to build for future. You would do well in situations involving helping others.

* * *

British Pirate Radio Station Attacked, Owner Is Later Found Slain In Home

LONDON (AP) — A leading British politician - businessman was charged with murder today after the operator of a pirate radio station was found slain in his home.

The dead man's pop music station off the southeast coast in the Thames estuary meanwhile was occupied by a mysterious band of raiders who silenced it.

Maj. William Oliver Smedley, former vice - president of the Liberal party and a pirate radio tycoon, was charged with murder in a special court.

The dead man was Reg Calvert, 37, who ran Radio City, a pop station operating from an Shivering Sands, 12 miles off the coast.

The shooting came shortly after disclosure that an unidentified boarding party had taken over the station.

Police gave no indication whether there was any direct link between the raid and shooting.

Smedley, 54, is chairman of Project Atlanta, an organization associated with the pirate radios which broadcast from just outside British waters to evade the government ban on commercial radio broadcasting.

A few hours before police announced Calvert's death, it was learned that a boarding party of 30 men and a girl had taken over his station Monday and were still holding it.

The raiders and the station's seven-man staff stood on the deck of the fort early today and talked to reporters in a tug below. Said one bearded raider:

"We were here to do a job and we are doing it. After that ask the bosses."

Paul Kiney, electrical engineer in charge of the station, said:

"I was awakened by their torches (flashlights) flashing. I got up and asked what the hell is going on? It looked all set for a right old punch up.

"The raiders had grappling irons and rocket lines. They looked as though they were ready to take us apart.

"There was nothing we could do. They were a tough-looking crowd and it's frightening to have men running all over the place when you don't know what it's all about.

"One of the pirates pushed me, saying, 'We're in charge now.'

"They took the crystals out of the transmitters and we haven't been able to send out a beep since."

The raiders were believed to have been sent by a businessman claiming to have supplied transmitting equipment to the station.

Calvert bought the station from Screaming Lord Sutch, a pop singer who started it more than a year ago. It was supposed to merge next month with station URGM (United Kingdom Good Music).

Negroes Repulse Raid by Whites In Mississippi

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Highway patrolmen sealed off a small Negro neighborhood early today after Negroes and whites exchanged gunfire in Philadelphia. One white man was wounded late Tuesday night.

Police Chief Bruce Latimer said a white man whom he identified as Stanley Stuart was wounded during an exchange of gunfire near the headquarters of the Freedom Democratic party, a Negro organization.

Stuart was treated for buckshot wounds in the neck and shoulder at a hospital and sent home.

Negroes inside the headquarters relayed a report to their officers that three carloads of whites drove up and began firing at them. They said they returned the fire and thought they hit at least two cars.

At Yazoo City, Dr. Martin Luther King said he would lead the Mississippi civil rights marchers back to Philadelphia armed with the ammunition of justice . . . the armor of righteousness." A King aide said they probably would return to Philadelphia Thursday.

WHITES CURSE HIM

A hostile crowd of cursing whites smiled firecrackers and insults at King Tuesday when he stood on the Neshoba County courthouse steps here.

It was to commemorate the second anniversary of the slayings of civil rights workers James Chaney, Andy Goodman and Mickey Schwerner that King came to Philadelphia.

Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price—one of the 17 men the federal government claims participated in the slayings of Chaney, Goodman and Schwerner June 21, 1964—tried to keep King from mounting the courthouse steps.

"I'm not afraid of any man," King shouted at the height of the jeering and disorder mounted. "Before I will be a slave, I will be dead in my grave."

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Hundreds of Negroes rioted early today, throwing rocks and bottles at police, at stores and cars before riot police cleared the streets with billy clubs and the threat of tear gas.

Two cars were overturned, one was set fire and three or four policemen hurt by flying glass, one officer said.

Debris littered the main street in the Negro district from sidewalk to sidewalk, but the over-all damage apparently was light.

Display windows at two stores were smashed, and there were three reports of homes being looted.

Police arrested 24 Negroes.

The riot in this city of 16,000 about 25 miles north of Miami lasted less than an hour.

It apparently was the culmination of tension built up Tuesday when reports spread through the Negro district that a white store owner had slapped a 10 - year - old Negro boy. The store owner, Arthur H. Marks, was charged with assault and battery and released on $50 bond. The boy was unidentified.

CROWDS GATHER

Muttering crowds gathered at the store at closing time and the owner asked for police protection. Civic leaders asked the Negroes to leave. Most did, only to return later.

The crowd grew to 600 late in the evening and the mood worsened as the number of police grew.

Then — ages spared officers, cracked jokes and swigged soft drinks, pitching the bottles at passing cars when they finished.

By midnight, a six-block section of the main street, Hammondville Road, was solid with patrol cars, their red and blue lights flashing.

As de Gaulle Talks Detente Russians Emphasize Security

MOSCOW (CP) — French President Charles de Gaulle met with the Russian leaders for their second session today as French sources reported that differing points of view had cropped up in Tuesday's opening round of talks.

Today's talks are the last before de Gaulle leaves Thursday on a week's tour of four Soviet cities. He will meet once more with the Kremlin leaders in formal talks after returning to Moscow June 28.

The French informant said of Tuesday's conference, "When we talked about détente, they talked about security."

This was understood to apply to de Gaulle's suggestion that other West European states, notably West Germany, hold bilateral talks with the Russians to ease East-West tension in Europe.

The Russians replied that East bloc security was the paramount consideration for them.

Once again today the Russian team was headed by Communist Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev, who Tuesday brushed aside diplomatic protocol instead of leaving the negotiations to President Nikolai Podgorny, Premier Alexei Kosygin and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

"Traditionally the party chief would meet privately with a visiting head of state but not alb in on negotiations.

The French source said, "When they talk to us about a European conference we reply that this must be an end, not a beginning."

This was a reference to a proposal by Gromyko in April in Rome. He called for a conference of states of Eastern and Western Europe on security questions. His proposals would exclude the United States.

It has been opposed in the West, notably in West Germany, because of this exclusion.

Toronto Backyards Collapse, 1 Killed

WHERE SLIDE KILLED MAN — This aerial view shows where several houses on a northeast Toronto street lost their gardens in a slide that took the life of one man. The man had been in his garden when it slid into the ravine. At the time of the slide, workers were reinforcing the hill to prevent such a slide. (CP Wirephoto)

TORONTO (CP) — One man was killed and eight houses left shakily standing on the edge of a 60-foot deep ravine Tuesday when five backyards collapsed and almost buried a construction crew.

Leonard May, 58, who often told friends he created the side of the ravine in East York township would slip away, was buried beneath a tree trunk and eight feet of earth.

Maurice Wrightman, 28, a construction foreman, rode the landslide for about 75 yards, holding Mr. May. The two men were torn from each others' arms by the shearing earth. Mr. Wrightman managed to save himself.

Five parks employees were working at the bottom of the slope trying to reinforce it when the slide began. It had been pressaged by a minor slide.

They fled as the earth came down, carrying their eight-ton bulldozer for 50 yards and burying a truck to its roof.

Three acres of the ravine floor were covered by earth, rocks, fences, concrete retaining walls and lawn chairs.

District Farmers In Tractor Trek Which May Spread

Screeching tires and impatient motorists have been the order of the day in the Marmora and Marysville areas this week as district farmers formed tractor patrols in support of demands for higher milk prices.

On Monday Ontario Farmers' Union members in the Marmora area patrolled on No. 14 and No. 7 highways, while Tuesday afternoon farmers in the Marysville and Selby areas paraded on No. 2 and 502 highways.

And they will be out again in force this afternoon with even bigger patrols.

In the Monday afternoon parade six tractors hauling a varied assortment of manure spreaders, hay feeders and farm wagons, drove from Selby eastward to Marmora and then east and west from Marmora on No. 7 Highway.

Mrs. George Williams, of Springbrook, spokesman for the Marmora area Farmers' Union group said motorists generally took the patrol with good feeling although a number were impatient.

WITHIN LAW

"The provincial police told us we would have to obey regulations and we are operating within the law," she said.

This means that tractors must not drive more than eight miles per hour, must not block traffic and must not stop. Also tractor units must leave space between them to allow passing traffic to get back in line.

Mrs. Williams said their group was leaving a distance of 100 feet between tractors.

Despite this, however, a number of motorists showed impatience and over a solid and double lines to pass the tractors.

In the Marysville area yesterday nine tractors, also hauling an assorted variety of farm implements, paraded on Highway 2, between Drummer's Side Road and Marysville and then to the Lansdowne and Addington county line on No. 502.

Both groups said they would be out on the highway this afternoon, the Marmora group to collaregrate right after noon, and the Marysville farmers about 1 p.m. In both instances it was expected farmer turnouts would be greater than on Monday and Tuesday.

What Dispute Is All About

By DAVE BAZAY

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Farmers Union, stirring up a storm of protest with tractor demonstrations in the milk lands of rural Ontario, seeks basic changes in the dairy industry's price structure.

The OFU wants increased prices for the two traditional groups involved in dairy farming, the producers of fresh milk for bottling and the producers of milk used to manufacture byproducts such as butter and cheese.

It wants also to get a pool-pricing arrangement, blending the higher prices of the fresh-milk producers with the lower prices of the farmers whose milk goes into dairy byproducts.

The Ontario Milk Marketing Board, an organization of government - appointed producers which sets prices, lists about 19,000 dairy farmers in Ontario whose income depends on sale of milk for manufacture of byproducts.

George McLaughlin, milk board chairman, said these farmers get $4 for 100 pounds of milk with 3.5 per cent butter-fat content. Prices are set on a sliding scale, with more money paid for milk with higher butter-fat content and

WHAT DISPUTE

TORONTO (CP) — A breakdown in talks between the Ontario Farmers' Union and the provincial government set off a chain reaction of discontent among milk producers Tuesday that could lead to a massive tractor blockade of Ontario's highways.

Agricultural Minister William Stewart, after a three-hour meeting with OFU delegates, rejected their demands for a provincial milk subsidy.

After the rejection, John Dolmer, OFU president, warned the tractor demonstrations, started last week to back the producers' demands for higher milk prices, will be expanded and continued on a province-wide basis.

Meanwhile, about 300 farmers at meetings in Woodstock and St. Marys voted overwhelmingly to man their tractors again on roads and highways in southwestern Ontario.

About 200 at the St. Marys meeting agreed to start the demonstration today by riding their tractors between London and Thamesford, about 15 miles.

PASS MOTION

The Warwick meeting passed a motion suggesting demonstrations be held between July 1 and 10. A committee, formed to organize the parades, was instructed to ask as many other

Subsidies Responsibility Of Federal Government

TORONTO (CP)—The provincial government does not intend to pay milk subsidies to Ontario's dairy farmers, Agriculture Minister W. A. Stewart said in the legislature Tuesday.

The granting of such subsidies "would interfere with federal policy," Mr. Stewart said in reply to a question before the orders of the day from Murray Gisborn (L—Hastings-East).

The minister said the federal government should be solely responsible for payment of subsidies for farm products "because all Canada benefits from them."

His statement came in the wake of an unsuccessful attempt by Liberal Leader Andrew Thompson to have the house set aside its regular business for a debate "on a matter of great public importance."

The Liberal leader challenged a ruling by Speaker Donald Morrow that milk subsidies have been "discussed several times" in the house already.

The Liberal challenge of Mr. Morrow's ruling was not aside by the heavy Conservative majority on a recorded vote on division. The New Democratic Party supported the government.

Mr. Stewart said his three-hour meeting with an eight-man delegation from the Ontario Farmers' Union earlier in the day had been "useful." But the farmers said they would continue their tractor blockade of some highways.

"There was no agreement on subsidies at the morning's meeting," the minister said.

Many of the difficulties of milk producers could be resolved if there were a Quebec-Ontario floor price for milk established. There have been encouraging talks to that end with the Quebec agriculture department.

Another difficulty, Mr. Stewart said, is that farmers have not yet received the 75-cents-a-hundredweight subsidy for milk announced by the federal government in April. The subsidy brings the Ontario milk price for farmers to $4 a hundredweight.

"The tractor - demonstration will continue—this time on a province-wide basis," said John Dolmer of Corbetton, president of the OFU and leader of Tuesday's delegation.

The farmers began their tractor blockades in some parts of the province a week ago in support of their demands. The largest demonstration so far was a line of 300 tractors on highways in the Windsor area Monday.

'G.E. Day' Being Planned By Chamber

TRENTON — Now that the Canadian General Electric Plant has started operations, the management and the Chamber of Commerce heads are planning a "G.E. Day," with tours of the plant and industrial dinner being two items on the agenda.

Being timed to Centennial Year, the chamber plans to bring out a token coin in the near future. This will be purchased from the chamber and used as legal tender in stores and other outlets this year and next and will be redeemed for cash from the chamber at the end of 1967.

Jack Wilson, chamber manager, reports many merchants are interested in joining the Merchant Alarth System, by which merchants would be warned of bad cheque passers, counterfeit bill passers, fast change artists and shoplifters within minutes of their discovery by other merchants by a telephone link up with the chamber.

Town Council To Be Briefed On Health Unit

TRENTON — Town Council will invite the MOH of the Northumberland - Durham Health Unit, Dr. Nicholls Horne, to speak on benefits to be derived from joining a health unit set up.

The town is thinking about joining the Hastings County and City of Belleville unit.

AGREES TO ANNEXATION

Murray township council has agreed to the annexation by the town of Trenton of a section of the Rose Garden Company property on the Carrying Place Road. The plant itself was built in Murray and partly in addition the corporation.

WILL PAY $6,500

Trenton council Monday night passed an expropriation by-law, concerning which property owned by Mrs. Jessie Hicks, on the subway in North Trenton. Mr. Seymour would be given $6,500 for the triangular shaped lot under this arrangement. However, council was told that negotiations with Mr. Seymour are still going on and the matter may be settled without recourse to expropriation measures.

Participants Shake Hands Before Leaving

TRENTON — In magistrate's court at Trenton yesterday, a charge against Frank Debasisce of assaulting Keith Leland in the Quinte Hotel on May 8, was dismissed by Magistrate T. Y. Wills when the court was told the complainant could not identify the defendant as his assailant. The two men shook hands before leaving the courtroom.

Joseph Ralph Welk, charged with damaging his car with a car owned by Louis Ireland, was fined $30, ordered to pay $3 court costs and $9 restitution. Welk was said to have ripped the aerial off the latter car when it passed in traffic on the town bridge, on June 12.

Joseph and Doris Vallyear were each fined $10 for drinking while prohibited and Jack Robert Miller paid $10 as a "found-in."

Joseph Roy, RCAF, pleaded guilty to stealing a tire and rim from a new Oldsmobile in the Weese Motors lot on June 19 and paid a fine of $50.

Vincent Vandergiesen, 19, charged with careless driving and failing to yield the right of way to a pedestrian while driving his motorbike on April 22, was fined $25.

LONELY BACHELOR

England has had only one king who grew to manhood but never married, William I, son of William the Conqueror.

Loss of the Canadian H. W. Gossard Company, which last year announced its intention of constructing a branch plant in Belleville, has pointed out the importance of a municipality having fully serviced industrial sites on which buildings can be immediately erected.

This is stressed in a report to city council by the Belleville Industrial Commission, which feels that if serviced land had been available the Gossard company would probably have now been in operation in the city.

The Gossard company last year took options on a Hillcrest Area property which had plans for construction of a new plant. However, before construction was commenced the firm had the opportunity of purchasing a bankrupt Toronto company.

Buildings and equipment were purchased at less than 30 cents on the dollar and at that time Gossard acquired a fully trained staff.

While the outcome was unfortunate for the city, the industrial Commission chairman Houston in his last report said that opportunities were there a good thing.

LEARNED SOMETHING

"We have learned something from this and although we have fully serviced industrial sites on which buildings can be immediately constructed, the ires of yelting new industry are greatly reduced."

The report said the same thing could be said for Laidlaw Lumber who were said to be "dragging their feet and have found various reasons for delaying construction in Belleville.

Laidlaw Lumber officials expected to build this fall or next spring, but they have stated that Belleville had had the land ready for them they would have been in business in the city today.

The same thing was said to apply to a manufacturer of sporting goods which has shown interest in locating in Belleville. The firm has now located in Bradford.

MUST LEARN

"It is important that we should not waste time learning," the commission report stressed. "It is equally important that we take advantage of the mistakes experiences of other municipalities, rather than learn the lesson the hard way."

Accordingly, the Industrial Commission is urging that the city take immediate action to provide serviced industrial land and to acquire additional industrial land.

The commission recommends that purchases of the northeast industrial area (road 0 of 11-11) (road 1 of 11-11) be carried out as soon as possible. At this time to include roads, curbs, sewers, street lights, water, gas and storms sewers.

WANT LAND BOUGHT

The other recommendation is that the city acquire approximately 100 acres of additional land on which the commission holds an option at $1,000 per acre. The option is good only for 30 days so prompt action was said essential.

The commission chairman declined to make known the location of the property on which the commission has the option.

While admitting that the commission had had some setbacks, Mr. Houston said that, in looking back over the first five months of this year, he felt there was reason for a certain amount of satisfaction in what the commission had accomplished.

Reviewing the activities of the Commission, Mr. Houston noted that the first year had been spent in gathering data and establishing relations with local industries. Another year was spent in an effort to attract industry, via direct mail and placing advertisements in news media.

Throughout this period the commission provided liaison to local firms, called on many cold prospects and kept in touch with and worked hard on many who came to look at Belleville.

WEEK NEW WORD

"All this was done with a part-time commissioner and directors who were now in this field and a membership which we hadn't yet fit into the picture," a picture, the outlines of which have only recently come into focus."

This year commissioner Ernest Kaiser had been retained full time and the board of directors was working more closely with the commissioner, both by its many of frequent meetings and working with him on specific objectives.

Summarizing the 1966 action of the commission, the chairman said that 32 leads from various sources had been processed.

Of those 19 had definitely decided against coming to Belleville; 19 were still pending, one (Automatic Signals — LFE Limited) had moved in, and three others appeared to have made other arrangements.

At the outset the commission had used industrial representatives of the railroads, banks and government, and to these had been added industrial realtors from Montreal, Toronto and Belleville, real estate officials or large industrial firms and certain foreign trade commissioners.

An important source of leads has been the commission's own local market research, an approach believed to be unique.

The technique is to analyze all Belleville purchases and plot demand therein, in the vicinity of industrial property.

"But if Belleville is to see new industry and settlers during the next few years there is no question that these investments in land and plant must be undertaken."

In the past time had been lost through lack of planning. This lack had now been made good.

"The next step", Mr. Houston said, "is the servicing of the immediately available land—and this is up to council."

Key Clubbers Will Meet In Chicago

Rod Ridley, president of the R.C.I.V.S. Key Club, and Lyn Hamilton, entertainment convener for Division 8 of Key Clubs and a member of the Quinte Key Club, will be in Chicago, June 26-29, to attend the 32nd Annual Convention of Key Club International.

They will be among 2,000 Key Clubbers, and their adult advisors, who will gather at the Windy City's Conrad Hilton Hotel, overlooking Lake Michigan.

Key Club International is a service organization for high school boys; sponsored by Kiwanis International, it maintains similar ideals and objectives. Organizations are more than 70,000 Key Clubbers in approximately 2950 clubs located in high schools throughout the United States and Canada.

Toronto Body Said Missing

A 34-year old Toronto boy who has been living at the home of Mrs. C. Sheppard, Point Anne, the past four months has been reported missing by Ontario Provincial Police.

Norman Bury has been missing since 4:45 p.m. yesterday.

He is five-foot 10-inches in height, has brown hair and blue eyes, and when last seen was wearing blue jeans, white running shoes and a black and grey sport shirt.

Anyone seeing a boy answering the description is advised to phone the Ontario Provincial Police, Belleville, 968-3307.

The farmer gets $3.35 of the $4 from the processor and 75 cents from the federal government in form of a subsidy in effect since April 1.

WORLD HURT PROCESSORS

Mr. McLaughlin said the milk marketing board could not increase prices of industrial milk without hurting processors of butter, cheese, canned milk, powder, ice cream and the like.

Ontario's 8,000 to 10,000 fresh-milk farmers, whose top-grade milk brings them $5.30 a hundredweight, do not get a subsidy on fresh milk for bottling, but are subsidized on the portion of their milk used for fluid-milk products such as ice cream and cottage cheese.

Mr. McLaughlin said that on the average fresh-milk farmers get about 75 per cent of their milk for bottling and 25 per cent for fluid-milk byproducts. The 25 per cent subsidy of Anglican Church, Frankford at 3 Ontario milk for bottling would be increased by 46 cents a hundredweight effective July 1.

In an appeal to the provincial government, the OFU said it proposed a subsidy of 25 cents a hundredweight to offset transportation costs and "help the settlers during the next few years" in order to keep up production at these investments in land and plant must be undertaken."

In the past time had been lost through lack of planning. This lack had now been made good.

"The next step", Mr. Houston said, "is the servicing of the immediately available land—and this is up to council."

Wants Parks Opened for Public Use

The fact that two city parks — Zwicks Island and Corby's Park — were closed to the public this year as a result of renovations being carried out, has drawn a complaint in city council.

Monday afternoon Alderman Ernest Doyle asked why the south portion of Zwick's Island could not be opened to the public.

He said also that the Corby Park was shut off from public use.

Not being able to use either of the parks resulted in a hardship for local residents, he said.

Alderman Kenneth Soden replied that a great deal of work had been carried out at Corby Park and the area had been seeded to grass.

He said he would investigate to see if it would be feasible to open part of Zwick's Island where park improvements are now underway as a centennial project.

WANTS NO PREFERENCE

OTTAWA (CP)—A claim by Mr. Justice Wishart Spence for damages to his car in a city railway crossing takes no preference over any other claims, a city councilor said Tuesday. Cont. Murray Hek has questioned payment of the Supreme Court Judge's $37 claim, and demanded a list of claims from average citizens" showing whether they have been "rejected out of hand."

Tourist Assoc. Makes Progress On Brochure

Highlands of Hastings Tourist Association held the first regular meeting in the Council Chamber, Stirling. President Wilmot Rose reported that progress was being made on the brochure, and that lists of recipients for accommodation would be sent to all members of the association. It was decided that the association would hold its first Fowl Supper in the Promotion Executive this year.

A motion was passed to take advantage of the offer of G. Bradley, secretary-manager of Belleville Chamber of Commerce of display space for the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Association in the Chamber of Commerce booth at Belleville Fair. Next meeting will be held in Stirling Council Chamber the second Friday in July.

Brigadier, Mrs. B. Bernat Being Moved to Cape Breton

Belleville will be losing some good friends at the end of this week.

Brigadier and Mrs. Bernard Bernat, who have been in charge of the Salvation Army in Belleville the past two years, will conduct their final services in Belleville at the Citadel on Sunday.

The Bernat's have been appointed to work with the Salvation Army in Sydney, Cape Breton Island, Whitney Pier Corps.

"Bernie", as the Brigadier is fondly known by his many friends, has had a fine association for community service and welfare. He has been a member of the Belleville Industrial Association, the E.M.O. of the Fire Department and the Kiwanis Club. Sings songs at the Kiwanis Club will not be the same without him.

Mrs. Bernat has assisted her husband in his command of the work here and has carried on a successful liaison with the women of the corps and the community.

Their son Donald is a Grade 12 student at Quinte High School, and a member of the Citadel band and organist for the songster brigade.

Capt. June Dwyer from the Salvation Army Training College in Toronto will take charge of duties at the Belleville Citadel, Capt. Dwyer was in Belleville some years ago as assistant Divisional Young People's Secretary.

Sir John A. Macdonald Is Name of New School

The Belleville Public School Board has adopted a centennial theme in the naming of its new five-roomed school to be built in West Belleville.

This week the board decided the name of the new school would be The Sir John A. Macdonald School, in honor of Canada's father of confederation.

Several names for the proposed new school had been suggested, including that of D'Arcy McGee, also one of Canada's fathers of confederation.

Public School Board Chairman Macdonald Smith said today that the Sir John A. Macdonald School was intended as a junior school, which would feed pupils into the Sir Mackenzie Bowell Senior School.

The school is to be constructed on the property of its new site, which will initially serve a rapidly developing new housing area in that part of the city.

Mr. Smith said, however, that provision of adequate school facilities in West Belleville was a rather difficult problem because of the scattered housing developments.

This meant that initially only schools with a small number of classrooms were economically feasible until the population built up.

Cost of the new five roomed school will be more than was originally anticipated, the lowest tender received being for $201,870 and has been tentatively awarded to Wieger De Jong of Stirling. Total cost of the school, including architect's fees, etc. will be $225,000

110 Witnesses From City Will Attend

About 110 Jehovah's Witnesses from Belleville have finalized their plans to attend the "God's Sons of Liberty" District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Toronto, June 22 through 26, at the Canadian National Exhibition Grand-stand. Mr. Thor Jensen, presiding minister of the local congregation, said that all meetings at their Kingston Hall, 99 Yeomans Street, will be suspended during the convention week.

"The convention," Jensen stated, "will further the delegates' knowledge of God's Word and will also demonstrate how the Bible's message can unite people from all walks of life, regardless of race or difference in backgrounds. Only common interest in the pure worship of the Creator, Jehovah God, can do this."

Highlights of the gathering will include the mass baptism of new ministers Friday morning, June 24, and also the public Bible lecture, "What Has God's Kingdom Been Doing Since 1914?" This lecture will be delivered by Nathan. H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Society, on Sunday, June 26, at 3 p.m. Upwards of 50,000 are expected.

Belleville Mich., Kiwanians Repay Visit to Local Club, Taken on Tour, Exchange Gifts

Belleville came to Belleville yesterday and hoodwill was the order of the day for more than 100 Kiwanians. A 40-member group from the Belleville, Michigan Kiwanis Club repaid a visit made by the local club in April, 1962. Perfect weather prevailed to make the day a great success for all concerned.

Accompanying the visitors was 84-year-old Harry Young, the only surviving member of the first Kiwanis Club, Detroit No. 1. It was the first trip to this part of Canada for the spry old gentleman and he spoke for all the Michigan Kiwanians when he termed the visit to this area "a memorable experience."

Perhaps the high point in a day packed with interesting rapid-fire events, was a cruise from the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club to the RCAF Trenton Yacht Club on Baker Island. The trip, made possible through the co-operation of several members of the Bay of Quinte Club who put their cruisers at the disposal of the Kiwanians, proved especially interesting for the Michigan club members.

The Nordair C-46 aircraft carrying the Michigan party touched down at Canadian Forces Base Trenton about 11.45 a.m. yesterday, one hour later than the expected time of arrival. A large delegation from the local club was on hand to greet the group and the presence of two members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Pipe Major Alex Howie, CFB Trenton, lent added color to the scene. While the pipes skirled ,the Michigan Kiwanians came down the ramp to be met with handshakes and words of welcome from the locals who formed up in a long line stretching from the aircraft to the reception hall.

GREETED BY MAYOR

First to greet the visitors were Mayor Jack Ellis, Group Captain R. M. Butcher, commander of Canadian Forces Base Trenton and Friedel Bellstedt, club president. After a brief welcome from Mr. Bellstedt and G/C Butcher, the group hurried into cars and the lengthy cavalcade began the trip to Belleville.

With Belleville city police and the OPP detachment providing an escort, the column of cars proceeded along Highway 2 to Bridge St., E., turning south on William St. to the Kiwanis Centre. Ernie Dickens' Rolls Royce headed the motorcade. In the car with the charter member of the local club were past president and a privileged member of the club, Jack McIntosh, Mr. Bellstedt and president of the Michigan club, Harry Hildenfelter. Next in line came cars carrying Mayor Ellis and Royce Smith, mayor of Belleville, Michigan; chairmen of the inter-club committees, George Hume of the host club and Ken Daniels; L. A. Kells, LL.Gov. of Division 6A, Mr. Young, Taylor Franklin, an honorary member and past president; Louis Toth, township supervisor from Michigan, Bill Slade, a past Lt.-Gov, and John Trafford, vice-president of the Ontario club and co-chairman of the committee in charge of the event. Trudeau Motors loaned several cars for the parade.

At the Kiwanis Centre, Pipe Major Howie piped in those to be seated at the head table. Mr. Hildenfelter was chairman for the meeting. Gil Pewitt of the Detroit Burbank club delivered a short, amusing address and Mr. Young presented a banner to Mr. Bellstedt. Observed Mr. Young, "It is a pleasure to know and work with Canadians who have helped build the foundation of Kiwanis. This centre is a monument to Kiwanis."

GIFTS EXCHANGED

Mr. Pewitt described Mr. Young and himself as United States goodwill ambassadors. Several gifts were exchanged between the two clubs and Mayor Ellis recalled that he had been on the trip to Belleville, Michigan on April 17, 1962. He said "We were shown tremendous hospitality last year and I'm sure our Kiwanis Club is going to repay it, today".

He continued: "Belleville appreciates its Kiwanians. This is a live-wire club; a fine group".

Mayor Ellis presented Mayor Smith and Mr. Toth with cufflinks bearing the crest of the City of Belleville. He in turn received a pen and pencil set.

Each of the visiting Kiwanians received a package containing items representing Belleville industry. Included in the assortment were wax from Vaguid Mills Ltd., brochures on the Chamber of Commerce and Expos '67 and a tray and coaster set from Wiser's Distillery. Black Diamond Cheese Ltd., delivered, 36 pounds of cheese to the visitors' aircraft.

TOURED CHEESE HOUSE

The motorcade began its afternoon trip about 2:30. A visit to Black Diamond Cheese Ltd., and a tour of the plant was followed by an abbreviated tour of the country side. Since the program was behind schedule, the sightseeing tour was cut short in order that the group would arrive at the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club at the appointed time. As the procession wound its way through the city, its progress was uninterrupted, thanks to an exceptional effort turned in by members of the City Police Department. who kept the way clear in an extremely efficient manner.

After a brief stopover at the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club, the cruise to Baker Island began. At the RCAF Yacht Club, Pipe Major Howie was again on the job and this time he made the day complete for the U.S. Kiwanians by including "Yankee Doodle" in his' repertoire.

Following a relaxing reception at the RCAF Club, the group boarded buses for a short trip to the air station where tired but happy Michigan Kiwanians awaited the start of the flight to Windsor. Talk of future inter-club was a popular topic of conversation among members of both clubs.

Centennial Group Will Hold Meeting

PICTON (Staff) — A meeting of the County Centennial Committee is being held at the Amiliasburg hall next Tuesday night, June 18th.

A meeting of the program committee is being held at the Amelianburg hall tonight, Wednesday, all members being urged to attend.

Two Portable Classrooms Will Be Built for Hillcrest

Rollins Lumber Ltd. of Belleville have been awarded the contract to construct two portable classrooms at the Hillcrest public school site.

The intention is that the portable classrooms will be ready for occupancy for the coming school year.

Only two bids were received by the school board for the portable classrooms, the other being from a North Bay firm. The Rollins Lumber Ltd. bid for the two classrooms was for $14,600 and that of the Freybar Construction Ltd. from North Bay, $14,400.

The Rollins tender was accepted because it included cupboards no provided for in the North Bay bid.

LET SCHOOL CONTRACT

Also at this week's meeting of the public school board, Wieger Delong Construction Ltd. Stirling was given the contract for the construction of the new five-room school in West Belleville. The general contract was for $201,870 with architects fees, equipment and contingencies bringing the total cost to $225,000.

In both instances the contracts are only tentative until the Ontario Department of Education has given legislative grant approval , on final figures. Also Ontario Municipal Board approval is required for the five room school construction.

City council this week gave debenture by-law approval for the school.

Resignations were received and accepted from Mrs. Grace Forster, Miss Sharon Jensen, Mrs. Ann Rogers, Mrs. Lynda McDonald and Miss Donna Gariepy. New teaching contracts were approved for Mrs. Cathering Chapman, Don Mills and Mrs. Madeleine Frouts, Otlawa.

Superintendent L. A. Kells reported that in the continuing development of integration and decentralization of the Department of Education, the Belleville School System will become a part of Area No. 9 with headquarters at Kingston. For initial purposes the area will develop as three zones with centres at Peterborough, Belleville and Kingston, with the first meeting in Belleville on June 28. The Board approved an invitation to hold this first meeting at the Administration Building at 208 Bridge St. E.

The Board was also assured by Superintendent Kells that the success of the summer school in junior mathematics at the Harry J. Clarke is beyond question as far as enrolment is concerned. At June 1 350 teachers had made application for admission. The principal of the summer school, Mr. R. M. McKay, B.Ed., of Hamilton Teachers' College will be assisted by a staff of twelve. Besides making the school building available, the Belleville Public School Board will maintain direct contact and provide whatever assistance possible through Inspector J. M. Cousins and Administrative Assistant J. L. Anderson.

The Board gave approval to an extensive program of repair and renovation of its buildings during the summer vacation. A troublesome drainage problem at the Sir Mackenzie Bowell School is expected to receive attention with the general supervision of Architects Watson and Wieland.

Uncut Weeds Offensive Say Alderman

Uncut weeds were a topic of discussion at city council this week and at least two aldermen were of the opinion that the city itself was the worst offender.

Alderman Jack Allin brought up the subject stating that he had received a number of complaints.

He said the weeds were growing high and the seeds "were blowing all over".

"And from what I can see the city itself is the worst offender," he said.

Alderman Arthur Keegan also entered the weeds discussion drawing attention to an old cemetery in the Dundas street area which, he said, was badly grown up with grass and weeds.

Some Potatoes Are Growing Without Tops

Whether it's the weather or for some other unexplained reason some potatoes in the Belleville area this year have gone completely underground.

That is the spuds are growing without any tops!

Wesley Reid of Canniffon who this spring planted a few rows of Sebago potatoes in his back yard reports that many of the spuds failed to show through the ground while other hills in the same row showed normal tops.

Digging up the hills to investigate, Mr. Reid found that the absence of tops apparently had not effected development of the new spuds. Up to four or five young spuds were found to be forming, some of them almost as large is pullets' eggs.

Basic Commission Suggested To Encourage Realtors Bringing Industrial Clients

The Belleville Industrial Commission would like to enlist the assistance of metropolitan and local realtors in encouraging industry to locate in Belleville.

But as realtors normally work on a commission basis, they cannot be expected to make the effort unless the pay worthwhile commission . basis is worthwhile.

So it is suggested that some be established in order that industrial land brokers be encouraged to bring their clients to this city.

The Industrial Commission suggests that a commission of $250 per acre might be adequate although some sort of a discretionary control is advised to make certain that the commission is paid to someone who actually earned it.

It is suggested that the commission figure be added to the purchase price of the land. In most cases city industrial land is sold at cost and it is felt the additional commission figure would be of relatively little importance and would not deter a prospective customer.

Rev. B. Besley Served Here From 1952-57

The Rev. Bruce Besley who has served as United Church minister at Englehart, Ontario for the past nine years will take up work on a new charge with his wife and six children July 1st. He will become the minister of the Grand Valley United Church, Grand Valley, Ontario. This is about 60 miles northwest of Toronto. Rev. Bruce Besley served as student minister for five years at Bridge Hill United Church from 1952-1957. At that time it was a three point charge including Centre Street and Front Road Churches.

Injured Man Transferred To Toronto

Scott Duncan, 22, of 34 Fairview Crescent in Trenton, was transferred yesterday from Belleville General Hospital to a Toronto hospital by City Ambulance Service.

Duncan sustained a compound femur fracture after a 25-foot fall yesterday morning on the construction site of the new Centennial Secondary School.

Mr. Winters Busy

Trade Minister Robert Winters has been having a busy time of late. Last week he was in London where he had discussions with Douglas Jay, president of the British Board of Trade, which led to agreement on the establishment of a joint Canadian-British cabinet committee on economic and trade problems.

The committee would function along the lines of one already established between Canada and the United States with a view to streamlining trade patterns between the two. In other words, the committee acts as a watchdog on trade practices.

From London Mr. Winters went to Moscow, a visit which has resulted in the signing of the largest wheat deal in history. Under the terms, the Soviet Union is purchasing 9,000,000 long tons of wheat and flour — about 338 million bushels at a cost of $800,000,000 over a period of three years.

The effect on the Canadian and United States economy has been immediate. Prices for all grains rose and gold shares increased sharply in the belief that Russia would have to buy gold to pay for its purchases. The entire economy is bound to benefit from the sale.

For Mr. Winters it has been not only a busy time, but one of achievement as well, involving fruitful discussions both in London and in Moscow.

U. K. Strike

Surprising as it may seem, with more than 800 ships tied up in ports around the country, the British seaman's strike is not having such an adverse effect as had been expected.

That is the word from Prime Minister Wilson. In a statement to Parliament he implied that communist elements in the National Union of Seamen are prolonging the strike in the hope of crippling Britain's economy. He said "their reaction to his reference to a "tightly-knit group of politically-motivated men."

"But the effects of the strike have not been as great as some possibly hoped," he said.

While there is talk of using the RAF to carry mail and the Royal Navy to get supplies to outlying islands, it is clear that the British have much in reserve. There has been nothing to suggest for example that food is scarce or that there is anything else but reasonably normal for crisis-hardened Britons.

On the other hand, the country's vital export trade must be dropping sharply. Delivery has always been a weak point with British exporters, particularly where this continent is concerned. Yet we would be the ultimately may be the inspiration for long-term improvements in this sphere — that is, if an emergency plan mentioned by Mr. Wilson is placed on a permanent basis. He said that RAF aircraft may be used to deliver important export shipments to North America and Western Europe.

What a boon this would be, for exporters and customers alike. Some cargo of the smaller type already comes on commercial jets, but it seems there is an opportunity for any one of the three companies to concentrate entirely on air freight from Britain to Europe and North America.

President de Gaulle

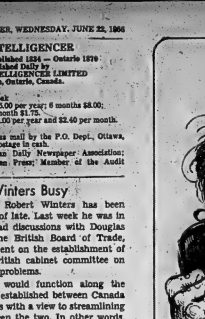
President de Gaulle's image is one of aloofness. Yet when he travels abroad he projects a completely different personality.

At home and in all his dealings with Western leaders since the war, his attitude has been typified by his own conception of leadership as expressed in these words: "My nature warns me that at the summit of things one can preserve one's time and one's personality only by keeping oneself methodically at the right height and distance."



With his soldierly bearing and statesmanship borne of France's long climb back to international recognition, de Gaulle has held the very essence of a leader. In his dealings with other western leaders he has played second fiddle to none, which once led Sir Winston Churchill to observe wryly: "I have two crosses to bear — my own and the Cross of Lorraine.

Today de Gaulle presereves France's relations with the western world — but only just. His Independent ways with regard to NATO and desire that Europe stand on its own feet has irked France's friends in the West — notably Britain and the United States.

However, that de Gaulle is regarded as a statesman in his own right has been proved yet again by the reception in Moscow. In both state occasions such as this that the cold exterior of the man seems to fall away, to be replaced by a warm personality who mingles with the welcoming crowds.

De Gaulle was chatted with the Muscovites at Vnukovo airport was the same de Gaulle who mingled with the Latins of South America a few years ago, and among his own countrymen in the dangerous atmosphere of Algeria as independence came to that war-torn country still earlier.

President de Gaulle is one of the great men of our time. His place in history is assured.

To Your Good Health

Spanks Baby Nightly To Put It to Sleep

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I recently spent a weekend with my sister. Each night at 7:30 or 8 o'clock she would take her only child (a beautiful boy of six months), put him to bed and start hitting him to make him go to sleep.

She says that each "pop" or "tap" that she gives him is medicine carrying that will make him cry himself to sleep.

Will this beating affect him in later life? I have two children and I rock them and sing them a lullaby to get them to sleep. Which method do you recommend? — R. G.

* * *

Have you the faintest doubt which method I recommend?

Your sister has her "wires very badly crossed." There isn't any question whether such a twisted attitude is going to affect this child in later life. My fear is that emotional damage already has been done.

Making a child cry himself to sleep, indeed!

You didn't give me your address, or your sister's so there is nothing I can do except to speak out against such brutal and distorted treatment of a baby. It is misery for the infant now; it can hardly do anything else but make him grow up hating the world. And we wonder what causes delinquency!

Can't you impress on your sister's husband the need for him to talk in the family doctor? Your sister must be very emotionally confused and needs help, but even more urgent than that, the baby needs to be protected.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have recently heard of "painless hemorrhoidectomy." Of course I am naive enough to believe that it is actually painless, but is there a newly developed method of surgery or treatment immediately afterward that lessens the discomfort? Some years ago I heard of people who suffered a great deal of pain following this surgery. — Mrs. F. P.

It isn't the operation that hurts, since it is done under anesthesia. It is the period afterwards. The area is naturally tender. I am as doubtful as you are that it can be painless. That just isn't reasonable.

MORE

But the painfulness has been very considerably reduced. The after-care is of the greatest importance. This involves gentle dilation of the rectal canal to prevent adhesions and excessive scar formation.

In addition, bulk producers are now fed to patients immediately after surgery, so there is some degree of natural dilation.

The people who suffer most are the ones who were not told to return for this post-operative care and dilation — or rather, who were told to return but did not realize how important it would be.

If adhesions and heavy scar formation are allowed to occur, it is an invitation to permanent discomfort instead of a return to natural function after a relatively short period of soreness.

I suggest that you read my booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids." For a copy send 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: When I go to the bathroom, I've noticed a whitish, liquidy substance that follows. I'd like to know if it could be anything serious before I consult my doctor. — D. S.

Your logic baffles me. Go to the doctor to find out! It sounds like mucous colitis, which should receive medical attention.

Note to Mrs. R. S.: Removal of the Bartholin gland is not a serious undertaking, and is the usual procedure when the gland becomes chronically infected. .

"Canada is a land of milk and honey, T-bone steaks and beef" laughingly commented one of the 24 United States editors now touring Canada, who paused at the Hotel Quinte before continuing on their itinerary. "Not forgetting, of course," he added, "the splendid people and grand hospitality that have been evident in every place we have stopped."

Contract for the construction of three miles of the Madoc-Eldridge highway has been awarded by the Highways Dept. to the Johnston Construction Co. with work expected to commence in the near future, it has been announced by Roscoe Robson, M.P.P., for East Hastings.

U.K. Seamen Hit Economy

Christian Science Monitor

No British Prime Minister could ever let a striking trade union do what either the Kaiser's or Nazi Hitler's U-boats managed to both the Kaiser and Hitler recognized that the easiest way to force Britain to its knees would be to starve the island kingdom out. The British fought desperately and successfully to prevent either doing that. To many Britons and their friends, it must seem that the National Union of Seamen—with its current harmful strike —is now resorting to a similar policy of seeking victory by forcing Britain out.

Of course, that is oversimplifying things to the disadvantage of the seamen. They are not resorting to or threatening murder on the high seas as practiced by the Nazis. And there is something to be said for their dissatisfaction with working conditions until very recent!- But by tying up Britain's merchant fleet, they are threatening Britain with starvation. Sc.ill wonder then that Prime Minister Wilson has added the Queen to proclaim a state of emergency.

Quebec Key To Unity

Calgary Albertan

It may be that Mayor Pinsent at Pesticton will turn out to be a veritable Cassandra. The other day, before delegates attending annual convention of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce, he prophesied that Confederation might be doomed because the Province might drop out and should this happen then (b) Saskatchewan would join the United States and (c) the maritime provinces would likewise fall within Uncle Sam's New England orbit.

If this ever happened, His Worship told the Chamberites, then it would be a good thing all round if BC and Alberta joined up as one country under the name of ABC. Such a union, he suggested, would result in "the greatest exporting nation on a per capita basis in the world."

Vermont Will Cash in on Expo 67

Bill Bantey in The Montreal Gazette

For the first time in its history, tiny, beautiful Vermont is participating alone at a world exhibition — and the legislation that made that happen was adopted without a single dissenting voice.

Vermont has earmarked $500,000 for "a Expo 67 participation — $400,000 for its pavilion and $100,000 for correlated expenses. The figure may not seem terribly impressive until you figure out that it involves more than $1 for each man, woman and child of the state's 389,881 residents. It is more impressive still considered against the fact that the U.S. government is spending $9,300,000 — for a population of more than 180,000,000.

"There are a number of reasons for our participation," says Egbert G. Moulton, commissioner of the Vermont development department and commissioner-general of his state's pavilion. "First we want to take part in the 100th anniversary of one of our great neighbors. Second, it is a great opportunity to tell the Vermont story: its changing economy and tourist attractions.

"Then, of course, we're only 80 miles away. And finally, though we weren't very pleased with what happened at the New York world's fair (when it particip.ated jointly with New England States), we felt we couldn't miss when we saw the site at the Montreal exhibition and met the people running it. It's going to be a real first-class exhibition."

Vermont, it goes without saying, expects to benefit from Expo and this is only as it should be.

"We will have a hot-line in our pavilion for reservations. This is most because we expect many people will want to stay with us after visiting the exhibition from the fair. We feel Expo will be a great opportunity to inter-est people of a certain income bracket in Vermont not only for Expo year but for the years after Expo."

Moulton describes the architecture of the pavilion as "contemporary." It aims to reflect Vermont's changing economy A 50-cubic-foot tower is symbolic of the Green Mountain State. Among the interior exhibits will be an eight-minute audio-visual presentation showing how the seasons change in "the beckoning country"—but only in pictures but also in scent.

Vermont, in literature now being prepared, will promote itself as the second home for those who can afford it.

"We think people are anxious today to get off thruways and they're going to show them how to do it — through Vermont."

For example, in the new state map being published, the road to Montreal will be shown. Additionally, Vermont is printing several million folders which accompanies in the state will help distribute.

Robert G. Averill, of the Hildreth Travel Agency, Woodstock, Vermont, expects a "treman" flow of visitors to Vermont as a result of Expo.

"Expo will have a great effect on tourism here," Averill says. "There will be what we call a runover from Montreal. We are in an ideal position to capitalize on our location."

Averill is convinced, too, that great numbers of Americans will go to Expo.

"Even this year," he says, "Canada is one of our biggest destinations. It's bound to mount in 1967."

To take advantage of this, Averill's company is involved in selling motorcoach tours to Expo which would permit a visitor to spend three days and two nights in Montreal.

Tuxedos for Poverty War

St. Catharines Standard

The U.S. War on Poverty has many angles, but one of the strangest is that of providing 16 boys with tuxedos that they might attend a California High School junior prom. Not only will the boys be well dressed for the occasion, they will be able to treat their dates to dinner, also at the expense of the War on Poverty.

The cost will be comparatively small, a total of $300 to be spent on youth who otherwise would be unable to attend the prom.

The reason behind the action is that the students to be assisted will, through attendance at the dance, learn and practise etiquette as it pertains to dress and behavior on the dance floor. Certainly the experience will prove more beneficial than any number of lectures on etiquette.

Language Tuition in Brantford

Brantford Expositor

Partial success in a mass experiment with teaching English to foreign students has been reported from the Soviet scientific city of Dubna.

The program of giving lessons just before students went to sleep and repeating them while they slept proved more effective for those who had never studied foreign languages.

But some students failed to finish the course and others became so lazy that learning after the first 10 or 15 nights.

These results were given by the youth newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda.

Students had to be in bed by 10:45 p.m. Light music was played until 10.45 and then a five-minute lesson began. It gave the day's new words and expressions to learn.

The students remained in bed, following the words from a lesson book and repeating them. The lesson was repeated three times. Then at 11 p.m. lights had to be turned out.

The lessons were repeated in softer tones until midnight. At 6.15 a.m. it began again and was repeated until 8.55. At 7 a.m. students were awakened and at 7.20 they took a new lesson to fix in their minds the overnight vocabulary and related grammar.

The 36-lesson program taught about 1,000 words and expressions.

Sublimated Their Hostility

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the chief conceits of so-called "civilization" is that war and conflict were more prevalent in stone age or "primitive" societies. But most anthropological research does not bear out this view.

Studies of primitive tribes, whether in Africa or among the American Indians, indicate that only as the tribes advanced further along the road to "civilization" did they relax their efforts at peace-keeping and intensify their warlike activities.

Indeed, most of the North American tribes had "peace chiefs" as well as "war chiefs." The peace chiefs engaged in elaborate ceremonials with other tribes to settle potential conflicts to be resolved amicably without loss of face on either side.

And these "primitives" were so psychologically shrewd that sometimes they arranged for the tribes to engage in mock battles, with the exchange of insults, to drain away the hostility and release pent-up emotions without going through a real war.

The higher the level of civilization, the more conflicts are made by society for resolving conflicts. Every modern nation has a department of war, and as society becomes wealthier, more and more of its resources are allocated to military preparations.

A good case could be made that the Johnson administration's decision to stay in Vietnam — whether right or wrong — is deteriorating situation — is not based on military, political or economic considerations, but simply is an unwillingness to lose face there. Politicians, even more than most people, hate to admit they were wrong; phrases like "national honor" have been used as a rationale for persisting in such tragic mistakes.

Instead of maintaining peace were part of the essential fabric of primitive societies, because it was realized even then that deterrence did not deter: tribes that prepared for war went to war, unless there was some means of turning off the war mentality and turning on the peace machinery. This is a lesson we seem to have lost in our advancing technological society.

What Price Husband?

Windsor Star

Recently there have been some stories in the news over a wife. Some estimates have been so high an average man could not afford to be married if he had to pay his spouse a weekly wage.

But what is the value of a husband? Well, it depends whether he is dead or alive or, if alive, his health, earning power and how much his wife thinks of him. Court cases, involving husbands who are dead or alive, do offer some criterion.

Recently in Britain a widow sued for damages when her husband was killed in an auto accident. The judge awarded her $35,000. This was based on his age and the actual income he had and also his potential earning power. In another case mentioned by the judge.

The widow was 33. What were her prospects of remarriage? If she remarried soon, she would not suffer much monetary loss by the death of her first husband. If she were to remain a widow the remainder of her life the loss of her husband's income was a serious matter.

This judge did not speculate, openly at least, on the chances of this widow's remarriage. But, whether they were good or bad, he had them in mind.

Paper Clip Inventory

Ladies Home Journal

It had to happen some day: A bunch of efficiency experts have made a frighteningly thorough study of what people actually do with paper clips. The ex-erts tracked down 100,000 paper clips from the moment they were processed, to a large business typewriter, and followed them all the following destinies: 25 per cent were used for their intended purpose; 5,000 were used as emergency gaiters for women's stockings; 15,000 were used as tiny screwdrivers in minor mechanical operations like filling cigarette lighters; nearly 7,000 were nervously twisted, bent out of shape and discarded, for no apparent purpose, and over 7,000 nervously twisted, bent out of shape and discarded, for no apparent purpose, and over 7,000 fell to the floor, got thrown away, or simply disappeared—to be listed in statistics as "Unknown". Ah yes, and three were used to clip paper together.

Ann Landers
Wife's Telephone Technique Bugs Hubby

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has a thing about placing long distance telephone calls. He just hates to do it. So I must take over this thankless chore.

If he would tell me who he wants to call and leave me alone, everything would be fine. But, no — he stands by the phone, makes motions with his eyes and his hands, writes notes and shoves them in my face. When he begins to pull at my arm and shout instructions at me, I get mad. The long distance operators must think I'm a subnormal child.

ANN LANDERS

Last night I told him I won't place any more calls for him unless he leaves me alone. He says he wouldn't yell at me if I did it right. We've had so many arguments over this that I'm turning to you in desperation. Please help. — DIAL 211.

* * *

DEAR DIAL: Ask your husband to write down (a) the name of the person he wishes to reach and (b) whether he wants you to place a person-to-person call or a station call.

Ask him to wait in another room until you have the party on the line or word that the party cannot be reached. This should put an end to the problem.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a boy who is almost 14 years old and very worried about something. I have been the shortest kid in my class ever since I can remember. Mom keeps telling me I'll catch up and not to worry about it. But I am not catching up and some of the guys I hang around with are almost 6 feet tall.

Could smoking be the cause of me not growing? Please answer in your newspaper article. Thank you. — SAWED OFF RUNT.

* * *

DEAR SAWED OFF: Smoking does not stunt growth. (I heard the same old wives' tale when I was a teen-ager.) But it could cause either — and more serious — problems if you keep it up. Smoking over a long period of time can damage your blood vessels and give you real throat and lung trouble. Knock it off, Bub.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother and I had an argument last night. It all began when a fellow I grew up with asked me out. (We are the same age, 17.) I dated him twice during spring vacation and decided not to date him any more because he is just like a brother.

My mother likes this guy a lot. When she heard me turn him down she became upset and asked why I would refuse to date such a wonderful fellow. When I told her I didn't get a charge out of him she looked at me like I was a scarlet woman or something.

I tried to explain that when a boy holds my hand or puts his arm around me I want to feel a certain little excitement. She said I was "disgusting." When I asked her how she could have married daddy if she didn't get a charge out of him, she gave me a lecture on my dirty mind.

I would like your opinion on this argument and your verdict. — J.W.

DEAR J.W.: There is nothing disgusting or dirty about that "certain little feeling of excitement." It is as natural as hunger or thirst. It is one of the basic human drives that keeps the earth populated.

I do think, however, that a girl who would refuse to date a fellow because he doesn't turn her on, makes a big mistake. The most enduring kind of love doesn't make you go boing-nnng the minute your eyes meet his — like it says in the songs.

Woman Spends Most of Time With Dummies

By CHARLES C. CAIN

DETROIT (AP)—Pretty Juliette Auerbach's world is filled with dummies and that is the way she likes it.

The 37-year-old engineer, a key figure in Chrysler Corporation's auto safety program, spends most of her time at the firm's Chelsea, Mich., proving grounds.

Last week she stole the show at a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers in Detroit.

Her paper was titled, Problems of Developing Crash Test Dummies. She was the only woman among the 100 speakers at the four-day meeting attended by more than 3,000 society members.

The Texas-born blonde delivered her formal report at a standing-room-only session attended by 400 engineers. She also held a press conference to elaborate on points made in her paper.

MUST BE 'HUMAN'

"Our main problem is to develop a dummy which will respond as much as possible like a human being in various types of collisions," she said.

"They all have to take a lot of abuse in the crashes and we concentrated on some changes in the chest and abdomen areas to make them more like a human. We think we have made some progress."

Miss Auerbach's role in the auto industry's safety campaign came after she got her bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering at Vanderbilt University and added her master's degree at the University of Michigan.

Her other interests range from cooking to flying a rented plane each Sunday, from keeping her Ann Arbor, Mich., apartment spic and span to making her own clothes. She is single and not engaged.

WOMEN TO BE COPS

ADEN (AP) — Local women are being recruited to serve in Aden's police force. The South Arabian Federation's information ministry says the female rookies will be trained by a British inspector of police-women and will deal particularly with cases involving women and children.

FAR-FLUNG ROMANCE — Lynda Bird Johnson and George Hamilton are seen on one of their frequent weekend dates. The couple say they are not engaged or planning to marry; they just "respect and admire" each other. But speculation continues on the six-month romance of the president's studious daughter and the suave movie star. (CP Photo from AP)

Graduation Means 'Losing Lot of Security' Says Lynda Bird Johnson

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson feels that graduating from college means "losing a lot of security."

The U.S. president's 22-year-old daughter says she's frankly procrastinating about her big decision: What to do next?

If you think her problem is that much-publicized romance with actor George Hamilton, you think again.

Lynda is trying to decide whether she should look for a job—"but I don't know what doors are open to me"—or go back to the familiar world of the University of Texas for a master's degree in her major, history.

"I've got to start feeding for myself," she said in an interview, and that doesn't sound like a girl with true romance on her mind.

Lynda is tired of fielding questions about her romance with the tall, handsome, suave, 26-year-old movie actor, George Hamilton. Almost as tired as he is back in Hollywood.

WEARS HIS RING

She wears Hamilton's gold friendship ring with a blue stone. They've been dating almost every weekend since last November and now it's rumored they'll rendezvous on a summer vacation in Europe. But both insist they're not engaged. They just "respect and admire" each other.

For Lynda, this romance at least has brought her from gawkiness to glamor. She's blossomed forth into a world of false eyelashes, makeup, wigs, arched eyebrows and klieg light publicity that outshines the White House.

For George, it's brought him enough attention to make him "a very hot property," to quote a Hollywood press agent.

Lynda is just having a "terrific-ly good time," is the way Mrs. Johnson put it.

Studious Lynda got her bachelor of arts degree from her mother's alma mater, the University of Texas, June 4, with high honors in history, classics and government courses.

Lynda's graduation gift from her parents is a two-month trip to a half dozen countries of Europe.

Her traveling companions are the ever-present secret service men and a Washington school friend. They will be back in time for sister Luci Johnson's wedding to Patrick Nugent Aug. 6 when Lynda will be maid of honor.

Hamilton says he has no plans to go to Europe now, but a letter type like him could catch up to Lynda for a weekend anywhere in the world.

Lynda has been in the spotlight of a lot of political campaigning with her father and has even reigned as an Azalea Festival queen. But this has not overcome a youthful awkwardness and self-consciousness in public.

George, whose career thrives on publicity, describes himself as "self-analytical, very trusting, emotionally mature, an extrovert but reticent."

While George has worked since age 17 (he earned $600 a week when modeling men's clothing) and now makes more than $100,000 a year, Lynda's only job was a few weeks of clerical work in the White House office of her father's presidential assistant, Mc-George Bundy.

Lynda has a solid $800,000 interest in the LBJ radio-tv station KTBC in Austin, Tex., held in trust for her.

Women's Institutes

WALLBRIDGE W.I.

WALLBRIDGE — Mrs. C. Vanderveide opened her home for the May meeting of Wallbridge Women's Institute.

Highlight of the meeting was a display and fashion parade by the girls of the three 4 Homemaking Clubs of the district. The girls exhibited the books and modelled the house coats they had made during the winter. Christine Brown was chosen to attend the conference at Guelph from June 27 to 30. Mrs. D. Thompson presented each girl with a silver spoon from the Institute.

Mrs. Vanderveide was appointed convener of the Institute display at Belleville Fair. She has chosen Holland as the subject of her display.

Mrs. G. Garrison gave a reading and Mrs. T. Evans conducted a contest.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more-graceful curves; if ruthlessly pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

WEDDING

KING — GRAY

MARMORA—The recent wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's chapel on Saturday, June 18 at 2.30 when Betty Gray, daughter of Mr. Charles Gray and the late Mrs. Gray was united in marriage to Robert King. Rev. J. M. D. McLeod officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was fearing a short dress of white satin with overlay of lace and shoes with white hat and accessories. A corsage of yellow roses completed her costume

Mrs. Reta Green was matron of honor wearing a sheer dress of blue over taffeta with hat and accessories in black and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Mr. Carl Gray was groomsman.

Manor WA Ends Season's Activities

The Women's Auxiliary of the Hastings Manor met on Monday in the library of the Manor with an excellent attendance. This was the final meeting until fall.

The business portion of the meeting was convened by the president, Mrs. Hudson Ketchenson. Committee reports were given and items of business attended to. Mrs. Kingston reported there had been five tiny bowls containing a flower sent to residents in the Belleville hospital. A new polaroid camera was on display which the Auxiliary has purchased for use at the birthday parties. Mrs. Dawson Maclean was elected convener of the tea and bazaar to be held at the Manor in the fall.
